LBJ Will Not Give Up Role On Decisions

Johnson, Nixon's Top Aide Murphy Discuss Transition

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made it clear today that he will "make whatever decisions the President of the United States is called on to make between now and Jan. 20" when President-elect Richard M. Nixon takes office.

Johnson said that after Jan. 20, he hopes Nixon "can speak not only for his administration but for all the American people" and Johnson said he would work to help Nixon in that.

He called on all Americans now to "submerge any party interests' whether Democrats or Republican—and try to do what they can to help.

Johnson also said at an impromptu meeting in his office with reporters that "we are doing all we can to bring about substantive discussions" in Vietnam peace talks at Paris "that will include the government of South Vietnam at the earliest date possible." But he had no further report of progress in that respect.

Johnson met today for the first time with Robert D. Murphy, veteran foreign policy diplomat who has been named as Nixon's personal representative to the Johnson administration in the field of foreign affairs.

The President called in reporters to introduce them to Murphy, to whom Johnson promised full cooperation in the hopes of "effecting an orderly transition" of government.

Then, the President took on questions and the first was a request to describe the understanding he and Nixon have regarding foreign policy matters that will come up between now and Jan. 20.

Johnson quoted Nixon's statement made at the White House last Monday in which Nixon said:

"I gave assurance in each instance to the secretary of state, and of course to the President that they could speak not just for this administration but for the nation, and that meant for the next administration as well."

When asked whether he and Nixon had agreed, as Nixon said yesterday that it was essential there by prior consultation and prior agreement on major policy decisions, Johnson said, "We did not discuss that precisely. We only discussed having an observer"—the role Murphy is playing—and Johnson reiterated the decisions to be made be-

Blustery Storm Hits, But No Major Damage

The most blustery storm of the fall season hit Marin County and Southern Sonoma last night, causing the usual rash of minor auto accidents and flooding from stopped up storm drains.

No major damage was reported.

As the storm headed south today, the weatherman predicted that a new one was on the way, expected to hit the Pacific Coast by late tomorrow.

By noon today the present storm had dumped 1.63 inches of rain in San Rafael.

A slide of mud and debris from a new subdivision on Elda Court in Terra Linda was being cleaned up today, San Rafael Public Works Director Norris M. Rawls reported.

Hamilton Air Force Base officials reported that a stopped up drain caused water to back up into two houses on Crescent Drive, where the basements were flooded.

In Novato city officials discovered this morning that a new fire proof valut in the public works department is not waterproof as about an inch of water was standing in the safe when city hall workers arrived at work today.

They said the water did not damage any records as they are well off the floor.

Other rainfall figures recorded in Marin County and Southern Sonoma from 8 a.m. yesterday to 8 a.m. today were:

Terra Linda 1.80 inches; Novato 1.47, Petaluma .78, Mill Valley 1.88, Tiburon 1.78, Hamilton Air Force Base 1.55, Woodacre 1.80, San Anselmo 1.70, Sausalito 1.75, Tamalpais Valley 1.65 and Bolinas 1.36.

Hanoi Claims U.S. Breaks Word On War Negotiations

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam today accused the United States of breaking its word on war negotiations. It also said charges of Communist violations of Vietnam's Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) were a "maneuver designed to hide American policy of aggression."

Nguyen Thanh Le, chief spokesman for the Hanoi delegation here, told a news conference the United States had agreed to separate Viet Cong and North Vietnamese delegations at planned talks here.

"Instead of keeping its word, the United States now claims that the agreement called for a two-sided conference," Le said. "Such an assertion is groundless."

"If Saigon does not come to the conference, we propose to hold a three-way conference, with three independent delegations—Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam, the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) and the United States," Le said.

The United States has insisted its talk agreements with Hanoi called only for two sides—the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong on one side and the United States and the South Vietnamese on the other.

The South Vietnamese have refused to come to the talks, saying they will not take part unless the Viet Cong show up

Monagan Informally Selected As Speaker

ASILOMAR (AP) — Republican Assemblymen informally chose Robert T. Monagan of Tracy today as speaker for the 1969 session and Charles J. Conrad of Sherman Oaks as speaker pro tem.

The action came on a "straw vote" of about 35 of the 41 Republican assemblymen and assemblymen-elect during the final session of a two-day meeting at this conference grounds setting on the ocean near Monterey.

Tuesday Goal For Reopening Of S. F. State

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco State President Robert Smith announced today he will try to reopen the embattled campus Tuesday if problems can be worked out.

He said the dilemma on the 18,000-student campus, closed Wednesday after serious confrontations with police, is whether the college could be run as an educational institution or whether it has to be run "with clubs."

Smith said the administrators would explore how the university should be run "without being invaded by police."

He received some applause at this statement from 500 faculty members crowded into the campus theater.

It was the third straight day the faculty has met in an attempt to resolve the crisis which drew strong criticism from Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Classes were closed for a second day today despite the protest of Reagan and to the satisfaction of Black Student Union strikers whose signs proclaimed: "We shut it down."

"I can't predict when it's going to open at this point," Theodore Meriam of Chico, chairman of the state college trustees, said in a news conference late yesterday.

Reagan said yesterday closing the school was "an unprecedented act of irresponsibility."

He assailed it as "an act of capitulation—surrender, if you will—to a small, unrepresentative faction of faculty and student militants determined to substitute violence and coercion for orderly grievance procedures available to all."

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, a Democrat, sent Reagan a telegram yesterday urging him to reopen the college and describing the shutdown as "a triumph for anarchy."

Tam High Black Students Out In Support Of College Strike

Karen Howard, 15, of Marin City, a Tamalpais sophomore and treasurer of the Ashanti Black Students Union at the school, said club leaders called the one-day strike.

"But rather than jive around town," she said, "we scheduled a meeting. We are here today to learn more about our people."

She said the students were trying to learn what the strike was about, what it meant to black students and what local students could do. Black students at San Francisco State spoke to about 60 Tamalpais students in the Tubman building this morning, explaining their 10-point program.

There are 28 state college students who live in Marin City.

"The strike is only for one day," explained Karen. "We gave notices to all our parents which explained what we were doing. We felt a responsibility to do that."

She said one of the requests the Tamalpais students were most in sympathy with was for more black courses at the college and credit for them.

"Everybody wants to know more about their people. We have heard the history of the white people, but we don't know much about our own people.

"Education is our bag," she emphasized. "Without education, black people would have a terrible time, anf part of education is knowing about your own people."

Coroner Stresses Mushroom Peril

Mushrooms like those believed responsible for the death of a Fairfax man may have been picked by other persons, Marin County Coroner Donovan O. Cooke reported today.

Kenneth Egger, 45, who died yesterday in Marin General Hospital, may have eaten Amanita phalloides mushrooms — a yellowing variety, also known as "Death Cap" recently discovered growing in the Bay Area.

Egger died about 48 hours after consuming a dozen mushrooms picked while hiking with two of his five children near Alpine Dam Monday. The two children reported to Dr. Cooke that other persons also were picking the mushrooms.

Cooke quoted a University of California botanist as saying the mushrooms eaten by Egger probably were of the phalloides variety. The mortality rate from eating these mushrooms was reported by Cooke to be from 41 to 75 per cent.

Cooke said the phalloides are four to six inches tall, with a cap measuring three and a half inches in diameter.

The coroner said he was told by Isabel Tavaris, a herbarium botanist at the University of California, that the mushrooms were common to Europe but have been encountered in this area recently.

Dr. Robert T. Orr, associate director at the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco, said the Amanita series of mushrooms was the most poisonous, with the phalloides particularly deadly.

He reportef several deaths in California in recent years from the Amanita phalloides.

Orr said the cap of the phalloides contains toxins which affect the kidneys, liver and central nervous system.

According to a Golden Nature Guide paperback called, "Non-Flowering Plants," amanitas account for over 90 per cent of all deaths from mushroom poisoning.

"They are especially dangerous because no effects are noticed for 10 hours or more. By then it may be too late," the book said.

Cooke said he is convinced that Egger died from mushroom poisoning because of the symptoms of illness, but added he knew of no toxicological tests to confirm his findings.

Funeral arrangements are still pending for Egger at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Surviving, besides his wife and five children, is his mother, Mrs. Berteen Carter of Mill Valley. The Independent-Journal incorrectly identified his mother yesterday as Mrs. Burteen Egger.

Will New Medicine Cure All Viruses?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The common cold and a vast range of other virus diseases may have finally met their match.

Government scientists, in a major scientific breakthrought, say they have discovered a medicine which may lead to control of virus diseases from colds to smallpox simply by making the body's own disease-fighting apparatus work better.

Here was a possibility that the discovery could even prove to be a cure for cancer.

The medicine may both cure and prevent, its discoverers said yesterday as the National Institutes of Health N(IH) announced the discovery. The medicine was developed by NIH scientists in conjunction with New York Medical College.

Dr. Samuel Baron, an NIH virologist, said the medicine—a synthetic RNH (ribounucleric acid) — stimulates the body's own virus-fighting system, called interferon, to work harder and do a better job of warding off diseases.

Depending on whether human cancer is a virus—an unanswered medical question—the medicine could prove to be a cure or treatment for cancer and leukemia.

Baron cautioned that more tests are necessary to make sure that the RNA has no harmful side effects. Tests so far, all conducted on animals, have produced none.

He said if all goes well the medicine may be available for use generally within five years. Once in mass production, he told UPI, "it would be no more expensive than the antibiotics which are available today."

Since RNA is a single medicine which fights virtually all viruses, Baron said, it might enable doctors to bypass the usual steps of developing a vaccine against a particular disease, thus eliminating the medical barriers to successful treatment of encephalities, serum hepatitis, viral pneumonia and, possibly, cancer.

He said cures and immunizing medicines already are available for most other serious virus diseases, including polio, smallpox, influenza, measles and yellow fever.

The medicine, which would be taken simply by inhaling it like a nasal mist, would be used as "a preventive when you do not have a vaccine," Baron said. It would be used as a cure in the same circumstances, he said.

As an immunizer, he said, the medicine's effects would not last long, making it effective primarily in an epidemic, such as an outbreak of the common cold in a factory.

Baron said the discovery "may lead to control of virus diseases," he said tests with mice also offered the possibility the medicine may help cure malaria, a parasitic disease.

RNA is a chemical found in all human cells which provides the key to genetics, or human heredity. The synthetic RNA is a simulate genetic material, Baron said.

Jury Returns Death Count In Ukiah Case

SAN JOSE (AP) — A jury has decided Thomas E. Braun, a teen-age drifter from a Washington farm community, must die in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber for murdering a youth he found walking beside a Northern California road.

The Superior Court jury of seven men and five women reached their decision on the 19-year-old Ritzville, Wash., youth yesterday after four hours and 50 minutes of deliberation.

Formal sentencing was set for Dec. 2 by Judge Joseph P. Kelly. The death penalty carries an automatic appeal.

The victim was Timothy Luce, 17, of Ukiah, who jurors decided was spotted as he walked along a rural road with his girl friend and was slain in August 1967.

Braun's co-defendant, Leonard Maine, also 19 and from Ritzville, was to be sentenced today for second degree murder in the case, with a possibility of five years to life in prison.

The jury which convicted Braun of first degree murder Oct. 29 softly answered "yes" when polled on whether they agreed with the death verdict.

Braun took the decision silently.

Braun also was convicted of kidnaping, rape and attempted murder of Susan Bartolomei, Luce's girl friend.

Now 19, she had been left for dead on a mountain road some 200 miles from Ukiah near Sonora. She is virtually paralyzed and unable to speak because of surgical removal of her voice box.

Maine also had been found guilty of kidnap and rape.

Both had been accused of killing Deanna Buse and Sam Ledgerwood in the Pacific Northwest while traveling to California. Those charges are pending.

MOSCOW (AP) — A strong earthquake today jolted the Soviet central Asian city of Ashkhabad, near the Iranian border, Tass reported. It said there was no destruction but did not say whether there were casualties.

The official Soviet news agency said the tremor, in the Kopet Mountain area of Soviet Turkmenia, registered a force of 6 to 7 on the 12-point Soviet central Asian city of Tashkent in 1966 which caused massive destruction and left some 300,000 persons homeless.

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korean troops today killed two more of the North Korean commandos whe landed on the nation's east coast, military spokesman said. One South Korean was killed. It brought to 30 the number of the 60-man commando team slain since the landing Nov. 2.

Out Of Exile

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The return of exiled opposition leader Mario Soares was publicly acknowledged for the first time today in a newspaper editorial that hinted at a freer political role for him and his followers.

The editorial, in Diario da Manha, official organ of the government's National Union Movement, said Prime Minister Marcello Caetano brought Soars back from eight months of exile on an equatorial island because he desired "greater tolerance and greater trust among Portuguese of all opinions."

Seeking Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bay Area Rapid Transit District directors voted yesterday to ask the federal government for $28 million to buy 125 cars for its new rail system.

To obtain the federal money, BART will have to post the $32.2 million needed to complete nine construction contracts, but directors said they have those funds.

Another 125 cars to complete the system are to be financed through the sale of $28 million in revenue bonds.

NATO Ministers Flay Russ On Czech Move

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Leaders of the Western alliance joined today in castigating the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia. Some demanded a stern warning to Moscow that the allies would act against any new military thrusts in Europe.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt of West Germany were strong in their condemnation of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in August.

They told ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization the Soviet move had upset the East-West balance of power

Stewart, the first to speak at the meeting, demanded a clear signal to the Russians against further military action in Europe.

Rusk, making his last appearance in NATO councils before the Republican administration takes over in January, issued an invitation in the name of President Johnson and President-elect Richard M. Nixon to the NATO partners to hold the alliance's 20th birthday meeting in Washington next spring.

Some diplomats hope the 20th anniversary session will be a summit meeting at which Nixon could see the top leaders of the 15-nation alliance all together at the same time.

Rusk told the session that the United States will continue to support NATO.

He briefed the ministers on Vietnam, emphasizing the importance Johnson attaches to a durable peace there.

The meeting was closed to the public, but details of what took place were given by the press officers of the member delegations.

Rusk contended that any Soviet move against Yugoslavia or Austria would directly affect NATO because those nations are in a zone of Western security interests.

Stewart told of Britain's efforts to tighten consultation among the European members of NATO on defense and political matters in view of France's roadblock of the British effort to join the European Common Market.

There was no immediate reaction to this from French Foreign Minister Michel Debre who attended the meeting. The French as usual have boycotted all of NATO's military meetings here but they support the Western alliance.

Sets Election

CAIRO (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser dissolved the Egyptian National Assembly today and set Jan. 8 as the date for elections for a new one. The decree said the new assembly will convene Jan. 20.

In the past the assembly has been more or less a rubber stamp chamber and the new body is unlikely to be different.

Pope Orders St. Peter's Chair Study

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has ordered that a controversial chair, traditionally said to have been used by St. Peter, be removed from its bronze casing in St. Peter's Basilica for a modern scientific study.

The Vatican press office announced this today, saying the pontiff had accepted requests for such an examination that had come to him from various scholars.

The chair, made of wood, is encased in the elaborate baroque Cathedra Petri throne done by Giovanni Lorenzo Bernini between 1657 and 1666.

The bronze casing with the wooden relic hidden inside is the magnificent centerpiece in the apse of the basilica. The wooden chair was last removed briefly 100 years ago and has not been viewed by anyone since.

Requests to reopen the bronze throne and submit the wooden chair to modern scientific scrutiny ran into opposition in conservative circles in the Vatican. As a result, Pope Paul named a commission headed by Paolo Cardinal Marella, archpriest of St. Peter's Basilica, to review the case.

After several years of study, the commission recommended that the relic be removed and examined.

The purpose of the study is to see what scientific methods can determine about dating the chair on the basis of the age of the wood and the style.

Hong Kong Flu Hits Teen-Agers

BERKELEY (AP) — The first serious outbreak of Hong Kong flu in the country hase been detected at Needles, near the Arizona border, the California Health Department reports.

Louis F. Saylor, state health director, said yesterday that between 300 and 500 persons have been stricken there by the influenza variety which in some ways resembles the energy-sapping disease mononucleosis.

Honk Kong flu symptoms include a sore throat, general weakness, aches, a low grade fever and a cough.

About 27 per cent of the nation's 3 million 4-H Club members live in towns and cities.

Will New Medicine Cure All Viruses?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The common cold and a vast range of other virus diseases may have finally met their match.

Government scientists, in a major scientific breakthrought, say they have discovered a medicine which may lead to control of virus diseases from colds to smallpox simply by making the body's own disease-fighting apparatus work better.

Here was a possibility that the discovery could even prove to be a cure for cancer.

The medicine may both cure and prevent, its discoverers said yesterday as the National Institutes of Health N(IH) announced the discovery. The medicine was developed by NIH scientists in conjunction with New York Medical College.

Dr. Samuel Baron, an NIH virologist, said the medicine—a synthetic RNH (ribounucleric acid) — stimulates the body's own virus-fighting system, called interferon, to work harder and do a better job of warding off diseases.

Depending on whether human cancer is a virus—an unanswered medical question—the medicine could prove to be a cure or treatment for cancer and leukemia.

Baron cautioned that more tests are necessary to make sure that the RNA has no harmful side effects. Tests so far, all conducted on animals, have produced none.

He said if all goes well the medicine may be available for use generally within five years. Once in mass production, he told UPI, "it would be no more expensive than the antibiotics which are available today."

Since RNA is a single medicine which fights virtually all viruses, Baron said, it might enable doctors to bypass the usual steps of developing a vaccine against a particular disease, thus eliminating the medical barriers to successful treatment of encephalities, serum hepatitis, viral pneumonia and, possibly, cancer.

He said cures and immunizing medicines already are available for most other serious virus diseases, including polio, smallpox, influenza, measles and yellow fever.

The medicine, which would be taken simply by inhaling it like a nasal mist, would be used as "a preventive when you do not have a vaccine," Baron said. It would be used as a cure in the same circumstances, he said.

As an immunizer, he said, the medicine's effects would not last long, making it effective primarily in an epidemic, such as an outbreak of the common cold in a factory.

Baron said the discovery "may lead to control of virus diseases," he said tests with mice also offered the possibility the medicine may help cure malaria, a parasitic disease.

RNA is a chemical found in all human cells which provides the key to genetics, or human heredity. The synthetic RNA is a simulate genetic material, Baron said.

Jury Returns Death Count In Ukiah Case

SAN JOSE (AP) — A jury has decided Thomas E. Braun, a teen-age drifter from a Washington farm community, must die in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber for murdering a youth he found walking beside a Northern California road.

The Superior Court jury of seven men and five women reached their decision on the 19-year-old Ritzville, Wash., youth yesterday after four hours and 50 minutes of deliberation.

Formal sentencing was set for Dec. 2 by Judge Joseph P. Kelly. The death penalty carries an automatic appeal.

The victim was Timothy Luce, 17, of Ukiah, who jurors decided was spotted as he walked along a rural road with his girl friend and was slain in August 1967.

Braun's co-defendant, Leonard Maine, also 19 and from Ritzville, was to be sentenced today for second degree murder in the case, with a possibility of five years to life in prison.

The jury which convicted Braun of first degree murder Oct. 29 softly answered "yes" when polled on whether they agreed with the death verdict.

Braun took the decision silently.

Braun also was convicted of kidnaping, rape and attempted murder of Susan Bartolomei, Luce's girl friend.

Now 19, she had been left for dead on a mountain road some 200 miles from Ukiah near Sonora. She is virtually paralyzed and unable to speak because of surgical removal of her voice box.

Maine also had been found guilty of kidnap and rape.

Both had been accused of killing Deanna Buse and Sam Ledgerwood in the Pacific Northwest while traveling to California. Those charges are pending.

DESPITE OUTCRY

Home Permit To A Psychiatrist

As it became apparent that Dr. Robert H. Herrick was going to be granted a use permit under a 1962 ordinance, about eight of the neighbors stormed out of the meeting, one of them shouting, "This is stacked."

Earlier they had expressed fears that the office, which Dr. Herrick said he planned to use only about 13 hours a week, would draw "mentally disturbed" people to the peaceful neighborhood.

Although two physicians who have offices now at their homes in Ross testified that property values in their neighborhoods have not gone down, the Southwood Avenue residents did not agree.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said that he felt he had no choice but to grant the use permit under the ordinance, which allows home offices for doctors, dentists and musicians. Councilman Natalie G. Lewis agreed with him but added that she thought possibly the ordinance ought to be changed.

Dr. Herrick was the first person to apply for such a use permit. The other doctors practicing at their homes in Ross opened offices before the 1962 ordinance was passed, Allen said.

After discussion for almost three hours, the council voted 4-0 to grant the permit, restricting Dr. Herrick to seeing one family at a time and requiring him to provide off-street screened parking for his patients.

The council also agreed to review the matter in a year, and Councilman Jack Carney said he was sure the neighbors would find that Dr. Herrick's practice will not disturb them.

The council also granted Dr. Herrick a variance to build on addition to his house and to tear down two existing buildings.

In other discussion last night the council voted unanimously to continue membership in the county library system, rather than join with San Anselmo.

Mayor Allen pointed out that the Ross residents who find the San Anselmo Library convenient can pay $4 a year for membership.

The Ross Town Council Also:

PLANNING — Voted to join the City-County Planning Council.

SIGNALS — Agreed to request urban thoroughfare funds for signalization at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Lagunitas Road and Laurel Grove Avenue.

AGREEMENT — Introduced town attorney Robert W. Elliott to draw up a joint powers agreement with San Anselmo regarding traffic facilities at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bolinas Avenue.

UTILITIES — Passed an ordinance requiring underground utilities in new subdivisions.

SIGNS — Amended an ordinance which required town seals on red striping to eliminate this provision.

ABSENT — Councilman Roy Farrington Jones was absent.

DESPITE OUTCRY

Home Permit To A Psychiatrist

As it became apparent that Dr. Robert H. Herrick was going to be granted a use permit under a 1962 ordinance, about eight of the neighbors stormed out of the meeting, one of them shouting, "This is stacked."

Earlier they had expressed fears that the office, which Dr. Herrick said he planned to use only about 13 hours a week, would draw "mentally disturbed" people to the peaceful neighborhood.

Although two physicians who have offices now at their homes in Ross testified that property values in their neighborhoods have not gone down, the Southwood Avenue residents did not agree.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said that he felt he had no choice but to grant the use permit under the ordinance, which allows home offices for doctors, dentists and musicians. Councilman Natalie G. Lewis agreed with him but added that she thought possibly the ordinance ought to be changed.

Dr. Herrick was the first person to apply for such a use permit. The other doctors practicing at their homes in Ross opened offices before the 1962 ordinance was passed, Allen said.

After discussion for almost three hours, the council voted 4-0 to grant the permit, restricting Dr. Herrick to seeing one family at a time and requiring him to provide off-street screened parking for his patients.

The council also agreed to review the matter in a year, and Councilman Jack Carney said he was sure the neighbors would find that Dr. Herrick's practice will not disturb them.

The council also granted Dr. Herrick a variance to build on addition to his house and to tear down two existing buildings.

In other discussion last night the council voted unanimously to continue membership in the county library system, rather than join with San Anselmo.

Mayor Allen pointed out that the Ross residents who find the San Anselmo Library convenient can pay $4 a year for membership.

The Ross Town Council Also:

PLANNING — Voted to join the City-County Planning Council.

SIGNALS — Agreed to request urban thoroughfare funds for signalization at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Lagunitas Road and Laurel Grove Avenue.

AGREEMENT — Introduced town attorney Robert W. Elliott to draw up a joint powers agreement with San Anselmo regarding traffic facilities at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bolinas Avenue.

UTILITIES — Passed an ordinance requiring underground utilities in new subdivisions.

SIGNS — Amended an ordinance which required town seals on red striping to eliminate this provision.

ABSENT — Councilman Roy Farrington Jones was absent.

Thieu May Be Shifting Paris Stand

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu was reported edging toward attending the Paris peace talks today provided Washington assures him that no coalition government with the Communists will be thrust upon him.

As part of the price for abandoning his boycott of the talks Thieu is also reported to be seeking other unspecified promises from President Johnson.

While the United States is favorably disposed to meet Thieu's wishes, diplomatic sources cautioned that there are other complications which could slow any final settlement.

Reliable officials in Saigon feel the break — if it comes — may take as much as two more weeks and will be coupled with changes within the South Vietnamese Cabinet.

It was reported by authoritative sources—and officpally denied—that Premier Tran Van Huong had submitted his resignation to Thieu.

The premier, who has twice before offered his resignation during his less than six months in office, was reliably reported to have at least verbally proposed his resignation once again to Thieu yesterday.

Huong's press spokesman denied the report flatly. Information Minister Ton That Thian confined himself to quoting Huong laughing at the report and terming it "not accurate."

In the midst of the political reports, the U.S. Command accused North Vietnam of violating a mutual agreement to keep the Demilitarized Zone free of military activity and sent American bombers to attack bunkers and ammunition stores in the zone. A spokesman said 34 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed and at least a dozen bunkers were destroyed in the southern half of the DMZ.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met with Thieu today for the first time in nearly a week. An informed American source said the meeting, which lasted more than an hour, was another American effort to talk Thieu out of his boycott of the peace talks.

In the American air attacks on the DMZ, one U.S. Air Force F4 was damaged slightly yesterday by ground fire from one mile inside the zone but the pilot got his plane back to its base.

it puts you behind. But there are some things that have to be done.

"What goes on at San Francisco State concerns us. My older brother is there now. I want things better when I go and for my younger brother when he follows after me."

Teachers Outline College Finances

Two of the biggest factors in making up budgets for College of Marin were described last night by faculty members for the citizens' committee appointed to review Marin Junior College District finances.

Instructors James D. Donlon Jr. and James Raynes told of faculty salary trends both in California and nationwide, predicting more increases because of rising cost of living.

The vocational educational training program at the college was described by Joseph Berruezo, assistant dean for vocational-technical education. The high cost of this type of education was outlined by Berruezo.

GI Is Wounded In Escape Try

FT. ORD (UPI)—An Army private was wounded last night while trying to escape from the Fort Ord stockade.

An Army spokesman said Pvt. Nuel A. West, 19, Stockton, was shot when a guard spotted him climbing, a 15-foot fence surrounding the stockade. West was serving a sentence for being absent without leave,

$118 Taken From A Cash Register

Someone stole $118 from a cash register at Fling's Drive In at 830 College Avenue, Kentfield, last Friday night, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Kathleen Kidd, a waitress at the restaurant, said she heard a register ring near the drive up window, glanced over and saw the cash drawer was empty. No one was in sight, she said.

Parents To Continue Dialogue

Parents in the Bolinas-Stinson School District continued last night their search for a meaningful educational program in the latest of a series of meetings that began early in the year with a showdown between parents and the district board of trustees.

At that time many parents made it plain that they felt the board was behind the times in making the school experience relevant to life.

The meeting last night was in the form of a panel discussion, recommended by Supt. Clarence B. Larison to replace confrontation-style discussion at district board meetings.

Panelists last night were parents Arthur Carpenter, Martha O'Brien, Grace Day, James Alberigi and Gene D'Accardo.

According to Larison the panel's chief problem was defining terms in the course of discussion that ranged over such matters as the need of a child for self-direction, how to teach him self-discipline and a teacher's obligation to control the classroom.

The group set another such discussion for Dec. 19 at Bolinas School, the panelists to be Craig Hansen, Larry Bauer, John Barrow D'Accardo and Mrs. Gray.

Terms Imposed For Escape Try

Ronald Leland Kane and Siegfried Dino Porte, both San Quentin convicts, have pleaded guilty to escape charges in Marin Superior Court and been sentenced to terms of one to five years in Prison.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson specified that the sentences are to run concurrently with terms the two are now serving.

Kane also pleaded guilty to possession of an illegal knife and was sentenced to a consecutive sentence of from one to five years in prison.

Kane and Porte escaped from the prison Oct. 20, 1967, only to be caught 14 hours later in Greenbrae.

tween now and Jan. 20 "will be made by this President, by this secretary of defense and by this secretary of state."

One matter on which there was prior consultation with Nixon, Johnson said, was the invitation which Secretary of State Dean Rusk made in Brussels to NATO members to hold their 20th anniversary celebration in the United States next spring. That was a matter, Johnson explained, that would be carried out by Nixon's administration and required his prior approval.

Johnson warmly welcomed Murphy, who he pointed out had been in government many years, and said he would work in Washington about three days a week and have an office in the State Department.

On the Paris peace talks, Johnson repeated only that, "We are doing all we can to bring about substantive discussions that will include the government of South Vietnam at the earliest date possible."

Johnson was asked if Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford spoke for the White House when he said earlier this week that if the South Vietnamese did not soon agree to participating in the Paris talks, the United States should proceed without them toward some military solutions, at least.

Johnson said: "What I have just said gives you my viewpoint of where we are now and what we should do." Then he repeated again that every effort possible was being made to bring about substantive talks in Paris with South Vietnam present at the earliest date.

On another matter, Johnson said he still has not reached a decision on whether to call the Senate back into special session to consider ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Meanwhile today, Nixon expressed to the leaders of the Soviet Union today the expectation that "great strides can be taken in the years just ahead" toward genuine peace and security.

Nixon made that statement in a telegram to Nikolai V. Podgorny, chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet. It was in response to a telegram of congratulations from the Soviet leader.

The Nixon message was dispatched yesterday and made public today.

Nixon's schedule today included meetings with ranking Americans from the fields of industry, labor, urban development and foreign intelligence. He planned to leave New York later in the day for a brief vacation at Key Biscayne, Fla.

Yesterday, after Nixon announced Murphy's assignment, he conferred for more than an hour with J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hoover whose replacement has been demanded by a number of liberal political elements said after seeing Nixon that his own health was fine and he felt up to continuing as FBI director if requested by Nixon.

TALKS

only as part of the Hanoi delegation.

Le's accusation about the DMZ violations was a formal reply to Washington charges that the North Vietnamese were endangering the talks here by continuing to use the North-South Vietnam border zone as a base for military operations. In Saigon, military reports said the Communists have violated the DMZ at least 12 times since the Paris talks agreement was announced Oct. 31.

He demanded they be stopped immediately. In Saigon, U.S. commanders said the reconnaissance flights showed the North Vietnamese using the bombing halt to move men and arms.

STATE

E. Whetmore of La Habra called on Reagan to send in the National Guard to get classes going smoothly and to fire faculty members who refuse to resume work.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke told newsmen he went along with San Francisco State's president in calling off classes.

"My feeling about this is that we need much more information than we have now about all of the circumstances at San Francisco State," Dumke said.

Dumke, Meriam, seven other trustees, college officials and some San Francisco State faculty members met with Smith for three hours yesterday at a motel near San Francisco International Airport.

Both Meriam and Dumke said they supported Smith's order to close down the campus to protect campus safety after a series of disorders stemming from racial unrest over the suspension of Black Panther George McMurray, a part-time English instructor.

Trustees scheduled an emergency meeting in Los Angeles Monday to consider the college's problems.

Newsmen asked Dumke and Meriam if there was any chance Smith would be fired.

Meriam said, "I've heard rumors floating around, too. As far as I'm concerned they're just floating.

Dumke also said he has no intention to reconsider Murray's suspension.

A spokesman said 34 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed and at least a dozen bunkers were destroyed in the southern half of the DMZ.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met with Thieu today for the first time in nearly a week. An informed American source said the meeting, which lasted more than an hour, was another American effort to talk Thieu out of his boycott of the peace talks.

In the American air attacks on the DMZ, one U.S. Air Force F4 was damaged slightly yesterday by ground fire from one mile inside the zone but the pilot got his plane back to its base.

it puts you behind. But there are some things that have to be done.

"What goes on at San Francisco State concerns us. My older brother is there now. I want things better when I go and for my younger brother when he follows after me."

Teachers Outline College Finances

Two of the biggest factors in making up budgets for College of Marin were described last night by faculty members for the citizens' committee appointed to review Marin Junior College District finances.

Instructors James D. Donlon Jr. and James Raynes told of faculty salary trends both in California and nationwide, predicting more increases because of rising cost of living.

The vocational educational training program at the college was described by Joseph Berruezo, assistant dean for vocational-technical education. The high cost of this type of education was outlined by Berruezo.

GI Is Wounded In Escape Try

FT. ORD (UPI)—An Army private was wounded last night while trying to escape from the Fort Ord stockade.

An Army spokesman said Pvt. Nuel A. West, 19, Stockton, was shot when a guard spotted him climbing, a 15-foot fence surrounding the stockade. West was serving a sentence for being absent without leave,

$118 Taken From A Cash Register

Someone stole $118 from a cash register at Fling's Drive In at 830 College Avenue, Kentfield, last Friday night, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Kathleen Kidd, a waitress at the restaurant, said she heard a register ring near the drive up window, glanced over and saw the cash drawer was empty. No one was in sight, she said.

Parents To Continue Dialogue

Parents in the Bolinas-Stinson School District continued last night their search for a meaningful educational program in the latest of a series of meetings that began early in the year with a showdown between parents and the district board of trustees.

At that time many parents made it plain that they felt the board was behind the times in making the school experience relevant to life.

The meeting last night was in the form of a panel discussion, recommended by Supt. Clarence B. Larison to replace confrontation-style discussion at district board meetings.

Panelists last night were parents Arthur Carpenter, Martha O'Brien, Grace Day, James Alberigi and Gene D'Accardo.

According to Larison the panel's chief problem was defining terms in the course of discussion that ranged over such matters as the need of a child for self-direction, how to teach him self-discipline and a teacher's obligation to control the classroom.

The group set another such discussion for Dec. 19 at Bolinas School, the panelists to be Craig Hansen, Larry Bauer, John Barrow D'Accardo and Mrs. Gray.

Terms Imposed For Escape Try

Ronald Leland Kane and Siegfried Dino Porte, both San Quentin convicts, have pleaded guilty to escape charges in Marin Superior Court and been sentenced to terms of one to five years in Prison.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson specified that the sentences are to run concurrently with terms the two are now serving.

Kane also pleaded guilty to possession of an illegal knife and was sentenced to a consecutive sentence of from one to five years in prison.

Kane and Porte escaped from the prison Oct. 20, 1967, only to be caught 14 hours later in Greenbrae.

tween now and Jan. 20 "will be made by this President, by this secretary of defense and by this secretary of state."

One matter on which there was prior consultation with Nixon, Johnson said, was the invitation which Secretary of State Dean Rusk made in Brussels to NATO members to hold their 20th anniversary celebration in the United States next spring. That was a matter, Johnson explained, that would be carried out by Nixon's administration and required his prior approval.

Johnson warmly welcomed Murphy, who he pointed out had been in government many years, and said he would work in Washington about three days a week and have an office in the State Department.

On the Paris peace talks, Johnson repeated only that, "We are doing all we can to bring about substantive discussions that will include the government of South Vietnam at the earliest date possible."

Johnson was asked if Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford spoke for the White House when he said earlier this week that if the South Vietnamese did not soon agree to participating in the Paris talks, the United States should proceed without them toward some military solutions, at least.

Johnson said: "What I have just said gives you my viewpoint of where we are now and what we should do." Then he repeated again that every effort possible was being made to bring about substantive talks in Paris with South Vietnam present at the earliest date.

On another matter, Johnson said he still has not reached a decision on whether to call the Senate back into special session to consider ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Meanwhile today, Nixon expressed to the leaders of the Soviet Union today the expectation that "great strides can be taken in the years just ahead" toward genuine peace and security.

Nixon made that statement in a telegram to Nikolai V. Podgorny, chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet. It was in response to a telegram of congratulations from the Soviet leader.

The Nixon message was dispatched yesterday and made public today.

Nixon's schedule today included meetings with ranking Americans from the fields of industry, labor, urban development and foreign intelligence. He planned to leave New York later in the day for a brief vacation at Key Biscayne, Fla.

Yesterday, after Nixon announced Murphy's assignment, he conferred for more than an hour with J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hoover whose replacement has been demanded by a number of liberal political elements said after seeing Nixon that his own health was fine and he felt up to continuing as FBI director if requested by Nixon.

only as part of the Hanoi delegation.

Le's accusation about the DMZ violations was a formal reply to Washington charges that the North Vietnamese were endangering the talks here by continuing to use the North-South Vietnam border zone as a base for military operations. In Saigon, military reports said the Communists have violated the DMZ at least 12 times since the Paris talks agreement was announced Oct. 31.

He demanded they be stopped immediately. In Saigon, U.S. commanders said the reconnaissance flights showed the North Vietnamese using the bombing halt to move men and arms.

STATE

E. Whetmore of La Habra called on Reagan to send in the National Guard to get classes going smoothly and to fire faculty members who refuse to resume work.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke told newsmen he went along with San Francisco State's president in calling off classes.

"My feeling about this is that we need much more information than we have now about all of the circumstances at San Francisco State," Dumke said.

Dumke, Meriam, seven other trustees, college officials and some San Francisco State faculty members met with Smith for three hours yesterday at a motel near San Francisco International Airport.

Both Meriam and Dumke said they supported Smith's order to close down the campus to protect campus safety after a series of disorders stemming from racial unrest over the suspension of Black Panther George McMurray, a part-time English instructor.

Newsmen asked Dumke and Meriam if there was any chance Smith would be fired.

Meriam said, "I've heard rumors floating around, too. As far as I'm concerned they're just floating.

Dumke also said he has no intention to reconsider Murray's suspension.

MISS USA UNHAPPY

Did Antiwar Feeling Cost Beauty Crown?

LONDON (UPI)—Miss USA today said she was defeated in the Miss World contest because the judges were more interested in V-I-E-T-N-A-M than her 36-24-36.

Johnny Avery said politics so clouded the competition—won by Miss Australia, Penelope Plummer, 35-24-25 last night — that contest officials insulted her and her red, white and blue constume.

One even called her a "rapist of little countries," Miss Avery told United Press International.

"I've been treated abominably ever since I got here. I was warned of this by last year's contestant," she said.

Miss USA, who describes her hair as "honey" and her eyes as "chameleon," said, "just before I was to go on stage, a contest official called me a warmonger."

Miss Avery failed to survive the judges' first elimination when the 53 girls from around the world were trimmed to 15.

Afterwards, at the victory celebration ball, Miss Avery was sitting in a corner taking notes for a "comedy spoof" on beauty contests. She is a television writer.

"This whole contest has been tinged with politics," she said, scribbling rapidly on the back of the chicken dinner menu.

"Over half of the judges were British," she said.

"And they ignored the fact Miss South Africa was gorgeous. Everyone thought she would come up close, but she didn't even place in the first set of finalists," she added, pushing away her plate.

The first hint of politics entering the 1968 Miss World beauty pageant came Wednesday when Miss Spain withdrew from the contest in a huff, saying she would not compete alongside "that girl" Miss Gibraltar. She accused Miss Gibraltar of making "political statements" about the territorial status of the rock—a British crown colony coveted by Spain.

Miss Avery is from North Hollywood.

Siamese Twins Are Separated

NEW YORK (AP) — Siamese twin girls who were born 17 months ago end to end and with a common leg were separated 10 days ago at Brooklyn's Brookdale Hospital Center and are coming along satisfactorily, says their surgeon.

Born at the Center on June 15, 1967, were Sherrie and Sharisse Jones, daughters of a Brooklyn postal worker and his wife. The parents have three other children, all born without abnormalities.

Dr. Ascher L. Mestel, pediatric surgeon who directed the six-man operating team, said yesterday the twins should lead "a relatively normal life" after orthopedic work and hospital therapy.

Tomales Shellfish Plans Still Alive

A Balboa man's proposal for a shellfish cultivation project on the west shore of Tomales Bay, first made more than a year ago, is in the hands of the assistant secretary of the federal Department of the Interior.

Leland D. Christensen said yesterday the project is still very much alive, especially in view of "outstandingly successful" experiments in the bay.

He said he had expected a decision in August.

Christensen's original plan met stiff opposition from boat owners, property owners, conservationists, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department and the National Park Service.

Christensen said he sees the plan as an opportunity to have the Point Reyes National Seashore do double duty—as a park and to increase the productivity of the ocean.

The project involves positioning of floats in the bay, just south of Pelican Point, about two miles north of Sacramento Landing. Objections to the plan related to disturbance of recreational and scenic values.

School Blazes Blamed On Arson

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Arsonists are blamed for blazes yesterday in Woodrow Wilson and Galileo high schools.

At Galileo, principal James Kearney estimated damage at several thousand dollars after flames burned the stage curtain and ropes in the school auditorium.

Fires had been set at three places on the stage and there was some damage to electrical circuits, authorities said.

At Woodrow Wilson, principal Sol Madfes found flames in a third floor civics room. Damage was not serious but papers, books and cartons had been piled and set afire.

Obscene Movies Charge Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police charges of felony conspiracy against socialite promoter Lloyd Downton have been reduced to misconduct complaints.

Downton, 38, was formally charged yesterday with preparation and possession of obscene films.

Similar complaints were lodged against six other men and women.

Downton also was charged, along with cameraman Dennis Wright, 34, of Orinda, with a misdemeanor charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old girl, who police said was found nude waiting to be photographed at a local motel.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Frank Shaw said he decided to reduce the felony conspiracy charge to a misdemeanor after conferring with Inspector Peter Maloney, the police department's pornography expert.

Downton and the others are scheduled to enter pleas Nov. 22 before Municipal Court Judge Janet Aitken.

New York's Empire State Building contains 65,000 tons of steel and more than 10 million bricks, says Collier's Encyclopedia.

Christensen's original plan met stiff opposition from boat owners, property owners, conservationists, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department and the National Park Service.

Christensen said he sees the plan as an opportunity to have the Point Reyes National Seashore do double duty—as a park and to increase the productivity of the ocean.

The project involves positioning of floats in the bay, just south of Pelican Point, about two miles north of Sacramento Landing. Objections to the plan related to disturbance of recreational and scenic values.

School Blazes Blamed On Arson

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Arsonists are blamed for blazes yesterday in Woodrow Wilson and Galileo high schools.

At Galileo, principal James Kearney estimated damage at several thousand dollars after flames burned the stage curtain and ropes in the school auditorium.

Fires had been set at three places on the stage and there was some damage to electrical circuits, authorities said.

At Woodrow Wilson, principal Sol Madfes found flames in a third floor civics room. Damage was not serious but papers, books and cartons had been piled and set afire.

Obscene Movies Charge Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police charges of felony conspiracy against socialite promoter Lloyd Downton have been reduced to misconduct complaints.

Similar complaints were lodged against six other men and women.

Downton also was charged, along with cameraman Dennis Wright, 34, of Orinda, with a misdemeanor charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old girl, who police said was found nude waiting to be photographed at a local motel.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Frank Shaw said he decided to reduce the felony conspiracy charge to a misdemeanor after conferring with Inspector Peter Maloney, the police department's pornography expert.

Downton and the others are scheduled to enter pleas Nov. 22 before Municipal Court Judge Janet Aitken.

Leydecker Denies He Possessed Marijuana As Judge Forbids Talk

San Rafael banker Byron W. Leydecker fought back in Marin Municipal Court yesterday with a denial that he possessed marijuana and a countercharge that the district attorney and sheriff have crucified him in court.

Through their attorneys,' Leydecker and his friend, divorcee Patricia A. Rabuzzi, won a court order muzzling discussion of the case by law enforcement officials and an early chance to beat the charge.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. issued a blanket order forbidding Dist. Atty Bruce B. Bales, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, attorneys, defendants and witnesses from discussing the case.

He accepted innocent pleas from Leydecker and Mrs. Rabuzzi and set Thursday as the date for an all-day preliminary hearing into a charge that the couple jointly possessed marijuana Oct. 25 in Mrs. Rabuzzi's home at 170 Avenida Mira Flores, Tiburon.

Leydecker, a former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, surrendered himself at jail shortly before his court appearance. After the was fingerprinted and mugged, he was freed without bail.

Attorney Albert Bianchi told the judge that Leydecker "has been crucified already and nothing this court does can resurrect him."

Reportedly at his own request, Leydecker has been relieved of his duties as president of the Redwood National Bank of San Rafael during the criminal proceedings.

The lawyer offered newspaper stories as evidence and asked the judge to cite Bales and Mountanos for contempt of court. If a contempt citation is too severe, they should at least be reprimanded, Bianchi said.

He charged that news releases by the district attorney and sheriff had brought a "carnival atmosphere" to the case. The information released was also "grossly in error," Bianchi said.

Bales countered that news articles about the Leydecker charges were nothing more than the basic crime news whose release has always been permitted in the past.

Nowhere in the stories is there speculation on the part of the district attorney or sheriff as to the guilt or innocence of the defendants, Bales noted.

Judge Goldstein banned future out-of-court discussion of the case, saying: "As a general proposition, the courts deplore the type of pretrial publicity which has already occurred in this case. It goes beyond the recommendations of the American Bar Association and the U.S. Supreme Court.

He declined to reprimand Bales or Mountanos, noting that no order of the court barring the release of information was in effect at the time.

Bales disputed the necessity of his muzzling order, saying: "I feel no need to discuss the case further, but there are certain matters in which I see no prejudice to the defendant. Silencing all people involved in criminal procedures is excessive.

Bianchi and William O. Weissich, attorney for Mrs. Rabuzzi, said they will challenge the legality of the search of the Tiburon house which allegedly yielded the suspected marijuana.

Officers entered the home the night of Oct. 25 at the invitation of 7-year-old Mark Rabuzzi, who reported his mother and Leydecker were gone when he awakened and he feared for their safety.

Inside the home, they allegedly found butts of marijuana cigarettes in a kitchen ashtray. In the downstairs master bedroom, they opened a nightstand drawer and reportedly found a shoebox containing a pound of marijuana, a pipe and some cigarette papers.

State Alarmed By Increase In De Facto Segregation

SACRAMENTO (AP) — De facto segregation of the races in California public schools has increased during the past year, the state Department of Education reported today.

In a report to the state Board of Education, the department said "there are serious implications for education in the racial and ethnic isolation of nearly 700,000 California pupils in these de facto segregated schools."

The number of schools considered to be racially imbalanced increased by 50 during a 12-month period — the 1967-68 compared with 1966-67, the department said.

In the state's eight largest districts, the report said, 84 per cent of the Negro pupils were enrolled in these racially imbalanced schools — ones which had a greater percentage of minority pupils than the ratio in the district's population as a whole.

The report said the number of predominantly minority schools in the eight largest districts had increased from 395 to 412. The figure increased from 92 to 102 in a sampling of 56 other districts throughout the state.

The department said "de facto segregation is more severe for Negro pupils than for Spanish surname pupils, but that it is a significant factor for both groups . . ."

The number of parks in the National Park system is now 35, with the newest being Redwood National Park, North Cascades National Park, National Wild and Scenic Rivers System and National Trails System. The country's scenic rivers and historic trails are under federal protection for the first time.

Mill Valley Firemen Put Up New Slate Of Officers

Mill Valley volunteer firemen last night nominated officers and directors for 1969, publicity chairman Roy A. Bernard reported.

Albert Badour was nominated for president, Edward W. Allison for vice president, Edward S. Lewis and Donald Lenhurr for secretary and Guy Roche for treasurer. Nominated as directors were Robert S. Harder, Harlan Carpenter, Roy A. Bernard, Fred Roemer, Albert A. Marovich, Henry Pierroz and Lewis.

Election of officers will be Dec. 12 and installation in January.

Firemen also heard that the association netted $1,000 at the firemen's ball held last month, Bernard said.

Pesticide Blamed For Infant's Death

BAKERSFIELD (UPI)— A Bakersfield infant died Wednesday night, apparently the victim of pesticide poisoning, the Kern County coroner's office reported.

Danna Williams, 20 months, was dead on arrival at Kern General Hospital after drinking from a bottle containing a liquid pesticide.

Petaluma Nods To Rezoning For Acreage

The Petaluma City Council yesterday discussed a plan to rezone 30 acres of unincorporated land on the northern edge of the city and will make a recommendation to the Sonoma Planning Commission before its meeting Thursday afternoon.

The proposed rezoning from light industrial to highway commercial is required by Aubrey Sanderson, who owns 19 of the 30 acres.

William C. McGivern, city planner, said the area along McDowell Boulevard extension, outside the city limits and adjacent to Highway 101, could better be developed commercially than industrially. He said a two-month study by his department and the Sonoma planning department had shown this to be true.

Some councilmen and Paul Stanley, city planning commission chairman, said they would like to see development plans for the area before recommending change. "I'm not in favor of anyone warehousing property," Stanley said, noting the land could stand vacant for years once rezoned by the county.

County zoning laws have no revisionary clause as do the city regulations which state if the land isn't used for the rezoning purpose within a year, it reverts to the original zoning.

"I want a bona fide purchaser for the property before I approve rezoning it to commercial," Stanley said.

Official recommendations will be made at the Monday city council meeting and at Tuesday's planning commission meeting. The county planning commission will act on the rezoning at its regular Thursday meeting in Santa Rosa.

Horse Show Put Off

The Liberty 4-H Club's horse show planned for Sunday at the Chris Beck Field of the Sonoma County Fairgrounds, Santa Rosa, has been canceled because of muddy conditions. Club officers said the event has been rescheduled for April 27.

Antidraft Rally Hears Joan Baez

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Several hundred persons attended an antidraft rally at the Federal Building yesterday as part of a nationwide protest against the draft.

Folksinger Joan Baez and her husband, David Harris, spoke to the group. A man and woman identified as John H. Kangas, 25, San Francisco, and Norma Louise Ferguson, 21, New York, were arrested for burning a flag. They were to be arraigned today.

A box was passed around, but it was not known how many draft cards were dropped in.

Dollars will be used as the currency rating in Bermuda, replacing the British system of pounds, according to plans.

Bay Crusade Gifts Reach $15 Million

Contributions in the United Bay Area Crusade this year topped $15 million for the first time, Chairman Jerome W. Hull announced today at an awards luncheon at the Sheraton Palace in San Francisco.

Contributions totaled $15,347,982, up 5 per cent over last year's $14,600,000, he said.

The Marin contribution to the total was not available because it is not broken down that way. However, several Marin firms were among those giving more this year with some employee donations up more than 100 per cent.

Marin contributors took the luncheon spotlight when employees of Marin General Hospital accepted the symbolic Baywide Merit Award in behalf of 450 companies in which at least 50 per cent of participants gave at the fair share level — an hour's pay a month or more.

Accepting the recognition were the hospital's crusade chairman Mrs. Harriet Klock, director of nursing services, and administrator Ray K. Bolinger. Crusade giving at Marin General was reported up 115 per cent.

Symbolic honors also went to representatives of loaned executive campaigners with Stephen C. Bryant of Mill Valley accepting in behalf of Marin's 19-man corps.

Crusade funds help support 178 agencies in Marin, San Francisco, San Mateo, Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

Gallup Forecasts Polls To Measure Discontent

CORONADO (AP) — Pollster George Gallup says public opinion polls can help determine "the true sources of dicontent in our nation for which solutions are needed in a hurry."

Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, addressed the National Conference of Editorial Writes yesterday.

He said experience in political pulse-taking since 1935 will be turned in the next few years toward "finding solutions to the nation's problems."

Gallup appeared on the same program with Herbert G. Klein, communications director for President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

They disagreed on whether polls influence voters.

"No one has ever produced one shred of evidence that the polls influence the voters," Gallup said. "The bandwagon concept just doesn't hold water."

Klein said:

"While I would agree with Dr. Gallup's comments about the bandwagon, I would have to say that the polls do have an effect on morale of a party and on the conduct of the campaign."

Klein said the polls, because of influence on campaigns, do affect the vogers and are "an important part of the American political process."

Gallup was asked to comment on Klein's criticism of the Harris Poll, which had Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey ahead of Nixon. Klein said the Harris Poll was politically motivated.

Gallup's poll, giving Nixon the election with 43 per cent of the vote, was close to the mark.

Gallup said he could not comment extensively on the Harris Poll because he did not have details on how Harris reached his conclusion. But he said the poll "was obviously ill conceived because it was off the mark."

Woman Reports Her Purse, Watch Taken

Sonia H. Pierce of 32 Plymouth Avenue, Mill Valley, complained to sheriff's officers that three youths knocked her to the ground in front of the Child Day Care Center in Marin City last Friday and stole her purse and watch, officers reported yesterday.

Kiesinger Rebuff On German Slate

A special 90-member caucus of Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democratic party voted 65 to 20 for Schroeder over his opponent, Richard von Weizsaecker.

The decision was seen as a defeat for Kiesinger, who was known to favor the relatively unknown Weizsaecker, Protestant church leader and pharmaceutics factory boss.

Cal Expo Votes To Seek State Funding For 1969

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Cal Expo executive committee voted today to ask Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature for money to operate next year.

The committee then went on to consider just what kind of operation it would have in 1969 — if any at all.

"The General Fund condition is such that I don't think anyone can make any guarantee that even $100,000 could be allocated to Cal Expo," Weinberger said.

He proposed the executive committee try again to interest private investors in putting money into Expo's exhibits, amusement facilities and other facets of what was to be the $34 million year-around "showcase of California."

But Ralph Nissen, executive committee chairman, replied to Weinberger, "The problem is we certainly have to be in a position that this isn't just a bastard child of the state that's been kicked out in the street."

Cal Expo is foundering in money problems following its first year of operation in which attendance was poor and the facility brought in far less money than expected.

Winds do not reach hurricane strength until they attain a velocity of at least 75 miles an hour.

Sierra Resorts Set For Skiing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California State Automobile Association, in its first ski report of the season, said two areas plan to open tomorrow for limited skiing.

Squaw Valley, with 8-14 inches of snow from the recent storm, said a gondola will operate to the Gold Coast area. The weather today was clear and cold.

Bear Valley on Highway 4 reported 10 inches of snow in 28-degree weather. It plans to open tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. with some chairs operating.

Sugar Bowl reported there was not enough snow yet for "safe and pleasurable skiing." Heavenly Valley said it might open next Friday.

Gun Committee Asks To Dissolve

The Novato Control Legislation Advisory Committee, at a special meeting last night voted to recommend tha that the city not act on firearms control and that it dissolve the committee, according to James Marsico Jr., co-chairman of the committee.

The committee has been inactive since before the Nov. 5 election, awaiting its outcome. The committee was formed last July to advise the city council on gun control legislation.

In its motion last night, the committee noted that the Marin County ordinance was defeated in the Nov. 5 election and that the San Francisco ordinance is in the process of going through the courts to see if it infringes on state powers.

Bay Crusade Gifts Reach $15 Million

Contributions in the United Bay Area Crusade this year topped $15 million for the first time, Chairman Jerome W. Hull announced today at an awards luncheon at the Sheraton Palace in San Francisco.

Contributions totaled $15,347,982, up 5 per cent over last year's $14,600,000, he said.

The Marin contribution to the total was not available because it is not broken down that way. However, several Marin firms were among those giving more this year with some employee donations up more than 100 per cent.

Marin contributors took the luncheon spotlight when employees of Marin General Hospital accepted the symbolic Baywide Merit Award in behalf of 450 companies in which at least 50 per cent of participants gave at the fair share level — an hour's pay a month or more.

Accepting the recognition were the hospital's crusade chairman Mrs. Harriet Klock, director of nursing services, and administrator Ray K. Bolinger. Crusade giving at Marin General was reported up 115 per cent.

Symbolic honors also went to representatives of loaned executive campaigners with Stephen C. Bryant of Mill Valley accepting in behalf of Marin's 19-man corps.

Crusade funds help support 178 agencies in Marin, San Francisco, San Mateo, Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

Gallup Forecasts Polls To Measure Discontent

CORONADO (AP) — Pollster George Gallup says public opinion polls can help determine "the true sources of dicontent in our nation for which solutions are needed in a hurry."

Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, addressed the National Conference of Editorial Writes yesterday.

He said experience in political pulse-taking since 1935 will be turned in the next few years toward "finding solutions to the nation's problems."

They disagreed on whether polls influence voters.

"No one has ever produced one shred of evidence that the polls influence the voters," Gallup said. "The bandwagon concept just doesn't hold water."

Klein said:

"While I would agree with Dr. Gallup's comments about the bandwagon, I would have to say that the polls do have an effect on morale of a party and on the conduct of the campaign."

Klein said the polls, because of influence on campaigns, do affect the vogers and are "an important part of the American political process."

Gallup was asked to comment on Klein's criticism of the Harris Poll, which had Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey ahead of Nixon. Klein said the Harris Poll was politically motivated.

Gallup's poll, giving Nixon the election with 43 per cent of the vote, was close to the mark.

Gallup said he could not comment extensively on the Harris Poll because he did not have details on how Harris reached his conclusion. But he said the poll "was obviously ill conceived because it was off the mark."

Woman Reports Her Purse, Watch Taken

Sonia H. Pierce of 32 Plymouth Avenue, Mill Valley, complained to sheriff's officers that three youths knocked her to the ground in front of the Child Day Care Center in Marin City last Friday and stole her purse and watch, officers reported yesterday.

Kiesinger Rebuff On German Slate

A special 90-member caucus of Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democratic party voted 65 to 20 for Schroeder over his opponent, Richard von Weizsaecker.

The decision was seen as a defeat for Kiesinger, who was known to favor the relatively unknown Weizsaecker, Protestant church leader and pharmaceutics factory boss.

Killing Trial Witness Admits Changing Tale

By ALAN JONES

One witness displayed a stubbornly slippery memory today and another told his third version of events as the prosecution tried to link Dennis C. Novotny to the guns taken in the robbery and fatal beating of Wesley L. Marshall.

Novotny and John Arceo are on trial for murder in Marin Superior Court, as a result of Marshall's death in a hospital Jan. 6, a month after the robbery.

Joseph Barone testified that he bought four or five guns from Novotny after the Marshall beating date, and identified one of them as the World War I .45 caliber Army revolver which another witness yesterday said he had sold to Marshall.

But Novotny's attorney, Michael Lewton, tore into Barone in cross-examination and showed that in questioning last January by the Marin County Grand Jury and San Rafael Police Inspector Thomas Cheetham, Barone had denied buying the guns from Novotny.

Barone said today he was confused in his statements in January because "so many dealings were going on" at the time, and admitted he was trying to protect Novotny then.

Barone also said Novotny approached him a week or two before the grand jury hearing and threatened him.

"Novotny came to my house and said if I testified I'd be taken care of," Barone said. "He said it's already been arranged."

Barone testified twice before the grand jury Jan. 18, the second time changing his story and relating that Novotny had sold him the guns.

He testified today that Novotny told him the .45 was "from the collection . . . I believe it was the Marshall collection."

Barone amitted lying in his first testimony before the grand jury and in statements given to San Rafael police before that, but said he had not been threatened with prosecution for perjury.

"Maybe I will be prosecuted for perjury," Barone said. "All I'm trying to do is tell the truth."

Yesterday, gun collector Leland Moon identified the same .45 as one he sold Marshall, along with four other guns produced by Deputy Dist. Attorney Joshua W. Thomas.

Moon also positively identified a .32-30 Colt revolver and a 7.65 millimeter Walther PPK automatic, and said a .38 Colt revolver and .22 caliber Astra automatic appeared to be the guns he sold Marshall.

Another acquaintance of Novotny's, Ernest Simmons, could remember almost nothing on the stand today about incidents with Novotny in January, despite prodding by Thomas.

Simmons, Thomas said, told police in January that Novotny had tried to sell him two guns.

"Dennis was always trying to sell me guns," Simmons said today. "I don't remember if he did then (after the Marshall robbery)."

Simmons said he could not remember the type of guns, but admitted he told police in January they were a Luger and a single shot .22 caliber pistol.

He also could not remember a telephone conversation with Novotny in January, although he remembered telling a district attorney's investigator about the talk a few days later.

"If I read what you said then, would it refresh your memory?" Thomas asked.

"I read the statement," Simmons said. "I don't recall it."

A neighbor of Marshall's, Robert Meador, testified that the 68-year-old Marshall "couldn't walk from here to that chair without falling down," and was constantly bruised and scratched from falls.

Meador said Marshall showed his gun collection to everybody "because that's the way he was."

Mails Dope Raid Jails Marin Pair

Narcotics and postal inspectors, looking for drugs believed to have been illegally shipped through the mail, arrested a psychology professor and his wife in their Mill Valley apartment last night.

Officers, armed with a search warrant, broke into the apartmetn at 406 Maple Street as the sound of a toilet flushing came from the rear of the apartment.

David Charles Schiffman, 28, and his wife, Barbara Ellen Schiffman, 24, were booked at jail on suspicion of marijuana possession. They were held today in lieu of $625 bail each and were to appear this afternoon in Municipal Court.

Inspector Harry Bock of the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau reported that postal inspectors obtained a search warrant from Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner yesterday, alleging that they were looking for drugs sent through the mail.

Agents were told to search for LSD in the apartment, Bock said.

Bock said that, when he knocked on the door, Schiffman opened it a crack, but left the chain lock on. Bock said he showed the warrant but Schiffman insisted on reading it before he would open the door.

Inside, officers found enough marijuana for six or seven cigarettes, but no LSD.

Bock said Schiffman told him he is on leave as an assistant professor of psychology at a New York college.

Expert Urged In Employee Relations

Petaluma's city attorney last night urged city governments and public agencies to stop deciding what's good for their employees and hire a professional to sit down and negotiate with employees in good faith.

Addressing a dinner meeting of the Sonoma County Mayors and Councilmen's Association at Sonoma Joe's in Petaluma, Edouard E. Robert, who is also president of the attorneys' section of the League of California Cities, said, "Government employees now demand a voice in contract negotiations."

Saying security is not enough, he declared, "they have a persistent desire for self-pride and reject the government's paternalistic attitude."

In appointing a negotiating representative, he said, councilmen should never be involved. "You have no area of compromise left when council members deal directly with unions or employee organizations."

"Don't have your negotiator just act as a messenger boy to meet and confer with them — that's not showing good faith," he warned. He suggested Sonoma cities might employ consultants to negotiate contracts, as is the growing trend in larger cities.

Robert urged the cities to look at contract negotiations on a long range basis — what fringe benefits and pay hikes will be requested by employees in the distant future. He said this would mean earlier determinations of financial arrangements and allow smoother negotiations.

The Mayor's and Councilmen's Association also:

BRIDGE APPOINTMENT — Heard request from Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam, association president, for members to consider a person the group could recommend for the new Sonoma County position on the Golden Gate Bridge authority.

MEETINGS — Approved resolution urging the League of California Cities to expand meetings for cities under the 5,000 population level.

Teen Arraigned On Marijuana

George E. Wickham Jr., 19-year-old son of Mill Valley City Councilman George E. Wickham, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges of marijuana possession and possession of alcohol by a minor.

His case was referred to juvenile probation authorities for possible certification to Juvenile Court.

A co-defendant, Robert Peter Dittle, 19, of 153 Walnut Avenue, Mill Valley, was arraigned on the same charge and asked a week's continuance before he pleads. His case was continued until Thursday.

Judges Named

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Harold B. Hove, an Oakland attorney, and San Leandro Municipal Court Judge Gordon L. Minder were appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan today to the Alameda County Superior Court.

Thanksgiving Causes Cited By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today there were many events during 1968 for which he said Americans should give thanks, including "the beginning of talks with our adversaries that will, we pray, lead to peace in Vietnam."

Proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 28 as Thanksgiving Day, Johnson said:

"These events inspire not only the deepest gratitude, but confidence that our nation, the beneficiary of good fortune beyond that of any nation in history, will surmount its present trials and achieve a more just society for its people.

"In this season, let us offer more than words of Thanksgiving to God. Let us resolve to offer Him the best that is within us—tolerance, respect for life, faith in the destiny of all men to live in peace," Johnson said.

Other events he cited as deserving remembrance and thanksgiving included:

"The increasing prosperity of the people, including those who were denied any share in America's blessings in the past.

"The achievement of new breakthroughs in medical science and new victories over disease."

"Dennis was always trying to sell me guns," Simmons said today. "I don't remember if he did then (after the Marshall robbery)."

Simmons said he could not remember the type of guns, but admitted he told police in January they were a Luger and a single shot .22 caliber pistol.

He also could not remember a telephone conversation with Novotny in January, although he remembered telling a district attorney's investigator about the talk a few days later.

"If I read what you said then, would it refresh your memory?" Thomas asked.

"I read the statement," Simmons said. "I don't recall it."

A neighbor of Marshall's, Robert Meador, testified that the 68-year-old Marshall "couldn't walk from here to that chair without falling down," and was constantly bruised and scratched from falls.

Meador said Marshall showed his gun collection to everybody "because that's the way he was."

Mails Dope Raid Jails Marin Pair

Narcotics and postal inspectors, looking for drugs believed to have been illegally shipped through the mail, arrested a psychology professor and his wife in their Mill Valley apartment last night.

Officers, armed with a search warrant, broke into the apartmetn at 406 Maple Street as the sound of a toilet flushing came from the rear of the apartment.

David Charles Schiffman, 28, and his wife, Barbara Ellen Schiffman, 24, were booked at jail on suspicion of marijuana possession. They were held today in lieu of $625 bail each and were to appear this afternoon in Municipal Court.

Inspector Harry Bock of the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau reported that postal inspectors obtained a search warrant from Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner yesterday, alleging that they were looking for drugs sent through the mail.

Agents were told to search for LSD in the apartment, Bock said.

Bock said that, when he knocked on the door, Schiffman opened it a crack, but left the chain lock on. Bock said he showed the warrant but Schiffman insisted on reading it before he would open the door.

Inside, officers found enough marijuana for six or seven cigarettes, but no LSD.

Bock said Schiffman told him he is on leave as an assistant professor of psychology at a New York college.

Expert Urged In Employee Relations

Petaluma's city attorney last night urged city governments and public agencies to stop deciding what's good for their employees and hire a professional to sit down and negotiate with employees in good faith.

Addressing a dinner meeting of the Sonoma County Mayors and Councilmen's Association at Sonoma Joe's in Petaluma, Edouard E. Robert, who is also president of the attorneys' section of the League of California Cities, said, "Government employees now demand a voice in contract negotiations."

Saying security is not enough, he declared, "they have a persistent desire for self-pride and reject the government's paternalistic attitude."

In appointing a negotiating representative, he said, councilmen should never be involved. "You have no area of compromise left when council members deal directly with unions or employee organizations."

"Don't have your negotiator just act as a messenger boy to meet and confer with them — that's not showing good faith," he warned. He suggested Sonoma cities might employ consultants to negotiate contracts, as is the growing trend in larger cities.

Robert urged the cities to look at contract negotiations on a long range basis — what fringe benefits and pay hikes will be requested by employees in the distant future. He said this would mean earlier determinations of financial arrangements and allow smoother negotiations.

The Mayor's and Councilmen's Association also:

BRIDGE APPOINTMENT — Heard request from Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam, association president, for members to consider a person the group could recommend for the new Sonoma County position on the Golden Gate Bridge authority.

MEETINGS — Approved resolution urging the League of California Cities to expand meetings for cities under the 5,000 population level.

Protester Now 1-A

IRVINGTON, N.J. (AP)— Mark Rudd, one of the leaders of the student protests at Columbia University earlier this year, has been reclassified 1-A by the Irvington Selective Service Board.

New District To Gain Benefits Of Survey

The Tomales High School District board last night voted to turn over work done so far on a community attitudes survey to the new Shoreline Unified School District board, reported Supt. Anthony Matulich.

The Tomales High School District has been working with Bonnie Gurgin, consultant from the University of California Research and Survey Center, on the survey of present and former students views on Tomales High.

Last week, Shoreline district board asked that the survey be enlarged to include the high school and elementary schools within the new unified district.

The Tomales High School Board Also:

BONDS — Approved selling $46,000 in authorized bonds next month with the retirement set at five years.

STATION WAGON — Authorized purchase of a new station wagon from Sanderson Motor Co. of Petaluma, at $2,450 to replace a 1963 model which the district is now using.

SALARY — Rejected a request from Matulich that his salary be increased from $17,452 to $20,304.

COACHES — Named Daniel Mariana and David Danielson as basketball coaches and Leslie Williams and James Kovalik as wrestling coaches.

BOOSTERS — Received information that a Tomales High School Boosters Club had been formed on Oct. 22. The next meeting of the club, which is for men only, will be held at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the Marshall Hotel.

COMMITTEE — Heard a report from Matulich that he was invited to serve on the evaluation accreditation committee next March for the Mira Loma High School in Sacramento.

Teen Arraigned On Marijuana

George E. Wickham Jr., 19-year-old son of Mill Valley City Councilman George E. Wickham, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges of marijuana possession and possession of alcohol by a minor.

His case was referred to juvenile probation authorities for possible certification to Juvenile Court.

A co-defendant, Robert Peter Dittle, 19, of 153 Walnut Avenue, Mill Valley, was arraigned on the same charge and asked a week's continuance before he pleads. His case was continued until Thursday.

Judges Named

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Harold B. Hove, an Oakland attorney, and San Leandro Municipal Court Judge Gordon L. Minder were appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan today to the Alameda County Superior Court.

Thanksgiving Causes Cited By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today there were many events during 1968 for which he said Americans should give thanks, including "the beginning of talks with our adversaries that will, we pray, lead to peace in Vietnam."

Proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 28 as Thanksgiving Day, Johnson said:

"These events inspire not only the deepest gratitude, but confidence that our nation, the beneficiary of good fortune beyond that of any nation in history, will surmount its present trials and achieve a more just society for its people.

"In this season, let us offer more than words of Thanksgiving to God. Let us resolve to offer Him the best that is within us—tolerance, respect for life, faith in the destiny of all men to live in peace," Johnson said.

Other events he cited as deserving remembrance and thanksgiving included:

"The increasing prosperity of the people, including those who were denied any share in America's blessings in the past.

"The achievement of new breakthroughs in medical science and new victories over disease."

Two Turtles Circle Moon In Russ Ship

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists today revealed the first living creatures to fly around the moon and back to earth were a pair of turtles and a number of wine flies and meal worms.

They were all aboard the Soviet moon shot Zond 5 which landed in the Indian Ocean Sept. 21 after a week-long flight.

They arrived back in a Soviet laboratory in good condition, moving about in their containers and with good appetites, a report by four scientists in the Communist party newspaper Pravda said.

RETURN LIGHTER

They lost some weight, returning home 10 per cent lighter. Blood analysis showed no substantial difference from a group of stay-at-home turtles used as a test control.

The scientists reported a checkup 21 days after the turtles' return showed "an excessive content of glycogen and iron in their liver tissue (and) the complex of flight factors had also exerted a certain influence on the structure of the spleen."

The report did not explain the significance of these findings or whether they would have any effect on a decision to send a man to the moon. Soviet scientists have said they will make thorough tests with animals before sending a man on a moon trip.

The report was the first mention of any living creatures aboard Zond 5. In addition to turtles Zond 5. carried plants, seeds, and bacterial cultures.

TEST PURPOSE

The purpose, the scientists said, was to test the effects of radiation and other conditions of a moon flight on living organisms. Their analysis is continuing.

The moonshot turtles were nameless in the report and identified only as No. 22 and No. 37.

The report made no mention of any biological test creatures that might be aboard Zond 6, which rounded the moon yesterday and is now presumably on its way back to earth.

Brinkmanship Is Ruled Out

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Former Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania says brinkmanship is outdated and will not form a part of U.S. foreign policy in the administration of Republican President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Scranton, who said he would not accept appointment as secretary of state in the Nixon cabinet, told University of North Carolina students last night there will be less confrontation and more negotiating when Nixon is president.

Scranton said he felt Nixon would rely on the national Security Council and the ideas of its members as it was operated during the Eisenhower administration.

DR. JOHN F. CATCHPOOL
To aid Biafrans

Marinite To Open Center For Biafrans

Dr. John F. Catchpool of 370 Summit Avenue, who was medical director of the Schweitzer Hospital from 1956 to 1959, was invited by Dr. Schweitzer's daughter, Dr. Rhena Ekert.

Dr. Catchpool is a research pharmacologist and epidemiologist at the university's San Francisco medical center. His special interest is the medical problems of developing countries, particularly the long term effects of malnutrition.

He said 1,500 to 2,000 Biafran orphans have already arrived in Gabon and are receiving emergency care at the military hospital in Libreville and the Schweitzer Hospital.

Dr. Catchpool planned to stop in other African countries where refugee Biafran children have accumulated. He will report what medical and food supplies are needed to the Afro-American African Relief Institute, a San Francisco-based organization established to help civilian victims of the Nigerian-Biafran War.

Soviet Spy Abel Narrates A Film

MOSCOW (AP) — Col. Rudolf Abel, imprisoned Soviet spy who was exchanged in 1962 for the downed U2 pilot Gary Powers, appears as the narrator in a new Russian movie called "The Dead Season," the news agency Tass reported yesterday.

The story deals with a manhunt for a former German Nazi scientist working on a "monstrous" chemical weapon in an unidentified Western country after World War II.

SHORT-LIVED JOY

Backyard Oil Well Headache To Family

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Imagine the delight of Bernard Weinsieder and his family when oil bubbled up through a crack in their backyard patio a few weeks ago.

Weinsider's son Jules, 22 said, "We thought we had it made."

But so far it has cost more than $3,000, wrecked their patio, driven some neighbors away, and landed the family in court.

The family followed the seepage to a storage cellar where they found a pool of crude oil. It turned out this came from a well drilled in 1911 and abandoned in 1924.

The first sign of disaster came when they called refineries to find out how much the oil was worth.

"They all said they were committed to certain companies, that we were independent operators and they couldn't buy from us," said Richard Weinsieder, a 17-year-old son.

A petroleum geologist checked the well and said he doubted whether it would ever pay for attempts to make productive again.

Weinsieder, the elder, a bread salesman, had to pay $2 a barrel to have the celler pumped out and 150 barrels of oil trucked away.

Then as the oil kept coming, the family paid $2,500 to a drilling company to dig a hole in the yard and find the well, a tenant moved out because of oil odors and gurgling sounds, a neighbor filed suit because her tenant also moved out, chunks of the patio broke loose because of underground pressures and the Weinsieders learned it would cost them $20,000 to cap the well properly .

The family also found out that the well was drilled and deserted by Associated Oil Co., which later became part of the Getty Oil Co. They hired an attorney who filed a $575,000 negligence suit against the company.

"The oil company reaped the benefits from the oil well years ago," said Jerome Beznik, the lawyer. "Why should the Weinsieder family, who purchased the home only two years ago, now have to suffer from the oil company's negligence?"

A Getty oil spokesman said: "We were the corporate predecessor involved in that portion of the old Salt Lake Oil Field, but we've no interest in the field for 44 years."

Schools To Withdraw From Library System

The Larkspur School District Board voted unanimously last night to withdraw from the county school library system starting in the 1970-71 school year.

Supt. Milton S. Cohen said the district was pleased with the county's service, but felt the district is now able to buy its own supplementary texts directly and save paying county administrative costs.

The board also agreed to let the county schools office put two portable classrooms on the Larkspur-Corte Madera School grounds for classes for the educationally handicapped. The portables will be ready Dec. 1.

The Larkspur School District Board Also:

OLD BOOKS—Heard a report on the state law effective last Wednesday allowing school districts to donate old text books to children or others living in the district. Formerly, old books could neither be destroyed nor given away to the public, and were given to the county schools office for donation and distribution overseas.

CIVIL DEFENSE — Adopted a civil defense plan like last year's to meet the state requirement for an annual plan.

STAFF SCHOOL — Learned that four staff members are attending a course called "a systems approach to educational problem solving" given at the county schools office under a federal grant for Marin, Sonoma and Solano county educators. The program started yesterday and will be held from 1:30 to 8:30 p.m. for six Thursdays.

CONVENTION — Gave permission for up to four board members to attend the state convention for school board trustees Dec. 7 through 12 at Anaheim.

Robbery-Kidnap Empties Oakland Grocery's Safe

OAKLAND (UPI)—A robbery gang kidnaped the assistant manager of an Oakland food market early today and held his wife hostage while they forced him to open the store safe.

William De Vaughn, 30, told police he was on his way home Thursday night when his car was bumped from the rear by another vehicle containing three men.

The men produced a gun, ordered De Vaughn to accompany them to the Emby Food Market, and forced him to open the safe. De Vaughn said he was told he would be killed if he did not cooperate.

Almost simultaneously, police said, two men forced their way into De Vaughn's home and remained with his wife, Tsutae, 33, until the robbery was complete.

The amount of the robbery loss was not reported.

Student Air Fares Bring A Big Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airline industry split sharply today over the legality and wisdom of standby youth and young adult fares.

In statements filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board three trunk airlines—National, Northeast and United—said the fares they and rival airlines offer should be discontinued as discriminatory and uneconomic.

The National Trailways Bus System, Inc., and the American Society of Travel Agents concurred.

Four trunk airlines—American, Continental, Northwest and Trans World—and five local service lines—Allegheny, Frontier, Hawaiian, Trans-Texas and Air West—argued to continue the special fares.

Eastern Air Lines dropped last April 28 its space-available youth standby fare—50 per cent of the jet coach fare—and adopted the one-third discount reservations-basis young adult fares of Delta Air Lines. It said it has not determined whether the new fare is yielding a profit.

The CAB's Bureau of Economics, in its brief to examiner Arthur Present, contended such promotional fares are reasonable and are not unjustly discriminatory.

Bureau counsel Victor M. Mercogliano said the fares also contribute to highway safety by inducing young persons to fly rather than drive or hitchhike.

The bureau added the fares are working well, instances of "bumping" standby passengers off flights are few, and no airline has shown the fares are unprofitable.

It is now estimated the world has 49 million cubic miles of water.

Justice Warren Reported Still Planning To Retire

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren's decision to retire remains firm and his letter stating his intention to leave the Supreme Court will remain on the table for action by Richard M. Nixon when he becomes president, the New York Times reported today.

In a story from its Washington bureau the newspaper said Warren continues to decline comment but added "his position is thus understood by his friends and colleagues and can be authoritatively stated."

The account said sources close to Warren say that he deprecates talk of ill feeling between him and Nixon and that he expects, if asked, to swear in the new president on Jan. 20.

The Times said Warren is known to believe that, from the point of view of the Supreme Court, it is best that any justice time his retirement for the end of the term in June. A justice cannot participate in cases that have been argued but not yet decided if he leaves in the middle of the term.

In his retirement letter written to President Johnson last June 13 Warren wrote that he intended to retire as chief justice "effective at your pleasure." He does not intend to amend that letter, the Times said.

In an accompanying personal letter to President Johnson on June 13 Warren gave as the reason for wanting to retire his feeling that at the age of 77 he should step aside for a younger man. The Times said that feeling is known not to have changed.

Retired Actor To Get Alimony

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A judge awarded retired actor Charles Judels $500 a month in support yesterday from his estranged wife.

Judels testified he lives in a hotel in Oakland where "you win a prize if the water goes on."

Judels, 88, and his wife, Ethel, 65, were married in 1944 and separated last July. Each has filed for divorce, each charging mental cruelty.

Mrs. Judels is an heiress to a $1-million trust left by her father, Henry Windt, who was a property developer and financier.

Judels was a tenor at 12 for band leader Tony Pastor, later played stage roles and then appeared in such motion pictures as "One Night of Love" and "The Plainsman." He was noted mainly as a comedian.

Justice Warren Reported Still Planning To Retire

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren's decision to retire remains firm and his letter stating his intention to leave the Supreme Court will remain on the table for action by Richard M. Nixon when he becomes president, the New York Times reported today.

In a story from its Washington bureau the newspaper said Warren continues to decline comment but added "his position is thus understood by his friends and colleagues and can be authoritatively stated."

The account said sources close to Warren say that he deprecates talk of ill feeling between him and Nixon and that he expects, if asked, to swear in the new president on Jan. 20.

The Times said Warren is known to believe that, from the point of view of the Supreme Court, it is best that any justice time his retirement for the end of the term in June. A justice cannot participate in cases that have been argued but not yet decided if he leaves in the middle of the term.

In his retirement letter written to President Johnson last June 13 Warren wrote that he intended to retire as chief justice "effective at your pleasure." He does not intend to amend that letter, the Times said.

In an accompanying personal letter to President Johnson on June 13 Warren gave as the reason for wanting to retire his feeling that at the age of 77 he should step aside for a younger man. The Times said that feeling is known not to have changed.

Retired Actor To Get Alimony

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A judge awarded retired actor Charles Judels $500 a month in support yesterday from his estranged wife.

Judels testified he lives in a hotel in Oakland where "you win a prize if the water goes on."

Judels, 88, and his wife, Ethel, 65, were married in 1944 and separated last July. Each has filed for divorce, each charging mental cruelty.

Mrs. Judels is an heiress to a $1-million trust left by her father, Henry Windt, who was a property developer and financier.

Judels was a tenor at 12 for band leader Tony Pastor, later played stage roles and then appeared in such motion pictures as "One Night of Love" and "The Plainsman." He was noted mainly as a comedian.

Rights Panel Agrees To Poverty Dialogue

Marin County Human Rights commissioners decided last night they will meet with Economic Opportunity Council directors, but not to rehash the question of coordinating manpower services.

A request for a joint meeting came last night in a letter from Victor H. Cary, executive director of the Marin County EOC. Cary said a misunderstanding has arisen and suggested a meeting to discuss the respective responsibilities of both agencies.

The question of coordinating manpower services was thrashed out at last month's meeting. Commissioner Richard Harding pointed out.

"Didn't we have a resolution saying they (EOC) couldn't coordinate manpower alone so we asked the supervisors to take over?" asked Harding.

"It's not just manpower development," replied Commissioner Arthur L. Brown. "There are other areas where we can prevent duplication."

At the suggestion of Commissioner Troy Lewis, the commissioners asked Executive Director Austin J. Thompson to pin down the exact items to be discussed and report back at the next meeting on Dec. 12.

The Human Rights Commission Also:

NEW CAREERS — Heard from Charles B. Weers that the Marin Central Labor Council passed a resolution asking the county supervisors to place manpower coordination in the hands of the Human Rights Commission, and also to hire Dr. Arthur Pearl as a consultant to set up his proposed New Careers Program. This resolution will come before the county supervisors on Nov. 26.

HOUSING — Heard from Rev. Francis Geddes that church groups are interested in creating a non-profit corporation to build low and moderate income housing, with each church pledging $200 to launch the corporation.

CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT —Asked Chairman Bella Aaron to continue encouraging various contractors to hire minorities in the construction of public buildings.

VOLUNTEERS — Asked the county supervisors to pass a resolution thanking volunteers, both youths and adults, who are helping the Human Rights Department staff with typing and other routine office work.

BLACK BUSINESS—Heard a report from Troy E. Lewis that the employment committee is trying to encourage blacks to start their own businesses, with technical advice on financing and operations. One example, said Lewis, is a black contractor who is selling automobiles. His committee will meet with this contractor and any others and try to set them up in business.

Black Students Are Being Offered Secretarial Class

A secretarial class for black students who want to become secretaries has been set up at San Domenico High School in Sleepy Hollow, a youth worker for the Marin County Human Rights Commission reported last night to the commission.

Horace White, youth worker, said 15 to 20 girls, including high school, college age, and three adults, attend the classes.

He added that a grooming course will also begin at San Domenico School to teach girls how to dress and act when looking for employment.

He said a gorup known as Youth Power has opened up a coffee house at the Unitarian Church in Terra Linda and is trying to expand coffee houses to other areas in the county.

Referring to the Marin County Board of Supervisors approving only $375 of the $750 requested to start the coffee house program, White declared: "I think the supervisors are not aware of the importance of these coffee houses."

Commissioner Troy Lewis suggested that White contact churches to see if they can help provide funds for the coffee house program and secretarial classes at San Domenico.

Another Gold Disc In Hurry For Beatles

NEW YORK (AP) — The Record Industry Association of America has certified the Beatles' "Hey Jude" as a million-selling record in the United States. It is the 16th Beatles single to receive a gold record.

It was certified mid-way through its second week of sales.

Marin History Show On In San Francisco

An exhibit of more than 100 paintings, watercolors, maps and books of Marin County history is being shown through Jan. 11 at the California Historical Society, 2090 Jackson Street, San Francisco.

Society hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

EDUCATION VS. TRADES QUESTIONED

What is there about the educational system that turns out black students who cannot contend with whites of comparable education in passing qualifying examinations for trades and apprenticeships?

This question was posed last night by Charles B. Weers to fellow members of the Marin City Human Rights Commission.

Labor has made every effort to encourage minorities to enter trades, but the qualifying examinations have been the stumbling block, said Weers. "The number one project of the commission should be in the field of education."

The commissioners asked Weers to work with Executive Director Austin J. Thompson in setting up meetings with educators and school boards

Churches Launch Drive To Finance Housing Project

Representatives from about 30 churches in the county have decided that each church should pledge $200 as "seed money" to form an ecumenical nonprofit corporation to provide housing for low income groups.

Church representatives met Wednesday with the crisis committee of the Marin County Human Rights Commission and agreed that such a corporation could be formed by the churches to engage in housing construction, with aid from the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968.

The Rev. John J. O'Connor, chairman at the meeting, suggested the $200 commitment from each church to get the nonprofit corporation started. The group set the next meeting for 8 p.m., Dec. 11, at the Civic Center to bring back the $200 pledges from their churches. The committee also will decide on whether the ecumenical corporation should provide low cost or moderate cost housing.

What to say after you give the button

Nothing. Absolutely nothing. There's no need for words. The "I AM LOVED" button is only a symbol (and free of charge, at that), yet it says something special about someone special.

It tells the world who belongs to whom. It lets you know there is someone there…someone who cares. Who could put in words the nice, warm feeling you get from such a shy little button?

But it is, after all, only a button. A reminder. A starter. A staller.

What true love, lasting love, needs is something more permanent. For this we suggest Wells "I AM LOVED" jewelry for both men and women, jewelry in real silver and gold.

Or there are Wells "I AM LOVED" fragrances for that particular person in your life. Gaily packaged in stripes for the men, polkadots for the girls, they give an air and a flair to your sentiments.

When you come in for your button you will have a chance to see the range of earrings, charms, pendants and pins for her…the key chains, idents, money clips, tie tacs, cufflinks for him.

Let your nose lead you to the "I AM LOVED" fragrances…cologne and after shave for men in both Bronze and Lime…purse, spray and decanter sizes of perfume for an exceptional enchantress.

If you would put a price on love, you can find your particular degree of intensity anywhere between $4.50 and $15 in the fragrances, $5 to $25 for the jewelry.

What price love? It's up to you, starting with the "I AM LOVED" button which is not for sale. It's free.

Just remember the button says volumes. The jewelry and fragrances say it eloquently.

Then we showed him our "works in the drawer".

In Quasar, you have two things going for you. All solid-state components, (except rectifier and picture tube) for years of dependable performance. And the fast, at-home service you can only get when the works are in a drawer.

Unlike tubes, our solid-state components are designed to work without burning themselves out. You get space-age dependability for sound, for picture, for color.

But we didn't stop with dependability. We made service a snap, too. We put most components (all 10 of our tubeless mini-circuits) in a drawer. And we designed them so that they snap in and snap out. In minutes.

A repairman comes into your home, pulls out the drawer, snaps in a replacement circuit, pushes the drawer back, and that's it. The most you may miss is a few commercials.

Rights Panel Agrees To Poverty Dialogue

Marin County Human Rights commissioners decided last night they will meet with Economic Opportunity Council directors, but not to rehash the question of coordinating manpower services.

A request for a joint meeting came last night in a letter from Victor H. Cary, executive director of the Marin County EOC. Cary said a misunderstanding has arisen and suggested a meeting to discuss the respective responsibilities of both agencies.

The question of coordinating manpower services was thrashed out at last month's meeting, Commissioner Richard Harding pointed out.

"Didn't we have a resolution saying they (EOC) couldn't coordinate manpower alone so we asked the supervisors to take over?" asked Harding.

"It's not just manpower development," replied Commissioner Arthur L. Brown. "There are other areas where we can prevent duplication."

At the suggestion of Commissioner Troy Lewis, the commissioners asked Executive Director Austin J. Thompson to pin down the exact items to be discussed and report back at the next meeting on Dec. 12.

The Human Rights Commission Also:

NEW CAREERS — Heard from Charles B. Weers that the Marin Central Labor Council passed a resolution asking the county supervisors to place manpower coordination in the hands of the Human Rights Commission, and also to hire Dr. Arthur Pearl as a consultant to set up his proposed New Careers Program. This resolution will come before the county supervisors on Nov. 26.

HOUSING — Heard from Rev. Francis Geddes that church groups are interested in creating a non-profit corporation to build low and moderate income housing, with each church pledging $200 to launch the corporation.

CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT —Asked Chairman Bella Aaron to continue encouraging various contractors to hire minorities in the construction of public buildings.

VOLUNTEERS — Asked the county supervisors to pass a resolution thanking volunteers, both youths and adults, who are helping the Human Rights Department staff with typing and other routine office work.

BLACK BUSINESS—Heard a report from Troy E. Lewis that the employment committee is trying to encourage blacks to start their own businesses, with technical advice on financing and operations. One example, said Lewis, is a black contractor who is selling automobiles. His committee will meet with this contractor and any others and try to set them up in business.

Black Students Are Being Offered Secretarial Class

A secretarial class for black students who want to become secretaries has been set up at San Domenico High School in Sleepy Hollow, a youth worker for the Marin County Human Rights Commission reported last night to the commission.

Horace White, youth worker, said 15 to 20 girls, including high school, college age, and three adults, attend the classes.

He added that a grooming course will also begin at San Domenico School to teach girls how to dress and act when looking for employment.

He said a gorup known as Youth Power has opened up a coffee house at the Unitarian Church in Terra Linda and is trying to expand coffee houses to other areas in the county.

Referring to the Marin County Board of Supervisors approving only $375 of the $750 requested to start the coffee house program, White declared: "I think the supervisors are not aware of the importance of these coffee houses."

Commissioner Troy Lewis suggested that White contact churches to see if they can help provide funds for the coffee house program and secretarial classes at San Domenico.

Another Gold Disc In Hurry For Beatles

NEW YORK (AP) — The Record Industry Association of America has certified the Beatles' "Hey Jude" as a million-selling record in the United States. It is the 16th Beatles single to receive a gold record.

It was certified mid-way through its second week of sales.

Marin History Show On In San Francisco

An exhibit of more than 100 paintings, watercolors, maps and books of Marin County history is being shown through Jan. 11 at the California Historical Society, 2090 Jackson Street, San Francisco.

Society hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

EDUCATION VS. TRADES QUESTIONED

What is there about the educational system that turns out black students who cannot contend with whites of comparable education in passing qualifying examinations for trades and apprenticeships?

This question was posed last night by Charles B. Weers to fellow members of the Marin City Human Rights Commission.

Labor has made every effort to encourage minorities to enter trades, but the qualifying examinations have been the stumbling block, said Weers. "The number one project of the commission should be in the field of education."

The commissioners asked Weers to work with Executive Director Austin J. Thompson in setting up meetings with educators and school boards

Churches Launch Drive To Finance Housing Project

Representatives from about 30 churches in the county have decided that each church should pledge $200 as "seed money" to form an ecumenical nonprofit corporation to provide housing for low income groups.

Church representatives met Wednesday with the crisis committee of the Marin County Human Rights Commission and agreed that such a corporation could be formed by the churches to engage in housing construction, with aid from the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968.

The Rev. John J. O'Connor, chairman at the meeting, suggested the $200 commitment from each church to get the nonprofit corporation started. The group set the next meeting for 8 p.m., Dec. 11, at the Civic Center to bring back the $200 pledges from their churches. The committee also will decide on whether the ecumenical corporation should provide low cost or moderate cost housing.

WHALE OF A BIG CATCH

Workmen prepare to hoist the two sections of a life-sized model of a female blue or sulphur-bottomed whale into place on the ceiling of the Hall of Ocean Life at the Museum of Natural History in New York City. The 94-feet-long, 21,000-pound plastic and fiber glass replica installed yesterday took 30 months to prepare and cost about $200,000.

Discovery Is Announced Of Pulsating-Type Star

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Discovery of a strange new "ticking star" was reported today by an astronomer who said it virtually proves the existence of mysterious objects believed to sweep space like cosmic searchlights.

Dr. Frank Drake of Cornell University told a group of science writers the new star, catalogued as NP0532, pulsates every 33 thousandths of a second —the shortest ticking time of any of the 14 pulsars found since the first was announced in February.

He said the discovery, made yesterday, provides evidence "as conclusive as you can get in astronomy that pulsars are actually neutron stars."

Astronomers have calculated that neutron stars, extremely dense and very powerful sources of radio waves, might result from huge stellar explosions called supernova. The new pulsar was found near the Crab Nebula, a supernova that occurred in 1054 A.D.

The theory says that stars formed in this way would rotate very rapidly, sending out a powerful beam of radiation as they turn. This would account for the pulsation, or ticking, of the new pulsars.

Dr. Drake said the new star is probably only 10 miles in diameter and as dense as the earth would be if compressed into a sphere 300 feet across. This is the density of matter in the nucleaus of an atom.

Dr. Drake said pulsars cannot be the artifacts of any conceivable civilization because they are so powerful, generating a billion times more energy than the output of all the power plants on earth.

Drake made his report at a meeting of the Council for the Advancement of Science Writing.

White Pill Just A Salt Tablet

Little white tablets being peddled to Marin high school girls as birth control pills will do nothing for the girls but make them thirsty, San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said today.

Chiesa said that school authorities had obtained one of the pills, which they believe are being sold sub rosa to coeds, and turned it over to police for analysis.

The pill proved to be nothing more than a salt tablet, he said.

Nixon Names Ziegler As Chief Spokesman

Ziegler's title will be special assistant to the president.

In announcing Nixon's choice, H.R. Haldeman, an assistant to the president-elect, noted that there will be no White House press secretary in the traditional sense. But he said Ziegler will be the new administration's equivalent of that official.

Haldeman said Ziegler will be kept "completely on top of everything that is going on or being planned" in the White House.

But he said past press secretaries have been policymakers as well as spokesmen and have acted on their own in interpreting and defining administration's positions. He said that will not be Ziegler's role.

Ziegler, a Los Angeles advertising man, had been Nixon's traveling spokesman throughout the campaign.

Ziegler said he will be present at White House decision-making sessions so that he will have first hand information.

Haldeman said no role has yet been assigned to Herbert G. Klein Nixon's press secretary in the 1960 campaign and the director of communications this year.

Haldeman said Klein's assignment was still under discussion.

Haldeman also announced the appointment of Dwight Chapin, 28, as a special assistant. Chapin will manage Nixon's schedule and coordinate travel plans —duties that in past administrations have been those of the man designated appointments secretary.

Ziegler left the Los Angeles branch of the J. Walter Thompson advertising agency to take his role in the Nixon campaign. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California.

Bel Marin Board Awards Contract For Dredging

A $53,775 contract was awarded last night by the Bel Marin Key Community Services District board to Hydraulic Dredge of Oakland for dredging the Keys Lagoon and waterways, according to Mrs. James Zoeller, secretary to the board.

The original estimate on the dredging was $65,000, she said.

Work should start before Thanksgiving and be completed in 60 days, she said.

The board approved the purchase of a Christmas tree for the community center and candy canes for Santa Claus when he visits the area, she said.

The board voted a $50 bonus to Mrs. Zoeller for extra work she did on the dredging project.

Stanley Rakeman resigned as chairman of the parks and recreation committee and was replaced by Allen D. Brown of 145 Montego Key, according to Mrs. Zoeller.

Courtroom Fray Caught By Cameras

A 31-year-old houseboat dweller, brought to Marin Municipal Court yesterday afternoon, spat at court bailiffs, then engaged three of them in battle before television cameras.

Frank Iannone, of Gate Six, in custody on a charge of malicious mischief, was committed to Napa State Hospital when bailiffs subdued him after a scuffle which caused a broken window in the courtroom of Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

The fight was recorded by the cameras of television and newspaper representatives, waiting in the courtroom corridor to photograph bank president Byron W. Leydecker, appearing on a narcotics charge.

The flareup began when Iannone spat at bailiff Benjamin Pope as he was led into the courtroom. Dwight Johnson, another bailiff, led the prisoner to a seat in the courtroom's front row and ordered him to behave.

The prisoner resisted and the two spun to the floor, breaking a window as they fell. Pope and bailiff James Riddell joined the battle.

As the audience watched aghast, Iannone screamed while two bailiffs jerked his arms behind his back for handcuffing and the third knelt with his knee on Iannone's head.

The men with television cameras and kleig lights rushed into the courtroom, Iannone looked up, grinned and shouted:

"Look at this. Hey, look at this, baby."

Discovery Is Announced Of Pulsating-Type Star

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Discovery of a strange new "ticking star" was reported today by an astronomer who said it virtually proves the existence of mysterious objects believed to sweep space like cosmic searchlights.

Dr. Frank Drake of Cornell University told a group of science writers the new star, catalogued as NP0532, pulsates every 33 thousandths of a second —the shortest ticking time of any of the 14 pulsars found since the first was announced in February.

He said the discovery, made yesterday, provides evidence "as conclusive as you can get in astronomy that pulsars are actually neutron stars."

Astronomers have calculated that neutron stars, extremely dense and very powerful sources of radio waves, might result from huge stellar explosions called supernova. The new pulsar was found near the Crab Nebula, a supernova that occurred in 1054 A.D.

The theory says that stars formed in this way would rotate very rapidly, sending out a powerful beam of radiation as they turn. This would account for the pulsation, or ticking, of the new pulsars.

Dr. Drake said the new star is probably only 10 miles in diameter and as dense as the earth would be if compressed into a sphere 300 feet across. This is the density of matter in the nucleaus of an atom.

Dr. Drake said pulsars cannot be the artifacts of any conceivable civilization because they are so powerful, generating a billion times more energy than the output of all the power plants on earth.

LEADS POSSE — William Dreusike was elected captain of the Mounted Sheriff's Posse of Marin County at a meeting Tuesday night. Other new officers are: First lieutenant, Joe Brewster; second lieutenant, Stanley Swift; secretary, William Waldon, and treasurer, Oscar Montgomery.

Two Panels For Studies Are Named

The City-County Planning Council of Marin last night set up two subcommittees to work on transportation and countywide planning.

Named to the transportation subcommittee at the Civic Center meeting were George Banning of Belvedere ,Woodrow Capurro of San Anselmo, Alexander Imlay of Sausalito, Joseph Marshall of Tiburon, Leo T. Cronin of Fairfax, Harold B. Wagstaff of Corte Madera, Ann West of the Marin Citizens Transportation Committee, Bertram H. Hirsch of Tiburon and Supervisor John F. McInnis.

Appointed to the intergovernmental relations subcommittee were Douglas M. Merrill of Novato, Hugh Dougherty of the county planning commission, Rodric Robinson of Mill Valley, C. W. Thomas of Corte Madera, Arthur W. Smith of San Anselmo and Supervisor Peter H. Behr.

Merrill made the appointments from nominations by the 11 council members present.

The council discussed a suggestion from supervisors that housing code enforcement be made uniform throughout the county and decided that cities will retain general supervision and inspection of structures in enforcing the housing code, but could call in the county in specific cases.

Petaluman Faces Neglect Charge

A Petaluma mother of two was charged with child neglect last night and was being held at the city jail pending a hearing to be set this afternoon.

Police were called to the home of Mrs. Virginia Mainwaring, 37, of 837 B Street, yesterday at 4:04 p.m. when a neighbor complained that 6-year-old Donna Mainwaring could not get into her home.

When police arrived, they said they found Mrs. Mainwaring to be under the influence of alcohol. A son, Richard, 17, said his mother had been depressed lately. Police said they had investigated possible neglect at the home several times this year.

Peninsula Youths Ask 'A Place Of Our Own'

Tiburon Peninsula teen-agers, like other young people throughout Marin, last night asked for "someplace we can call our own," preferably a coffee house and recreation center, to house a permanent youth recreation program, Russell L. Melquist, assistant to the Tiburon city manager, reported.

Speaking to a joint meeting of the Belvedere and Tiburon parks and recreation commissions, a delegation of 10 youths said the coffee house-recreation center would provide some place for teen-agers to go other than grammar school playgrounds or their own homes, Melquist said.

"We see our parents all the time; we want some place of our own," one youth said, according to Melquist.

Commissioners took no action because neither commission had a quorum at the meeting.

However, those commissioners present asked the teen-agers to investigate possible locations for such a center and to come back to the commissions within the next few months with a more detailed proposal, Melquist said.

Tiburon commissioners absent included David H. Teather, Gerald B. Talbot and George McKegney. Donald K. Loomis arrived at 9:30 p.m. Absent from Belvedere were Rev. Lelwellyn A. White, Beatrice Mann and Kirk Bassett.

The Belvedere commission did not consider scheduled agenda items because of the lack of a quorum.

Agreement For Widening Las Gallinas Creek Signed

Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District directors last night signed an agreement with the county to proceed with widening Las Gallinas Creek and relocating a sewer line adjacent to Vendola Drive near Mabry Way in Santa Venetia.

The cost, about $30,000, will be borne by the Gallinas Creek Dredging Project Assessment District formed in 1965. Robert Pedroncelli, a county public works engineer, said the money is available in the budget.

The sanitary district directors also approved a change in the location of a sewer line to serve the Marin Valley Mobile Country Club. The mobile home development is planned on 33 acres of land just north of St. Vincent's School for Boys, within the City of Novato.

Youths Pick Up Campus Litter

Deputies said the seven young men littered the campus as a prank brought on by the approach of a football game between the two college's today.

Officers also found poster paint on some of the college buildings, but a night watchman reported the damage was done by a carload of girls who got away.

Cotati Council Eyes New Jobs For City

Cotati City Council in closed session last night considered persons for three new city positions and the renewal of contracts for other employees.

The new positions include a secretary with the five-year salary range of $375 to $465 and two jobs with the street department with salary ranges from $547 to $680. A recommendation for employment will be made by City Mgr. Gordon C. Howe at a regular December council meeting.

Novato Youths Cited As Heros In Fire Rescue

Certificates honoring two young Novatans for bravery in rescuing a youth from a flaming house last May have been awarded by the Lloyd Andrew Hamilton Post 540 of the American Legion in Novato.

Wallace and Michael Halkovich of 205 Cherry Street, Novato, rescued Thomas Snyder, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Snyder of 698 Cherry Street last May 28 by running through the flames upstairs in the house to rescue the youth after his father had been turned back by the flames.

Wallace, 23, and Michael Halkovich, 21, received the awards at the Wednesday night meeting of the post at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Novato.

Van Gronigen was eldcted commander of the post. William Conklin was named first vice commander and Fred Ertman, second vice commander Rev. Russell Knoble was named chaplain and Walter Apperson, historian, according to Van Gronigen.

When RFK Was Sure Of Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Until Sen. Robert F. Kennedy won the California primary last June he never felt he was running on his own and feared people believed he was trading on the memory of his brother John, Kenneth P. O'Donnell says.

"But all that ended with that California primary," O'Donnell said in a speech yesterday. "For the first time he was Sen. Robert Kennedy on his own, and he was absolutely convinced he would be nominated and elected president of the United States."

O'Donnell, the late President John F. Kennedy's appointments secretary and Robert Kennedy's campaign manager, spoke to a bar association at the John F. Kennedy Federal Building.

He said he learned of Robert Kennedy's changed viewpoint in a talk with the New York senator five minutes before Kennedy walked into the Ambassador Hotel ballroom in Los Angeles to claim his California victory—and be assassinated.

O'Donnell said Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's surprising vote in the New Hampshire primary March 12 convinced Kennedy that dissatisfaction with the Johnson administration was more widespread than suspected.

Although advised he had no better than a 3-to-1 chance of winning the nomination, Kennedy decided to enter the race, O'Donnell said, and he (O'Donnell) was given the job of directing a "holding action"—to convince delegates not to commit themselves to anyone, not even Kennedy, until the primaries were over.

Then came President Johnson's bombshell announcement in a postscript to a television speech that he would not seek renomination.

"It was a brand new ball game," O'Donnell said. "I am a close friend of the gentleman who wrote the President's speech and he didn't know of the addition to it until watching on television that night."

Of the incoming Republican administration of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, O'Donnell made this prediction: "I think Nixon may turn out much more liberal than anticipated, because that is the way it has to be. Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. is going to say, 'You sold me out, Dick,' but he (Nixon) is going to have to."

Radioactive Beacon Next For Copters?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy says converting helicopters into a nuclear version of fireflies offers the best hope yet of avoiding collisions while flying in close formation in foul weather.

Previously, military researchers tried and discarded schemes for using radar, laser, infrared and ultrasonic systems so the whirlybird pilots can tell where their companions are.

George E. Wilcos of the Naval Air Development Center presented a report to the American Nuclear Society yesterday saying the nuclear device has proven feasible in preliminary tests.

He said the device, attached to the helicopter fuselage, registers signals on an oscilloscope in a craft as far as 1,000 feet away.

He said problems still confronting adoption of the "nucleonic station keeper" includes development of a safer but more intense radioactive source.

Students' Stand May Delay Coeds At Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale college has approved a proposal to admit women beginning in September 1969.

Student objections to housing arrangements proposed for the women, however, may postpone implementation of coeducation at the college, according to Yale University President Kingman Brewster Jr.

The Yale Corporation, the university's governing board of trustees, had approved the coeducation plan at a meeting Saturday.

Brewster's plan calls for 500 young women to be admitted next fall, half as freshmen and half as upperclass transfer students. Under the plan the freshmen girls were to be housed together in one of Yale's 12 residential colleges. The other 250 girls were to live off campus in nearby homes and apartments.

At a tumultuous meeting last night students said the plan would mean "segregation" for women at Yale. They demanded alternatives that would mix the coeds into the university community on a more "equitable" basis.

Brewster said a decision would have to be made by "the first of the week" if the college is to salvage its hopes of coeducation in 1969.

A university spokesman said Brewster will meet throughout the weekend with members of the Yale Corporation.

Prize To Poet Marianne Moore

NEW YORK (AP) — Marianne Moore, who is 81 today, has been named recipient of the 1968 National Medal for Literature which carries a $5,000 prize.

"I am mystified but delighted," declared the white-haired poet upon learning of the award.

The prize, instituted in 1965 by the National Book Committee, honors living American writers for the excellence of their total contribution to literature.

William I. Nichols, committee chairman, said in citing the award: "One of the few true inventors of poetry in our time, Marianne Moore, the first lady of poetry, gives us intimiations of exquisit perfection.

"In her lively art, peacocks, snails, steam rollers, unicorns, baseball, nectarines, mongooses, granite and steel—all evoke enchanged glimpses of eternity."

Marin Women

Premiere Of Movie 'Bullitt' Tonight

By BETTY FROST

Looking forward to the Bay Area premiere of the locally filmed movie, ''Bullitt,'' tonight with special interest is Mrs. H. R. Davis of Belvedere.

The Belvedere matron appears in the tea scene and the airport scene in "Bullitt." The showing, at Cinema 21 in San Francisco at 8:30 tonight, will be her first opportunity to see the film.

A background of fashion modeling and modeling for commercial photographs was the springboard for her acting career. The wife of a retired Army colonel, Alice has lived all over the country and in Europe. She is a native of Oakland.

When the colonel was retired they moved to Marin County 10 years ago. The former officer is now associated with an engineering firm in San Francisco. Once settled in their new home in Belvedere with its garden and pool, Alice found she had some free time. She decided to register with a casting agency and began her career in the world of greasepaint.

A member of both the Screen Actors Guild and the Screen Extras Guild, Alice never knows what kind of assignment she will get. Often the notice is very short. In preparation she maintains an extensive wardrobe and has an assortment of wigs.

"The more different ways you can look, the more work you can get," she explained.

Often typecast as a society matron, Mrs. Davis played the

Dancer, Marie Oare To Entertain In Tokyo

By MOLLY MARIN

Marie Oare, who was Miss Marin County in 1965, flew to Japan today in a group that will entertain at Caeser's Palace in Tokyo for three months.

The group of 40 entertainers is part of a former USO tour, who endeared themselves to the Japanese people, who urged the manager of the Tokyo nightclub to "bring those talented people back."

Marie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Oare of San Rafael. A native of Nottingham, England, she is a graduate of San Rafael High School.

She has been dancing professionally for a year and a half, according to her sister, Robin, a freshman at San Rafael High School, and hopes that this opportunity will be her big break into show business.

VISITING AT THE home of Col. and Mrs. Charles Praul in Novato are Col. Praul's foster father, the Rev. Roy Brinker of Harlan, Iowa and the Praul's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Keenan and 3-year-old son, Danny of Mt. Vernon, Wash.

Rev. Brinker will be staying with the Praul's until Col. Praul's retirement at Hamilton Air Force Base on Nov. 30.

Col. and Mrs. Donald H. Lynch will honor the Prauls at a cocktail party at their home at Hamilton on Nov. 23. They have invited military and civilian friends of the Prauls to the party. Col. Lynch is commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton.

Group Receives Award For Volunteer Work

The Volunteer Bureau's November Volunteer of the Month is unusual in several ways. The award goes to a group of women; for another, they are all senior citizens in a rest home, a group more often on the receiving end of volunteer services than the giving.

Mrs. Marion Kelley, executive director of the Volunteer Bureau, said that "the ladies of Hillcrest Rest Home in Santa Venetia have long deserved commendation for their work on mailings for numerous Marin County agencies. Mrs. Ann Schlotsan, administrator for the rest home, first asked about four years ago for some work that she and the elderly patients at Hillcrest could do. We gave them a mailing to handle and they did it so fast and efficiently that we've heen recommending them ever since."

In the last four years Hillcrest has averaged about a quarter million pieces of mail a year. They have done work for many organizations, including the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association, Muscular Distrophy Association, Cerebral Palsy, Easter Seal, the California State Department of Employment Youth Program, College of Marin, Multiple Sclerosis and the Shakespeare Festival.

The volunteers at Hillcrest are Mrs. Schlotsan, "Annie" as her friends call her, who has been in charge of the rest home for eight years and who instigates and supervises all volunteer work; Miss Mary Crafts of San Rafael; Miss Louise Givanovich of Sausalito; Mrs. Ruby Schneider of San Rafael; and Miss Lorry Ehrer of San Francisco. The residents of Hillcrest are all over 65 and most remain there several years.

Mrs Hans Hartmann of the Muscular Distrophy Association has been working with Hillcrest since last May on the 70,000 piece M.D. mailing. "I don't know how Annie does it", says Mrs. Hartmann. "The Hillcrest output often averages 1,000 envelopes a day and I never have to check anything they do over. Annie even asks me for more and pushes me to get the job done."

Annie herself puts it simply. "We do it to help the agencies, but more than that, to help the people that the agencies help. This is our way of doing something for others. The agencies report back to us on the success of their projects and this is our satisfaction."

Six Matrons Seek Adventure

By GRACE HENDERSON

How many times have Marinites wished they could swish houseguests into a sightseeing adventure that would take them to an unusual and interesting place, one they have not heard of before?

This has happened and will continue as long as local residents stay within their shells, only venturing forth when pressured by guests wishing to absorb the sights and sounds of the Bay Area.

Someone has done something about the situation and they recommend others follow suit. Getting their heads together were two Marin County, two San Francisco and two Piedmont matrons. Their goal was to know the Bay Area better; they are on their way to achieving that goal.

The six women, Mrs. Joanna Wood of Greenbrae, Mrs. B. R. Wilkie of San Anselmo, Mrs. Lawrence Graves and Mrs. Gregory Wood of San Francisco, Mrs. Harold Hoteling of Piedmont and Mrs. Geraldine Becker of Rossmore, formed the "Secret Adventure Club." It's only purpose is to know their region of the Golden State.

Once each month one of the group is responsible for an outing, keeping the destination a surprise for the others. The chief of each tour does as much research as possible, gathering information from Chambers of Commerce and wherever possible.

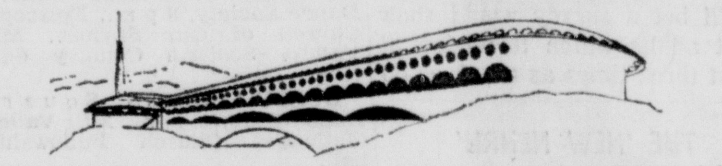
Once the group is settled in the hostess' car ready for their monthly exploration they learn of the destination. Then amidst literature supplied by their guide the women begin learning new facts about a certain area, place or part of the area known as "their own back door."

Thus far, "secret adventures" has taken the troupe to a picnic on Angel Island where the women hiked trails and topped it off with a boat ride from Sausalito to the San Rafael Canal; a journey to Point Reyes Peninsula, Bodega Bay and Inverness; Jack London Square and surrounding antique shops followed by a tour of the University of California campus; Stanford Campus and Sunset House and Garden display; the "secret" steps down Telegraph hill, lunch at the Japanese Cultural Center and attending the International Trade Exhibit in the Ferry Building in San Francisco where they were to discover only firms also having shops in Japan may be in business.

The six women involved in the local group have been friends for many years and have come to look upon the outings as the highlight of each month. Many places have been explored but there are more just waiting for the "secret adventuresses."

By the end of an exploring day the women have learned history and facts relative to each destination. "Weather will never interfere," said Lovita Wilkie, a third generation San Franciscan now living in San Anselmo and wishing to learn more about the Bay Area. She went on to explain how prior to assembling for the day's excursion the women are informed as to appropriate clothing. From there everything else is a surprise.

Indoor discoveries contemplated for the winter months include art exhibits, processing plants, industry tours and other points of interest not dependent on weather. This month and next there will be Christmas decorations at Sunset House which the women hope to see.



All tours are scheduled during off-hours on a weekday to avoid the pressure of crowds and traffic. A limit of one carload is best said Mrs. Wilkie adding that six women on an educational tour get plenty of attention from guards and tour escorts wherever they go. "We learn so much," she added.

Lovita Wilkie, instigator of the group, recommends other women try the "Secret Adventure" approach to learning more about their back yard. "It is not only educational but also an inexpensive outing which could appeal to anyone," she concluded.

UP, UP AND AWAY

Neither rain nor the hazard of a steep hill could keep members of the Sausalito Woman's Club from going on a wild flower seed scattering expedition yesterday morning. Shown left, climbing the hill northeast of the Cronkite Tunnel near Sausalito are, left to right, Mesdames Merrell Sisson, chairman of the project; Charles Henderson; and Edwin Long. Crawling through brush was another hazard of the seed scattering expedition. Joining the enhancement committee of the club were members of the Social Climbers, hikers of the club. Mrs. Edwin Long leads the way, center photo, followed by Mrs. Marcella Elliott. Sausalito Woman's Club members, left to right, Mesdames Merrell Sisson, Norton Meyer, John Nance and Frank Griffin, scatter seeds for the third year in photo on left in an effort to beautify the hills around Sausalito. This year the seeds were all California's state flower, the Golden Poppy. The project was largely responsible for the club's receiving an award in community enhancement from the California Federation of Women's Club

Premiere Of Movie 'Bullitt' Tonight

By BETTY FROST

Looking forward to the Bay Area premiere of the locally filmed movie, ''Bullitt,'' tonight with special interest is Mrs. H. R. Davis of Belvedere.

The Belvedere matron appears in the tea scene and the airport scene in "Bullitt." The showing, at Cinema 21 in San Francisco at 8:30 tonight, will be her first opportunity to see the film.

A background of fashion modeling and modeling for commercial photographs was the springboard for her acting career. The wife of a retired Army colonel, Alice has lived all over the country and in Europe. She is a native of Oakland.

When the colonel was retired they moved to Marin County 10 years ago. The former officer is now associated with an engineering firm in San Francisco. Once settled in their new home in Belvedere with its garden and pool, Alice found she had some free time. She decided to register with a casting agency and began her career in the world of greasepaint.

A member of both the Screen Actors Guild and the Screen Extras Guild, Alice never knows what kind of assignment she will get. Often the notice is very short. In preparation she maintains an extensive wardrobe and has an assortment of wigs.

"The more different ways you can look, the more work you can get," she explained.

Often typecast as a society matron, Mrs. Davis played the

Dancer, Marie Oare To Entertain In Tokyo

By MOLLY MARIN

Marie Oare, who was Miss Marin County in 1965, flew to Japan today in a group that will entertain at Caeser's Palace in Tokyo for three months.

The group of 40 entertainers is part of a former USO tour, who endeared themselves to the Japanese people, who urged the manager of the Tokyo nightclub to "bring those talented people back."

Marie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Oare of San Rafael. A native of Nottingham, England, she is a graduate of San Rafael High School.

She has been dancing professionally for a year and a half, according to her sister, Robin, a freshman at San Rafael High School, and hopes that this opportunity will be her big break into show business.

VISITING AT THE home of Col. and Mrs. Charles Praul in Novato are Col. Praul's foster father, the Rev. Roy Brinker of Harlan, Iowa and the Praul's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Keenan and 3-year-old son, Danny of Mt. Vernon, Wash.

Rev. Brinker will be staying with the Praul's until Col. Praul's retirement at Hamilton Air Force Base on Nov. 30.

Col. and Mrs. Donald H. Lynch will honor the Prauls at a cocktail party at their home at Hamilton on Nov. 23. They have invited military and civilian friends of the Prauls to the party. Col. Lynch is commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton.

Group Receives Award For Volunteer Work

The Volunteer Bureau's November Volunteer of the Month is unusual in several ways. The award goes to a group of women; for another, they are all senior citizens in a rest home, a group more often on the receiving end of volunteer services than the giving.

Mrs. Marion Kelley, executive director of the Volunteer Bureau, said that "the ladies of Hillcrest Rest Home in Santa Venetia have long deserved commendation for their work on mailings for numerous Marin County agencies. Mrs. Ann Schlotsan, administrator for the rest home, first asked about four years ago for some work that she and the elderly patients at Hillcrest could do. We gave them a mailing to handle and they did it so fast and efficiently that we've heen recommending them ever since."

In the last four years Hillcrest has averaged about a quarter million pieces of mail a year. They have done work for many organizations, including the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association, Muscular Distrophy Association, Cerebral Palsy, Easter Seal, the California State Department of Employment Youth Program, College of Marin, Multiple Sclerosis and the Shakespeare Festival.

The volunteers at Hillcrest are Mrs. Schlotsan, "Annie" as her friends call her, who has been in charge of the rest home for eight years and who instigates and supervises all volunteer work; Miss Mary Crafts of San Rafael; Miss Louise Givanovich of Sausalito; Mrs. Ruby Schneider of San Rafael; and Miss Lorry Ehrer of San Francisco. The residents of Hillcrest are all over 65 and most remain there several years.

Mrs Hans Hartmann of the Muscular Distrophy Association has been working with Hillcrest since last May on the 70,000 piece M.D. mailing. "I don't know how Annie does it", says Mrs. Hartmann. "The Hillcrest output often averages 1,000 envelopes a day and I never have to check anything they do over. Annie even asks me for more and pushes me to get the job done."

Annie herself puts it simply. "We do it to help the agencies, but more than that, to help the people that the agencies help. This is our way of doing something for others. The agencies report back to us on the success of their projects and this is our satisfaction."

Six Matrons Seek Adventure

By GRACE HENDERSON

How many times have Marinites wished they could swish houseguests into a sightseeing adventure that would take them to an unusual and interesting place, one they have not heard of before?

This has happened and will continue as long as local residents stay within their shells, only venturing forth when pressured by guests wishing to absorb the sights and sounds of the Bay Area.

Someone has done something about the situation and they recommend others follow suit. Getting their heads together were two Marin County, two San Francisco and two Piedmont matrons. Their goal was to know the Bay Area better; they are on their way to achieving that goal.

The six women, Mrs. Joanna Wood of Greenbrae, Mrs. B. R. Wilkie of San Anselmo, Mrs. Lawrence Graves and Mrs. Gregory Wood of San Francisco, Mrs. Harold Hoteling of Piedmont and Mrs. Geraldine Becker of Rossmore, formed the "Secret Adventure Club." It's only purpose is to know their region of the Golden State.

Once each month one of the group is responsible for an outing, keeping the destination a surprise for the others. The chief of each tour does as much research as possible, gathering information from Chambers of Commerce and wherever possible.

Once the group is settled in the hostess' car ready for their monthly exploration they learn of the destination. Then amidst literature supplied by their guide the women begin learning new facts about a certain area, place or part of the area known as "their own back door."

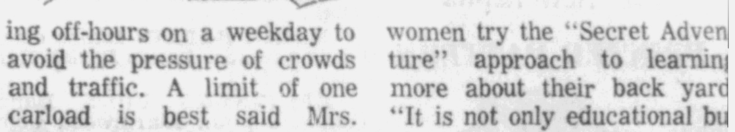
Thus far, "secret adventures" has taken the troupe to a picnic on Angel Island where the women hiked trails and topped it off with a boat ride from Sausalito to the San Rafael Canal; a journey to Point Reyes Peninsula, Bodega Bay and Inverness; Jack London Square and surrounding antique shops followed by a tour of the University of California campus; Stanford Campus and Sunset House and Garden display; the "secret" steps down Telegraph hill, lunch at the Japanese Cultural Center and attending the International Trade Exhibit in the Ferry Building in San Francisco where they were to discover only firms also having shops in Japan may be in business.

The six women involved in the local group have been friends for many years and have come to look upon the outings as the highlight of each month. Many places have been explored but there are more just waiting for the "secret adventuresses."

By the end of an exploring day the women have learned history and facts relative to each destination. "Weather will never interfere," said Lovita Wilkie, a third generation San Franciscan now living in San Anselmo and wishing to learn more about the Bay Area. She went on to explain how prior to assembling for the day's excursion the women are informed as to appropriate clothing. From there everything else is a surprise.

Indoor discoveries contemplated for the winter months include art exhibits, processing plants, industry tours and other points of interest not dependent on weather. This month and next there will be Christmas decorations at Sunset House which the women hope to see.

All tours are scheduled during off-hours on a weekday to avoid the pressure of crowds and traffic. A limit of one carload is best said Mrs. Wilkie adding that six women on an educational tour get plenty of attention from guards and tour escorts wherever they go. "We learn so much," she added.



Lovita Wilkie, instigator of the group, recommends other women try the "Secret Adventure" approach to learning more about their back yard "It is not only educational but also an inexpensive outing which could appeal to anyone," she concluded.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

If Husband Grocery Shopped He Would Increase The Ante

DEAR HELEN:

My husband can't believe groceries cost as much as they do. He gives me $20 a week for all food bills and, as we have two children, I can't make it stretch.

When I run out of money by about Friday, I must humbly beg for more and he gets mad and throws it on the table. He says we'll never save money to buy a house if I'm so extravagant, and the fur flies.

He isn't terribly cheap on other matters. We have a nice car and a good vacation each year. Why can't he see it costs to eat too? — T.Y.

DEAR T:

Why don't you turn grocery shopping over to your husband for a month? Or at least invite him along as you buy. Unless he is partial to beans, hamburger and powdered milk, he'll soon up the ante —I hope! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I read how television is influencing our young people — how violence in large doses may be catching; how children become alienated because they are glued to the tube and not communicating with parents — and I wonder whose children they mean?

My kids don't have time for much television, and neither do any of their friends! They have one or two favorite programs a week — and these are the laugh shows, not violence. When younger, they watched Saturday morning cartoons, if nothing better came up.

As teen-agers, they are constantly reminding us old folks that we overdo television and it's "the opiate of the masses."

I'll bet a survey would show that adults watch television at least three times as much as do the kids. What do you think, Helen?

— DOTTY

DEAR DOT:

I've never seen a comprehensive survey on child vs. adult TV viewing habits, but I agree with you that busy young people aren't as addicted as their parents. They're more selective about programs and they often choose records over the tube. I doubt television has as much influence on our children as sociologists and psychologists sometimes think. — H.

DEAR READERS:

I've met via HHU, a woman you'd like to know, if you enjoy people who see the bright side. She writes, "As for my troubles, I really don't have any. While we complain and fault others, we miss many blessings, and the opportunities to help . . . "

This woman, Mrs. Irene Boone, Rt. 1, Box 41, Varnado, La., 70467, is paralyzed from her chest down as a result of an automobile accident 11 years ago. Why don't you write her a letter and tell her you're cheering for her? —H.

Teens Speak Out On Early Marriage Age

Will today's high school sweethearts be tomorrow's young newlyweds?

The odds are against it, reports the Institute of Life Insurance, which has recently conducted an attitude survey involving more than 1800 high school juniors and seniors.

When it comes to early marriage, there's a difference of opinion between boys and girls. A much higher percentage of girls than boys said it was likely that they would be married by the time they reach their twenty-first birthdays.

These statistics make the point. Forty-two percent of the girls in the survey said they would likely be married by age 21. Only 14 per cent of the boys expressed the same expectation. So, if this turns out to be true, a high percentage of tomorrow's fresh-out-of high-school brides will be marrying (as is traditional) boys who are older than themselves.

However, the idea of putting off marriage until after college, military service or a few carefree years of work is popular with high proportions of the youngsters in the survey. Forty-three per cent of the girls said they would be likely to wed between the ages of 21 and 25. Forty-eight per cent of the boys said the same thing. So if these classmates should marry — it won't be for a few years.

The survey which brought these figures to light was done by self administered questionaires in cooperation with teachers in high schools located throughout the United States. In general, the students questioned came from "middle income" homes with a third indicating a family income of $10,000 or more.

The answers to the "when are you likely to marry?" question divided themselves this way:

Girls: two percent already married; eight per cent likely to marry after high school; 32 per cent likely to marry between 18 and 21 years; 43 per cent likely to marry between 21 and 25 years; two per cent likely to marry after age 26; 13 per cent don't know.

Boys: one per cent already married; one per cent likely to marry after high school; 12 per cent likely to marry between 18 and 21 years; 48 per cent likely to marry between 21 and 25 years; 15 per cent likely to marry after age 26; 23 per cent don't know.

The students in the survey were asked if they agree with the following statement:

"A mother with young children can manage a career outside the home without her children being adversely affected by it, if she wants to work."

About half the girls in the survey agreed. Sixty-three per cent of the boys disagreed.

Weekend Buys—Pork Up

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers will find excellent supplies of pork and poultry, good supplies of beef and adequate supplies of some fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets.

Supplies of broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys should be more than adequate to meet the needs of all shoppers. Pork features include bacon, boston butts and roasts and chops. Smoked picnics may be features in some areas.

BEEF ROASTS and steaks appear to be in good supply along with ground beef in some areas.

Fish buys to watch for are fresh and frozen fish fillets and steaks, oysters and canned salmon, according to the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Fresh vegetables in adequate supply in all areas are cabbage, lettuce, onions and potatoes. The most ample fresh fruit in all areas is apples. Some areas may display good stocks of avocados and bananas.

The odds are against it, reports the Institute of Life Insurance, which has recently conducted an attitude survey involving more than 1800 high school juniors and seniors.

When it comes to early marriage, there's a difference of opinion between boys and girls. A much higher percentage of girls than boys said it was likely that they would be married by the time they reach their twenty-first birthdays.

These statistics make the point. Forty-two percent of the girls in the survey said they would likely be married by age 21. Only 14 per cent of the boys expressed the same expectation. So, if this turns out to be true, a high percentage of tomorrow's fresh-out-of high-school brides will be marrying (as is traditional) boys who are older than themselves.

However, the idea of putting off marriage until after college, military service or a few carefree years of work is popular with high proportions of the youngsters in the survey. Forty-three per cent of the girls said they would be likely to wed between the ages of 21 and 25. Forty-eight per cent of the boys said the same thing. So if these classmates should marry — it won't be for a few years.

The survey which brought these figures to light was done by self administered questionaires in cooperation with teachers in high schools located throughout the United States. In general, the students questioned came from "middle income" homes with a third indicating a family income of $10,000 or more.

The answers to the "when are you likely to marry?" question divided themselves this way:

Girls: two percent already married; eight per cent likely to marry after high school; 32 per cent likely to marry between 18 and 21 years; 43 per cent likely to marry between 21 and 25 years; two per cent likely to marry after age 26; 13 per cent don't know.

Boys: one per cent already married; one per cent likely to marry after high school; 12 per cent likely to marry between 18 and 21 years; 48 per cent likely to marry between 21 and 25 years; 15 per cent likely to marry after age 26; 23 per cent don't know.

The students in the survey were asked if they agree with the following statement:

"A mother with young children can manage a career outside the home without her children being adversely affected by it, if she wants to work."

About half the girls in the survey agreed. Sixty-three per cent of the boys disagreed.

Weekend Buys— Pork Up

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers will find excellent supplies of pork and poultry, good supplies of beef and adequate supplies of some fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets.

Supplies of broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys should be more than adequate to meet the needs of all shoppers. Pork features include bacon, boston butts and roasts and chops. Smoked picnics may be features in some areas.

BEEF ROASTS and steaks appear to be in good supply along with ground beef in some areas.

Fish buys to watch for are fresh and frozen fish fillets and steaks, oysters and canned salmon, according to the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Fresh vegetables in adequate supply in all areas are cabbage, lettuce, onions and potatoes. The most ample fresh fruit in all areas is apples. Some areas may display good stocks of avocados and bananas.

Service League Head Does Charitable Work

The San Domenico Service League is being headed by Mrs. Gregory K. Solon of Ross, a member of the league since it was founded four years ago.

Anne-Marie Solon has previously served as chairman of the transportation and hospitality committees of the school service league. She describes the purpose of the organization as helping the nuns and serving San Domenico School.

MRS. GREGORY SOLON

Members staff the school office, work in the library, provide hospitality and driving services when needed and plan school dances. The organization, limited to 50 members, is currently planning a Christmas bazaar.

Mrs. Solon was educated in France. She and her husband have lived in Marin 18 years. They have five children: Alan, 19, Odette, 16, Denise, 12, Robert, 8, and Lawrence 6 years old.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The Council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teach Association magazines and the film report of the Film Estimate Board. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

Inspector Clouseau — Detective of French Surete is assigned to Scotland Yard to trap a gang of bank robbers. Bumbling Frenchman becomes victim of every trap he sets . . . amusing.

King Kong Escapes — Japanese science fiction singularly lacking in the customary violence of monster battles. The campy tale derives much of its interest from ingeneously staged special effects.

Paper Lion — Sports writer joins football team as a rookie so he can write an authentic story. Exceptional for football fans.

ADULTS AND TEENS

Day the Fish Came Out — A provocative satiric comedy built around the serious subject of two lost radio active bombs. The search turns into a mad comedy.

For the Love of Ivy — A romantic comedy, shiny and unreal, exploit comic misconceptions on both sides of race question. Torrid bed scene and some language startingly frank.

Heart Is A Lonely Hunter — A rather sad story about a deaf-mute who in his loneliness touches the lives of many. Compassionate tale is tenderly told and played with rare perception.

"The Party"—Inane slapstick comedy. Bumbling actor crashes a lavish Hollywood party, disaster strikes from the minute he arrives. Bathroom vulgarity is crudely juvenile.

Wait Until Dark — Blind woman becomes captive of three criminals in search of heroin. Hair-raising thriller, very well acted. Film becomes a living experience, excruciating suspense.

BORDERLINE
(Some say Adults Only)

Cool Hand Luke — Brutal downbeat story about a non-conformist prisoner in a southern road construction prison camp. Tough unsparing drama.

ADULTS ONLY

Boston Strangler — Action centers around frustrating efforts of police to catch a sexual psycopath. Thirteen are strangled before he is caught.

If He Hollers Let Him Go — Plot is so filled with explicit sex and brutality that story of racial justice is lost.

I Love You, Alice B. Toklas — This satire makes free love and drugs seem the life of happiness.

A Lovely Way To Die — Interesting places in New York and good acting highlight this murder mystery. Plot confused and filled with sex and brutality.

Prudence and the Pill — Impudent British comedy tries to be funny about the pill. It discloses an interrelated chain of marital and extra marital problems.

Ulysses — Straight adaptation of James Joyce's controversial novel. More candid and explicit in its treatment of sex than any film to date.

A heated political campaign was underway in Milwaukee when the typewriter was perfected in that town. Chrisopher Sholes, one of the inventors, was the first man to pick out "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

Mill Valley Tryouts Set For 'The Miser'

Tryouts for roles in Moliere's "The Miser" will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse. Volunteers for technical work on the play will also be interviewed.

"The Miser," sponsored by the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts, the Tiburon Cove Players and the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department, will be directed by Dan Caldwell of Tamalpais High School. Technical direction will be by William Carter, president of the Cove Players.

Contest Winner Voices Surprise

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first Negro to be named Miss UCLA says she's surprised, because she wears her hair in what she calls natural African style.

"I'm natural and it is unusual, or at least I think it's unusual, for the average American beauty contest judge to accept me as beautiful in my own terms," said Carolyn Webb, a 20-year-old English major at the University of California at Los Angeles.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The Council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teach Association magazines and the film report of the Film Estimate Board. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

Inspector Clouseau — Detective of French Surete is assigned to Scotland Yard to trap a gang of bank robbers. Bumbling Frenchman becomes victim of every trap he sets . . . amusing.

King Kong Escapes — Japanese science fiction singularly lacking in the customary violence of monster battles. The campy tale derives much of its interest from ingeneously staged special effects.

Paper Lion — Sports writer joins football team as a rookie so he can write an authentic story. Exceptional for football fans.

ADULTS AND TEENS

Day the Fish Came Out — A provocative satiric comedy built around the serious subject of two lost radio active bombs. The search turns into a mad comedy.

For the Love of Ivy — A romantic comedy, shiny and unreal, exploit comic misconceptions on both sides of race question. Torrid bed scene and some language startingly frank.

Heart Is A Lonely Hunter — A rather sad story about a deaf-mute who in his loneliness touches the lives of many. Compassionate tale is tenderly told and played with rare perception.

Madigan — Exciting manhunt provides interesting views of New York Police Departmtnt.

"The Party"—Inane slapstick comedy. Bumbling actor crashes a lavish Hollywood party, disaster strikes from the minute he arrives. Bathroom vulgarity is crudely juvenile.

Wait Until Dark — Blind woman becomes captive of three criminals in search of heroin. Hair-raising thriller, very well acted. Film becomes a living experience, excruciating suspense.

BORDERLINE
(Some say Adults Only)

Cool Hand Luke — Brutal downbeat story about a non-conformist prisoner in a southern road construction prison camp. Tough unsparing drama.

ADULTS ONLY

Boston Strangler — Action centers around frustrating efforts of police to catch a sexual psycopath. Thirteen are strangled before he is caught.

If He Hollers Let Him Go — Plot is so filled with explicit sex and brutality that story of racial justice is lost.

I Love You, Alice B. Toklas — This satire makes free love and drugs seem the life of happiness.

A Lovely Way To Die — Interesting places in New York and good acting highlight this murder mystery. Plot confused and filled with sex and brutality.

Prudence and the Pill — Impudent British comedy tries to be funny about the pill. It discloses an interrelated chain of marital and extra marital problems.

Ulysses — Straight adaptation of James Joyce's controversial novel. More candid and explicit in its treatment of sex than any film to date.

A heated political campaign was underway in Milwaukee when the typewriter was perfected in that town. Chrisopher Sholes, one of the inventors, was the first man to pick out "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

Mill Valley Tryouts Set For 'The Miser'

Tryouts for roles in Moliere's "The Miser" will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse. Volunteers for technical work on the play will also be interviewed.

"The Miser," sponsored by the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts, the Tiburon Cove Players and the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department, will be directed by Dan Caldwell of Tamalpais High School. Technical direction will be by William Carter, president of the Cove Players.

Contest Winner Voices Surprise

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first Negro to be named Miss UCLA says she's surprised, because she wears her hair in what she calls natural African style.

"I'm natural and it is unusual, or at least I think it's unusual, for the average American beauty contest judge to accept me as beautiful in my own terms," said Carolyn Webb, a 20-year-old English major at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Denny's Restaurant Now Open For Business On Novato's 101

Novato's newest restaurant, Denny's, has opened with little publicity but with no lack of initial customers, thanks to its close-in highway location, oddly shaped roofline and broad expanse of windows showing the activity inside.

With today's instant "lawnscaping" it's no trick for a place to appear half finished one day and fully completed the next.

Denny's, like its 268 or more sister restaurants around the country, is a round-the-clock operation. Menu selections are the same throughout the chain, though prices may vary slightly from place to place, depending on local labor costs.

Anytime day or night you can order breakfast, lunch or dinner or fountain service. Various types of burgers, sandwiches and salads are quickies on the menu and prices are a la carte or by plate specials.

Dinner entrees include steaks, steak sandwiches, veal cutlets, fried shrimp, hot roast turkey and beef sandwiches and the like. I have eaten at other Denny's restaurants and have found the food generally of excellent quality and nicely served. A full meal can be comparatively inexpensive.

Breakfast side of the menu offers a variation of eggs and combination dishes, hotcakes, juices and cereals.

There is plenty of offstreet parking, with spaces for 79 cars.

Cole Fry is the manager in Novato. Originally from southern Alameda County, he was sent to open Denny's in Santa Rosa and continues to live there.

Apparently no other Denny's is planned for Marin in the near future —possibly because there is no other all-round suitable location available at the moment. Next one, I understand, will be in Napa.

THANKSGIVING is less than two weeks away. If the lady of the house is not yet discussing some preliminary preparation for a holiday spread at home, she may be considering the idea of being taken out to a restaurant for dinner, but doesn't want to hint too broadly.

Every year in Marin, about half of the restaurants close on Thanksgiving and the rest remain open. It is not too early at this point to start thinking of making reservations. I'd suggest contacting your favorite dinery to determine if it will be open. Otherwise watch the ads on this page closely.

ONE PLACE that always seems to enjoy a well-filled house on Thanksgiving is Manka's Czech Restaurant at Inverness Lodge. It's a nice drive out to Inverness, even when it's raining. For earlybirds this year, the holiday meal will be served from 1 p.m. There will be turkey, of course, but also several continental entrees. Definitely make reservations.

Milan and Judy Prokupek will keep the restaurant and lodge open the rest of this month — and starting Monday, Dec. 2, will close until the end of the year. This is their annual December custom and this year they are taking off for the winter sports at Aspen, Colo.

CAFE BON VIN, San Anselmo, is serving a "French Thanksgiving Dinner" throughout this month — but owner Fred Cherry hasn't decided if that will also include Thanksgiving Day. You'll have to phone later.

Meanwhile he's usually sold out on weekends and you definitely have to make reserva-

Dinner To Open March Of Dimes

The 1969 March of Dimes campaign will open with a dinner meeting at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley, Dec. 2, William J. Wider, campaign director, announced. A no-host cocktail hour will be held at 6:30 and dinner will be at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Margaret Cook, field representative of the National Foundation March of Dimes for California West, will speak, and a new March of Dimes film will be shown.

NEW RESTAURANT OPENS—This sawtooth roofline identifies the new Denny's Restaurant on 101 Highway between Grant and DeLong avenues, Novato—as it does most of its sister restaurants throughout the country. Denny's is open 24 hours a day, serving breakfast, lunch, dinner and fountain specialties.

Peacock Gap Homeowners Name Officers

John H. Shiner of 120 Fernwood Avenue, has been elected president of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association, succeeding James M. Fairchild.

Other officers elected at a meeting Wednesday were: Vice president, Franklin G. Palcanis; second vice president, Thomas Connally; secretary, Mrs. Connie Carpou, and treasurer, Charles W. Dechent.

Dechent reported an architectural review committee was also selected Wednesday. Members are Palcanis, J. J. Maloney, Sidney M. Lewin, Betty Baumgarten and Dechent.

Members agreed to hold future meetings of the executive board on the second Monday of each month at members homes. The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Dec. 9 at the home of Shiner.

174 Californians Are Due Back Pay

The U. S. Department of Labor is looking for 174 California workers to give them more than $21,000 in back pay, according to Kenneth Hedberg, regional director of the Wage and Hour Divisions.

Included in the list is Elmer Eagle of 336 Coronado Drive, Petaluma. Anyone knowing his whereabouts may contact the Wage and Hour Field Office, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Rezone Hearing

A public hearing on rezoning the lots between the Fairfax Nursery, 1700 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and the Fairfax Garage, 1812 Sir Francis Drake, from commercial to multiple family, will be held at a meeting of the Fairfax Planning Commission at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Aid To Families Report Is Due

The final draft of its report to the board of supervisors will be considered at a meeting of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children Task Force at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Civic Center.

A preliminary draft of the report was studied at a meeting Wednesday, according to Frances Miller of the department of public social services.

Mrs. Miller said the report will be sent to the board on Nov. 27, in time for the Dec. deadline. She said the board has invited the task force to meet with it at 9 a.m. Dec. 10 for a workshop session.

During this month you will be served the following meal at CAFE BON VIN

ACTION DE GRACE (A French Thanksgiving)

4.75 . . . Nine wines
(a glass of each)

Le cocktail Orangita (2.75 retail) The distinctive ingredient is old Spanish sherry in which Valencia orange peels have been soaked for a full year. An unusual Bon Vin discovery!	.60
Almaden Pinot Blanc (2.19 retail) A full, somewhat brittle wine of slightly greenish color. The grape is from Burgundy, but this may be the closest California comes to the whites of the Rhone.	.60
Hermitage Chante Alouette '64 (3.55 retail) Most celebrated of Hermitages! These Rhone whites, with flinty flavor and character definite enough to hold their own even with curry, sometimes last 20 years.	.70
Cadenasso Solano Grignolino (retail 1.49) In California, Grignolino is fresh and fruity in flavor, light in body, and of good acidity. Well made, they age surprisingly well; this was put in the wood in 1946.	.50
Opera Pia Grignolino '64 (retail 1.98) Grown in Italy's finest wine district, Piedmont in the north, the Grignolino grape produces light heady wines of brick red color—a natural rosé!	.60
Souverain Napa Petite Sirah (retail 2.50) The predominant red grape of the Rhone, rare in California, some think this may be the Shiraz of Persia, brought to the Rhone Valley by the Crusaders.	.60
Chapoutier Hermitage Sizeranne '62 (retail 3.55) This, "the manliest of wines", is harsh in its youth, but ages in five years to a velvety wine with rich aftertaste, and bouquet of raspberries.	.70
L'eau minerale gaseuse (Always served in France with the salad) All "Wine Discoveries" may be purchased to take home at regular retail prices. Cases may be assorted and receive 10% discount. Free delivery in Marin.
Sutter Home Napa Malvasia Bianca (retail 1.35) Lighter than the muscat to which it is related, this naturally sweet and fragrant wine is popular throughout the wine drinking world.	.50
J. H. F. Malmsey Madeira '19 (retail 4.49) Madeira was popular in Shakespeare's England and in Colonial America. Malmsey is the English corruption of Malvasia, the grape from which it is made.	.80

7.50 . . . Table d'hote
(complete dinner, 10 courses)

You may order any individual course as a large dinner serving at à la carte prices below.

Hors d'oeuvres variés The chef used a light hand with the spice, in order that these delightful before-the-meal dishes do not overwhelm the unique flavor of our special aperitif.	.75
Crême de volaille à la Reine A double chicken consomme is enriched with eggs and butter and cream, then enlivened with strips of chicken breast and light fluffy dumplings.	.75
Sole Bombay Small fresh filets of ocean fish are sauteed in sweet butter with just a whisper of special curry spice, then served with a sauteed banana and a subtle Indian sauce.	2.50*
Paté Côte Rouge en vin de Porto A famous Bon Vin specialty! Livers are ground seven times and seasoned with herbs and wines. A gelée of ruby port wine completes the dish.	.75*
Dinde farcie Crillon Thin slices of young hen turkey are rolled around a chestnut dressing famous in Paris, poached in chablis, glazed and served à la Mornay.	3.25
Pommes Dauphine aux ciboulettes Minced chives and bacon add an indescribable touch to these potatoes. The very light texture is due to the puff-paste blended into the mixture.	1.00*
Le boeuf à la Saint-Germain An entire New York strip—aged and boneless—is roasted until the inside is pink and tender, then garnished with peas à la Bon Vin and a velvety Bernaise sauce.	4.75*
Salade de la Fête Américaine A holiday Thanksgiving salad in which tender leaves of romaine are mixed with blanched cranberries and toasted walnuts, and tossed with herb mayonnaise.	1.00*
Fromage oriental, et des fruits Muscatel and ginger are the unusual ingredients in the sauce with which this Teleme is brushed. Freshly-toasted sesame seeds are added just before serving.	1.00*
Café (ou thé); et Coupe d'émincé Properly-aged mincemeat, brandied and spiced, is added to a mixture of several table wines which has been clarified and set with gelatin.	1.00*

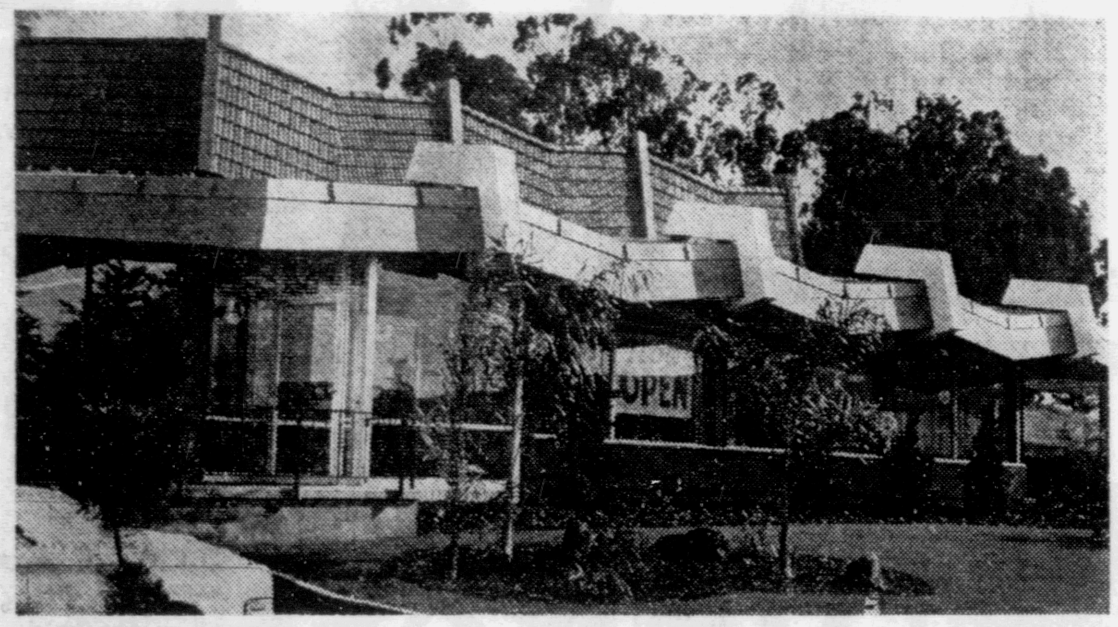
The 1969 March of Dimes campaign will open with a dinner meeting at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley, Dec. 2, William J. Wider, campaign director, announced. A no-host cocktail hour will be held at 6:30 and dinner will be at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Margaret Cook, field representative of the National Foundation March of Dimes for California West, will speak, and a new March of Dimes film will be shown.



NEW RESTAURANT OPENS—This sawtooth roofline identifies the new Denny's Restaurant on 101 Highway between Grant and DeLong avenues, Novato—as it does most of its sister restaurants throughout the country. Denny's is open 24 hours a day, serving breakfast, lunch, dinner and fountain specialties.

Peacock Gap Homeowners Name Officers

John H. Shiner of 120 Fernwood Avenue, has been elected president of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association, succeeding James M. Fairchild.

Other officers elected at a meeting Wednesday were: Vice president, Franklin G. Palcanis; second vice president, Thomas Connally; secretary, Mrs. Connie Carpou, and treasurer, Charles W. Dechent.

Dechent reported an architectural review committee was also selected Wednesday. Members are Palcanis, J. J. Maloney, Sidney M. Lewin, Betty Baumgarten and Dechent.

Members agreed to hold future meetings of the executive board on the second Monday of each month at members homes. The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Dec. 9 at the home of Shiner.

174 Californians Are Due Back Pay

The U. S. Department of Labor is looking for 174 California workers to give them more than $21,000 in back pay, according to Kenneth Hedberg, regional director of the Wage and Hour Divisions.

Included in the list is Elmer Eagle of 336 Coronado Drive, Petaluma. Anyone knowing his whereabouts may contact the Wage and Hour Field Office, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Rezone Hearing

A public hearing on rezoning the lots between the Fairfax Nursery, 1700 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and the Fairfax Garage, 1812 Sir Francis Drake, from commercial to multiple family, will be held at a meeting of the Fairfax Planning Commission at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Aid To Families Report Is Due

The final draft of its report to the board of supervisors will be considered at a meeting of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children Task Force at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Civic Center.

A preliminary draft of the report was studied at a meeting Wednesday, according to Frances Miller of the department of public social services.

Mrs. Miller said the report will be sent to the board on Nov. 27, in time for the Dec. deadline. She said the board has invited the task force to meet with it at 9 a.m. Dec. 10 for a workshop session.

During this month you will be served the following meal at CAFE BON VIN

ACTION DE GRACE (A French Thanksgiving)

4.75 . . . Nine wines (a glass of each)

Le cocktail Orangita (2.75 retail) .60

Almaden Pinot Blanc (2.19 retail) .60
A full, somewhat brittle wine of slightly greenish color. The grape is from Burgundy, but this may be the closest California comes to the whites of the Rhone.

Hermitage Chante Alouette '64 (3.55 retail) .70

Cadenasso Solano Grignolino (retail 1.49) .50
In California, Grignolino is fresh and fruity in flavor, light in body, and of good acidity. Well made, they age surprisingly well; this was put in the wood in 1946.

Opera Pia Grignolino '64 (retail 1.98) .60
Grown in Italy's finest wine district, Piedmont in the north, the Grignolino grape produces light heady wines of brick red color—a natural rosé!

Souverain Napa Petite Sirah (retail 2.50) .60
The predominant red grape of the Rhone, rare in California, some think this may be the Shiraz of Persia, brought to the Rhone Valley by the Crusaders.

Chapoutier Hermitage Sizeranne '62 (retail 3.55) .70
This, "the manliest of wines", is harsh in its youth, but ages in five years to a velvety wine with rich aftertaste, and bouquet of raspberries.

L'eau minerale gaseuse (Always served in France with the salad)
All "Wine Discoveries" may be purchased to take home at regular retail prices. Cases may be assorted and receive 10% discount. Free delivery in Marin.

Sutter Home Napa Malvasia Bianca (retail 1.35) .50
Lighter than the muscat to which it is related, this naturally sweet and fragrant wine is popular throughout the wine drinking world.

J. H. F. Malmsey Madeira '19 (retail 4.49) .80
Madeira was popular in Shakespeare's England and in Colonial America. Malmsey is the English corruption of Malvasia, the grape from which it is made.

7.50 . . . Table d'hote (complete dinner, 10 courses)

You may order any individual course as a large dinner serving at à la carte prices below.

Hors d'oeuvres variés .75
The chef used a light hand with the spice, in order that these delightful before-the-meal dishes do not overwhelm the unique flavor of our special aperitif.

Crême de volaille à la Reine .75

Sole Bombay 2.50*
Small fresh filets of ocean fish are sautéed in sweet butter with just a whisper of special curry spice, then served with a sautéed banana and a subtle Indian sauce.

Paté Côte Rouge en vin de Porto .75*
A famous Bon Vin specialty! Livers are ground seven times and seasoned with herbs and wines. A gelée of ruby port wine completes the dish.

Dinde farcie Crillon 3.25
Thin slices of young hen turkey are rolled around a chestnut dressing famous in Paris, poached in chablis, glazed and served à la Mornay.

Pommes Dauphine aux ciboulettes 1.00*
Minced chives and bacon add an indescribable touch to these potatoes. The very light texture is due to the puff-paste blended into the mixture.

Le boeuf à la Saint-Germain 4.75*
An entire New York strip—aged and boneless—is roasted until the inside is pink and tender, then garnished with peas à la Bon Vin and a velvety Bernaise sauce.

Salade de la Fête Américaine 1.00*
A holiday Thanksgiving salad in which tender leaves of romaine are mixed with blanched cranberries and toasted walnuts, and tossed with herb mayonnaise.

Fromage oriental, et des fruits 1.00*
Muscatel and ginger are the unusual ingredients in the sauce with which this Teleme is brushed. Freshly-toasted sesame seeds are added just before serving.

Café (ou thé); et Coupe d'émincé 1.00*
Properly-aged mincemeat, brandied and spiced, is added to a mixture of several table wines which has been clarified and set with gelatin.

There is some talk by Walt of further expansion, but apparently there is only one direction to go at this location — and that is up.

NOW IN CHARGE of the culinary department at Lin Fa Gardens is Chinn — and that's the only name he uses. No matter — he's been there quite a while and is familiar with all the Lin Fa Chinese specialties. On Friday and Saturday nights he's also adept at turning out a juicy prime rib dinner at $3.75.

Organist Dick Sederman is on vacation this week, but a fine professional, Hal Schutz of South San Francisco, is taking over for him at the console tonight and tomorrow night. He is also an organ teacher and is highly regarded in organ circles.

Friends of Walter Choy, former bar manager at Lin Fa, will be pleased to know that he is now in Sacramento and doing well. He had thought to retire, but can't seem to get around to the inactive life.

ANOTHER SECOND ANNIVERSARY is being celebrated by Eugene Lackenbach. He's now had two years at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, San Rafael. Double congratulations — one for the anniversary and the other for securing Penny Decota for a breakfast and lunch chef. Don't be surprised if some of her prized "goop-goop" shows up on the menu.

TABERNA has discontinued lunches and now starts its day at 4 p.m.

There's a "Happy Hour" from 5 to 6 with hotand cold hors d'oeuvres and a potluck dinner at $1.75 including wine and prepared by Terry and Jeaneille, commencing at 6 p.m.

Next weekend it is planned to have a breakfast show on Friday and Saturday nights. George Campanelli and his group will play from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Another group will come in to carry on the musical program from 2:30 to 5 a.m. Group for the opening night may be The Womb, but this isn't definite. Food service during the breakfast club hours will be three eggs, bacon or ham and O'Brien potatoes.

AN OLD TRADITION gets its annual renewal tonight, as Franchini's Chateau restores crab cioppino to its Friday dinner menu for the season which will last until early summer.

On the same menu you'll find 14 other seafood dishes, including lobster, sole, oysters, scallops, prawns, salmon, abalone, mahi mahi and frog legs.

MARKET OWNER Frank Petrini has expanded into another branch of the food industry — the restarwurant, to be opened about Dec. 1 at 477 Ninth Avenue, near South Claremont, San Mateo.

It will feature two dining rooms, cocktail lounge and piano bar. Banquet and party facilities will be available for groups up to 200.

No matter — he's been there quite a while and is familiar with all the Lin Fa Chinese specialties. On Friday and Saturday nights he's also adept at turning out a juicy prime rib dinner at $3.75.

Organist Dick Sederman is on vacation this week, but a fine professional, Hal Schutz of South San Francisco, is taking over for him at the console tonight and tomorrow night. He is also an organ teacher and is highly regarded in organ circles.

Friends of Walter Choy, former bar manager at Lin Fa, will be pleased to know that he is now in Sacramento and doing well. He had thought to retire, but can't seem to get around to the inactive life.

ANOTHER SECOND ANNIVERSARY is being celebrated by Eugene Lackenbach. He's now had two years at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, San Rafael. Double congratulations — one for the anniversary and the other for securing Penny Decota for a breakfast and lunch chef. Don't be surprised if some of her prized "goop-goop" shows up on the menu.

TABERNA has discontinued lunches and now starts its day at 4 p.m.

There's a "Happy Hour" from 5 to 6 with hotand cold hors d'oeuvres and a potluck dinner at $1.75 including wine and prepared by Terry and Jeaneille, commencing at 6 p.m.

Next weekend it is planned to have a breakfast show on Friday and Saturday nights. George Campanelli and his group will play from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Another group will come in to carry on the musical program from 2:30 to 5 a.m. Group for the opening night may be The Womb, but this isn't definite. Food service during the breakfast club hours will be three eggs, bacon or ham and O'Brien potatoes.

AN OLD TRADITION gets its annual renewal tonight, as Franchini's Chateau restores crab cioppino to its Friday dinner menu for the season which will last until early summer.

On the same menu you'll find 14 other seafood dishes, including lobster, sole, oysters, scallops, prawns, salmon, abalone, mahi mahi and frog legs.

MARKET OWNER Frank Petrini has expanded into another branch of the food industry — the restarwurant, to be opened about Dec. 1 at 477 Ninth Avenue, near South Claremont, San Mateo.

It will feature two dining rooms, cocktail lounge and piano bar. Banquet and party facilities will be available for groups up to 200.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1968 25

HE'LL BE THERE — Arnold, the pig from television, will appear at the dedication tomorrow of the new humane education center of the Marin Humane Society in Ignacio.

New Humane Center's Dedication Tomorrow

The Marin County Humane Society's new humane education center in Ignacio will be dedicated at a 2 p.m. open house tomorrow.

The $450,000 center—to shelter animals and educate the community on their care—has been described by society directors as one of the most advanced in the country.

In addition to a clinic aviary, quarters for up to 200 dogs and cats, quarantine pens and a horse corral, the center will have an education room where animal interest groups may meet.

The center, at 171 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, will be the first of two society buildings on a nine-acre site. A pavilion with an arena and bleachers to show dogs and horses and to conduct training classes will be constructed at a later date.

When completed, the society's new headquarters, replacing San Rafael offices, is expected to cost $750,000.

The education center was financed through loans from savings and loan associations at low interest rates, gifts from dog clubs and memorial donations. Other funds were raised through lease of the San Rafael quarters.

Society operations are financed entirely by private contributions and contracts for services to the county and cities of Marin.

Radio personality Carter B. Smith will be master of ceremonies at the dedication, and a feature of the ceremony will be the appearance of Arnold, the pig from the Green Acres television show and winner of Picture Animal Top Star of the Year Award.

Sculptor Benny Bufano will unveil his statue of a mother bear and cubs on the patio at the center, according to Mel Morse, executive director of the society. Morse has returned after a leave of absence as president of the Humane Society of the United States.

The Marin society, which is 61 years old, annually houses more than 15,000 stray and abandoned animals.

Operation Of Nursery School Is Cleared Up

Patrick O'Donnell, director of instruction for San Anselmo School District, said today that he will not operate the nursery school proposed at 39 Yolanda Drive, San Anselmo, if a use permit is granted for it.

"I would simply own the property," O'Donnell said. The school, he reported, would be operated by a group of women headed by Barbara Wander, who operated a successful school for small children in San Anselmo last summer. It would enroll children from 3 to 6 years old.

The proposal for the school is being opposed by some Yolanda subdivision residents. The application is to be considered by the San Anselmo Planning Commission at its meeting at 8 p.m. Monday.

Police Chief Orr Suffers Minor Injury

Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr, 40, suffered a minor injury early this morning when his car skidded on wet pavement and hit a tree at the intersection of Cascade Drive and Hickory Road in Fairfax, according to police.

Chief Orr was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip at about 12:45 a.m.

Taped Messages Offered For GIs

Marin residents can send taped messages to servicemen overseas at no charge through a special Christmas project of the United Service Organization.

Taping booths are available at the Radio Shack, 1328 Fourth Street, San Rafael, where messages are recorded, boxed and mailed to the servicemen, the USO reported.

Vince Villano Jr., manager of the Radio Shack, said he would provide the service until a few days before Christmas.

Details Snag Marin City's Plans For Local Controls

By FRANK FARRARA

Marin City's three major homegrown organizations generally agreed on self-determination in planning and development last night, but ran into a snag on details.

The Marin City Council and the Development Corporation of Marin agreed on a proposed plan to put Marin City under local control, but the Marin City Community Services District board postponed its vote.

The stumbling block to unanimous agreement came when Doretha Mitchell, a service district director, said, "I'm not going to vote tonight," and Orpha Elmina Barnes, another director, said, can't make up my mind tonight."

Representatives of the three groups met at the Manzanita Center to act on a resolution specifying their roles in developing their community.

Ulysses J. Montgomery, urban planning consultant of San Francisco, explained the proposed program as follows:

1. That the Marin City Council be designated as the community's planning representative.

2. That the Development Corporation of Marin be designated as the community's development representative.

3. That all programs be subject to review, approval and implementation by the council, the corporation and the community services district.

4. That there be coordination with other organizations in Marin City.

5. That the council, corporation and district request other governmental agencies to recognize their functions.

At one point, the Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., council chairman, asked if there were any objections to the council having the planning function and none was voiced.

Douglas J. Quiett, chairman of the services district board, said he agreed with the concept, but wanted the district's function "clearly defined" and tighter definitions of the duties of the two other organizations.

At a district board meeting before the joint session, Quiett said, "there has to be a clear understanding of who plays what role. We have to cut down the confusion to avoid the mistakes of the past, and we have to involve the community. There shouldn't be overlapping."

Quiett said community support is needed, but the "inaccurate kind of reporting" given and "all kinds of rumors" lead to dissent.

Mrs. Barnes said the services district cannot afford to be led "into a trap." She pointed out that the community has the Marin County Redevelopment Agency to work in development and the Marin County Planning Commission to work on planning.

Montgomery urged the residents to "take control of what's happening in Marin City" by taking the jobs of planning and development.

The proposals were written in general terms deliberately, and the final details could be worked out in a series of meetings of the three organizations, Montgomery said.

"We're talking principles and suggesting that these three groups take control of everything done in Marin City," he said.

Quiett said there was some feeling that pressure was being generated "to going into this right away."

Daniel Hayden Sr., a member of the council and a director of the corporation, said there was urgency because possible federal grants were involved and the national administration is going to change in January.

The council has applied to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a planning grant and the corporation hopes to receive financing through the Small Business Administration.

Hayden explained the corporation's plan to develop a neighborhood commercial area, which would house existing businesses in Marin City, to be financed by the Small Business Administration and the sale of stocks to Marin City residents.

"For too many years profits have gone to people outside Marin City," he said. "There's nothing wrong with the people of Marin City making a buck."

Ronald Foster, a council member and corporation director, was rebuked when he pushed for action by the two reluctant woman directors of the service district.

Quiett noted that the district board will meet at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday at the Manzanita Center and resume its discussion on the program.

At the board meeting preceding the joint session, directors denied they had acted at a council-corporation session Nov. 4 to support the plan, as reported in the Independent-Journal Nov. 5.

"There are enough problems without misleading articles," said Quiett.

They also challenged the I-J claim that it was an illegal meeting. Frank Phillips Sr., a director, said the services district didn't call the meeting, and the three directors who attended were there as residents "which is their right" and didn't take any action.

Oak Knoll Tenants Receive Pledge To Study Rent Hikes

After hearing complaints from residentssof the Oak Knolls apartments about an impending rent raise, the Marin City Council last night called for a committee to seek ways to avoid a rent hike.

California Developers Inc. has been granted permission from the Federal Housing Authority to boost the rents by $23.50 to $126 a month in the lower bracker, and by $35 to $175 a month in the upper bracket, but hasn't yet acted.

Tenants contended that such increases would force many longtime Marin City residents out of the community, and challenged the firm's contention that maintenance costs were high.

There were about 35 persons in attendance from the 56 rental units asking the council to take a stand on the increases.

Council members suggested that residents might aid with maintenance to keep down costs to forestall the rent hike.

Douglas J. Quiett, chairman of the Marin City Community Services District board, said he didn't feel that calling a rent strike was the only choice for residents.

The council authorized its housing committee, headed by Ronald Foster, to form a committee with representatives of Oak Knolls, the developers and the Marin County Redevelopment Agency to seek a solution to the rent problem.

Council members also reviewed a preliminary $290,000 budget for a two-year demonstration program from Plan of Action for Challenging Times, San Francisco consultants to the council.

Council member Frank Phillips Sr. noted that the final budget will depend upon how much is allocated by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

PACT's plan is to apply for the full amount for the proposed two-year planning grant to cover the area of community development, law enforcement, beautification, transportation, health services and home improvements.

The two-year preliminary budget includes $100,000 for administrative services, $14,720 for accounting services, $85,000 for consultant services, and $90,000 for a community survey.

The Marin City Council also:

ACCESS ROAD — Approved in principle construction of a second access road to Marin City, as proposed by Marin County, but withheld comment on location.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 7:30 Nov. 27 at Manzanita Center, a day earlier than the regularly scheduled meeting because of Thanksgiving holiday.

Fair-Marin's Board Seeks More Power

Fair-Marin directors, who will operate the county fairgrounds site at the Civic Center, agreed last night that they need more autonomy in planning and scheduling than the county administrator recommends.

Chairman Harold Stockstad said the directors drafted a proposed contract with the county, which differs from a contract recommended by the county administrator.

ACREAGE ISSUE

For example, Fair-Marin directors want control over 80 acres of the 140-acre Civic Center site. The 80 acres would include the lagoon and areas to the east. The county administrator would limit Fair-Marin's control to a much smaller area centered around the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

"In general, we differ in the degree of autonomy," said Stockstad.

"For example, we believe we should do the planning and maintenance of buildings and grounds." He said Fair-Marin should set the dates for the annual fair and the fee schedule for use of the memorial auditorium.

Under the county administrator's recommendation, planning, maintenance and setting of fee schedule would be subject to approval by the county board of supervisors.

WORKSHOP

Stockstad said a workshop with the county supervisors is set for 9 a.m. Nov. 26 to thrash out the differences.

A quarterly meeting of the Fair-Marin membership will be held in the Civic Center at 8 p.m. on Dec. 2.

Injuries Minor In Auto Mishap

Two San Francisco women received minor injuries last night when their car slid off Shoreline Highway into a drainage ditch in Tamalpais Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

The accident occurred at 10:40 p.m. on a curve opposite the Fountain Motel, the patrol reported.

The driver, Shang Mei Lee, 27, of San Francisco, required no hospital treatment for a cut cheek, but two passengers were treated at Marin General Hospital — Nancy Neun, 26, for multiple cuts and bruises, and Vera Cameron, 27, for cuts on the jaw.

MARIN CAMPUS RALLY

A Day For Blacks, Latins, Protests

By ROSS DAVIS

In a hodgepodge of live music, wandering dogs and speeches, about 350 College of Marin students yesterday rallied to the causes of black students, Latin-American revolutions, and draft resistance.

A draft card turn-in also occurred, but not until Jaime Raul Muniz, 20, a student co-sponsor of the college homecoming and spirit week rally, had declared the rally ended.

Muniz then said, "I'm turning my card in. Anybody want to join me?"

Eight other students did. Four of the group embraced Muniz at the microphone on the Olney Hall stage. Another even burned a card.

Muniz, who declined to give the names of the card donors, said however that the burned card was a draft classification card, not a draft registration card.

He said the nine cards will be mailed to Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, National Selective Service director.

(Cards turned in in the Bay Area were passed on to the Resistance in San Francisco, which reported 87 cards collected in addition to those from College of Marin: 26 from San Jose State, 23 from Stanford, 18 from University of California, 13 from San Mateo and 7 from University of San Francisco.)

Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students who earlier had ruled that a proposed card turn-in would be illegal at a college fuction and would not be permitted, told newsmen the turn-in occurred after close of the rally, and therefore was s not a responsibility of the college.

The rally, originally scheduled outside Harlan Hall but moved inside because of rain, also saw two black students demand that schools hire more black teachers for instruction in Afro-American courses.

Walter Turner, now a student at shut down San Francisco State College and formerly of College of Marin, said the Black Student Union there is seeking to have the Afro-American studies taught by Negro teachers, and to have black students participate in the hiring of these teachers.

Turner also called for more programs to offer financial assistance to black students.

Michael Pardia, a member of the College of Marin black student group, said the demands for black teachers, screening rights by students in hiring black teachers, financial assistance to black students, and a full-time liaison official for better understanding between the college administration and black students will be requested of the College of Marin administration in the near future.

He also said his group will seek more black counselors, and the launching of a drive to enroll more black students for a better black-white ratio at College of Marin students.

Another black student, who refused to identify himself, declared if the requests are denied, they should be insisted upon. "If it means closing down school, we're going to close down this school, if you dig it," he said.

Charles Sizemore, student counselor at the college, said the problem of white teachers teaching black courses is pointed up in the absurdity of a white San Francisco teacher who attempted to teach small Negro students that "black is beautiful."

Sizemore, a Negro, told newsmen he and others are seeking to count experimental black courses as credits toward a student's major pursuits.

He said such courses are Afro-American music, art, literature, and history. College of Marin now has two black teachers and three white teachers for these courses, Sizemore said.

Alex Georgiadis, a history teacher at Dominican College in San Rafael, said his topic was Latin-American revolutions, but the plight of the Latin-American is closely related to that of the black. He said the lives of people increasingly are being molded and affected by others.

"When you deny decisions by the blacks in this country, it is racism," he said.

Henry D. Gregory IV, a student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo and member of the anti-draft group, Resistance, declared that as long as someone keeps a draft card, he is saying "yes" to military conscription and to murder.

First half of the two-hour rally was music by the rock and roll group, the Transatlantic Railroad.

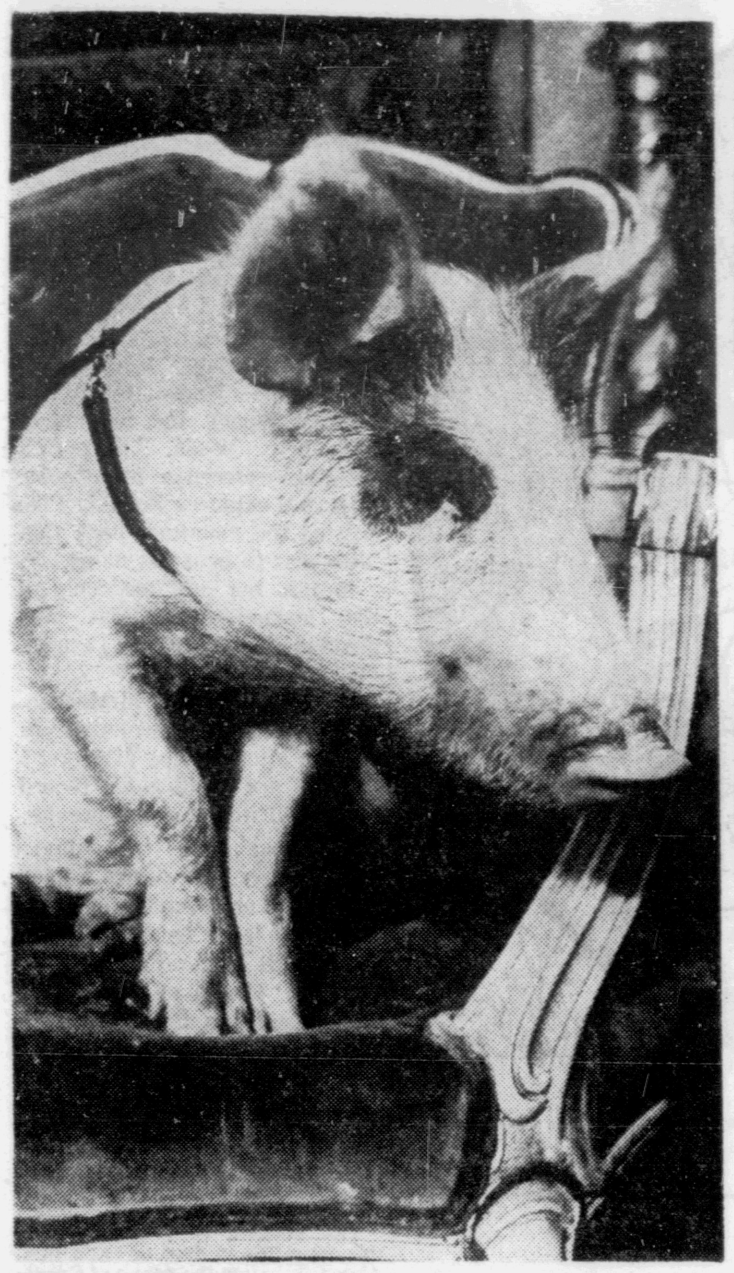
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY



HE'LL BE THERE — Arnold, the pig from television, will appear at the dedication tomorrow of the new humane education center of the Marin Humane Society in Ignacio.

New Humane Center's Dedication Tomorrow

The Marin County Humane Society's new humane education center in Ignacio will be dedicated at a 2 p.m. open house tomorrow.

The $450,000 center—to shelter animals and educate the community on their care—has been described by society directors as one of the most advanced in the country.

In addition to a clinic aviary, quarters for up to 200 dogs and cats, quarantine pens and a horse corral, the center will have an education room where animal interest groups may meet.

The center, at 171 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, will be the first of two society buildings on a nine-acre site. A pavilion with an arena and bleachers to show dogs and horses and to conduct training classes will be constructed at a later date.

When completed, the society's new headquarters, replacing San Rafael offices, is expected to cost $750,000.

The education center was financed through loans from savings and loan associations at low interest rates, gifts from dog clubs and memorial donations. Other funds were raised through lease of the San Rafael quarters.

Society operations are financed entirely by private contributions and contracts for services to the county and cities of Marin.

Radio personality Carter B. Smith will be master of ceremonies at the dedication, and a feature of the ceremony will be the appearance of Arnold, the pig from the Green Acres television show and winner of Picture Animal Top Star of the Year Award.

Sculptor Benny Bufano will unveil his statue of a mother bear and cubs on the patio at the center, according to Mel Morse, executive director of the society. Morse has returned after a leave of absence as president of the Humane Society of the United States.

The Marin society, which is 61 years old, annually houses more than 15,000 stray and abandoned animals.

Operation Of Nursery School Is Cleared Up

Patrick O'Donnell, director of instruction for San Anselmo School District, said today that he will not operate the nursery school proposed at 39 Yolanda Drive, San Anselmo, if a use permit is granted for it.

"I would simply own the property," O'Donnell said. The school, he reported, would be operated by a group of women headed by Barbara Wander, who operated a successful school for small children in San Anselmo last summer. It would enroll children from 3 to 6 years old.

The proposal for the school is being opposed by some Yolanda subdivision residents. The application is to be considered by the San Anselmo Planning Commission at its meeting at 8 p.m. Monday.

Police Chief Orr Suffers Minor Injury

Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr, 40, suffered a minor injury early this morning when his car skidded on wet pavement and hit a tree at the intersection of Cascade Drive and Hickory Road in Fairfax, according to police.

Chief Orr was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip at about 12:45 a.m.

Taped Messages Offered For GIs

Marin residents can send taped messages to servicemen overseas at no charge through a special Christmas project of the United Service Organization.

Taping booths are available at the Radio Shack, 1328 Fourth Street, San Rafael, where messages are recorded, boxed and mailed to the servicemen, the USO reported.

Vince Villano Jr., manager of the Radio Shack, said he would provide the service until a few days before Christmas.

Details Snag Marin City's Plans For Local Controls

By FRANK FARRARA

Marin City's three major homegrown organizations generally agreed on self-determination in planning and development last night, but ran into a snag on details.

The Marin City Council and the Development Corporation of Marin agreed on a proposed plan to put Marin City under local control, but the Marin City Community Services District board postponed its vote.

The stumbling block to unanimous agreement came when Doretha Mitchell, a service district director, said, "I'm not going to vote tonight," and Orpha Elmina Barnes, another director, said, can't make up my mind tonight."

Representatives of the three groups met at the Manzanita Center to act on a resolution specifying their roles in developing their community.

Ulysses J. Montgomery, urban planning consultant of San Francisco, explained the proposed program as follows:

1. That the Marin City Council be designated as the community's planning representative.

2. That the Development Corporation of Marin be designated as the community's development representative.

3. That all programs be subject to review, approval and implementation by the council, the corporation and the community services district.

4. That there be coordination with other organizations in Marin City.

5. That the council, corporation and district request other governmental agencies to recognize their functions.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Many Crimes, Though Small, Are Committed At The Table

"More crimes are committed at the bridge table than in the streets," Sherlock Holmes commented mournfully as he got up from his kibitzing chair at the Baker Street Bridge Club. Dr. Watson followed him out, wondering what the great detective was complaining about. The good doctor had seen nothing wrong.

WITH ACE

East took the first trick with the ace of hearts and continued with the queen. West ruffed declarer's king of hearts and shifted to the nine of diamonds. East played the 10, and South won with the king of diamonds.

South drew trumps and led a club, but the defenders had no trouble getting a club and two diamonds to defeat the contract. It was immediately after this hand that Sherlock Holmes left the club. See if you can spot the crime and the criminal before you read on.

CASE OF REGICIDE

South was the criminal, and his crime was regicide. By giving up the king of hearts to slaughter, South lost his contract. When East led the queen of hearts at the second trick South should have played a low heart instead of the king.

If East continues with the jack of hearts (the best defense) South plays his other low heart, ruffing in the dummy. South draws two rounds of trumps and can then safely cash the king of hearts to discard a diamond from dummy. The defenders get two hearts, one diamond and one club, but South makes his contract.

COULD LOSE

The actual declarer hoped that West had started with two hearts instead of only one, but there was no need to wish for an absurdity. South could well afford to lose two hearts and only one diamond instead of hoping to lose one heart and two diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ J 10
♥ 5
♦ 9 8 7 3
♣ K 10 8 7 3 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

There is no need to respond to partner's opening bid when you have only four points in high cards and no fit. A response of two clubs is no solution to your problem since your partner is forced to bid again. Moreover, you cannot be sure that you will be better off at clubs than he would be at hearts.

Today is Friday, Nov. 15, the 320th day of 1968 with 46 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1492 Christopher Columbus noted in his journal the use of tobacco among the indians of the new world, the first recorded reference to tobacco.

In 1806 explorer Zebulon Pike sighted the mountain peak that later was to bear his name.

In 1920 the first assembly of the league of nations was gaveled to order in Geneva, Switzerland.

In 1948 William Lyon Mackenzie retired as prime minister of Canada after serving 21 years, 5 months and 5 days—a record for the British Commonwealth.

A thought for the day: Ethel Barrymore coined a line in 1904 after receiving enthusiastic applause for her role in a play. It became her trademark: "That's all there is; there isn't any more."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"More crimes are committed at the bridge table than in the streets," Sherlock Holmes commented mournfully as he got up from his kibitzing chair at the Baker Street Bridge Club. Dr. Watson followed him out, wondering what the great detective was complaining about. The good doctor had seen nothing wrong.

There isn't a thing wrong with this clean car. It's so new you can't tell it from a new one on our floor. Fully equipped including 327 V-8 engine, GM air conditioning, power steering, custom interior and vinyl landau top.

Here's the cleanest, like new 1967 car in the county. Local couple who have always been a Buick owner tried a Chev in '67 and traded on another new Buick.

There isn't a thing wrong with this clean car. It's so new you can't tell it from a new one on our floor. Fully equipped including 327 V-8 engine, GM air conditioning, power steering, custom interior and vinyl landau top.

Unusually low mileage — just broken in.

U.S. Bishops Drafting Pill Ban Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops approved today a compromise on birth control that would keep married couples who practice contraception from being cut off from the church.

The bishops also reportedly called for a reassessment of the war in Vietnam and urged draft exemptions for youths with a conscientious objection to a specific war.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops took its vote in a secret session with no immediate announcement of the text of its controversial pastoral letter. But a member of the conference confirmed the approval and said there was no significant change in the proposal when it was brought up for final debate.

The American bishops backed Pope Paul VI's ban on birth control, but said married couples who find it impossible to follow will not be excluded from communion and other church sacraments.

"Conscientious Catholic couples, when overwhelmed by . . . pressures, will not be discouraged if they have resorted to artificial contraception or otherwise fallen into sin; nor should they fail to take full advantage of the strength that comes from the sacraments . . ." said a key sentence in one version of the proposed pastoral letters.

Another version said that married couples "should never be complacent" if they resorted to artificial birth control but would still be open to the church's sacraments.

In another controversial section the bishops were asked to take an increasingly critical stance on the war in Vietnam and the draft.

It called for selective conscientious objection for youths unable to fight in a specific war.

The proposed statement asked whether the Vietnam war had reached the point of human cost where it was no longer worthwhile.

The bishops were also asked to back nuclear disarmament and challenge both the arms race and the U.S. decision to build a thin-line antiballistic missile system.

"We seriously question whether the present policy of maintaining nuclear superiority is meaningful for security," the proposed version said.

Supremes Singer Mother Of Twins

Michele Denise weighed 4 pounds 5 ounces; Nicole Rene weighed 3 pounds 7 ounces.

Smugglers Doing Well Inside India

Deputy Prime Minister Morarji Desai indicated to Parliament that a special breed of smuggler has been observed and caught — members of the capital's considerable diplomatic community.

Twelve cases of "unauthorized importation of foreign goods" allegedly involving foreign diplomats were uncovered in the last two years, Desai said.

Among intercepted smuggled goods were $10,000 worth of nylon saris, highly prized by Indian women.

Charles B. Darrow, a salesman jobless in the depression, invented the game "Monopoly" in 1929 and died a millionaire in 1967.

Draft Foe's Father On Federal Side

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A retired Army lieutenant colonel's son charged with failing to register for the draft heard his father testify against him as the sole witness for the prosecution.

He testified that his son left the family home in April 1967 and had been working to promote a boycott against California table grapes.

A main defense witness was Cesar Chavez, boycott organizer and leader of the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee which has been striking Central Valley vineyards since 1965.

Chavez testified that Bryan told him he had refused to register because he was opposed to war.

"I believe he is sincere and conscientious and that's why I'm here," Chavez said.

Chavez, troubled with a back ailment, testified from a chair on the courtroom floor, a nurse at his side.

Government attorney Paul Sloan submitted a letter Patrick had addressed to the U.S. Attorney's office on his 18th birthday, saying he found compliance with selective service to be "immoral."

Young Bryan faces a possible maximum penalty, if convicted, of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The first Democratic Convention was held in 1832 in Baltimore, where Andrew Jackson was nominated for a second term. The Republican Party, as it is known today, convened for the first time in 1856 at Philadelphia to nominate John C. Fremont for President. He opposed Democrat James Buchanan.

Balance Of Payments Shows A Turnaround

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first quarterly surplus in the U.S. balance of payments in more than three years was reported today by the Johnson administration.

The surplus was small, $35 million, but officials interpreted it as evidence the crash program President Johnson announced in January to rescue the balance of payments from a rapidly worsening trend is paying off.

The surplus follows a second-quarter deficit of $160 million and a first-quarter deficit of $680 million.

These descending figues came in the wake of a serious deterioration in 1967 when the total balance was in deficit by $3.6 billion.

The balance of payments is in effect an income-and-outgo statement that compares what Americans and their government spend or lend in dealings with individuals and governments of other nations and what those nations spend or invest in the United States in return.

Since the differences ultimately are settled in gold, the United States with a balance-of-payments deficit every year but one since 1950, has seen its gold reserves dwindle correspondingly over those years.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, attending North Atlantic Treaty Organization meetings in Brussels, released a statement here saying the third-quarter figures, while welcome, are in some respects unbalanced and dependent on transitory elements.

"Therefore, we cannot let up in our efforts to implement all of the balance-of-payments measures contained in President Johnson's action program," Fowler said. "We must continue with this program in the months ahead and must assure that all segments of the economy share proportionately in this effort until equilibrium is established on an enduring basis."

Fowler noted that for the first nine months of 1968 the payments deficit totaled $805 million, compared with a deficit of more than twice as much, 1.8 billion, at the three-quarter point last year.

The major soft spots in the campaign to strengthen the balance-of-payments stance, he said, are trade and tourism.

Trade was until recently the perennially reliable factor in the over-all balance-of-payments picture but a serious reversal has set in. The public is buying imported goods at a greatly accelerated rate this year, to the extend that even though U.S. exports are moving up at a record rate they are hard put to keep ahead of goods flowing into the country.

Family Is Really Close To Military

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (UPI)—The Charles N. Clark family is used to saluting. Son John Clark, 19, is the latest to be inducted into the army.

Young Clark's father is a retired army major. Clark's two other sons, Charles L. Clark, 27, and Richard J. Clark, 21, are serving in Vietnam. A fourth son, Paul T. Clark, was in the service until 1964. Clark's daughter, Penny, 26, is a former member of the Women's Army Corps.

Disney Braille Figures Designed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—There is a kind of special room at the Jules Stein Eye Institute on the UCLA campus. It was designed by the late Walt Disney to enable blind and near-blind children below the age of 10 to "see" the famed characters he produced.

The walls are covered with blocked mosaic figures of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Pluto and the rest of the Disney gang. The children "see" the characters by running their fingers over them.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Talk Heals Through Skilled Ministrations Of Psychiatrist

VAN DELLEN

Our mental image of a psychiatrist is a physician sitting next to a patient who is reclining on a couch. The doctor is listening, because the man or woman is doing most of the talking. If the patient is being psychoanalyzed, it will be a long, tedious process.

Ordinary psychotherapy takes less time because the psychiatrist does not delve too deeply into the subconscious.

Talk heals. Through it the individual brings up and re-lives his experiences, usually those of childhood. In other words, the patient gets a chance to return to the past.

At $25 or more an hour it is not idle chatter, but the session is free from the restraints of daily living. It is uninhibited, with a free association of thoughts and ideas.

MEANWHILE, the physician uses skill and understanding to interpret what is being said. The conversation usually reveals underlying emotional drives that cause psychic conflicts. Painful experiences that have been unpleasant often are deeply buried in the subconscious. Only through self-confrontation is relief obtained. Success depends upon the intelligence and cooperation of the patient.

Psychoanalysis is of no value in treating psychotics. They have lost touch with reality and suffer from delusions or hallucinations. They are too confused to cooperate with a therapist.

In the past, psychotics were institutionalized for years and given shock therapy.

TRANQUILIZERS brought about a remarkable change in the care of these individuals. Today many are being released from mental hospitals and are able to return to family and job. The newer drugs help considerably to calm the agitated, perk up the depressed, and lessen disabling fears and phobias.

TWIN RECORD

A reader writes: What is the birth weight of the largest set of twins recorded? I recently had twin boys. Their total weight was 18 pounds 2 ounces, and at the hospital I was told we broke the weight record for twins.

REPLY

DeLee gives 35.5 pounds as the largest combined weight ever recorded. You may hold the local record but you will have to try again if you are going for the world championship.

TYPES OF LEG ULCER

A reader writes: How many types of leg ulcers are there?

REPLY

Too many to mention. The commonest types are those due to varicose veins, phlebitis (inflamation of a vein), poor circulation such as hardening of the arteries, pernio, and lesions due to specific infections such as tuberculosis or syphilis.

JOINTS PAINFUL AT 5

Mrs. P. writes: Once in a while my 5-year-old son has pain in his knees and ankles. Would X-rays determine whether he has arthritis or rheumatic fever?

REPLY

Blood tests are more reliable and should be done when distress is severe and persistent. There is a possibility that neither disease exists, since children his age roughhouse and injuries are common.

OZENA

A reader writes: Is there a condition of the nose that cannot be noticed by the victim but is obvious to others?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge, except for ozena. In this disease, an odor is given off that the victim cannot smell. But the sufferer can hardly be unaware of the disorder because the lining of the nose is covered with large green crusts.

Disney Brother Changes Posts

BURBANK (AP)—Roy O. Disney resigned as president of Walt Disney Productions yesterday, saying he wants to concentrate on plans for the company's Walt Disney World project near Orlando, Fla.

Disney and his late brother, Walt, co-founded the firm in 1923. Roy Disney's resignation came at the annual board meeting, where the company's gross business last year — including Disneyland—was listed at $137 million.

Disney continues as chairman of the board. Donn B. Tatum becomes president.

U.S. Bishops Drafting Pill Ban Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops approved today a compromise on birth control that would keep married couples who practice contraception from being cut off from the church.

The bishops also reportedly called for a reassessment of the war in Vietnam and urged draft exemptions for youths with a conscientious objection to a specific war.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops took its vote in a secret session with no immediate announcement of the text of its controversial pastoral letter. But a member of the conference confirmed the approval and said there was no significant change in the proposal when it was brought up for final debate.

The American bishops backed Pope Paul VI's ban on birth control, but said married couples who find it impossible to follow will not be excluded from communion and other church sacraments.

"Conscientious Catholic couples, when overwhelmed by . . . pressures, will not be discouraged if they have resorted to artificial contraception or otherwise fallen into sin; nor should they fail to take full advantage of the strength that comes from the sacraments . . . " said a key sentence in one version of the proposed pastoral letters.

Another version said that married couples "should never be complacent" if they resorted to artificial birth control but would still be open to the church's sacraments.

In another controversial section the bishops were asked to take an increasingly critical stance on the war in Vietnam and the draft.

It called for selective conscientious objection for youths unable to fight in a specific war.

The proposed statement asked whether the Vietnam war had reached the point of human cost where it was no longer worthwhile.

The bishops were also asked to back nuclear disarmament and challenge both the arms race and the U.S. decision to build a thin-line antiballistic missile system.

"We seriously question whether the present policy of maintaining nuclear superiority is meaningful for security," the proposed version said.

Smugglers Doing Well Inside India

Deputy Prime Minister Morarji Desai indicated to Parliament that a special breed of smuggler has been observed and caught — members of the capital's considerable diplomatic community.

Twelve cases of "unauthorized importation of foreign goods" allegedly involving foreign diplomats were uncovered in the last two years, Desai said.

Among intercepted smuggled goods were $10,000 worth of nylon saris, highly prized by Indian women.

Draft Foe's Father On Federal Side

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A retired Army lieutenant colonel's son charged with failing to register for the draft heard his father testify against him as the sole witness for the prosecution.

He testified that his son left the family home in April 1967 and had been working to promote a boycott against California table grapes.

A main defense witness was Cesar Chavez, boycott organizer and leader of the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee which has been striking Central Valley vineyards since 1965.

Chavez testified that Bryan told him he had refused to register because he was opposed to war.

"I believe he is sincere and conscientious and that's why I'm here," Chavez said.

Chavez, troubled with a back ailment, testified from a chair on the courtroom floor, a nurse at his side.

Government attorney Paul Sloan submitted a letter Patrick had addressed to the U.S. Attorney's office on his 18th birthday, saying he found compliance with selective service to be "immoral."

Young Bryan faces a possible maximum penalty, if convicted, of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The first Democratic Convention was held in 1832 in Baltimore, where Andrew Jackson was nominated for a second term. The Republican Party, as it is known today, convened for the first time in 1856 at Philadelphia to nominate John C. Fremont for President. He opposed Democrat James Buchanan.

Balance Of Payments Shows A Turnaround

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first quarterly surplus in the U.S. balance of payments in more than three years was reported today by the Johnson administration.

The surplus was small, $35 million, but officials interpreted it as evidence the crash program President Johnson announced in January to rescue the balance of payments from a rapidly worsening trend is paying off.

The surplus follows a second-quarter deficit of $160 million and a first-quarter deficit of $680 million.

These descending figues came in the wake of a serious deterioration in 1967 when the total balance was in deficit by $3.6 billion.

The balance of payments is in effect an income-and-outgo statement that compares what Americans and their government spend or lend in dealings with individuals and governments of other nations and what those nations spend or invest in the United States in return.

Since the differences ultimately are settled in gold, the United States with a balance-of-payments deficit every year but one since 1950, has seen its gold reserves dwindle correspondingly over those years.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, attending North Atlantic Treaty Organization meetings in Brussels, released a statement here saying the third-quarter figures, while welcome, are in some respects unbalanced and dependent on transitory elements.

"Therefore, we cannot let up in our efforts to implement all of the balance-of-payments measures contained in President Johnson's action program," Fowler said. "We must continue with this program in the months ahead and must assure that all segments of the economy share proportionately in this effort until equilibrium is established on an enduring basis."

Fowler noted that for the first nine months of 1968 the payments deficit totaled $805 million, compared with a deficit of more than twice as much, 1.8 billion, at the three-quarter point last year.

The major soft spots in the campaign to strengthen the balance-of-payments stance, he said, are trade and tourism.

Trade was until recently the perennially reliable factor in the over-all balance-of-payments picture but a serious reversal has set in. The public is buying imported goods at a greatly accelerated rate this year, to the extend that even though U.S. exports are moving up at a record rate they are hard put to keep ahead of goods flowing into the country.

Family Is Really Close To Military

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (UPI)—The Charles N. Clark family is used to saluting. Son John Clark, 19, is the latest to be inducted into the army.

Young Clark's father is a retired army major. Clark's two other sons, Charles L. Clark, 27, and Richard J. Clark, 21, are serving in Vietnam. A fourth son, Paul T. Clark, was in the service until 1964. Clark's daughter, Penny, 26, is a former member of the Women's Army Corps.

Disney Braille Figures Designed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—There is a kind of special room at the Jules Stein Eye Institute on the UCLA campus. It was designed by the late Walt Disney to enable blind and near-blind children below the age of 10 to "see" the famed characters he produced.

The walls are covered with blocked mosaic figures of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Pluto and the rest of the Disney gang. The children "see" the characters by running their fingers over them.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Talk Heals Through Skilled Ministrations Of Psychiatrist

VAN DELLEN

Our mental image of a psychiatrist is a physician sitting next to a patient who is reclining on a couch. The doctor is listening, because the man or woman is doing most of the talking. If the patient is being psychoanalyzed, it will be a long, tedious process.

Ordinary psychotherapy takes less time because the psychiatrist does not delve too deeply into the subconscious.

Talk heals. Through it the individual brings up and re-lives his experiences, usually those of childhood. In other words, the patient gets a chance to return to the past.

At $25 or more an hour it is not idle chatter, but the session is free from the restraints of daily living. It is uninhibited, with a free association of thoughts and ideas.

MEANWHILE, the physician uses skill and understanding to interpret what is being said. The conversation usually reveals underlying emotional drives that cause psychic conflicts. Painful experiences that have been unpleasant often are deeply buried in the subconscious. Only through self-confrontation is relief obtained. Success depends upon the intelligence and cooperation of the patient.

Psychoanalysis is of no value in treating psychotics. They have lost touch with reality and suffer from delusions or hallucinations. They are too confused to cooperate with a therapist.

In the past, psychotics were institutionalized for years and given shock therapy.

TRANQUILIZERS brought about a remarkable change in the care of these individuals. Today many are being released from mental hospitals and are able to return to family and job. The newer drugs help considerably to calm the agitated, perk up the depressed, and lessen disabling fears and phobias.

TWIN RECORD

A reader writes: What is the birth weight of the largest set of twins recorded? I recently had twin boys. Their total weight was 18 pounds 2 ounces, and at the hospital I was told we broke the weight record for twins.

REPLY

DeLee gives 35.5 pounds as the largest combined weight ever recorded. You may hold the local record but you will have to try again if you are going for the world championship.

TYPES OF LEG ULCER

A reader writes: How many types of leg ulcers are there?

REPLY

Too many to mention. The commonest types are those due to varicose veins, phlebitis (inflamation of a vein), poor circulation such as hardening of the arteries, pernio, and lesions due to specific infections such as tuberculosis or syphilis.

JOINTS PAINFUL AT 5

Mrs. P. writes: Once in a while my 5-year-old son has pain in his knees and ankles. Would X-rays determine whether he has arthritis or rheumatic fever?

REPLY

Blood tests are more reliable and should be done when distress is severe and persistent. There is a possibility that neither disease exists, since children his age roughhouse and injuries are common.

OZENA

A reader writes: Is there a condition of the nose that cannot be noticed by the victim but is obvious to others?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge, except for ozena. In this disease, an odor is given off that the victim cannot smell. But the sufferer can hardly be unaware of the disorder because the lining of the nose is covered with large green crusts.

43.649 paid circulation makes an impact you can hear all over your cash register!

I-J circulation gives your store advertising dominance in two ways: First, in the NUMBER of homes reached – now 43,649. Second, in the QUALITY of readership.

No other medium in Marin gives you this DOUBLE IMPACT which pulls traffic, makes sales, puts your store ahead. Compare this with direct mail or throw-away neighborhood "newspapers." Since no one PAYS to read them, how can you expect your message to be thoroughly read? Publications like these hit the doorstep – but do they hit the buyer? Look in the wastebasket for the answer!

In contrast, with the I-J your message comes in a newspaper that 72% of all Marin families subscribe to . . . read for the news and advertised values "cover to cover." The ONLY medium which gets home, county-wide.

What a difference that makes to your advertising – and your advertising dollar! No waste. No unwanted throw-away circulation. Instead, solid, cumulative readership which leads to sales and leadership.

Ask Chapman's Shoes, Macy's, Ames Ford, Marin Fabrics. Ask Payless, Wards, Campbell-Bishop or United Markets. Ask the most successful merchants in Marin.

Better, yet, ask yourself: Can your business afford anything less than the I-J, the one advertising medium which produces more?

$4,500 Award To A Young Negro

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A $4,500 settlement has been given by the city to a 17-year-old Negro dangled by his heels from a bridge by two city policemen.

The white policemen since have been fired and pleaded guilty in federal court to violating the civil rights of Robert Q. Owens. Both officers were placed on probation.

City Attorney Alan Rothstein said the officers took Owens into custody at a pool hall last spring and drove him to the unfinished expressway bridge 75 feet above the Miami River.

After dangling him from the bridge they forced Owens to undress and one officer punched him several times in the stomach and chest, Rothstein said. Then the police officers drove away.

Prince Calls GIs' Upkeep Too Expensive

SIHANOUKVILLE, Cambodia (AP) — Eleven U.S. soldiers held in Cambodia are giving Prince Norodom Sihanouk a slight pain in the pocketbook.

"Their stay is too expensive," the Cambodian chief of state told visiting foreign newsmen, his eyes twinkling. "I have to pay for many good lunches for them."

The Americans were captured in July when their landing craft strayed into Cambodian waters. During the celebration of the country's 15th anniversary of independence this week, the prisoners have twice been personal guests of the prince in local French gourmet restaurants.

All it would take to release them, Sihanouk said, is a message from President Johnson pledging to avoid border violations and the killing of Cambodians.

"Words from Dean Rusk are not enough," the prince said. "It should be a message from equal to equal and only Johnson is the equal to me. When I have this message the Americans will be free."

Agnew's Golfing Halted By Rain

DORADO BEACH, P.R. (AP) —Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew was forced today to cancel a golfing trip to St. Croix in the U.S. Virgin Islands because of a driving rainstorm in the area.

Plans to meet on the golf course with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine also were canceled.

Agnew, who is vacationing at Dorado Beach, had invited Humphrey and Muskie to meet him for a round of golf at the Fountain Valley golf course on St. Croix. Humphrey and Muskie are vacationing with their families in St. Johns, in the Virgin Islands.

But it was learned that Humphrey called Agnew last night to advise him that "something had come up" and he could not play.

$4,500 Award To A Young Negro

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A $4,500 settlement has been given by the city to a 17-year-old Negro dangled by his heels from a bridge by two city policemen.

The white policemen since have been fired and pleaded guilty in federal court to violating the civil rights of Robert Q. Owens. Both officers were placed on probation.

City Attorney Alan Rothstein said the officers took Owens into custody at a pool hall last spring and drove him to the unfinished expressway bridge 75 feet above the Miami River.

After dangling him from the bridge they forced Owens to undress and one officer punched him several times in the stomach and chest, Rothstein said. Then the police officers drove away.

Prince Calls GIs' Upkeep Too Expensive

SIHANOUKVILLE, Cambodia (AP) — Eleven U.S. soldiers held in Cambodia are giving Prince Norodom Sihanouk a slight pain in the pocketbook.

"Their stay is too expensive," the Cambodian chief of state told visiting foreign newsmen, his eyes twinkling. "I have to pay for many good lunches for them."

The Americans were captured in July when their landing craft strayed into Cambodian waters. During the celebration of the country's 15th anniversary of independence this week, the prisoners have twice been personal guests of the prince in local French gourmet restaurants.

All it would take to release them, Sihanouk said, is a message from President Johnson pledging to avoid border violations and the killing of Cambodians.

"Words from Dean Rusk are not enough," the prince said. "It should be a message from equal to equal and only Johnson is the equal to me. When I have this message the Americans will be free."

Agnew's Golfing Halted By Rain

DORADO BEACH, P.R. (AP) —Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew was forced today to cancel a golfing trip to St. Croix in the U.S. Virgin Islands because of a driving rainstorm in the area.

Plans to meet on the golf course with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine also were canceled.

Agnew, who is vacationing at Dorado Beach, had invited Humphrey and Muskie to meet him for a round of golf at the Fountain Valley golf course on St. Croix. Humphrey and Muskie are vacationing with their families in St. Johns, in the Virgin Islands.

But it was learned that Humphrey called Agnew last night to advise him that "something had come up" and he could not play.

Terra Linda Preps Go For Unbeaten Season

Tomorrow afternoon's Marin County Athletic League football clash between Redwood High School of Larkspur and Terra Linda High School at College of Marin at 1:30 p.m. may very well be the game that will have more meaning rolled into its four quarters than any other game of a long season.

For Terra Linda it is the one last hurdle with perfection just around the corner.

For Redwood, it is a way to salvage pride, vindicate preseason hopes and perhaps make up for all those wispy victories that slipped away in the final quarter, the second-too-late.

Terra Linda, 7-0-1 on the season and 4-0 in league play, shoots for its first mine-alone title after sharing the crown with Drake for the past two years. The Trojans will also try for their first unbeaten season and the first unbeaten season by an MCAL team since Drake did it four years ago.

Redwood, 3-4-1 on the season and 1-3 in league play with three either-way losses, is primed to derail the Trojan steamroller.

And watching from the sidelines not too disinterestedly will be Novato High School and Drake of San Anselmo players, who either play for second or a piece of the title that night on the same field.

If the Trojans lose, they will share the title with either Drake or Novato, both of which are 6-2 on the season and 3-1 in league play, and both of which have already lost to Terra Linda.

Redwood is in prime shape for an upset. The Giants are healthy, rejuvenated after a 25-6 blasting of San Rafael last week, and offensively loaded.

They will throw a three-pronged attack against the Trojans moving behind a big, beefy line.

They can go to the air with better-every-game quarterback Jim Peters. The running attack can be quick and wide with Carroll and Rob Dorinson or big and tough with amazing fullback Pete Richter, one of the best in the league.

The defense can be good, but hasn't been until last week.

More important, the Giants are hungry. It's like the old battler facing the new force on the horizon. Redwood, in a won-lost decline of late, once was the kingpin of the MCAL, a position that Terra Linda, with two title ties and a 23-3-1 record over the past three seasons, has taken over.

The Trojans are not in all that good shape for this one. Two key members injured in a 26-23 win over Lincoln last week may be out or at least doubtful and hobbled.

One is Steve McClain, a hard-running halfback who suffered a mild concussion in that game. He's the leading Trojan ground-gainer and forms a talented one-two duo along with halfback Dan McInnis.

The other is John Dohn, a courage-plus ballplayer who doubles at linebacker and fullback. He suffered knee injuries and is the most serious loss in the lineup.

"Those injuries will hurt us, no doubt about it," Terra Linda coach Don Lucas said. "But our boys know what they need to do. There's no letdown. They're a remarkable group of kids. We respect Redwood, but we don't fear them. We're confident."

The Trojan defense, traditionally tough, should be so again behind the leadership of linebacker John Cullen and defensive halfback Bob Daniele.

It should be a grueling match with everything riding on it.

JIM GILMARTIN

A Vote To Start New Sport In Prep League

SOCCER TO ME — Al Thomson, the former San Rafael High School principal now teaching at Terra Linda High, thinks the Marin County Athletic League should add soccer to its interscholastic menu.

"That's the greatest game going and it gave me the happiest days of my life," he said the other day during a jaw session. Thomson, a former San Francisco State football standout, starred for the S. F. Olympic Club soccer team for 12 years, climaxing his career as a member of the state championship team in 1946.

"I wish our league would get a soccer program going," he said. "They have one in San Francisco, but there doesn't seem to be the interest here. The main drawbacks seem to be th lack of coaches—I'd certainly be willing to help—and stiff competition from football. Maybe," he concluded, "the recreation departments throughout the county can get the soccer ball rolling on a junior level comparable to Pop Warner football and Little League baseball. It's really a great game—the greatest going."

'Kids Would Really Love It'

Thomson, who coached San Rafael High's football team in the late 1940s and early '50s, is convinced only leadership is required to get boys interested in soccer. "Just throw a ball out onto the field and kids will start playing and really love it," he said.

SCOOP-BE-DOO-BE-DOO — They don't call me "Scoop" for nothing. I cover all beats and nothing escapes my attention. Shucks, I even wear a trenchcoat and display my press card in my pork-pie topper, just like in the movies. Cub reporters flock to me for advice. The wire services scan my every potential Pulitzer Prize poop anticipating another in a long line of hot flashes that appear in this corner.

Did It Just The Other Day

Why, just the other day I did it again. (Stop the presses!) I came up with the startling news that Marin Catholic High School football star Jim O'Brien is a little squirt. I listed his physical stature as 165 pounds in a 5-foot, 10-inch tall frame, commenting that his diminutiveness (by football standards) could curtail his collegiate career.

This, I blushingly admit, was a genuine scoop because even O'Brien didn't realize he was small. His first reaction upon reading my latest masterpiece was, "Hey, I AM kinda small, aren't I?"

Mrs. Martin H. O'Brien of 575 Thyme Place, San Rafael says her son Jim " . . . was what we call 'the runt of the litter' because he was the smallest of our six children. He just turned 17 last month, so maybe he'll catch up with the rest of the family. We're very proud of him."

There Will Be Homecomings

When Shamus O'Brien catches up with the rest of the family you'll probably read it here first. They don't call me "Scoop" for nothing, you know.

REUNIONS — There'll be a homecoming of sorts in two games tonight at Kentfield and San Rafael.

And at San Rafael, where the local Bulldogs will be meeting perennial powerhouse St. Ignatius High of San Francisco, head coach for the visiting Wildcats is Vince Tringali, former College of Marin star. Also, S.I.'s star quarterback is Dan Fouts, a transfer from Marin Catholic.

Washington State Against San Jose In Losers Game

SAN JOSE (AP) — A couple of losers who had hoped for better things play football here tomorrow when Washington State abandons the Pacific-8 Conference for a week to play independent San Jose State.

The visitors are 1-6-1, but have lost some close ones while the Spartans, 2-5, have never quite been able to get untracked this season.

The Cougars boast the Pac-8's leading passer, quarterback Jerry Henderson, but he will not start, according to Coach Jim Sweeney.

Rich Olson, rated a better runner, will get the call to balance the attack. Olson can throw too, however.

The Spartans, who expect a homecoming crowd of close to 15,000, depend on the passing of quarterbacks Don Perkins and Russ Munson and the running of halfbacks Frank Slaton and Frank Weirath.

In other games tomorrow, Oregon State is at USC in the game of the day, Oregon is at California, UCLA is at Washington, and Stanford renews an old rivalry in a nonconference game at Stockton with University of Pacific.

Elections Tonight

Elections of officers of the Marin Rod and Gun Club will be held tonight at the clubhouse at Point San Quentin, starting at 8 o'clock.

Title At Stake For Tars

By KIMO CAMPBELL

College of Marin's hopeful football squad will end its regular season against ancient rival Santa Rosa Junior College tonight at 8 o'clock in Kentfield in their annual "Little Big Game" with the first Camino Norte Conference championship at stake.

The Tars have come a long way since their opening game with San Jose City College, through budget hassles, injuries, broken plays, flat afternoons, and finally ineligibility problems (two starters are still unknown quantities), to arrive at the final game with a 6-2 record (3-1 in league). The fact that they have come so far is due, in large part to the development of two inexperienced, often maligned quarterbacks who lack the pure ability of recent Tar signal callers but have grown in the last few games, and by the nature of their responsibility have helped the team grow as well.

TRUISM

It is a truism of football that T-formation quarterbacks get too much credit when they win and too much criticism when they lose. The Tars, however, have had most of the other ingredients of success all along — good receivers, plenty of running backs, an improved offensive line — which means a good deal, since four men off last year's offensive line were All-Conference — and a strong defense. The catalyst has been the quarterbacking, from the San Jose opener right up to tonight's finale.

The two athletes who have had the responsibility for running the Mariner offense this year are both distinctly un-athletic looking at first glance. Val Sabuco, tonight's probable starter, is a soft-spoken business major who wears Clark Kent spectacles and plays excellent golf, while Kevin Wilson is a cocky, tough little (5-foot-7) guy who looks more like Huckleberry Finn than Johnny Unitas. Both have had little experience at the most difficult position to master, Sabuco playing the line until his senior year at Oceana High School on the Peninsula, then sharing the position; Wilson sitting out his senior season at Redwood and his first year at Marin.

PROBLEM

"Quarterback has been a problem all year," says Coach Dick Read, "mostly due to inexperience. Both boys are good athletes — Val a golfer, Kevin a pitcher — but they haven't played much. Since the West Valley kame (the last Marin loss) I've taken some of the pressure off them by calling the plays myself. I don't like to do that — it's the first time in 12 years I've done it, because I feel that's part of the quarterback's job — but now Pete Limm, Ed Grimm, John Panagakis and I, working on the phones, try to pick the weaknesses in the defense simply because the quarterbacks have enough to think about as far as execution goes and haven't played enough to recognize weaknesses."

Wilson's size works against him, as he cannot see his receivers easily over the rushers. He has the nerve of a cat burglar, however.

RESERVE

Since Val was a reserve last season and Kevin had not played since his junior year in high school, the two have come along slowly, maturing most in the last three games according the Read. "The team has come on real well in the last few weeks," he said "partly because the boys have confidence in the quarterbacks now, and thus more confidence in themselves. We've had good leaders — Doug Guillon and Bill Hickerson have been outstanding captains for us — but some of the example has to come from the quarterbacks. Both boys have come along well recently, Kevin especially, and the team has responded."

With two usual starters not listed in the opening lineup — star halfback Tim Garvin and safety Rod Powell — Read will go with Sabuco at quarter (though Wilson is also expected to play a lot) Gary Dinkel and Keith Stirling at the halves and Jim Finnegan at full. Len Pieri and Sam Crowell will be at ends, steady Ron Heidinger and Chris Klyse will man the tackles, offensive captain Doug Guillon and Charley Keppel at guards,

GAME ON TELEVISION

USC, Oregon State Play In Showdown For Roses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The run for the Rose Bowl in the Pacific-8 conference—barring a tie—reaches the end of the road here tomorrow when the unbeaten Trojans of Southern California collide with formidable Oregon State.

All-American halfback O. J. Simpson and the Trojans are favored by a touchdown or less as the top ranked team in the nation. Oregon State was rated No. 13 in the latest Associated Press poll, a position which can be attributed to two measly points.

Those came in Oregon State's nonconference losses to Iowa, 21-20, and Kentucky, 35-34.

A crowd of around 70,000 is expected for the 1:30 p.m. The game will be televised locally and regionally (Channel 7). Otherwise it figured to be a near sellout.

Both Southern Cal and Oregon State have 4-0-0 conference records. No one else in the conference can catch them. But if the thing ends in a tie, the conference brass will decide when the regular season ends Nov. 23 who goes to the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

Coach John McKay's Trojans have won 16 of their last 17 games. The lone loss was a year ago to Oregon State in the mud at Corvallis, 3-0.

PREECE

Oregon State Coach Dee Andros, known as "The Great Pumpkin," has much the same talent back, including a versatile offense built around quarterback Steve Preece and fullback Bill "Earthquake" Enyart.

McKay's attack is something more than just O. J. Simpson, although the All-American halfback carries most of the load.

Sometimes overlooked in the "ole O.J." din is quarterback Steve Sogge, the young senior who has directed the team in its 16-1 win record.

Last week Sogge threw three touchdown passes as the team whipped out a defensively powerful California team, 35-17.

"We all know," says Sogge, "that if we have any chance of beating Oregon State, we'll have to play as well or better than we did against California."

"We've got to play our geatest game of the year because we're not going into the Rose Bowl through the back door," Andros declared.

McKay, with similar sentiments, observed, "They have in Steve Preece the best running quarterback in America and a great fullback in Enyart."

DALLAS (AP)—Oakland continued its torrid pace in the American Basketball Association by downing Dallas 122-106 last night as Rick Barry pumped in 43 points.

Barry, the league's leading scorer, collected 19 points in the first period to give the Oaks a lead they never gave up.

Dallas managed to close the gap to 79-75 and 84-80 in the third quarter but that was the closest they came.

Dallas was paced by Ron Boone with 26 points.

U.S. TEAM TAKES LEAD IN WORLD CUP

ROME, Italy (AP) — The American team of veteran Julius Boros and young Lee Trevino combined for a three-under-par 141 today and tied the Nationalist Chinese tandem for the lead in the 42-nation World Cup Golf Championship. (Earlier story and picture on page 42.)

Both teams had scores of 283 after 36 holes, the halfway mark of the tournament formerly known as the Canada Cup.

Boros shot a two-under-par 70 and Trevino a 71. Boros, who had trouble putting during yesterday's opening round, regained his touch on the greens for a 34-36 that included a 15-footer for an eagle on the 507-yard fifth hole. He also had two birdies while Trevino shot three birdies in his 35-36 round.

Texan Has Big Plans

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Besides offering football star O. J. Simpson a $1 million contract, San Antonio radio station executive Sam Morris Jr. says he has his sights set on three professional grid teams.

Morris told the San Antonio Express-News he also plans to buy the undefeated Toros of the Texas Professional Football League, the Boston Patriots of the American Football League and the Washington Senators of baseball's American League.

He told the newspaper he plans to get someone to build a domed stadium to house these attractions here.

Simpson of the University of Southern California was offered the $1 million contract Wednesday.

HALF INTEREST

Morris already has approached the Toros with his plans. He offered the football team's ownerso ne-half interest in radio station KDRY of San Antonio, in which he has part ownership. He is asking for "one whole interest" in the team in return.

Morris' father, veteran prohibition leader Sam Morris Sr. of San Antonio, said yesterday he owns 51 per cent of National Enterprises, Inc., which owns KDRY.

"Sam didn't discuss the matter with me," the elder Morris said, adding that if his son does carry through with his offers and plans, he will have to study all aspects of the situation before deciding what steps he will take.

Cal Bears To Host Oregon

The Golden Bears were torn apart by Southern Cal last week and their record fell to 5-2-1. The Ducks are 4-4 but two of those losses were close ones to Southern Cal and Ohio State, the top two teams in the country.

The Ducks have won four of their last five games and have come to depend on senior quarterback Eric Olson who is making a habit of coming off the bench to lead the club to victory.

In addition, Oregon is expecting the return of Claxton Welch, the team's leading rusher with 453 yards despite missing last week's game and being hampered the previous two weeks with a charley horse.

Cal will once again depend on its sturdy defense to turn back Oregon and to make the scoring breaks since the offense has been unable to put long drives together with any consistency.

The Oregon defense is nothing to be sneered at either. It limited the mighty O. J. Simpson to 67 yards rushing—peanuts for him—in its heartbreaking defeat by Southern Cal.

Quarterback Randy Humphries will do the throwing for Cal, with school record holder Wayne Stewart his primary target. Gary Fowler, Bob Darby and John McGaffie are expected to do the bulk of the running again.

49er Rookie Hardy Gets His Chance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rookie Kevin Hardy from Notre Dame is ready for his first big test with the San Francisco 49ers.

Coach Dick Nolan can activate one man to fill the vacancy caused by Miller's serious knee injury and he is expected to make his selection known before Sunday's Kezar Stadium contest against the Los Angeles Rams.

Nolan also has promised some lineup changes.

"I'll keep a closer watch on all positions Sunday," he said yesterday. "And I may make substitutions quicker than usual."

Terra Linda Preps Go For Unbeaten Season

Tomorrow afternoon's Marin County Athletic League football clash between Redwood High School of Larkspur and Terra Linda High School at College of Marin at 1:30 p.m. may very well be the game that will have more meaning rolled into its four quarters than any other game of a long season.

For Terra Linda it is the one last hurdle with perfection just around the corner.

For Redwood, it is a way to salvage pride, vindicate pre-season hopes and perhaps make up for all those wispy victories that slipped away in the final quarter, the second-too-late.

Terra Linda, 7-0-1 on the season and 4-0 in league play, shoots for its first mine-alone title after sharing the crown with Drake for the past two years. The Trojans will also try for their first unbeaten season and the first unbeaten season by an MCAL team since Drake did it four years ago.

Redwood, 3-4-1 on the season and 1-3 in league play with three either-way losses, is primed to derail the Trojan steamroller.

And watching from the sidelines not too disinterestedly will be Novato High School and Drake of San Anselmo players, who either play for second or a piece of the title that night on the same field.

If the Trojans lose, they will share the title with either Drake or Novato, both of which are 6-2 on the season and 3-1 in league play, and both of which have already lost to Terra Linda.

Redwood is in prime shape for an upset. The Giants are healthy, rejuvenated after a 25-6 blasting of San Rafael last week, and offensively loaded.

They will throw a three-pronged attack against the Trojans moving behind a big, beefy line.

They can go to the air with better-every-game quarterback Jim Peters. The running attack can be quick and wide with Carroll and Rob Dorinson or big and tough with amazing fullback Pete Richter, one of the best in the league.

The defense can be good, but hasn't been until last week.

More important, the Giants are hungry. It's like the old battler facing the new force on the horizon. Redwood, in a won-lost decline of late, once was the kingpin of the MCAL, a position that Terra Linda, with two title ties and a 23-3-1 record over the past three seasons, has taken over.

The Trojans are not in all that good shape for this one. Two key members injured in a 26-23 win over Lincoln last week may be out or at least doubtful and hobbled.

One is Steve McClain, a hard-running halfback who suffered a mild concussion in that game. He's the leading Trojan groundgainer and forms a talented one-two duo along with halfback Dan McInnis.

The other is John Dohn, a courage-plus ballplayer who doubles at linebacker and fullback. He suffered knee injuries and is the most serious loss in the lineup.

"Those injuries will hurt us, no doubt about it," Terra Linda coach Don Lucas said. "But our boys know what they need to do. There's no letdown. They're a remarkable group of kids. We respect Redwood, but we don't fear them. We're confident."

The Trojan defense, traditionally tough, should be so again behind the leadership of linebacker John Cullen and defensive halfback Bob Daniele.

It should be a grueling match with everything riding on it.

A Vote To Start New Sport In Prep League

SOCCER TO ME — Al Thomson, the former San Rafael High School principal now teaching at Terra Linda High, thinks the Marin County Athletic League should add soccer to its interscholastic menu.

"That's the greatest game going and it gave me the happiest days of my life," he said the other day during a jaw session. Thomson, a former San Francisco State football standout, starred for the S. F. Olympic Club soccer team for 12 years, climaxing his career as a member of the state championship team in 1946.

"I wish our league would get a soccer program going," he said. "They have one in San Francisco, but there doesn't seem to be the interest here. The main drawbacks seem to be th lack of coaches—I'd certainly be willing to help—and stiff competition from football. Maybe," he concluded, "the recreation departments throughout the county can get the soccer ball rolling on a junior level comparable to Pop Warner football and Little League baseball. It's really a great game—the greatest going."

'Kids Would Really Love It'

Thomson, who coached San Rafael High's football team in the late 1940s and early '50s, is convinced only leadership is required to get boys interested in soccer. "Just throw a ball out onto the field and kids will start playing and really love it," he said.

SCOOP-BE-DOO-BE-DOO — They don't call me "Scoop" for nothing. I cover all beats and nothing escapes my attention. Shucks, I even wear a trenchcoat and display my press card in my pork-pie topper, just like in the movies. Cub reporters flock to me for advice. The wire services scan my every potential Pulitzer Prize poop anticipating another in a long line of hot flashes that appear in this corner.

Did It Just The Other Day

Why, just the other day I did it again. (Stop the presses!) I came up with the startling news that Marin Catholic High School football star Jim O'Brien is a little squirt. I listed his physical stature as 165 pounds in a 5-foot, 10-inch tall frame, commenting that his diminutiveness (by football standards) could curtail his collegiate career.

This, I blushingly admit, was a genuine scoop because even O'Brien didn't realize he was small. His first reaction upon reading my latest masterpiece was, "Hey, I AM kinda small, aren't I?"

Mrs. Martin H. O'Brien of 575 Thyme Place, San Rafael says her son Jim " . . . was what we call 'the runt of the litter' because he was the smallest of our six children. He just turned 17 last month, so maybe he'll catch up with the rest of the family. We're very proud of him."

There Will Be Homecomings

When Shamus O'Brien catches up with the rest of the family you'll probably read it here first. They don't call me "Scoop" for nothing, you know.

REUNIONS — There'll be a homecoming of sorts in two games tonight at Kentfield and San Rafael.

And at San Rafael, where the local Bulldogs will be meeting perennial powerhouse St. Ignatius High of San Francisco, head coach for the visiting Wildcats is Vince Tringali, former College of Marin star. Also, S.I.'s star quarterback is Dan Fouts, a transfer from Marin Catholic.

Washington State Against San Jose In Losers Game

SAN JOSE (AP) — A couple of losers who had hoped for better things play football here tomorrow when Washington State abandons the Pacific-8 Conference for a week to play independent San Jose State.

The visitors are 1-6-1, but have lost some close ones while the Spartans, 2-5, have never quite been able to get untracked this season.

The Cougars boast the Pac-8's leading passer, quarterback Jerry Henderson, but he will not start, according to Coach Jim Sweeney.

Rich Olson, rated a better runner, will get the call to balance the attack. Olson can throw too, however.

The Spartans, who expect a homecoming crowd of close to 15,000, depend on the passing of quarterbacks Don Perkins and Russ Munson and the running of halfbacks Frank Slaton and Frank Weirath.

In other games tomorrow, Oregon State is at USC in the game of the day, Oregon is at California, UCLA is at Washington, and Stanford renews an old rivalry in a nonconference game at Stockton with University of Pacific.

Elections Tonight

Elections of officers of the Marin Rod and Gun Club will be held tonight at the clubhouse at Point San Quentin, starting at 8 o'clock.

Title At Stake For Tars

By KIMO CAMPBELL

College of Marin's hopeful football squad will end its regular season against ancient rival Santa Rosa Junior College tonight at 8 o'clock in Kentfield in their annual "Little Big Game" with the first Camino Norte Conference championship at stake.

The Tars have come a long way since their opening game with San Jose City College, through budget hassles, injuries, broken plays, flat afternoons, and finally ineligibility problems (two starters are still unknown quantities), to arrive at the final game with a 6-2 record (3-1 in league). The fact that they have come so far is due, in large part to the development of two inexperienced, often maligned quarterbacks who lack the pure ability of recent Tar signal callers but have grown in the last few games, and by the nature of their responsibility have helped the team grow as well.

TRUISM

It is a truism of football that T-formation quarterbacks get too much credit when they win and too much criticism when they lose. The Tars, however, have had most of the other ingredients of success all along — good receivers, plenty of running backs, an improved offensive line — which means a good deal, since four men off last year's offensive line were All-Conference — and a strong defense. The catalyst has been the quarterbacking, from the San Jose opener right up to tonight's finale.

The two athletes who have had the responsibility for running the Mariner offense this year are both distinctly un-athletic looking at first glance. Val Sabuco, tonight's probable starter, is a soft-spoken business major who wears Clark Kent spectacles and plays excellent golf, while Kevin Wilson is a cocky, tough little (5-foot-7) guy who looks more like Huckleberry Finn than Johnny Unitas. Both have had little experience at the most difficult position to master, Sabuco playing the line until his senior year at Oceana High School on the Peninsula, then sharing the position; Wilson sitting out his senior season at Redwood and his first year at Marin.

PROBLEM

"Quarterback has been a problem all year," says Coach Dick Read, "mostly due to inexperience. Both boys are good athletes — Val a golfer, Kevin a pitcher — but they haven't played much. Since the West Valley kame (the last Marin loss) I've taken some of the pressure off them by calling the plays myself. I don't like to do that — it's the first time in 12 years I've done it, because I feel that's part of the quarterback's job — but now Pete Limm, Ed Grimm, John Panagakis and I, working on the phones, try to pick the weaknesses in the defense simply because the quarterbacks have enough to think about as far as execution goes and haven't played enough to recognize weaknesses."

Wilson's size works against him, as he cannot see his receivers easily over the rushers. He has the nerve of a cat burglar, however.

RESERVE

Since Val was a reserve last season and Kevin had not played since his junior year in high school, the two have come along slowly, maturing most in the last three games according the Read. "The team has come on real well in the last few weeks," he said "partly because the boys have confidence in the quarterbacks now, and thus more confidence in themselves. We've had good leaders — Doug Guillon and Bill Hickerson have been outstanding captains for us — but some of the example has to come from the quarterbacks. Both boys have come along well recently, Kevin especially, and the team has responded."

With two usual starters not listed in the opening lineup — star halfback Tim Garvin and safety Rod Powell — Read will go with Sabuco at quarter (though Wilson is also expected to play a lot) Gary Dinkel and Keith Stirling at the halves and Jim Finnegan at full. Len Pieri and Sam Crowell will be at ends, steady Ron Heidinger and Chris Klyse will man the tackles, offensive captain Doug Guillon and Charley Keppel at guards,

USC, Oregon State Play In Showdown For Roses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The run for the Rose Bowl in the Pacific-8 conference—barring a tie—reaches the end of the road here tomorrow when the unbeaten Trojans of Southern California collide with formidable Oregon State.

All-American halfback O. J. Simpson and the Trojans are favored by a touchdown or less as the top ranked team in the nation. Oregon State was rated No. 13 in the latest Associated Press poll, a position which can be attributed to two measly points.

Those came in Oregon State's nonconference losses to Iowa, 21-20, and Kentucky, 35-34.

A crowd of around 70,000 is expected for the 1:30 p.m. The game will be televised locally and regionally (Channel 7). Otherwise it figured to be a near sellout.

Both Southern Cal and Oregon State have 4-0-0 conference records. No one else in the conference can catch them. But if the thing ends in a tie, the conference brass will decide when the regular season ends Nov. 23 who goes to the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

TEEOFF IN ROME — Julius Boros tees off in the opening round in the 16th World Cup Golf Tournament in Rome yesterday. Boros had an opening 73 as the U.S. had to share fourth place with Canada. Lee Trevino had a 69 for a U.S. total of 142. (UPI Cablephoto)

No Language Barrier For Boros And Caddie

ROME (AP) — An irksome language barrier separated most of the contestants at the World Cup Golf Championship from their caddies today.

Questions like "What did you think of that four-wood shot?" are answered by blank silence or the Italian equivalent of "Sorry, sir, I don't understand."

However, U.S. PGA Champion Julius Boros of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who with Texan Lee Trevino settled into fourth place after the Cup's opening round yesterday seems to have landed one of the few bag-packers who speaks the same language.

The caddy is Air Force Tech. Sgt. Robert S. Stewart, 38, of Petersburg, Va., secretary to Air Force Lt. Gen. Fred M. Dean at the NATO base in Naples, and the father of four boys.

Communications, however, still couldn't get Boros' game under par. He missed several putts inside six feet for a one-over-par 73.

Even Trevino, of Dallas, blew hot and cold for his three-under 69. "It could have been better," the Texan said of his round in general and of his four bogeys in particular.

The Americans trailed a pair of pinpoint golf pros from the Nationalist Chinese isalnd of Taiwan—Hsieh Yong-Yo, 34, a slight 130-pounder, and his bamboo-weight partner, Lu Liang-Huan, 32 and 136 pounds, who took the lead at 139.

Close behind the Chinese were the British entry of Bernard Hunt and Neil Coles, who clubbed matching 70s for a 140 total. Italy was third at 141.

Tied with Boros and Trevino for fourth at 142 were Canadians Al Balding and George Knudson. Balding's 68 was low individual score for the day, two off the record of 66 for the 6,850-yard par 72 Olgiata Golf Club course.

Oddly enough Trevino, a compulsive talker in both Spanish and English, had to keep his remarks simple for his Italian caddy. But Boros, an easygoing pro of truly few words, was able to chat with his caddy—and no ordinary caddy.

Back in August Boros received a letter from Stewart, who said simply: "I'm planning to attend the World Cup in Rome in November. Could I caddy for you?"

Boros wrote back, "Yes—if international rules allow it."

The rules did and Boros is now one of the few golfers in the tournament whose caddy can understand more than "putter, six-iron, flag, sand trap" and other such basic terms in any language except Italian.

Stewart, a stringbean Virginian with a close-cropped crew-cut, said his Air Force buddies ribbed him about his proposal to Boros, who with Trevino is expected to give the United States the Cup this year.

"They all said I was crazy," Stewart recalled. "They said Boros would never do it. But you never know unless you ask."

Although Stewart unslings clubs, follows errant golf balls with a practiced eye and knows how to conduct himself on the green, he has only caddied once before.

That was back in October 1961 for Bob McCallister of Yorba Linda, Calif., in the Resperia (California) Open.

That tourney was won not by McCallister but by the late Tony Lema. But this time Stewart may be carrying a winner's clubs and then his Air Force mates may have second thoughts about calling him crazy.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dave Bing and the Detroit Pistons come to the Cow Palace tonight at 8 o'clock for a National Basketball Association game with the San Francisco Warriors.

Thunderbird Is Latest Golf Casualty

NEW YORK (AP) — The $150,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic, one of the richest on the tour circuit, is the latest casualty in the war between the Professional Golfers Association and the new American Professional Golfers organization.

Sponsor of the tournament, played last year a the Upper Montclair, N.J., Country Club, announced cancellation of the 1969 tournament yesterday because of the dispute that has taken most of the tour's top players from the PGA and put them in the APG.

COSTS

Robert J. Murphy, president of the Newark District for Dealers Advertising Association, which has sponsored the meet, also cited increased costs as a reason for the temporary abandonment.

"We are 140 individual dealers who have been carrying the cost of running the tournament. Our cost has been escalating rapidly each year. We put up the purse of $150,000. We absored many other expenses to assure the charities involved of a maximum return for their fine causes," he said.

"We also find that the cost of televising our tournament has escalated so much that it has become too expensive for us as sole sponsor."

The 7-year-old tournament, first to provide purses totaling $100,000 for the pros in 1962, was televised nationally during its first five years, but was not nationally televised in 1967 or 1968.

Meanwhile, at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., where the PGA is holding its 52nd annual meeting, Leo Fraser of the Atlantic City, N.J., Country Club was named to succeed retiring Max Elbin as president of the organization.

NEW OFFICERS

Fraser, who has been PGA secretary, will be succeeded by Warren Orlick of the Tam O'Shanter Country Club in Orchard Lake, Mich.

William Clarke of Phoenix, Md., was elected treasurer to succeed Orlick.

Four new vice presidents elected were John Boda of Andover, Mass.; James Warga of Jamesburg, N.J.; Dugan Aycock of Lexington, N.C., and Howard Mortte of Kent, Ohio.

Royals Keep On Winning

NEW YORK (AP) — That discounted flock known as the Cincinnati Royals, shepherded by Oscar Robertson, is proving that togetherness goes a long way in ruling the National Basketball Association pasture.

"We've had everybody in the fold since the very beginning," says veteran center Connie Dierking. "We had a good camp. We got the winning feeling and it has carried over."

It has carried the Royals to a fast start and first place in the NBA's Eastern Division, which they maintained last night with a 110-101 victory over the New York Knickerbockers for a 10-3 record.

DETROIT WINS

In the only other NBA game yesterday, Detroit edged Phoenix 111-109 at Tucson, Ariz.

Los Angeles beat the New York Mets 113-104, Oakland topped Dallas 112-106 and Denver trounced Houston 105-89 in the American Basketball Association.

"I think Tom Van Arsdale, John Tresvant, Connie Dierking and more team unity is the big reason for our fast start," says Oscar Robertson, the Royals' perennial All-Star.

Van Arsdale and Tresvant, obtained in a trade with Detroit late last season, scored 12 and 19 points, respectively, last night and Dierking added 17. Tresvant and Dierking also grabbed 10 rebounds each.

NO HOLDOUTS

"Being together in camp"—there were no holdouts or injuries to delay the Royals from reporting this season—"is a big thing," says Coach Ed Jucker. "And, of course, a healthy Oscar.

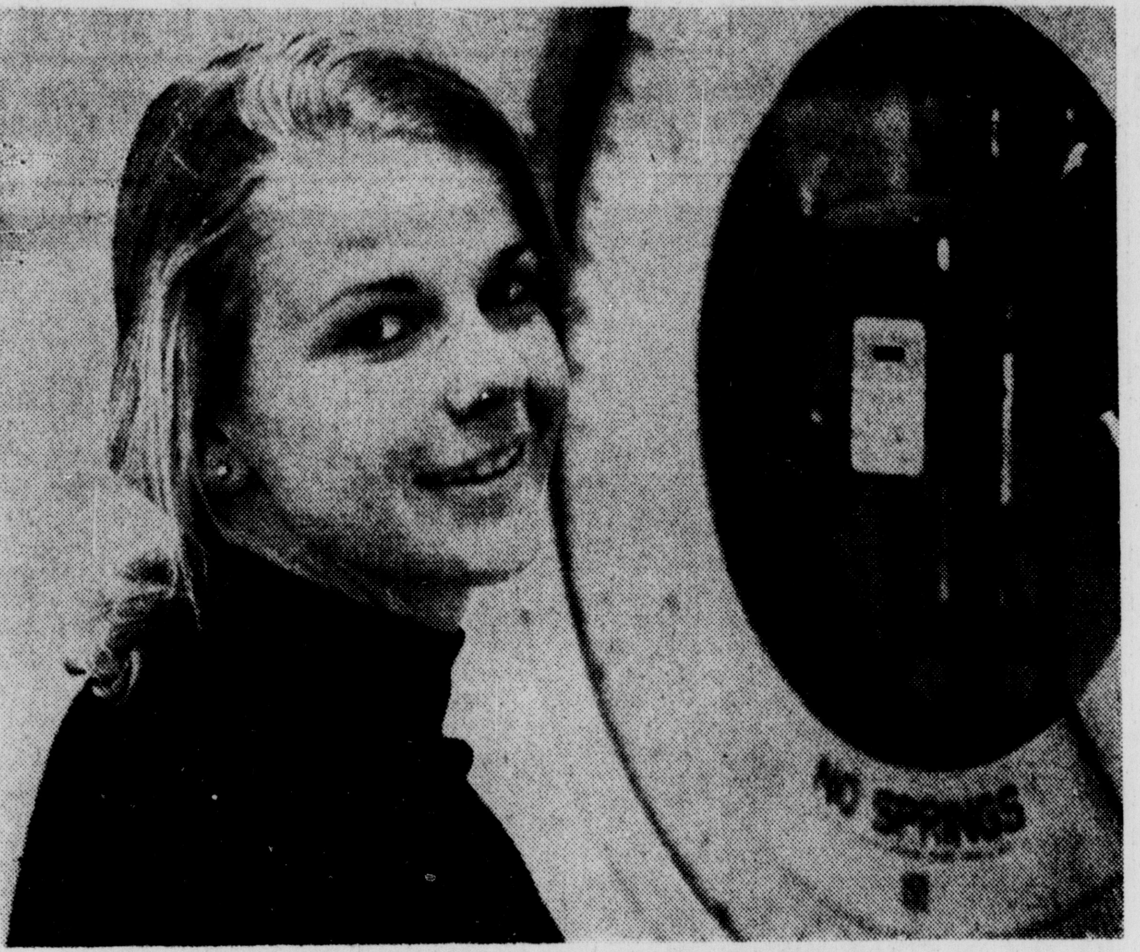
Robertson, who missed all or part of 30 games, last season, scored 29 points, handed out six assists, and returned to action late in the game to break a Knick rally by scoring five straight points.

It was another typical Big O performance as was that of another Cincinnati veteran, Jerry Lucas, who scored 21 points and snared 20 rebounds.

COSTLY

The Knicks, picked at a serious contender in the East but off to a 5-11 start, were so far apart—and off the target—in the second quarter against the Royals that it cost them the game.

New York had numerous turnovers, hit on just six of 26 field goal attempts and went almost 7½ minutes without making a basket as they scored just 17 points in the second quarter and fell behind 54-41 at halftime.



BEAUTY AND THE BEAST

The beauty is pretty blonde Penny Ann Early, 25, of Chicago who was granted a temporary jockey's license to race the beasts (horses). The license was granted yesterday by the Kentucky State Racing Commission. Penny, a divorcee, is the second woman to be granted a license and she hopes to become the first to actually ride in a major race. (UPI Telephoto)

TEEOFF IN ROME — Julius Boros tees off in the opening round in the 16th World Cup Golf Tournament in Rome yesterday. Boros had an opening 73 as the U.S. had to share fourth place with Canada. Lee Trevino had a 69 for a U.S. total of 142. (UPI Cablephoto)

No Language Barrier For Boros And Caddie

ROME (AP) — An irksome language barrier separated most of the contestants at the World Cup Golf Championship from their caddies today.

Questions like "What did you think of that four-wood shot?" are answered by blank silence or the Italian equivalent of "Sorry, sir, I don't understand."

However, U.S. PGA Champion Julius Boros of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who with Texan Lee Trevino settled into fourth place after the Cup's opening round yesterday seems to have landed one of the few bag-packers who speaks the same language.

The caddy is Air Force Tech. Sgt. Robert S. Stewart, 38, of Petersburg, Va., secretary to Air Force Lt. Gen. Fred M. Dean at the NATO base in Naples, and the father of four boys.

Communications, however, still couldn't get Boros' game under par. He missed several putts inside six feet for a one-over-par 73.

Even Trevino, of Dallas, blew hot and cold for his three-under 69. "It could have been better," the Texan said of his round in general and of his four bogeys in particular.

The Americans trailed a pair of pinpoint golf pros from the Nationalist Chinese isalnd of Taiwan—Hsieh Yong-Yo, 34, a slight 130-pounder, and his bamboo-weight partner, Lu Liang-Huan, 32 and 136 pounds, who took the lead at 139.

Close behind the Chinese were the British entry of Bernard Hunt and Neil Coles, who clubbed matching 70s for a 140 total. Italy was third at 141.

Tied with Boros and Trevino for fourth at 142 were Canadians Al Balding and George Knudson. Balding's 68 was low individual score for the day, two off the record of 66 for the 6,850-yard par 72 Olgiata Golf Club course.

Oddly enough Trevino, a compulsive talker in both Spanish and English, had to keep his remarks simple for his Italian caddy. But Boros, an easygoing pro of truly few words, was able to chat with his caddy—and no ordinary caddy.

Back in August Boros received a letter from Stewart, who said simply: "I'm planning to attend the World Cup in Rome in November. Could I caddy for you?"

Boros wrote back, "Yes—if international rules allow it."

The rules did and Boros is now one of the few golfers in the tournament whose caddy can understand more than "putter, six-iron, flag, sand trap" and other such basic terms in any language except Italian.

Beware The Greeks Bearing Gifts . . .

No, I haven't flipped. It so happens that is one of the great locker rooms quotes of all times, written by the Grantland Rice of ancient Rome, Publius Virgilius Maro, better known as the poet Virgil, who wrote the post-game story on the famous hidden-ball trick the Greeks played on the Romans back there in antiquity. In its own way, it ranks with "Outlined against the blue-gray October sky, the Four Horsemen, etc."

IT MEANS, in case your Latin is rusty, "I fear the Greeks bearing gifts," or even "Beware the Greeks bearing gifts," and I bring this up because there's going to be another Greek-Trojan war in the Coliseum this Saturday, and it would behoove the Trojans to kick the sides of the Oregon State bus, and examine all packages carefully. Otherwise, by the third quarter, they're apt to think it's raining Beavers.

THE HEAD Greek in this case is not Menelaus or Achilles, but Demosthenes Konstandines Andrepopoulos, who is known along the Willamette Valley as "Mr. Football," not because he excels at it but because he resembles it. He's bringing an Oregon State team which is only two points away from an unbeaten season to L.A. this weekend, and the Trojans haven't been in this tough since Achilles came out of his tent.

IT'S BEEN a bull year for Greeks anyway, and, the way things are going, Demosthenes (who reduced his name to "Dee Andros" but had less luck with his figure) may never have to go back to cooking grape leaves in the family restaurant in Oklahoma. He just may be one of the five best football coaches in the business when you stop to think that to get to Corvallis in the first place you have to change stage coaches at Salem or rent a dog at Tillamook.

IF YOU put a candle in Dee Andros, you could scare little kids with him on Halloween. When he's all dressed up in orange, which he always is, he's a human Jack-O-Lantern. A woman tried to buy him for her Thanksgiving dinner in a supermarket once when he had his back turned. "The Pumpkin," writer Harry Missildine dubbed him one day as he came out on the field in such a glare of golden orange that you could read by him at night.

Dee learned his football under the late Jim Tatum at Oklahoma. Pop was a Greek immigrant who got off the ship and kept on going clear through Oklahoma before he could find a restaurant site that wasn't taken. Legend has it Oklahoma recruited him one night when they saw him dancing around with a handkerchief in his mouth and the other guy was dangling.

HE DOESN'T scare easily. He figures that after all the shots the Japanese Imperial Marines had at him the first four days of Iwo Jima ("I wasn't exactly an inconspicuous target"), a mere football game won't make him hide under the bed. He got the Bronze Star on Iwo — he was shaking bullets out of his coat and hair for weeks, and it took him two days to clean his bayonet.

USC would like to put the frost on The Pumpkin who beat them last year, 3-0, despite O. J. Simpson's 150 yards in the first half.

("OH, THE strategy was to let him get tired," grinned The Pumpkin.) But up in Oregon, they say Andros goes up in logging country looking for football players and, if they need an ax to knock down the trees, he passes them up. He's got a fullback who runs so hard seismologists on the East Coast can keep track of his game statistics. The team isn't fancy. The only thing they throw in the air is the coach. They could play with a stale loaf of bread just as effectively.

Virgil would approve of Demosthenes' game plan. He's bearing gifts. "O. J. Simpson is undoubltedly the finest back I've ever seen," says he. "You need a horse to catch him. He can whip any 1-on-1 situation. When he's got the football, we got to be there with seven or eight people or that scoreboard's gonna get tired."

NOW, IF I were in the walls of Troy, I would take that, hold it up to the light, shake it, put an ear alongside to see if it's ticking or has people whispering inside. I would check the eyes to see if they move, but under no circumstances would I open it around women and children. And, repeat after me, "Timeo Danaos . . ." — I fear the Greeks bearing football teams.

Early Start For Centennial Year At East-West Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—College football's centennial year of 1969 will get an early kick-off at the Shrine East-West game Dec. 28 with crowning of the national queen chosen from queens of 14 NCAA conferences.

Halftime entertainment will be provided by the Rutgers One Hundred band of Rutgers University. Rutgers won the first intercollegiate game from Princeton in 1869.

The announcements were made yesterday by Theodore H. Balliet, general manager of the annual Shrine charity game, in San Francisco.

Duffy Daugherty of Michigan jstate will be the East head coach for the fourth time since 1950, assisted by Tom Cahill of Army and John Pont of Indiana.

Bob Devaney of Nebraska will be West head coach, aided by Dee Andros of Oregon State and another coach to be selected.

Balliet said it is too early to discuss player selections, but that if Southern California does not go to the Rose Bowl, "O.J. Simpson is a cinch for a West running back."

San Rafael Hosts Rugged St. Ignatius

San Rafael High School's football team has lost seven straight games so things shouldn't get too much worse. But the worst could come tonight when the Bulldogs face West Catholic Athletic League powerhouse St. Ignatius of San Francisco at San Rafael, 8 o'clock.

St. Ignatius, the defending WCAL champion, has an unimposing 5-4 won-lost season mark, but is 5-1 in a league that may be the toughest in Northern California. And if you don't think so, just look at what it's done to Marin County Athletic League competition.

Riordan of San Francisco decimated Redwood of Larkspur, 47-13; Bellarmine of Santa Clara smashed previously unbeaten Novato, 27-0; and Serra of San Mateo wiped out North Bay power house Vallejo, 41-7.

Dan Fouts, a former Marin Catholic gridder until transferring to Wildcat territory, has the St. Ignatius quarterback job.

Lowell Widmer will start at quarterback for the Bulldogs, now 1-7 on the season.

CAIN'S TIRE
THE PLACE TO BUY TIRES

People: Every day I get phone calls from people who are sincerely afraid to buy a tire. They ask many questions that to us are foolish, but to them are not. What these people are trying to do is guarantee themselves some quality for the dollar they're spending. We don't blame them. Cain's always tries to run ads that clearly state the quality and level of the tires it's advertising. In my future ads I will answer some of the points we find the customers are most misinformed and misled on.
Answer: Absolutely NO. Nylon was introduced and heavily promoted around 1954. Since then it has been successful for truck tires, but not so on passenger tires, due to the rough ride. Now the tire companies produce 100% of their cheaper tires with nylon and most of the major companies use Tryex—or Polyester for their top grade tires.
So you see how you can be fooled even when you think you're asking for quality.

Beware The Greeks Bearing Gifts . . .

No, I haven't flipped. It so happens that is one of the great locker rooms quotes of all times, written by the Grantland Rice of ancient Rome, Publius Virgilius Maro, better known as the poet Virgil, who wrote the post-game story on the famous hidden-ball trick the Greeks played on the Romans back there in antiquity. In its own way, it ranks with "Outlined against the blue-gray October sky, the Four Horsemen, etc."

IT MEANS, in case your Latin is rusty, "I fear the Greeks bearing gifts," or even "Beware the Greeks bearing gifts," and I bring this up because there's going to be another Greek-Trojan war in the Coliseum this Saturday, and it would behoove the Trojans to kick the sides of the Oregon State bus, and examine all packages carefully. Otherwise, by the third quarter, they're apt to think it's raining Beavers.

THE HEAD Greek in this case is not Menelaus or Achilles, but Demosthenes Konstandines Andrepopoulos, who is known along the Willamette Valley as "Mr. Football," not because he excels at it but because he resembles it. He's bringing an Oregon State team which is only two points away from an unbeaten season to L.A. this weekend, and the Trojans haven't been in this tough since Achilles came out of his tent.

CAIN'S TIRE
THE PLACE TO BUY TIRES
People: Every day I get phone calls from people who are sincerely afraid to buy a tire. They ask many questions that to us are foolish, but to them are not. What these people are trying to do is guarantee themselves some quality for the dollar they're spending. We don't blame them. Cain's always tries to run ads that clearly state the quality and level of the tires it's advertising. In my future ads I will answer some of the points we find the customers are most misinformed and misled on.
Answer: Absolutely NO. Nylon was introduced and heavily promoted around 1954. Since then it has been successful for truck tires, but not so on passenger tires, due to the rough ride. Now the tire companies produce 100% of their cheaper tires with nylon and most of the major companies use Tryex—or Polyester for their top grade tires.
So you see how you can be fooled even when you think you're asking for quality.

NAMATH VERSUS THE RAIDERS

Bad-Mouthing Bout Looms

By HERB MICHELSON

OAKLAND — Willie Joe Namath, who has money and long hair, comes here Sunday for his annual bad-mouthing bout with the Raiders.

The Raiders need the win more than Willie Joe's New York Jets, who are coasting to the Eastern Division title in the American Football League. This means Oakland will win, if you bear in mind the latest pro football cliche: The team that must win in an evenly matched game usually will. This theorem is supposed to explain why Baltimore beat Los Angeles last month and the Raiders defeated the Kansas City Chiefs a fortnight ago.

So much for dogma. But not so much for Namath.

There are a couple of fellows on the Raiders who really, truly, fervently don't like Willie Joe. They resent him for the usual reasons — Willie Joe is young, handsome, swinging, very rich. You and I would feel similarly.

But Oakland defensive ends Ben (Big Tree) Davidson and Isaac (Ike) Lassiter have further cause for their distaste of the New York quarterback. A year ago, after the Raiders met the Jets in Shea Stadium, Willie Joe accused Ben and Isaac of that worst of all possible gridiron cliches — the cheap shot.

Loosely translated, the cheap shot is a thud unleased when the officials ain't peeking. Also, it hurts.

But what hurt the gigantic Davidson more than that accusation was another Willie Joe charge.

"Ben talks to me all the time," said Mr. Namath.

He's a renowned screamer afield. The day after a game, Big Ben sounds like two pieces of sandpaper being rubbed against an emery board.

By the time the Jets came to Oakland for a return match (the Raiders' loss in Shea was their sole defeat, until the Super Bowl, last season), Davidson and Lassiter were ready for Willie Joe.

Although Ben was accused of ministering some mean pops at Namath in the Coliseum, it was untrue. Willie Joe was indeed hurt in the game here, but it was Lassiter who managed — cleanly, mind you — to bruise the Jet fellow and render him useless for a time.

A man who knows tells me that Ben and Ike don't necessarily hate Namath — "but they certainly have a stronger feeling against him than, say, Pete Beathard or John Hadl or Len Dawson."

Here are selected reasons for said antipathy:

1—Namath's mouth. He likes to talk, not particularly caring whose feelings might be bruised in the conversation.

2—Namath's image. Willie Joe has been painted as such a super dooper star that all the other AFLers wonder why they're asked to come on the field when he plays.

3—The long-standing resentment of a lineman for a quarterback. This is the financial aspect of the animosity. The best lineman will make maybe 20 grand. Namath has moved in the world of 400 thou.

"Despite all of this," says the man who knows, "both Lassiter and Davidson have tremendous respect for Namath."

And why not? HE could buy and sell them. Does not the taxpayer respect the Internal Revenue Service? Or at least worry about them?

MARIN BOWLING NOTES

There Are Good Days, And Then There Are Bad

By RALPH CHATOIAN

In bowling, as in everything else, there are good days and there are bad.

Dick White was having one of those good days at Country Club Bowl, rolling games of 245, 247 and 257 for a smart 749 series in the 905 Classic League. That score from the San Rafael lanes was high for the week in Marin County.

Then on the other side of the picture is Emil Renati, a member of the Novato Sportsmen's League at Nave Lanes. Emil rolled eight splits and finally marked in the 10th frame. On his extra ball, yep, another split, making nine splits in one game. Now that just about has to a record of sorts.

THIS AND THAT — Big scores in the Nite Owl League at Country Club Bowl, Ed Brice with a 686 and Al Hoffmann, 645 (Brice's series was topped by a 279 game . . . Chuck Luby was kingpin of the Week-Enders League with a 257-669, while Jan Curry picked up the 6-8-10 . . . It was triplicate time for Pat Nakamura, 155, in the Ladies 615 Classic, and Beverly McNear, 134, in the Morning Glories, both at Country Club Bowl . . . Jean Baker had an all spare game in the 615 Classic, a 180 . . . In the Merry Mixers League at Country Club, Alice Robbiano almost had an all-spare line but missed it in the 10th — because of a strike — but she'll take that 185, thank you; and Al Preston made good on that pesky 6-7 split . . . Kathy Sloan of the Daffodils has a 120 average but rolled a 208-530 score last time out . . . Mary Ann Ralsten picked up the 4-7-10 split in the Gutter Belles League at Greenbrae Lanes.

STRILES TO SPARE — Penny Conti had quite a week of bowling at Country Club Bowl, a 593 series in the Ladies 615 Classic and a 582 in the Classy Lassies . . . Larry Asay was top man in the Mixed Travel League, 245-615 . . . Jim Sageser (156 avg.) rolled 614 in the Elks League at Country Club . . . Chris Baseheart had high game of the week at Nave Lanes, his 225 beating Ron Baccei by only a pin . . . Sharon Wroten had a nice 600 series to lead the women at Greenbrae lanes, a 606 topped by a 246 game in the Ladies 622 Classic . . . Harold Keaton paced the action in the Mystery League at Nave Lanes, while Em Smith was quite happy with that pickup of the 4-7-9-10 split.

DOWN THE LANES — Walt Filippi is till smarting by the closeness of that near triplicate in the Monday Men's Handicap at Greenbrae Lanes, 157-157-158 . . . The 13 bowlers of the Junior 600 Club have challenged 13 of the members of the Women's 600 Club to a match and it has been answered — 3 p.m. Sunday at Greenbrae Lanes . . . Steve Evans' name was accidentally left off the Nave Lanes Honor Roll last week, but his 603 should have been there, I am told by Ball and Chain League secretary Harvey Perryman . . . Lou Heibel picked up the 4-7-10 in the Friday Nite Leftovers League at Nave Lanes . . . - Bobbie Hoover converted the 4-10 in the Bowlerettes League at Country Club . . . Rita Pickerell rolled her first 500 plus game, in the Blue Chips League, a 515.

JUNIOR DOINGS — Rich McPherson led the juniors at Country Club with a 213 game and 571 series . . . Ron Paul (140 avg.) rolled a 194 in the Bantams . . . Six-year-old Mike Piver rolled a 118 game and Jeff Hoffmann, also 6, picked up the 6-7 split in Pee Wee action . . . Sandee Billips converted the 6-7-8-10 in the North Bay Junior Traveling League.

Intrepid Named To Defend Title She Won In '67

NEW YORK (AP) — Intrepid, the successful 1967 defender of the America's Cup, will be back as a candidate for the 1970 match, it was revealed last night at the annual awards dinner at the New York Yacht Club.

Intrepid will be manned by a crew made up substantially of the same men who worked her during her four straight victories over Australia's Dame Pattie off Newport, R.I., in September, 1967, according to F. Briggs Dalzell, New York Yacht Club fleet captain, who has been named a co-manager of the yacht's operations.

The yacht will be under the management of the group that built her, and Emil "Bus" Mosbacher Jr. of White Plains, N.Y., again will be the skipper, Dalzell said.

It's Plus Territory After Irregularities

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market closed higher today after working its way out of irregularity.

Both the averages and the advance-decline ratio were in plus territory as the market finished its pre-weekend session.

Currency jitters in Europe pushed gold-mining stocks in Wall Street and also attracted foreign funds to other U.S. equities.

The market wallowed in conflicting cross currents in early trading but gradually worked its way onto a slightly higher plane.

Gold-mining stocks were strong on news of curreny jitters in Europe and an increased speculative demand for gold. Homestake and Campbell Red Lake rose more than a point each, and Dome Mines gained more than 2. McIntyre Porcupine and Benguet tacked on fractions.

Xerox slipped a couple of points on profit taking, following its upsurge on news merger talks with C.I.T. Financial were terminated. C.I.T., untraded all of Thursday, opened on a block of 108,000 shares, losing 79 at 48 and stretched its loss to a full 8 points in later dealings.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Wide Variations In Mutual Funds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Is United Accumulative Fund a good investment? I've held it for some years during which it has doubled in value. Should I sell part? Do you advise holding several funds? — G.M., H.H.

A. Your own temperament is your best guide in utilizing mutual funds for retirement needs.

You now hold one of the 11 largest — a "billionaire" in total assets. Growth has come from sound, conservative investment policies, but among 100 leading funds United Accumulative ranks in the lower half of the list for performance during nine months ended Sept. 30 and similarly for 5 years through 1967.

It demonstrates the widely publicized cleavage between traditional and contemporary concepts in fund management.

Enterprise Fund holds the top record of 357 per cent increase in net asset value over the past 5 years — more than fivefold the 63 per cent increase reported by your fund.

Four no-load funds — Energy, Johnston Mutual, Penn Square and T. Rowe Price Growth Fund — report better than 100 per cent increase for the same period while top performers among the less speculative funds —with sales charges — show increases from 129 to 159 per cent.

If you accept some of your capital gains for reinvestment, you should examine the records of the funds you mention, using the foregoing examples as guidelines for your choice.

New Chairman For Alliance

In September this year, the city issued 221 building permits with a total valuation of $1,504,401.

It's Plus Territory After Irregularities

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market closed higher today after working its way out of irregularity.

Both the averages and the advance-decline ratio were in plus territory as the market finished its pre-weekend session.

Currency jitters in Europe pushed gold-mining stocks in Wall Street and also attracted foreign funds to other U.S. equities.

The market wallowed in conflicting cross currents in early trading but gradually worked its way onto a slightly higher plane.

Gold-mining stocks were strong on news of curreny jitters in Europe and an increased speculative demand for gold. Homestake and Campbell Red Lake rose more than a point each, and Dome Mines gained more than 2. McIntyre Porcupine and Benguet tacked on fractions.

Xerox slipped a couple of points on profit taking, following its upsurge on news merger talks with C.I.T. Financial were terminated. C.I.T., untraded all of Thursday, opened on a block of 108,000 shares, losing 79 at 48 and stretched its loss to a full 8 points in later dealings.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Wide Variations In Mutual Funds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Is United Accumalative Fund a good investment? I've held it for some years during which it has doubled in value. Should I sell part? Do you advise holding several funds? — G.M., H.H.

A. Your own temperament is your best guide in utilizing mutual funds for retirement needs.

You now hold one of the 11 largest — a "billionaire" in total assets. Growth has come from sound, conservative investment policies, but among 100 leading funds United Accumulative ranks in the lower half of the list for performance during nine months ended Sept. 30 and similarly for 5 years through 1967.

It demonstrates the widely publicized cleavage between traditional and contemporary concepts in fund management.

Enterprise Fund holds the top record of 357 per cent increase in net asset value over the past 5 years — more than fivefold the 63 per cent increase reported by your fund.

Four no-load funds — Energy, Johnston Mutual, Penn Square and T. Rowe Price Growth Fund — report better than 100 per cent increase for the same period while top performers among the less speculative funds —with sales charges — show increases from 129 to 159 per cent.

If you accept some of your capital gains for reinvestment, you should examine the records of the funds you mention, using the foregoing examples as guidelines for your choice.

In September this year, the city issued 221 building permits with a total valuation of $1,504,401.

Nixon Election May Keep Warren On Court

A side result of the election of Richard M. Nixon as President may be that another former California officeholder, Earl Warren, will remain considerably longer as chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

When Chief Justice Warren submitted his resignation — with no date specified — to President Johnson, there were immediate cries of "political deal." The President had announced he would not seek another term, the Democratic Party appeared in shambles, and the obvious conclusion was that the chief justice was clearing the way for Johnson to replace him with another liberal, before a change of administration.

When the President named Abe Fortas as his nominee for chief justice, and proposed to fill the court vacancy created by Fortas's elevation with an old political crony, Homer Thornberry, the conclusion appeared justified.

This played a large part in Senate resistance to Fortas's nomination, which at last resulted in its withdrawal. And so Earl Warren still heads the court — and may continue to do so as long as he wishes.

HE MAY WISH to do so for some time, despite the fact that he is 77 years old and certainly entitled to the pleasures of retirement.

Several considerations make this appear likely.

The U. S. Supreme Court has taken a new direction during the Warren years. It has adopted what its majority and their supporters choose to call a liberal interpretation of the Constitution — and what its detractors claim is a rewriting of the Constitution to include within its meanings whatever the justices happen to like.

No doubt Earl Warren believes sincerely in this approach. Although the Supreme Court's deliberations are behind closed doors, it has been reported — and not denied — that he has often told his fellow justices, "Never mind that. What is right?" And what is right, in the opinion of the court majority, can generally be found constitutional by that same majority.

This approach would not have been changed by the elevation of Abe Fortas to chief justice.

BUT RICHARD NIXON, elected in a campaign in which he emphasized "law and order," could scarcely be expected to name a man of such cast of mind to head the high court — for this very "liberal" approach is widely blamed with undermining law and order.

Moreover, although many senators — perhaps a majority — were against confirming Fortas for a variety of reasons, the senator who led the attack and was most viciously critical of Fortas was Strom Thurmond of North Carolina. And it was Thurmond who held southern support for Nixon to assure his nomination, and who reportedly got to pick Spiro T. Agnew for vice president as reward.

It is at the very least politically conceivable that Senator Thurmond would also have some say about a choice for chief justice, if Warren were to re-submit his resignation to the new President after Jan. 20.

Which is good reason to believe that Warren will not do so, and that President Nixon will have to wait for some other justice to retire before he can make any change in the court.

Personality Of Wild Birds

It must seem strange to those who just think of birds as birds to have us state that each bird is an unique personality. Yet, those most intimate with wildlife will tell them it is so.

We do not mean that each species of bird has its own personality traits, though it is quite true. We mean that no two birds of the same species act and react in exactly the same manner. And, further, we believe that anyone studying intensely a small group of birds in the wild gets to know the individual personalities.

We are exaggerating only a little when we say that the personalities of birds are almost as distinct as those of men.

Commission On Tax Reform Sure To Set Off Fireworks

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Little realization of the magnitude of the problem facing the Advisory Commission on Tax Reform, appointed some time ago by Gov. Ronald Reagan, has filtered through to the public.

The commission is headed by Houston I. Flournoy, state controller, probably one of the most informed and knowledgable tax authorities in California.

Flournoy's commission has held meetings and hearings, but despite the fact a report is due by January 1, it has not as yet resolved the mass of tax information and recommendations into any final recommendation to submit to the 1969 Legislature.

THE PROBLEM, according to the controller, is primarily the equalization of the tax burden as it applies to cities, counties, and the state itself. It definitely is not, he explained, concerned with "tax relief," a subject of which much has been heard during the current year; neither is it a matter of finding ways of reducing the over-all tax income of the state and local governments.

The contorller points out that the job of the commission is to make recommendations which will assure the continuation of a supply of tax revenue to guarantee functioning of government, even though the source may be somewhat different from that at present.

Asked whether the passage of Proposition 1A would help or hamper the commission in its work, Flournoy said this new constitutional amendment is more on the order of a stepping stone to tax reform.

THE PROPERTY tax, he pointed out, is only one source of revenue, and even though it is a primary source for cities and counties, it cannot be considered singly in the over-all studies.

There is strong possibility that in the effort to achieve more equality in taxation, the benefits and exemptions accruing to charities, non-profit organizations and their donors may come in for a re-shuffling.

The commission has recommendations before it which point out the fact that there has been no re-valuation in recent times of these tax exemptions, and that the revenue losses therefrom "are substantial and growing steadily."

The question is raised whether exemptions, for example, of social and country clubs should take precedence over support of school activities. Or whether tax support of lodges and veteran organizations should take precedence over the need for more medical schools.

THE COMMISSION is considering a recommendation that statutory and constitutional changes be initiated to remove all private non-profit property tax exemptions over a 10-year period.

These are only a few of the many matters being considered by the commission. It seems obvious that no matter what recommendations are made to the Legislature, a veritable storm will be blown up as a result. No tax shift can be made without someone getting hurt.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Tax Exemptions Hurt Bond Issues

Your editorial of Nov. 11 calls attention to the general failure of school bond issues and speculates on taxpayer motivation.

One overall feature unmentioned is that about some 30 years ago, the tax exempt portion in our structure was about 12 per cent. By 1965 this climbed to 30 per cent and is still going upward. Thus you have an ever narrowing circle of productive taxpayers asked to carry a growing load of services required by a growing population.

Prime beneficiaries of unfair tax subsidies are the religious institutions. When they operate a business for profit, the Revenue Code properly labels this "unrelated business income" but improperly frees these enterprises from corporation and other taxes."

Storer's Election Loss Deplored

The loss of Tom Storer to Marin County is tragic. He was apparently defeated by those who wish the county to be chopped up into unplanned subdivisions, who neither understand nor care about the future of Marin as regards education, transportation, racial tensions, or the preservation of open spaces. These people are like those who fought the late Clem Miller when he worked to preserve the Point Reyes peninsula as a source of beauty and pleasure and recreation, for the people of the United States, instead of for a handful of persons hoping to get wealthy from their holdings.

Self-preserving people are always around, always fighting hard for their self-serving interests — but Clem Miller, with the help of other wonderful people, finally made the dream of a Seashore park a reality. Let's hope that Storer, too, will return to the political world for the good of those of us who care for the future for all of us, not a select few. Meantime, it behooves us all to keep a close eye on the new board of supervisors, which is made up half of those who care about beautiful Marin, half of those who care most about profit, and one swing vote than can go either way.

The election is over. As we said to him on election night, we hope that Michael Wornum will be able to implement the programs that vitally affect the future of Marin. We sincerely wish him good luck.

I was impressed and quite humbled by the tremendous volunteer efforts that many Marinites made in my behalf. Though short of funds, they worked hard and I am very pround of their confidence in me. I am sincerely grateful for their enthusiastic support.

Is It Any Wonder School Bonds Fail?

As your Nov. 11 editorial states:

Failure of the state school bonds and the Tam bonds is one more sign that the public is angry.

We are angry with administrators who invite Cleavers and Rubins on campus to obscenely urge revolution.

We are angry with state university professors who press to have their teaching loads reduced from 12 to 9 hours per week . . . at the same salary.

We are angry with high school teachers who play Synanon-Esalen games in class—and who demand more classrooms to do it in.

We are tired of educationists saying arrogantly to parents, "Double your taxes and hand over your kids—but don't ask questions about what we're doing with them."

Is it any wonder why bonds fail?

Storer To Continue Fight For Ferries

I wish to congratulate Mr. Baar and his supporters upon their successful campaign.

I stand ready to assist them in any way that I might.

I intend to remain active in public life, particularly in helping to return public water transportation to San Francisco Bay.

I wish to thank all of those who gave so generously of their time in working for me during the recent campaign, and I am especially grateful to those who also contributed financially to the campaign.

Street Committee Not Giving Up

I would like to thank all Novatans who supported the street bond issue (Measure C), particularly the hard working committee members of Citizens For Better Streets.

We needed 66.66 per cent to pass the bonds and the vote was 64.5 per cent; we lost by only 212 votes. In a year in which no bond issues were successful, we feel we did very well. Much of this was due to your excellent editorial and the publicity pages arranged by your reporter, Terry Newell.

The committee will still continue to function and serve the people of Novato until the streets are fixed.

Johnson-Nixon Compact Assures No Lapse In Crucial Decisions

WASHINGTON — The Nixon-Johnson compact is more far-reaching and more significant than appears on the surface of their quiet announcement.

The fact is — and it couldn't be more welcome, more helpful and more needed — that it brings the President and the President-elect together in joint conduct of the crucial areas of foreign policy for the next nine weeks — Vietnam, U.S.-Soviet relations and the Middle East.

This is without precedent in American history and is unprecedentedly valuable.

It reflects the President and the President-elect at their best. It means that LBJ will be ending his administration with a superb act of statesmanship and that Nixon will be beginning his administration under the best of possible circumstances.

THIS IS NO one-sided compact. Each has given something of immense value to the other and to the nation.

Nixon did not merely assure the President that he was not going to interfere with the Paris talks during the transition. He gave the President explicit assurance that any commitments Mr. Johnson made during the negotiations would be fully honored by the next administration.

For his part, the President assured Nixon that he would be continuously consulted on any new proposals the United States might make at Paris so that Nixon would not be in the position of having to carry out later commitments he disapproved.

OBVIOUSLY, until Jan. 20 President Johnson has the final word. But he does not expect to have to exercise it because the substance of the Johnson-Nixon compact is that, in effect, they will be jointly supervising the American side of the Paris talks and will be jointly deciding what should be said and done at all crucial points.

That is the central significance of the compact. There has been nothing like it before. It could hardly be better. It means that what most fear is not coming upon us, namely, the immobility of U.S. foreign policy because of the uneasy transition between outgoing and incoming presidents.

Apart from their own sense of patriotism and responsibility — which would no doubt have been compelling enough — Johnson and Nixon have strong incentives for doing exactly what they have done.

LBJ has every reason to make Nixon his chief consultant on the Vietnam talks and to enable him to share in shaping U.S. negotiating positions which Nixon would have to implement. Without this arrangement, nothing could be accomplished in the next 60 days and much could be lost. With this arrangement, the President has some prospect that he will be able to get the talks moving forward and sufficiently near agreement that it will be clear that Mr. Johnson did more than anyone else to end the war in Vietnam successfully.

Nixon5s incentive is equally great. The sooner an honorable peace can be achieved, the better it will be for the Nixon administration and the sooner he can get to other pressing problems which can hardly be done until the Vietnamese war is over. It won't hurt Nixon one bit to share the credit with Johnson for ending the war — and possibly share the blame for some compromises which will have to be made.

ONE NEED LOOK into history only briefly to see what a radiant improvement in transition Johnson and Nixon are achieving.

After the 1932 election President-elect Roosevelt, through the four long months during which the economy was deteriorating disastrously, refused to join with President Hoover in any restorative measure.

When Congress trimmed more than $5 billion from President Johnson's final defense budget last summer, Russell cautioned that it was the last time such economies could be made. Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., who will head the House Appropriations Committee again, gave a similar warning to the House before Congress adjourned.

JUST BEFORE the election, top aides disclosed the general outlines of Nixon's plans for increasing defense spending. Their estimates indicated that Nixon will propose massive boosts in outlays, over a period of years, for defense programs not connected with Vietnam or Southeast Asia.

Nixon, according to these semi-official estimates, plans to boost defense budget to a level of $87 billion annually by the 1973 fiscal year — the final budget year of his four-year term. Only $10 to $15 billion of that total would be for Southeast Asia — less than half of the present Vietnam outlay.

One expensive feature of Nixon's plans is abolition of the military draft and the start of all-volunteer armed services. That plan, which presumes an end to the fighting in Vietnam, is estimated to cost $5 billion to $7 billion in the Nixon projections.

Aides said the Nixon budget estimates also plan for new strategic weapons systems. In his campaign against Vice President Hubert H. Nixon Election May Keep Warren On Court

A side result of the election of Richard M. Nixon as President may be that another former California officeholder, Earl Warren, will remain considerably longer as chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

When Chief Justice Warren submitted his resignation — with no date specified — to President Johnson, there were immediate cries of "political deal." The President had announced he would not seek another term, the Democratic Party appeared in shambles, and the obvious conclusion was that the chief justice was clearing the way for Johnson to replace him with another liberal, before a change of administration.

When the President named Abe Fortas as his nominee for chief justice, and proposed to fill the court vacancy created by Fortas's elevation with an old political crony, Homer Thornberry, the conclusion appeared justified.

This played a large part in Senate resistance to Fortas's nomination, which at last resulted in its withdrawal. And so Earl Warren still heads the court — and may continue to do so as long as he wishes.

HE MAY WISH to do so for some time, despite the fact that he is 77 years old and certainly entitled to the pleasures of retirement.

Several considerations make this appear likely.

The U. S. Supreme Court has taken a new direction during the Warren years. It has adopted what its majority and their supporters choose to call a liberal interpretation of the Constitution — and what its detractors claim is a rewriting of the Constitution to include within its meanings whatever the justices happen to like.

No doubt Earl Warren believes sincerely in this approach. Although the Supreme Court's deliberations are behind closed doors, it has been reported — and not denied — that he has often told his fellow justices, "Never mind that. What is right?" And what is right, in the opinion of the court majority, can generally be found constitutional by that same majority.

This approach would not have been changed by the elevation of Abe Fortas to chief justice.

BUT RICHARD NIXON, elected in a campaign in which he emphasized "law and order," could scarcely be expected to name a man of such cast of mind to head the high court — for this very "liberal" approach is widely blamed with undermining law and order.

Moreover, although many senators — perhaps a majority — were against confirming Fortas for a variety of reasons, the senator who led the attack and was most viciously critical of Fortas was Strom Thurmond of North Carolina. And it was Thurmond who held southern support for Nixon to assure his nomination, and who reportedly got to pick Spiro T. Agnew for vice president as reward.

It is at the very least politically conceivable that Senator Thurmond would also have some say about a choice for chief justice, if Warren were to re-submit his resignation to the new President after Jan. 20.

Which is good reason to believe that Warren will not do so, and that President Nixon will have to wait for some other justice to retire before he can make any change in the court.

Personality Of Wild Birds

It must seem strange to those who just think of birds as birds to have us state that each bird is an unique personality. Yet, those most intimate with wildlife will tell them it is so.

We do not mean that each species of bird has its own personality traits, though it is quite true. We mean that no two birds of the same species act and react in exactly the same manner. And, further, we believe that anyone studying intensely a small group of birds in the wild gets to know the individual personalities.

We are exaggerating only a little when we say that the personalities of birds are almost as distinct as those of men.

Commission On Tax Reform Sure To Set Off Fireworks

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Little realization of the magnitude of the problem facing the Advisory Commission on Tax Reform, appointed some time ago by Gov. Ronald Reagan, has filtered through to the public.

The commission is headed by Houston I. Flournoy, state controller, probably one of the most informed and knowledgable tax authorities in California.

Flournoy's commission has held meetings and hearings, but despite the fact a report is due by January 1, it has not as yet resolved the mass of tax information and recommendations into any final recommendation to submit to the 1969 Legislature.

THE PROBLEM, according to the controller, is primarily the equalization of the tax burden as it applies to cities, counties, and the state itself. It definitely is not, he explained, concerned with "tax relief," a subject of which much has been heard during the current year; neither is it a matter of finding ways of reducing the over-all tax income of the state and local governments.

The contorller points out that the job of the commission is to make recommendations which will assure the continuation of a supply of tax revenue to guarantee functioning of government, even though the source may be somewhat different from that at present.

Asked whether the passage of Proposition 1A would help or hamper the commission in its work, Flournoy said this new constitutional amendment is more on the order of a stepping stone to tax reform.

THE PROPERTY tax, he pointed out, is only one source of revenue, and even though it is a primary source for cities and counties, it cannot be considered singly in the over-all studies.

There is strong possibility that in the effort to achieve more equality in taxation, the benefits and exemptions accruing to charities, non-profit organizations and their donors may come in for a re-shuffling.

The commission has recommendations before it which point out the fact that there has been no re-valuation in recent times of these tax exemptions, and that the revenue losses therefrom "are substantial and growing steadily."

The question is raised whether exemptions, for example, of social and country clubs should take precedence over support of school activities. Or whether tax support of lodges and veteran organizations should take precedence over the need for more medical schools.

THE COMMISSION is considering a recommendation that statutory and constitutional changes be initiated to remove all private non-profit property tax exemptions over a 10-year period.

These are only a few of the many matters being considered by the commission. It seems obvious that no matter what recommendations are made to the Legislature, a veritable storm will be blown up as a result. No tax shift can be made without someone getting hurt.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Tax Exemptions Hurt Bond Issues

Your editorial of Nov. 11 calls attention to the general failure of school bond issues and speculates on taxpayer motivation.

One overall feature unmentioned is that about some 30 years ago, the tax exempt portion in our structure was about 12 per cent. By 1965 this climbed to 30 per cent and is still going upward. Thus you have an ever narrowing circle of productive taxpayers asked to carry a growing load of services required by a growing population.

Prime beneficiaries of unfair tax subsidies are the religious institutions. When they operate a business for profit, the Revenue Code properly labels this "unrelated business income" but improperly frees these enterprises from corporation and other taxes."

Storer's Election Loss Deplored

The loss of Tom Storer to Marin County is tragic. He was apparently defeated by those who wish the county to be chopped up into unplanned subdivisions, who neither understand nor care about the future of Marin as regards education, transportation, racial tensions, or the preservation of open spaces. These people are like those who fought the late Clem Miller when he worked to preserve the Point Reyes peninsula as a source of beauty and pleasure and recreation, for the people of the United States, instead of for a handful of persons hoping to get wealthy from their holdings.

Self-preserving people are always around, always fighting hard for their self-serving interests — but Clem Miller, with the help of other wonderful people, finally made the dream of a Seashore park a reality. Let's hope that Storer, too, will return to the political world for the good of those of us who care for the future for all of us, not a select few. Meantime, it behooves us all to keep a close eye on the new board of supervisors, which is made up half of those who care about beautiful Marin, half of those who care most about profit, and one swing vote than can go either way.

Is It Any Wonder School Bonds Fail?

As your Nov. 11 editorial states:

Failure of the state school bonds and the Tam bonds is one more sign that the public is angry.

We are angry with administrators who invite Cleavers and Rubins on campus to obscenely urge revolution.

We are angry with state university professors who press to have their teaching loads reduced from 12 to 9 hours per week . . . at the same salary.

We are angry with high school teachers who play Synanon-Esalen games in class—and who demand more classrooms to do it in.

We are tired of educationists saying arrogantly to parents, "Double your taxes and hand over your kids—but don't ask questions about what we're doing with them."

Is it any wonder why bonds fail?

Johnson-Nixon Compact Assures No Lapse In Crucial Decisions

WASHINGTON — The Nixon-Johnson compact is more far-reaching and more significant than appears on the surface of their quiet announcement.

The fact is — and it couldn't be more welcome, more helpful and more needed — that it brings the President and the President-elect together in joint conduct of the crucial areas of foreign policy for the next nine weeks — Vietnam, U.S.-Soviet relations and the Middle East.

This is without precedent in American history and is unprecedentedly valuable.

It reflects the President and the President-elect at their best. It means that LBJ will be ending his administration with a superb act of statesmanship and that Nixon will be beginning his administration under the best of possible circumstances.

THIS IS NO one-sided compact. Each has given something of immense value to the other and to the nation.

Nixon did not merely assure the President that he was not going to interfere with the Paris talks during the transition. He gave the President explicit assurance that any commitments Mr. Johnson made during the negotiations would be fully honored by the next administration.

For his part, the President assured Nixon that he would be continuously consulted on any new proposals the United States might make at Paris so that Nixon would not be in the position of having to carry out later commitments he disapproved.

OBVIOUSLY, until Jan. 20 President Johnson has the final word. But he does not expect to have to exercise it because the substance of the Johnson-Nixon compact is that, in effect, they will be jointly supervising the American side of the Paris talks and will be jointly deciding what should be said and done at all crucial points.

That is the central significance of the compact. There has been nothing like it before. It could hardly be better. It means that what most fear is not coming upon us, namely, the immobility of U.S. foreign policy because of the uneasy transition between outgoing and incoming presidents.

Apart from their own sense of patriotism and responsibility — which would no doubt have been compelling enough — Johnson and Nixon have strong incentives for doing exactly what they have done.

LBJ has every reason to make Nixon his chief consultant on the Vietnam talks and to enable him to share in shaping U.S. negotiating positions which Nixon would have to implement. Without this arrangement, nothing could be accomplished in the next 60 days and much could be lost. With this arrangement, the President has some prospect that he will be able to get the talks moving forward and sufficiently near agreement that it will be clear that Mr. Johnson did more than anyone else to end the war in Vietnam successfully.

Nixon5s incentive is equally great. The sooner an honorable peace can be achieved, the better it will be for the Nixon administration and the sooner he can get to other pressing problems which can hardly be done until the Vietnamese war is over. It won't hurt Nixon one bit to share the credit with Johnson for ending the war — and possibly share the blame for some compromises which will have to be made.

ONE NEED LOOK into history only briefly to see what a radiant improvement in transition Johnson and Nixon are achieving.

After the 1932 election President-elect Roosevelt, through the four long months during which the economy was deteriorating disastrously, refused to join with President Hoover in any restorative measure.

In 1952 President-elect Eisenhower and President Truman were not even on speaking terms. They never met even once during the transition.

Sausalito Police Chief Swamped With Psychiatry Program Queries

"A model for the nation," CBS radio kept calling the Sausalito Police Department's in-service psychiatric training program last weekend, and from the response Chief Edward S. Kreins has been getting, the nation is doing its utmost to model itself.

The program, begun two years ago, involves free-wheeling sessions which probe the policemen's attitude toward lawbreakers, minority groups, police work and each other, guided by probing questions by psychiatrist Edward E. Shev.

Time magazine wrote about the program last month. CBS and NBC television carried news specials on it.

As a result, Chief Kreins has received about 50 letters from Connecticut to San Diego.

POLICE departments in Windsor, Ont.; Denver, Colo; Atlanta, Ga.; Redondo Beach, Torrance, Mountain View and Oakland have asked for more information and help on implementing a similar program.

Representatives of the New York and San Francisco police departments and the State of Virginia have expressed interest.

Letters requesting more detalis, with the possibility of using the material in courses, have been received from San Diego State College, Marquette University in Wisconsin, Dickinson College at Carlisle, Pa.; Roosevelt University in Michigan, Marshall University in West Virginia.

A representative of University of California at Santa Barbara was interested in developing a police-community relation program there.

The Lincoln Foundation in Lincoln, Neb., and a psychiatrist in Los Angeles wrote for more information on the program.

Letters of commendation have come from individuals all over the United States and local citizens have added their proud comments.

CHIEF KREINS is up to his ear answering the letters, sending a copy of an Independent-Journal story and an article in a police magazine to add more details.

And the calls and letters can only be expected to increase.

The Associated Press is planning to run a nationwide story this week, Parade magazine is interested in doing an article, KGO-TV wants to film the session, and Westinghouse has asked to make a police training film on the program.

But Chief Kreins has the solution to future queries all worked out. He and Dr. Shev plan to write a book on the program. From the looks of it, it's a sell-out right now.

THROUGH AN ERROR, a recent column indicated the Sausalito City Council majority voted to have a library shown on the Sandspit property on the central waterfront plan. What they had in mind was to have it shown on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Refrain Runs Through Agenda Of Board: 'Admin. Recommends'

Fusselman

As I said three weeks ago, the grand jury's recommendation that beginning with 1971 the supervisors pay be raised $400 a month from $800 to $1,200, or a total yearly shell-out of $54,000, would not be out of line, if the board really worked at the job and didn't abdicate and allow the administrator and his costly crew to run county government. Here are some examples of what appears on the weekly agenda of the board to show who makes policy and who rubber stamps.

Item 12 on Tuesday's: "Admin. reporting delays by architect on landscape plans for Hall of Justice and Veterans' Memorial Auditorium, and architect's willingness to prepare correction plans for Admin. Bldg. landscaping — submitting draft letter of direction to architect w/time schedule, boundary map, and instructions."

ITEM 35: "Proposed Ordinance Regulating Floating Homes and Marinas. (a) Director of Public Works letter of submittal —(b) Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District urging 'on-shore' sewering requirements. (Admin. recom, adoption of both ordinances on an urgency basis, to be effective immediately)."

Item 41: "Proposal for furnishings for courtrooms and related areas; Architect and Admin. recom. approval after correcting one arithmetic error and adding sales tax for a new total of $30,595.05."

NEVER DO we see such a statement as, "Admin. submitting for your consideration." or "submitting for such action as you may deem proper." However, immediately after he had been called in on the carpet last year, he carefully reduced "Admin. recom." to "a/r" in a place or two. Then step by step he grew bolder and the board became sort of brainwashed as it were. (It was so much easier that way and it did permit them to have more time for personal acrimonious debates on abstracts.)

IN A MONTH and a half the board will be reconstituted, with three new members. Then there will be the opportunity for the supervisors to demonstrate that they are really willing to earn $14,400 per year each.

Referring back to item 35 — proposed ordinance on houseboats — the administrator must have been deeply saddened on Tuesday when the board chickened out on him and held up the ordinance, instead of passing it "effective immediately."

The speculation that the new board will be divided 2-2, with Supervisor Bill Gnoss the swing man or deciding vote, I hope will not come to pass. There shouldn't be a tug of war between conservationists and developers. The vast majority of the folks don't belong to either group. They simply want downright good government. After all, many, many of the conservationists would not be here if it weren't for the developers, who provided something more than just summer-type cabins or cottages for them to live in and enjoy this fine county.

Arques To Get Plans For Waldo Point Land

Donlan J. Arques, accused of allowing "nautical slums" on his property at Waldo point, has notified the county he has hired a planning consultant to make land use plans for all his property in Richardson Bay.

Sausalito attorney Hugh G. Lawrence notified the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday by letter than Arques has hired Western Planning and Research of Auburn to prepare a preliminary report and sketch plan by Dec. 31.

Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning for the county, said the letter from Lawrence is encouraging becase this is the first time that Arques has given any sign of cooperation in planning.

"So far he's been absolutely quiet and uncommunicative," said Von Gundell. "This letter is at least an indication that he is willing to do something."

Arques faces a Marin Superior Court suit, which seeks to have him clear all houseboats, piers and other structures from underwater public streets at his yacht harbor.

The suit, filed by Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest, asks Arques to move all structures off public property and pay the county $30,000 for rentals he has collected in the past five years for houseboats located on county streets.

Arques was served with the complaint and a court summons at Marinship Wednesday, and will appear in court at 2 p.m. on Dec. 2 to answer the county's charges.

Forest said Arques's hiring of a planning consultant has nothing to do with the court suit. When Forest filed the suit on Oct. 16, he charged that "nautical slums" were permitted on his property, and Arques had shown total unwillingness to cooperate with the county in complying with county codes.

Mistrial Is Declared In Slaying Case

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Circuit Judge Stanton Hall has declared a mistrial in the murder trial of James F. Lyons, 35, of Luarel, charged in the firebomb death of a Negro leader.

The judge acted last night after the jury reported itself hopelessly deadlocked after more than four hours deliberation. The jury's vote was reported at 6-6.

Lyons was accused in the January 1966 slaying of Vernon Dahmer, a businessman whose home and store near Hattiesburg were firebombed in what the state called a plot by the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The state's chief witness in the Lyons trial — as in six previous trials in the case — was Billy Roy Pitts, a former Klansman.

Pitts testified that Lyons took part in planning the raid on Dahmer's home, that Lyons was one of four Klansmen assigned to destroy Dahmer's grocery store, and that he attended a meeting after the attack to discuss the results.

Pitts has been sentenced to life in prison for his part in the raid. He pleaded guilty to both murder and arson.

Minority Jobs Lack Brings Blast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Angry comments have been made by members and staff workers of the Human Rights Commission in connection with efforts to obtain jobs for minority groups.

"The people in this community better take human relation courses," said commissioner Victor Honig.

He made the declaration yesterday after hearing a report on Christmas jobs for youths. The 10 major stores which are members of the San Francisco Retailers Community Relations Group have come up with only 200 jobs, said staff member William Dacus.

In addition, a canvass of 60 medium-sized and small downtown stores yielded offers of only three jobs for the holidays, staff member Frank Anderson reported.

"I think we'd better be ready to shift our role," said commissioner Ross Hidy.

"Are we going to be a quiet little commission or are we going to aggressively pursue our goal of fair opportunity for all?"

In a time when many newly-constructed houses are severely criticized as look-alike "little boxes," Mr. and Mrs. Gus Rohmann of West Marin have a home that is distinctively their own. The fact that they built it themselves, and used an unusual construction material—pounded earth—are not its only distinguishing features. Read C. B. Sausalito Police Chief Swamped With Psychiatry Program Queries

"A model for the nation," CBS radio kept calling the Sausalito Police Department's in-service psychiatric training program last weekend, and from the response Chief Edward S. Kreins has been getting, the nation is doing its utmost to model itself.

The program, begun two years ago, involves free-wheeling sessions which probe the policemen's attitude toward lawbreakers, minority groups, police work and each other, guided by probing questions by psychiatrist Edward E. Shev.

Time magazine wrote about the program last month. CBS and NBC television carried news specials on it.

As a result, Chief Kreins has received about 50 letters from Connecticut to San Diego.

POLICE departments in Windsor, Ont.; Denver, Colo; Atlanta, Ga.; Redondo Beach, Torrance, Mountain View and Oakland have asked for more information and help on implementing a similar program.

Representatives of the New York and San Francisco police departments and the State of Virginia have expressed interest.

Letters requesting more detalis, with the possibility of using the material in courses, have been received from San Diego State College, Marquette University in Wisconsin, Dickinson College at Carlisle, Pa.; Roosevelt University in Michigan, Marshall University in West Virginia.

A representative of University of California at Santa Barbara was interested in developing a police-community relation program there.

The Lincoln Foundation in Lincoln, Neb., and a psychiatrist in Los Angeles wrote for more information on the program.

Letters of commendation have come from individuals all over the United States and local citizens have added their proud comments.

CHIEF KREINS is up to his ear answering the letters, sending a copy of an Independent-Journal story and an article in a police magazine to add more details.

And the calls and letters can only be expected to increase.

The Associated Press is planning to run a nationwide story this week, Parade magazine is interested in doing an article, KGO-TV wants to film the session, and Westinghouse has asked to make a police training film on the program.

But Chief Kreins has the solution to future queries all worked out. He and Dr. Shev plan to write a book on the program. From the looks of it, it's a sell-out right now.

THROUGH AN ERROR, a recent column indicated the Sausalito City Council majority voted to have a library shown on the Sandspit property on the central waterfront plan. What they had in mind was to have it shown on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property.

'Sgt. Sunshine' Found Guilty Of Drug Possession

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The former policeman known to hippies as "Sgt. Sunshine" has been found guilty of possessing marijuana.

Richard Bergess, who said he was shocked at the Superior Court jury verdict, faces a possible prison term of one to 10 years.

Bergess was arrested last Easter when he smoked a marijuana cigarette on the steps of the Hall of Justice to protest what he called hypocritical marijuana laws.

"I plan to appeal my conviction and to continue my fight against the law on which it was based," he said.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Refrain Runs Through Agenda Of Board: 'Admin. Recommends'

Fusselman

As I said three weeks ago, the grand jury's recommendation that beginning with 1971 the supervisors pay be raised $400 a month from $800 to $1,200, or a total yearly shell-out of $54,000, would not be out of line, if the board really worked at the job and didn't abdicate and allow the administrator and his costly crew to run county government. Here are some examples of what appears on the weekly agenda of the board to show who makes policy and who rubber stamps.

Item 12 on Tuesday's: "Admin. reporting delays by architect on landscape plans for Hall of Justice and Veterans' Memorial Auditorium, and architect's willingness to prepare correction plans for Admin. Bldg. landscaping — submitting draft letter of direction to architect w/time schedule, boundary map, and instructions."

ITEM 35: "Proposed Ordinance Regulating Floating Homes and Marinas. (a) Director of Public Works letter of submittal —(b) Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District urging 'on-shore' sewering requirements. (Admin. recom. adoption of both ordinances on an urgency basis, to be effective immediately)."

Item 41: "Proposal for furnishings for courtrooms and related areas; Architect and Admin. recom. approval after correcting one arithmetic error and adding sales tax for a new total of $30,595.05."

NEVER DO we see such a statement as, "Admin. submitting for your consideration." or "submitting for such action as you may deem proper." However, immediately after he had been called in on the carpet last year, he carefully reduced "Admin. recom." to "a/r" in a place or two. Then step by step he grew bolder and the board became sort of brainwashed as it were. (It was so much easier that way and it did permit them to have more time for personal acrimonious debates on abstracts.)

IN A MONTH and a half the board will be reconstituted, with three new members. Then there will be the opportunity for the supervisors to demonstrate that they are really willing to earn $14,400 per year each.

Referring back to item 35 — proposed ordinance on houseboats — the administrator must have been deeply saddened on Tuesday when the board chickened out on him and held up the ordinance, instead of passing it "effective immediately."

The speculation that the new board will be divided 2-2, with Supervisor Bill Gnoss the swing man or deciding vote, I hope will not come to pass. There shouldn't be a tug of war between conservationists and developers. The vast majority of the folks don't belong to either group. They simply want downright good government. After all, many, many of the conservationists would not be here if it weren't for the developers, who provided something more than just summer-type cabins or cottages for them to live in and enjoy this fine county.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Our business as rational beings is not to argue for what is going to be but to strive for what ought to be, in the consciousness that it will never be all we would like it to be. — Herbert J. Muller.

People could do with a great deal more of historical understanding than they have. Just a little more understanding of history would prevent them making quite such fools of themselves, or bringing down upon their heads — upon the intelligent as well as the unintelligent — the catastrophes, the disasters, the suffering that they do. — A. L. Rowse.

Donlan J. Arques, accused of allowing "nautical slums" on his property at Waldo point, has notified the county he has hired a planning consultant to make land use plans for all his property in Richardson Bay.

Sausalito attorney Hugh G. Lawrence notified the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday by letter than Arques has hired Western Planning and Research of Auburn to prepare a preliminary report and sketch plan by Dec. 31.

Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning for the county, said the letter from Lawrence is encouraging becase this is the first time that Arques has given any sign of cooperation in planning.

"So far he's been absolutely quiet and uncommunicative," said Von Gundell. "This letter is at least an indication that he is willing to do something."

Arques faces a Marin Superior Court suit, which seeks to have him clear all houseboats, piers and other structures from underwater public streets at his yacht harbor.

The suit, filed by Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest, asks Arques to move all structures off public property and pay the county $30,000 for rentals he has collected in the past five years for houseboats located on county streets.

Arques was served with the complaint and a court summons at Marinship Wednesday, and will appear in court at 2 p.m. on Dec. 2 to answer the county's charges.

Forest said Arques's hiring of a planning consultant has nothing to do with the court suit. When Forest filed the suit on Oct. 16, he charged that "nautical slums" were permitted on his property, and Arques had shown total unwillingness to cooperate with the county in complying with county codes.

Mistrial Is Declared In Slaying Case

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Circuit Judge Stanton Hall has declared a mistrial in the murder trial of James F. Lyons, 35, of Luarel, charged in the firebomb death of a Negro leader.

The judge acted last night after the jury reported itself hopelessly deadlocked after more than four hours deliberation. The jury's vote was reported at 6-6.

Lyons was accused in the January 1966 slaying of Vernon Dahmer, a businessman whose home and store near Hattiesburg were firebombed in what the state called a plot by the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The state's chief witness in the Lyons trial — as in six previous trials in the case — was Billy Roy Pitts, a former Klansman.

Pitts testified that Lyons took part in planning the raid on Dahmer's home, that Lyons was one of four Klansmen assigned to destroy Dahmer's grocery store, and that he attended a meeting after the attack to discuss the results.

Pitts has been sentenced to life in prison for his part in the raid. He pleaded guilty to both murder and arson.

Minority Jobs Lack Brings Blast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Angry comments have been made by members and staff workers of the Human Rights Commission in connection with efforts to obtain jobs for minority groups.

"The people in this community better take human relation courses," said commissioner Victor Honig.

He made the declaration yesterday after hearing a report on Christmas jobs for youths. The 10 major stores which are members of the San Francisco Retailers Community Relations Group have come up with only 200 jobs, said staff member William Dacus.

In addition, a canvass of 60 medium-sized and small downtown stores yielded offers of only three jobs for the holidays, staff member Frank Anderson reported.

"I think we'd better be ready to shift our role," said commissioner Ross Hidy.

"Are we going to be a quiet little commission or are we going to aggressively pursue our goal of fair opportunity for all?"

LBJ Will Not Give Up Role On Decisions

Johnson, Nixon's Top Aide Murphy Discuss Transition

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made it clear today that he will "make whatever decisions the President of the United States is called on to make between now and Jan. 20" when President-elect Richard M. Nixon takes office.

Johnson said that after Jan. 20, he hopes Nixon "can speak not only for his administration but for all the American people" and Johnson said he would work to help Nixon in that.

He called on all Americans now to "submerge any party interests' whether Democrats or Republican—and try to do what they can to help.

Johnson also said at an impromptu meeting in his office with reporters that "we are doing all we can to bring about substantive discussions" in Vietnam peace talks at Paris "that will include the government of South Vietnam at the earliest date possible." But he had no further report of progress in that respect.

Johnson met today for the first time with Robert D. Murphy, veteran foreign policy diplomat who has been named as Nixon's personal representative to the Johnson administration in the field of foreign affairs.

The President called in reporters to introduce them to Murphy, to whom Johnson promised full cooperation in the hopes of "effecting an orderly transition" of government.

Then, the President took on questions and the first was a request to describe the understanding he and Nixon have regarding foreign policy matters that will come up between now and Jan. 20.

Johnson quoted Nixon's statement made at the White House last Monday in which Nixon said:

"I gave assurance in each instance to the secretary of state, and of course to the President that they could speak not just for this administration but for the nation, and that meant for the next administration as well."

When asked whether he and Nixon had agreed, as Nixon said yesterday that it was essential there by prior consultation and prior agreement on major policy decisions, Johnson said, "We did not discuss that precisely. We only discussed having an observer"—the role Murphy is playing—and Johnson reiterated the decisions to be made be-

Blustery Storm Hits, But No Major Damage

The most blustery storm of the fall season hit Marin County and Southern Sonoma last night, causing the usual rash of minor auto accidents and flooding from stopped up storm drains.

No major damage was reported.

As the storm headed south today, the weatherman predicted that a new one was on the way, expected to hit the Pacific Coast by late tomorrow.

By noon today the present storm had dumped 1.63 inches of rain in San Rafael.

A slide of mud and debris from a new subdivision on Elda Court in Terra Linda was being cleaned up today, San Rafael Public Works Director Norris M. Rawls reported.

Hamilton Air Force Base officials reported that a stopped up drain caused water to back up into two houses on Crescent Drive, where the basements were flooded.

In Novato city officials discovered this morning that a new fire proof valut in the public works department is not waterproof as about an inch of water was standing in the safe when city hall workers arrived at work today.

They said the water did not damage any records as they are well off the floor.

Other rainfall figures recorded in Marin County and Southern Sonoma from 8 a.m. yesterday to 8 a.m. today were:

Terra Linda 1.80 inches; Novato 1.47, Petaluma .78, Mill Valley 1.88, Tiburon 1.78, Hamilton Air Force Base 1.55, Woodacre 1.80, San Anselmo 1.70, Sausalito 1.75, Tamalpais Valley 1.65 and Bolinas 1.36.

Hanoi Claims U.S. Breaks Word On War Negotiations

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam today accused the United States of breaking its word on war negotiations. It also said charges of Communist violations of Vietnam's Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) were a "maneuver designed to hide American policy of aggression."

Nguyen Thanh Le, chief spokesman for the Hanoi delegation here, told a news conference the United States had agreed to separate Viet Cong and North Vietnamese delegations at planned talks here.

"Instead of keeping its word, the United States now claims that the agreement called for a two-sided conference," Le said. "Such an assertion is groundless."

"If Saigon does not come to the conference, we propose to hold a three-way conference, with three independent delegations—Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam, the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) and the United States," Le said.

The United States has insisted its talk agreements with Hanoi called only for two sides—the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong on one side and the United States and the South Vietnamese on the other.

The South Vietnamese have refused to come to the talks, saying they will not take part unless the Viet Cong show up

Monagan Informally Selected As Speaker

ASILOMAR (AP) — Republican Assemblymen informally chose Robert T. Monagan of Tracy today as speaker for the 1969 session and Charles J. Conrad of Sherman Oaks as speaker pro tem.

The action came on a "straw vote" of about 35 of the 41 Republican assemblymen and assemblymen-elect during the final session of a two-day meeting at this conference grounds setting on the ocean near Monterey.

Tuesday Goal For Reopening Of S. F. State

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco State President Robert Smith announced today he will try to reopen the embattled campus Tuesday if problems can be worked out.

He said the dilemma on the 18,000-student campus, closed Wednesday after serious confrontations with police, is whether the college could be run as an educational institution or whether it has to be run "with clubs."

Smith said the administrators would explore how the university should be run "without being invaded by police."

He received some applause at this statement from 500 faculty members crowded into the campus theater.

It was the third straight day the faculty has met in an attempt to resolve the crisis which drew strong criticism from Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Classes were closed for a second day today despite the protest of Reagan and to the satisfaction of Black Student Union strikers whose signs proclaimed: "We shut it down."

"I can't predict when it's going to open at this point," Theodore Meriam of Chico, chairman of the state college trustees, said in a news conference late yesterday.

Reagan said yesterday closing the school was "an unprecedented act of irresponsibility."

He assailed it as "an act of capitulation—surrender, if you will—to a small, unrepresentative faction of faculty and student militants determined to substitute violence and coercion for orderly grievance procedures available to all."

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, a Democrat, sent Reagan a telegram yesterday urging him to reopen the college and describing the shutdown as "a triumph for anarchy."

Tam High Black Students Out In Support Of College Strike

Karen Howard, 15, of Marin City, a Tamalpais sophomore and treasurer of the Ashanti Black Students Union at the school, said club leaders called the one-day strike.

"But rather than jive around town," she said, "we scheduled a meeting. We are here today to learn more about our people."

She said the students were trying to learn what the strike was about, what it meant to black students and what local students could do. Black students at San Francisco State spoke to about 60 Tamalpais students in the Tubman building this morning, explaining their 10-point program.

There are 28 state college students who live in Marin City.

"The strike is only for one day," explained Karen. "We gave notices to all our parents which explained what we were doing. We felt a responsibility to do that."

She said one of the requests the Tamalpais students were most in sympathy with was for more black courses at the college and credit for them.

"Everybody wants to know more about their people. We have heard the history of the white people, but we don't know much about our own people.

"Education is our bag," she emphasized. "Without education, black people would have a terrible time, anf part of education is knowing about your own people."

"Nobody likes to miss school,

Coroner Stresses Mushroom Peril

Mushrooms like those believed responsible for the death of a Fairfax man may have been picked by other persons, Marin County Coroner Donovan O. Cooke reported today.

Kenneth Egger, 45, who died yesterday in Marin General Hospital, may have eaten Amanita phalloides mushrooms — a yellowing variety, also known as "Death Cap" recently discovered growing in the Bay Area.

The phalloides and two other dangerous members of the Amanita family, pantherina and muscaria, are shown in the illustration at right, as sketched by San Rafael connoisseur and lecturer, Jack Collins.

Egger died about 48 hours after consuming a dozen mushrooms picked while hiking with two of his five children near Alpine Dam Monday. The two children reported to Dr. Cooke that other persons also were picking the mushrooms.

Cooke quoted a University of California botanist as saying the mushrooms eaten by Egger probably were of the phalloides variety. The mortality rate from eating these mushrooms was reported by Cooke to be from 41 to 75 per cent.

Cooke said the phalloides are four to six inches tall, with a cap measuring three and a half inches in diameter.

The coroner said he was told by Isabel Tavaris, a herbarium botanist at the University of California, that the mushrooms were common to Europe but have been encountered in this area recently.

Dr. Robert T. Orr, associate director at the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco, said the Amanita series of mushrooms was the most poisonous, with the phalloides particularly deadly.

He reportef several deaths in California in recent years from the Amanita phalloides.

Orr said the cap of the phalloides contains toxins which affect the kidneys, liver and central nervous system.

According to a Golden Nature Guide paperback called, "Non-Flowering Plants," amanitas account for over 90 per cent of all deaths from mushroom poisoning.

"They are especially dangerous because no effects are noticed for 10 hours or more. By then it may be too late," the book said.

Cooke said he is convinced that Egger died from mushroom poisoning because of the symptoms of illness, but added he knew of no toxicological tests to confirm his findings.

Funeral arrangements are still pending for Egger at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Surviving, besides his wife and five children, is his mother, Mrs. Berteen Carter of Mill Valley. The Independent-Journal incorrectly identified his mother yesterday as Mrs. Burteen Egger.

Will New Medicine Cure All Viruses?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The common cold and a vast range of other virus diseases may have finally met their match.

Government scientists, in a major scientific breakthrought, say they have discovered a medicine which may lead to control of virus diseases from colds to smallpox simply by making the body's own disease-fighting apparatus work better.

Here was a possibility that the discovery could even prove to be a cure for cancer.

The medicine may both cure and prevent, its discoverers said yesterday as the National Institutes of Health N(IH) announced the discovery. The medicine was developed by NIH scientists in conjunction with New York Medical College.

Dr. Samuel Baron, an NIH virologist, said the medicine—a synthetic RNH (ribounucleric acid) — stimulates the body's own virus-fighting system, called interferon, to work harder and do a better job of warding off diseases.

Depending on whether human cancer is a virus—an unanswered medical question—the medicine could prove to be a cure or treatment for cancer and leukemia.

Baron cautioned that more tests are necessary to make sure that the RNA has no harmful side effects. Tests so far, all conducted on animals, have produced none.

He said if all goes well the medicine may be available for use generally within five years. Once in mass production, he told UPI, "it would be no more expensive than the antibiotics which are available today."

Since RNA is a single medicine which fights virtually all viruses, Baron said, it might enable doctors to bypass the usual steps of developing a vaccine against a particular disease, thus eliminating the medical barriers to successful treatment of encephalities, serum hepatitis, viral pneumonia and, possibly, cancer.

He said cures and immunizing medicines already are available for most other serious virus diseases, including polio, smallpox, influenza, measles and yellow fever.

The medicine, which would be taken simply by inhaling it like a nasal mist, would be used as "a preventive when you do not have a vaccine," Baron said. It would be used as a cure in the same circumstances, he said.

As an immunizer, he said, the medicine's effects would not last long, making it effective primarily in an epidemic, such as an outbreak of the common cold in a factory.

Baron said the discovery "may lead to control of virus diseases," he said tests with mice also offered the possibility the medicine may help cure malaria, a parasitic disease.

RNA is a chemical found in all human cells which provides the key to genetics, or human heredity. The synthetic RNA is a simulate genetic material, Baron said.

Jury Returns Death Count In Ukiah Case

SAN JOSE (AP) — A jury has decided Thomas E. Braun, a teen-age drifter from a Washington farm community, must die in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber for murdering a youth he found walking beside a Northern California road.

The Superior Court jury of seven men and five women reached their decision on the 19-year-old Ritzville, Wash., youth yesterday after four hours and 50 minutes of deliberation.

Formal sentencing was set for Dec. 2 by Judge Joseph P. Kelly. The death penalty carries an automatic appeal.

The victim was Timothy Luce, 17, of Ukiah, who jurors decided was spotted as he walked along a rural road with his girl friend and was slain in August 1967.

Braun's co-defendant, Leonard Maine, also 19 and from Ritzville, was to be sentenced today for second degree murder in the case, with a possibility of five years to life in prison.

The jury which convicted Braun of first degree murder Oct. 29 softly answered "yes" when polled on whether they agreed with the death verdict.

Braun took the decision silently.

Braun also was convicted of kidnaping, rape and attempted murder of Susan Bartolomei, Luce's girl friend.

Now 19, she had been left for dead on a mountain road some 200 miles from Ukiah near Sonora. She is virtually paralyzed and unable to speak because of surgical removal of her voice box.

Maine also had been found guilty of kidnap and rape.

Both had been accused of killing Deanna Buse and Sam Ledgerwood in the Pacific Northwest while traveling to California. Those charges are pending.

The official Soviet news agency said the tremor, in the Kopet Mountain area of Soviet Turkmenia, registered a force of 6 to 7 on the 12-point Soviet central Asian city of Tashkent in 1966 which caused massive destruction and left some 300,000 persons homeless.

Seeking Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bay Area Rapid Transit District directors voted yesterday to ask the federal government for $28 million to buy 125 cars for its new rail system.

To obtain the federal money, BART will have to post the $32.2 million needed to complete nine construction contracts, but directors said they have those funds.

Another 125 cars to complete the system are to be financed through the sale of $28 million in revenue bonds.

NATO Ministers Flay Russ On Czech Move

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Leaders of the Western alliance joined today in castigating the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia. Some demanded a stern warning to Moscow that the allies would act against any new military thrusts in Europe.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt of West Germany were strong in their condemnation of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in August.

They told ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization the Soviet move had upset the East-West balance of power

Stewart, the first to speak at the meeting, demanded a clear signal to the Russians against further military action in Europe.

Rusk, making his last appearance in NATO councils before the Republican administration takes over in January, issued an invitation in the name of President Johnson and President-elect Richard M. Nixon to the NATO partners to hold the alliance's 20th birthday meeting in Washington next spring.

Some diplomats hope the 20th anniversary session will be a summit meeting at which Nixon could see the top leaders of the 15-nation alliance all together at the same time.

Rusk told the session that the United States will continue to support NATO.

He briefed the ministers on Vietnam, emphasizing the importance Johnson attaches to a durable peace there.

The meeting was closed to the public, but details of what took place were given by the press officers of the member delegations.

Rusk contended that any Soviet move against Yugoslavia or Austria would directly affect NATO because those nations are in a zone of Western security interests.

Stewart told of Britain's efforts to tighten consultation among the European members of NATO on defense and political matters in view of France's roadblock of the British effort to join the European Common Market.

There was no immediate reaction to this from French Foreign Minister Michel Debre who attended the meeting. The French as usual have boycotted all of NATO's military meetings here but they support the Western alliance.

Sets Election

CAIRO (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser dissolved the Egyptian National Assembly today and set Jan. 8 as the date for elections for a new one. The decree said the new assembly will convene Jan. 20.

In the past the assembly has been more or less a rubber stamp chamber and the new body is unlikely to be different.

Pope Orders St. Peter's Chair Study

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has ordered that a controversial chair, traditionally said to have been used by St. Peter, be removed from its bronze casing in St. Peter's Basilica for a modern scientific study.

The Vatican press office announced this today, saying the pontiff had accepted requests for such an examination that had come to him from various scholars.

The chair, made of wood, is encased in the elaborate baroque Cathedra Petri throne done by Giovanni Lorenzo Bernini between 1657 and 1666.

The bronze casing with the wooden relic hidden inside is the magnificent centerpiece in the apse of the basilica. The wooden chair was last removed briefly 100 years ago and has not been viewed by anyone since.

Requests to reopen the bronze throne and submit the wooden chair to modern scientific scrutiny ran into opposition in conservative circles in the Vatican. As a result, Pope Paul named a commission headed by Paolo Cardinal Marella, archpriest of St. Peter's Basilica, to review the case.

After several years of study, the commission recommended that the relic be removed and examined.

The purpose of the study is to see what scientific methods can determine about dating the chair on the basis of the age of the wood and the style.

Hong Kong Flu Hits Teen-Agers

BERKELEY (AP) — The first serious outbreak of Hong Kong flu in the country hase been detected at Needles, near the Arizona border, the California Health Department reports.

Louis F. Saylor, state health director, said yesterday that between 300 and 500 persons have been stricken there by the influenza variety which in some ways resembles the energy-sapping disease mononucleosis.

Honk Kong flu symptoms include a sore throat, general weakness, aches, a low grade fever and a cough.

About 27 per cent of the nation's 3 million 4-H Club members live in towns and cities.

Home Permit To A Psychiatrist

As it became apparent that Dr. Robert H. Herrick was going to be granted a use permit under a 1962 ordinance, about eight of the neighbors stormed out of the meeting, one of them shouting, "This is stacked."

Earlier they had expressed fears that the office, which Dr. Herrick said he planned to use only about 13 hours a week, would draw "mentally disturbed" people to the peaceful neighborhood.

Although two physicians who have offices now at their homes in Ross testified that property values in their neighborhoods have not gone down, the Southwood Avenue residents did not agree.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said that he felt he had no choice but to grant the use permit under the ordinance, which allows home offices for doctors, dentists and musicians. Councilman Natalie G. Lewis agreed with him but added that she thought possibly the ordinance ought to be changed.

Dr. Herrick was the first person to apply for such a use permit. The other doctors practicing at their homes in Ross opened offices before the 1962 ordinance was passed, Allen said.

After discussion for almost three hours, the council voted 4-0 to grant the permit, restricting Dr. Herrick to seeing one family at a time and requiring him to provide off-street screened parking for his patients.

The council also agreed to review the matter in a year, and Councilman Jack Carney said he was sure the neighbors would find that Dr. Herrick's practice will not disturb them.

The council also granted Dr. Herrick a variance to build on addition to his house and to tear down two existing buildings.

In other discussion last night the council voted unanimously to continue membership in the county library system, rather than join with San Anselmo.

Mayor Allen pointed out that the Ross residents who find the San Anselmo Library convenient can pay $4 a year for membership.

The Ross Town Council Also:

PLANNING — Voted to join the City-County Planning Council.

SIGNALS — Agreed to request urban thoroughfare funds for signalization at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Lagunitas Road and Laurel Grove Avenue.

AGREEMENT — Introduced town attorney Robert W. Elliott to draw up a joint powers agreement with San Anselmo regarding traffic facilities at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bolinas Avenue.

UTILITIES — Passed an ordinance requiring underground utilities in new subdivisions.

SIGNS — Amended an ordinance which required town seals on red striping to eliminate this provision.

ABSENT — Councilman Roy Farrington Jones was absent.

Thieu May Be Shifting Paris Stand

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu was reported edging toward attending the Paris peace talks today provided Washington assures him that no coalition government with the Communists will be thrust upon him.

As part of the price for abandoning his boycott of the talks Thieu is also reported to be seeking other unspecified promises from President Johnson.

While the United States is favorably disposed to meet Thieu's wishes, diplomatic sources cautioned that there are other complications which could slow any final settlement.

Reliable officials in Saigon feel the break — if it comes — may take as much as two more weeks and will be coupled with changes within the South Vietnamese Cabinet.

It was reported by authoritative sources—and officpally denied—that Premier Tran Van Huong had submitted his resignation to Thieu.

The premier, who has twice before offered his resignation during his less than six months in office, was reliably reported to have at least verbally proposed his resignation once again to Thieu yesterday.

Huong's press spokesman denied the report flatly. Information Minister Ton That Thian confined himself to quoting Huong laughing at the report and terming it "not accurate."

In the midst of the political reports, the U.S. Command accused North Vietnam of violating a mutual agreement to keep the Demilitarized Zone free of military activity and sent American bombers to attack bunkers and ammunition stores in the zone. A spokesman said 34 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed and at least a dozen bunkers were destroyed in the southern half of the DMZ.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met with Thieu today for the first time in nearly a week. An informed American source said the meeting, which lasted more than an hour, was another American effort to talk Thieu out of his boycott of the peace talks.

In the American air attacks on the DMZ, one U.S. Air Force F4 was damaged slightly yesterday by ground fire from one mile inside the zone but the pilot got his plane back to its base.

Teachers Outline College Finances

Two of the biggest factors in making up budgets for College of Marin were described last night by faculty members for the citizens' committee appointed to review Marin Junior College District finances.

Instructors James D. Donlon Jr. and James Raynes told of faculty salary trends both in California and nationwide, predicting more increases because of rising cost of living.

The vocational educational training program at the college was described by Joseph Berruezo, assistant dean for vocational-technical education. The high cost of this type of education was outlined by Berruezo.

GI Is Wounded In Escape Try

FT. ORD (UPI)—An Army private was wounded last night while trying to escape from the Fort Ord stockade.

An Army spokesman said Pvt. Nuel A. West, 19, Stockton, was shot when a guard spotted him climbing, a 15-foot fence surrounding the stockade. West was serving a sentence for being absent without leave,

$118 Taken From A Cash Register

Someone stole $118 from a cash register at Fling's Drive In at 830 College Avenue, Kentfield, last Friday night, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Kathleen Kidd, a waitress at the restaurant, said she heard a register ring near the drive up window, glanced over and saw the cash drawer was empty. No one was in sight, she said.

Parents To Continue Dialogue

Parents in the Bolinas-Stinson School District continued last night their search for a meaningful educational program in the latest of a series of meetings that began early in the year with a showdown between parents and the district board of trustees.

At that time many parents made it plain that they felt the board was behind the times in making the school experience relevant to life.

The meeting last night was in the form of a panel discussion, recommended by Supt. Clarence B. Larison to replace confrontation-style discussion at district board meetings.

Panelists last night were parents Arthur Carpenter, Martha O'Brien, Grace Day, James Alberigi and Gene D'Accardo.

According to Larison the panel's chief problem was defining terms in the course of discussion that ranged over such matters as the need of a child for self-direction, how to teach him self-discipline and a teacher's obligation to control the classroom.

The group set another such discussion for Dec. 19 at Bolinas School, the panelists to be Craig Hansen, Larry Bauer, John Barrow D'Accardo and Mrs. Gray.

Terms Imposed For Escape Try

Ronald Leland Kane and Siegfried Dino Porte, both San Quentin convicts, have pleaded guilty to escape charges in Marin Superior Court and been sentenced to terms of one to five years in Prison.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson specified that the sentences are to run concurrently with terms the two are now serving.

Kane also pleaded guilty to possession of an illegal knife and was sentenced to a consecutive sentence of from one to five years in prison.

Kane and Porte escaped from the prison Oct. 20, 1967, only to be caught 14 hours later in Greenbrae.

tween now and Jan. 20 "will be made by this President, by this secretary of defense and by this secretary of state."

One matter on which there was prior consultation with Nixon, Johnson said, was the invitation which Secretary of State Dean Rusk made in Brussels to NATO members to hold their 20th anniversary celebration in the United States next spring. That was a matter, Johnson explained, that would be carried out by Nixon's administration and required his prior approval.

Johnson warmly welcomed Murphy, who he pointed out had been in government many years, and said he would work in Washington about three days a week and have an office in the State Department.

On the Paris peace talks, Johnson repeated only that, "We are doing all we can to bring about substantive discussions that will include the government of South Vietnam at the earliest date possible."

Johnson was asked if Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford spoke for the White House when he said earlier this week that if the South Vietnamese did not soon agree to participating in the Paris talks, the United States should proceed without them toward some military solutions, at least.

Johnson said: "What I have just said gives you my viewpoint of where we are now and what we should do." Then he repeated again that every effort possible was being made to bring about substantive talks in Paris with South Vietnam present at the earliest date.

On another matter, Johnson said he still has not reached a decision on whether to call the Senate back into special session to consider ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Meanwhile today, Nixon expressed to the leaders of the Soviet Union today the expectation that "great strides can be taken in the years just ahead" toward genuine peace and security.

Nixon made that statement in a telegram to Nikolai V. Podgorny, chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet. It was in response to a telegram of congratulations from the Soviet leader.

The Nixon message was dispatched yesterday and made public today.

Nixon's schedule today included meetings with ranking Americans from the fields of industry, labor, urban development and foreign intelligence. He planned to leave New York later in the day for a brief vacation at Key Biscayne, Fla.

Yesterday, after Nixon announced Murphy's assignment, he conferred for more than an hour with J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hoover whose replacement has been demanded by a number of liberal political elements said after seeing Nixon that his own health was fine and he felt up to continuing as FBI director if requested by Nixon.

only as part of the Hanoi delegation.

Le's accusation about the DMZ violations was a formal reply to Washington charges that the North Vietnamese were endangering the talks here by continuing to use the North-South Vietnam border zone as a base for military operations. In Saigon, military reports said the Communists have violated the DMZ at least 12 times since the Paris talks agreement was announced Oct. 31.

He demanded they be stopped immediately. In Saigon, U.S. commanders said the reconnaissance flights showed the North Vietnamese using the bombing halt to move men and arms.

Mrs. Philby and her daughter, Ann, went to Russia with him. Ann was her daughter from a first marriage, to Sam Pope Brewer, a New York Times newsman.

She left Philby in Moscow in July of 1964, taking Ann with her and returned to the United States.

STATE

E. Whetmore of La Habra called on Reagan to send in the National Guard to get classes going smoothly and to fire faculty members who refuse to resume work.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke told newsmen he went along with San Francisco State's president in calling off classes.

"My feeling about this is that we need much more information than we have now about all of the circumstances at San Francisco State," Dumke said.

Dumke, Meriam, seven other trustees, college officials and some San Francisco State faculty members met with Smith for three hours yesterday at a motel near San Francisco International Airport.

Both Meriam and Dumke said they supported Smith's order to close down the campus to protect campus safety after a series of disorders stemming from racial unrest over the suspension of Black Panther George McMurray, a part-time English instructor.

Trustees scheduled an emergency meeting in Los Angeles Monday to consider the college's problems.

Newsmen asked Dumke and Meriam if there was any chance Smith would be fired.

Meriam said, "I've heard rumors floating around, too. As far as I'm concerned they're just floating.

Dumke also said he has no intention to reconsider Murray's suspension.

JOHNNY AVERY
A warmonger?

PENELOPE PLUMMER
Judges like her

MISS USA UNHAPPY

Did Antiwar Feeling Cost Beauty Crown?

LONDON (UPI)—Miss USA today said she was defeated in the Miss World contest because the judges were more interested in V-I-E-T-N-A-M than her 36-24-36.

Johnny Avery said politics so clouded the competition—won by Miss Australia, Penelope Plummer, 35-24-25 last night — that contest officials insulted her and her red, white and blue constume.

One even called her a "rapist of little countries," Miss Avery told United Press International.

"I've been treated abominably ever since I got here. I was warned of this by last year's contestant," she said.

Miss USA, who describes her hair as "honey" and her eyes as "chameleon," said, "just before I was to go on stage, a contest official called me a warmonger."

Miss Avery failed to survive the judges' first elimination when the 53 girls from around the world were trimmed to 15.

Afterwards, at the victory celebration ball, Miss Avery was sitting in a corner taking notes for a "comedy spoof" on beauty contests. She is a television writer.

"This whole contest has been tinged with politics," she said, scribbling rapidly on the back of the chicken dinner menu.

"Over half of the judges were British," she said.

"And they ignored the fact Miss South Africa was gorgeous. Everyone thought she would come up close, but she didn't even place in the first set of finalists," she added, pushing away her plate.

The first hint of politics entering the 1968 Miss World beauty pageant came Wednesday when Miss Spain withdrew from the contest in a huff, saying she would not compete alongside "that girl" Miss Gibraltar. She accused Miss Gibraltar of making "political statements" about the territorial status of the rock—a British crown colony coveted by Spain.

Miss Avery is from North Hollywood.

Siamese Twins Are Separated

NEW YORK (AP) — Siamese twin girls who were born 17 months ago end to end and with a common leg were separated 10 days ago at Brooklyn's Brookdale Hospital Center and are coming along satisfactorily, says their surgeon.

Born at the Center on June 15, 1967, were Sherrie and Sharisse Jones, daughters of a Brooklyn postal worker and his wife. The parents have three other children, all born without abnormalities.

Dr. Ascher L. Mestel, pediatric surgeon who directed the six-man operating team, said yesterday the twins should lead "a relatively normal life" after orthopedic work and hospital therapy.

Tomales Shellfish Plans Still Alive

A Balboa man's proposal for a shellfish cultivation project on the west shore of Tomales Bay, first made more than a year ago, is in the hands of the assistant secretary of the federal Department of the Interior.

Leland D. Christensen said yesterday the project is still very much alive, especially in view of "outstandingly successful" experiments in the bay.

He said he had expected a decision in August.

Christensen's original plan met stiff opposition from boat owners, property owners, conservationists, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department and the National Park Service.

Christensen said he sees the plan as an opportunity to have the Point Reyes National Seashore do double duty—as a park and to increase the productivity of the ocean.

The project involves positioning of floats in the bay, just south of Pelican Point, about two miles north of Sacramento Landing. Objections to the plan related to disturbance of recreational and scenic values.

School Blazes Blamed On Arson

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Arsonists are blamed for blazes yesterday in Woodrow Wilson and Galileo high schools.

At Galileo, principal James Kearney estimated damage at several thousand dollars after flames burned the stage curtain and ropes in the school auditorium.

Fires had been set at three places on the stage and there was some damage to electrical circuits, authorities said.

At Woodrow Wilson, principal Sol Madfes found flames in a third floor civics room. Damage was not serious but papers, books and cartons had been piled and set afire.

West Virginia is the Mointain State.

Obscene Movies Charge Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police charges of felony conspiracy against socialite promoter Lloyd Downton have been reduced to misconduct complaints.

Similar complaints were lodged against six other men and women.

Downton also was charged, along with cameraman Dennis Wright, 34, of Orinda, with a misdemeanor charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old girl, who police said was found nude waiting to be photographed at a local motel.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Frank Shaw said he decided to reduce the felony conspiracy charge to a misdemeanor after conferring with Inspector Peter Maloney, the police department's pornography expert.

Downton and the others are scheduled to enter pleas Nov. 22 before Municipal Court Judge Janet Aitken.

New York's Empire State Building contains 65,000 tons of steel and more than 10 million bricks, says Collier's Encyclopedia.

Leydecker Denies He Possessed Marijuana As Judge Forbids Talk

San Rafael banker Byron W. Leydecker fought back in Marin Municipal Court yesterday with a denial that he possessed marijuana and a countercharge that the district attorney and sheriff have crucified him in court.

Through their attorneys,' Leydecker and his friend, divorcee Patricia A. Rabuzzi, won a court order muzzling discussion of the case by law enforcement officials and an early chance to beat the charge.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. issued a blanket order forbidding Dist. Atty Bruce B. Bales, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, attorneys, defendants and witnesses from discussing the case.

He accepted innocent pleas from Leydecker and Mrs. Rabuzzi and set Thursday as the date for an all-day preliminary hearing into a charge that the couple jointly possessed marijuana Oct. 25 in Mrs. Rabuzzi's home at 170 Avenida Mira Flores, Tiburon.

Leydecker, a former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, surrendered himself at jail shortly before his court appearance. After the was fingerprinted and mugged, he was freed without bail.

Attorney Albert Bianchi told the judge that Leydecker "has been crucified already and nothing this court does can resurrect him."

Reportedly at his own request, Leydecker has been relieved of his duties as president of the Redwood National Bank of San Rafael during the criminal proceedings.

The lawyer offered newspaper stories as evidence and asked the judge to cite Bales and Mountanos for contempt of court. If a contempt citation is too severe, they should at least be reprimanded, Bianchi said.

He charged that news releases by the district attorney and sheriff had brought a "carnival atmosphere" to the case. The information released was also "grossly in error," Bianchi said.

Bales countered that news articles about the Leydecker charges were nothing more than the basic crime news whose release has always been permitted in the past.

Nowhere in the stories is there speculation on the part of the district attorney or sheriff as to the guilt or innocence of the defendants, Bales noted.

Judge Goldstein banned future out-of-court discussion of the case, saying: "As a general proposition, the courts deplore the type of pretrial publicity which has already occurred in this case. It goes beyond the recommendations of the American Bar Association and the U.S. Supreme Court.

He declined to reprimand Bales or Mountanos, noting that no order of the court barring the release of information was in effect at the time.

Bales disputed the necessity of his muzzling order, saying: "I feel no need to discuss the case further, but there are certain matters in which I see no prejudice to the defendant. Silencing all people involved in criminal procedures is excessive.

Bianchi and William O. Weissich, attorney for Mrs. Rabuzzi, said they will challenge the legality of the search of the Tiburon house which allegedly yielded the suspected marijuana.

Officers entered the home the night of Oct. 25 at the invitation of 7-year-old Mark Rabuzzi, who reported his mother and Leydecker were gone when he awakened and he feared for their safety.

Inside the home, they allegedly found butts of marijuana cigarettes in a kitchen ashtray. In the downstairs master bedroom, they opened a nightstand drawer and reportedly found a shoebox containing a pound of marijuana, a pipe and some cigarette papers.

State Alarmed By Increase In De Facto Segregation

SACRAMENTO (AP) — De facto segregation of the races in California public schools has increased during the past year, the state Department of Education reported today.

In a report to the state Board of Education, the department said "there are serious implications for education in the racial and ethnic isolation of nearly 700,000 California pupils in these de facto segregated schools."

The number of schools considered to be racially imbalanced increased by 50 during a 12-month period — the 1967-68 compared with 1966-67, the department said.

In the state's eight largest districts, the report said, 84 per cent of the Negro pupils were enrolled in these racially imbalanced schools — ones which had a greater percentage of minority pupils than the ratio in the district's population as a whole.

The report said the number of predominantly minority schools in the eight largest districts had increased from 395 to 412. The figure increased from 92 to 102 in a sampling of 56 other districts throughout the state.

The department said "de facto segregation is more severe for Negro pupils than for Spanish surname pupils, but that it is a significant factor for both groups . . ."

The number of parks in the National Park system is now 35, with the newest being Redwood National Park, North Cascades National Park, National Wild and Scenic Rivers System and National Trails System. The country's scenic rivers and historic trails are under federal protection for the first time.

Mill Valley Firemen Put Up New Slate Of Officers

Albert Badour was nominated for president, Edward W. Allison for vice president, Edward S. Lewis and Donald Lenhurr for secretary and Guy Roche for treasurer. Nominated as directors were Robert S. Harder, Harlan Carpenter, Roy A. Bernard, Fred Roemer, Albert A. Marovich, Henry Pierroz and Lewis.

Election of officers will be Dec. 12 and installation in January.

Firemen also heard that the association netted $1,000 at the firemen's ball held last month, Bernard said.

Pesticide Blamed For Infant's Death

BAKERSFIELD (UPI)— A Bakersfield infant died Wednesday night, apparently the victim of pesticide poisoning, the Kern County coroner's office reported.

Danna Williams, 20 months, was dead on arrival at Kern General Hospital after drinking from a bottle containing a liquid pesticide.

Petaluma Nods To Rezoning For Acreage

The Petaluma City Council yesterday discussed a plan to rezone 30 acres of unincorporated land on the northern edge of the city and will make a recommendation to the Sonoma Planning Commission before its meeting Thursday afternoon.

The proposed rezoning from light industrial to highway commercial is required by Aubrey Sanderson, who owns 19 of the 30 acres.

William C. McGivern, city planner, said the area along McDowell Boulevard extension, outside the city limits and adjacent to Highway 101, could better be developed commercially than industrially. He said a two-month study by his department and the Sonoma planning department had shown this to be true.

Some councilmen and Paul Stanley, city planning commission chairman, said they would like to see development plans for the area before recommending change. "I'm not in favor of anyone warehousing property," Stanley said, noting the land could stand vacant for years once rezoned by the county.

County zoning laws have no revisionary clause as do the city regulations which state if the land isn't used for the rezoning purpose within a year, it reverts to the original zoning.

"I want a bona fide purchaser for the property before I approve rezoning it to commercial," Stanley said.

Official recommendations will be made at the Monday city council meeting and at Tuesday's planning commission meeting. The county planning commission will act on the rezoning at its regular Thursday meeting in Santa Rosa.

Horse Show Put Off

The Liberty 4-H Club's horse show planned for Sunday at the Chris Beck Field of the Sonoma County Fairgrounds, Santa Rosa, has been canceled because of muddy conditions. Club officers said the event has been rescheduled for April 27.

Antidraft Rally Hears Joan Baez

Folksinger Joan Baez and her husband, David Harris, spoke to the group. A man and woman identified as John H. Kangas, 25, San Francisco, and Norma Louise Ferguson, 21, New York, were arrested for burning a flag. They were to be arraigned today.

A box was passed around, but it was not known how many draft cards were dropped in.

Dollars will be used as the currency rating in Bermuda, replacing the British system of pounds, according to plans.

Cal Expo Votes To Seek State Funding For 1969

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Cal Expo executive committee voted today to ask Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature for money to operate next year.

The committee then went on to consider just what kind of operation it would have in 1969 — if any at all.

"The General Fund condition is such that I don't think anyone can make any guarantee that even $100,000 could be allocated to Cal Expo," Weinberger said.

He proposed the executive committee try again to interest private investors in putting money into Expo's exhibits, amusement facilities and other facets of what was to be the $34 million year-around "showcase of California."

But Ralph Nissen, executive committee chairman, replied to Weinberger, "The problem is we certainly have to be in a position that this isn't just a bastard child of the state that's been kicked out in the street."

Cal Expo is foundering in money problems following its first year of operation in which attendance was poor and the facility brought in far less money than expected.

Sierra Resorts Set For Skiing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California State Automobile Association, in its first ski report of the season, said two areas plan to open tomorrow for limited skiing.

Squaw Valley, with 8-14 inches of snow from the recent storm, said a gondola will operate to the Gold Coast area. The weather today was clear and cold.

Bear Valley on Highway 4 reported 10 inches of snow in 28-degree weather. It plans to open tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. with some chairs operating.

Sugar Bowl reported there was not enough snow yet for "safe and pleasurable skiing." Heavenly Valley said it might open next Friday.

Gun Committee Asks To Dissolve

The Novato Control Legislation Advisory Committee, at a special meeting last night voted to recommend tha that the city not act on firearms control and that it dissolve the committee, according to James Marsico Jr., co-chairman of the committee.

The committee has been inactive since before the Nov. 5 election, awaiting its outcome. The committee was formed last July to advise the city council on gun control legislation.

In its motion last night, the committee noted that the Marin County ordinance was defeated in the Nov. 5 election and that the San Francisco ordinance is in the process of going through the courts to see if it infringes on state powers.

Winds do not reach hurricane strength until they attain a velocity of at least 75 miles an hour.

Bay Crusade Gifts Reach $15 Million

Contributions in the United Bay Area Crusade this year topped $15 million for the first time, Chairman Jerome W. Hull announced today at an awards luncheon at the Sheraton Palace in San Francisco.

Contributions totaled $15,347,982, up 5 per cent over last year's $14,600,000, he said.

The Marin contribution to the total was not available because it is not broken down that way. However, several Marin firms were among those giving more this year with some employee donations up more than 100 per cent.

Marin contributors took the luncheon spotlight when employees of Marin General Hospital accepted the symbolic Baywide Merit Award in behalf of 450 companies in which at least 50 per cent of participants gave at the fair share level — an hour's pay a month or more.

Accepting the recognition were the hospital's crusade chairman Mrs. Harriet Klock, director of nursing services, and administrator Ray K. Bolinger. Crusade giving at Marin General was reported up 115 per cent.

Symbolic honors also went to representatives of loaned executive campaigners with Stephen C. Bryant of Mill Valley accepting in behalf of Marin's 19-man corps.

Crusade funds help support 178 agencies in Marin, San Francisco, San Mateo, Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

$40 Cash Stolen

Burglars stole $40 in cash from the home of Russ R. Lloyd at 233 Ricardo Way, Strawberry, sometime Wednesday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Gallup Forecasts Polls To Measure Discontent

CORONADO (AP) — Pollster George Gallup says public opinion polls can help determine "the true sources of dicontent in our nation for which solutions are needed in a hurry."

Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, addressed the National Conference of Editorial Writes yesterday.

He said experience in political pulse-taking since 1935 will be turned in the next few years toward "finding solutions to the nation's problems."

Gallup appeared on the same program with Herbert G. Klein, communications director for President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

They disagreed on whether polls influence voters.

"No one has ever produced one shred of evidence that the polls influence the voters," Gallup said. "The bandwagon concept just doesn't hold water."

Klein said:

"While I would agree with Dr. Gallup's comments about the bandwagon, I would have to say that the polls do have an effect on morale of a party and on the conduct of the campaign."

Klein said the polls, because of influence on campaigns, do affect the vogers and are "an important part of the American political process."

Gallup was asked to comment on Klein's criticism of the Harris Poll, which had Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey ahead of Nixon. Klein said the Harris Poll was politically motivated.

Gallup's poll, giving Nixon the election with 43 per cent of the vote, was close to the mark.

Gallup said he could not comment extensively on the Harris Poll because he did not have details on how Harris reached his conclusion. But he said the poll "was obviously ill conceived because it was off the mark."

Woman Reports Her Purse, Watch Taken

Sonia H. Pierce of 32 Plymouth Avenue, Mill Valley, complained to sheriff's officers that three youths knocked her to the ground in front of the Child Day Care Center in Marin City last Friday and stole her purse and watch, officers reported yesterday.

Kiesinger Rebuff On German Slate

A special 90-member caucus of Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democratic party voted 65 to 20 for Schroeder over his opponent, Richard von Weizsaecker.

The decision was seen as a defeat for Kiesinger, who was known to favor the relatively unknown Weizsaecker, Protestant church leader and pharmaceutics factory boss.

Killing Trial Witness Admits Changing Tale

By ALAN JONES

One witness displayed a stubbornly slippery memory today and another told his third version of events as the prosecution tried to link Dennis C. Novotny to the guns taken in the robbery and fatal beating of Wesley L. Marshall.

Novotny and John Arceo are on trial for murder in Marin Superior Court, as a result of Marshall's death in a hospital Jan. 6, a month after the robbery.

Joseph Barone testified that he bought four or five guns from Novotny after the Marshall beating date, and identified one of them as the World War I .45 caliber Army revolver which another witness yesterday said he had sold to Marshall.

But Novotny's attorney, Michael Lewton, tore into Barone in cross-examination and showed that in questioning last January by the Marin County Grand Jury and San Rafael Police Inspector Thomas Cheetham, Barone had denied buying the guns from Novotny.

Barone said today he was confused in his statements in January because "so many dealings were going on" at the time, and admitted he was trying to protect Novotny then.

Barone also said Novotny approached him a week or two before the grand jury hearing and threatened him.

"Novotny came to my house and said if I testified I'd be taken care of," Barone said. "He said it's already been arranged."

Barone testified twice before the grand jury Jan. 18, the second time changing his story and relating that Novotny had sold him the guns.

He testified today that Novotny told him the .45 was "from the collection . . . I believe it was the Marshall collection."

Barone amitted lying in his first testimony before the grand jury and in statements given to San Rafael police before that, but said he had not been threatened with prosecution for perjury.

"Maybe I will be prosecuted for perjury," Barone said. "All I'm trying to do is tell the truth."

Yesterday, gun collector Leland Moon identified the same .45 as one he sold Marshall, along with four other guns produced by Deputy Dist. Attorney Joshua W. Thomas.

Moon also positively identified a .32-30 Colt revolver and a 7.65 millimeter Walther PPK automatic, and said a .38 Colt revolver and .22 caliber Astra automatic appeared to be the guns he sold Marshall.

Another acquaintance of Novotny's, Ernest Simmons, could remember almost nothing on the stand today about incidents with Novotny in January, despite prodding by Thomas.

Simmons, Thomas said, told police in January that Novotny had tried to sell him two guns.

"Dennis was always trying to sell me guns," Simmons said today. "I don't remember if he did then (after the Marshall robbery)."

Simmons said he could not remember the type of guns, but admitted he told police in January they were a Luger and a single shot .22 caliber pistol.

He also could not remember a telephone conversation with Novotny in January, although he remembered telling a district attorney's investigator about the talk a few days later.

"If I read what you said then, would it refresh your memory?" Thomas asked.

"I read the statement," Simmons said. "I don't recall it."

A neighbor of Marshall's, Robert Meador, testified that the 68-year-old Marshall "couldn't walk from here to that chair without falling down," and was constantly bruised and scratched from falls.

Meador said Marshall showed his gun collection to everybody "because that's the way he was."

Mails Dope Raid Jails Marin Pair

Narcotics and postal inspectors, looking for drugs believed to have been illegally shipped through the mail, arrested a psychology professor and his wife in their Mill Valley apartment last night.

Officers, armed with a search warrant, broke into the apartmetn at 406 Maple Street as the sound of a toilet flushing came from the rear of the apartment.

David Charles Schiffman, 28, and his wife, Barbara Ellen Schiffman, 24, were booked at jail on suspicion of marijuana possession. They were held today in lieu of $625 bail each and were to appear this afternoon in Municipal Court.

Inspector Harry Bock of the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau reported that postal inspectors obtained a search warrant from Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner yesterday, alleging that they were looking for drugs sent through the mail.

Agents were told to search for LSD in the apartment, Bock said.

Bock said that, when he knocked on the door, Schiffman opened it a crack, but left the chain lock on. Bock said he showed the warrant but Schiffman insisted on reading it before he would open the door.

Inside, officers found enough marijuana for six or seven cigarettes, but no LSD.

Bock said Schiffman told him he is on leave as an assistant professor of psychology at a New York college.

Expert Urged In Employee Relations

Petaluma's city attorney last night urged city governments and public agencies to stop deciding what's good for their employees and hire a professional to sit down and negotiate with employees in good faith.

Addressing a dinner meeting of the Sonoma County Mayors and Councilmen's Association at Sonoma Joe's in Petaluma, Edouard E. Robert, who is also president of the attorneys' section of the League of California Cities, said, "Government employees now demand a voice in contract negotiations."

Saying security is not enough, he declared, "they have a persistent desire for self-pride and reject the government's paternalistic attitude."

In appointing a negotiating representative, he said, councilmen should never be involved. "You have no area of compromise left when council members deal directly with unions or employee organizations."

"Don't have your negotiator just act as a messenger boy to meet and confer with them — that's not showing good faith," he warned. He suggested Sonoma cities might employ consultants to negotiate contracts, as is the growing trend in larger cities.

Robert urged the cities to look at contract negotiations on a long range basis — what fringe benefits and pay hikes will be requested by employees in the distant future. He said this would mean earlier determinations of financial arrangements and allow smoother negotiations.

The Mayor's and Councilmen's Association also:

BRIDGE APPOINTMENT — Heard request from Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam, association president, for members to consider a person the group could recommend for the new Sonoma County position on the Golden Gate Bridge authority.

MEETINGS — Approved resolution urging the League of California Cities to expand meetings for cities under the 5,000 population level.

New District To Gain Benefits Of Survey

The Tomales High School District board last night voted to turn over work done so far on a community attitudes survey to the new Shoreline Unified School District board, reported Supt. Anthony Matulich.

The Tomales High School District has been working with Bonnie Gurgin, consultant from the University of California Research and Survey Center, on the survey of present and former students views on Tomales High.

Last week, Shoreline district board asked that the survey be enlarged to include the high school and elementary schools within the new unified district.

The Tomales High School Board Also:

BONDS — Approved selling $46,000 in authorized bonds next month with the retirement set at five years.

STATION WAGON — Authorized purchase of a new station wagon from Sanderson Motor Co. of Petaluma, at $2,450 to replace a 1963 model which the district is now using.

SALARY — Rejected a request from Matulich that his salary be increased from $17,452 to $20,304.

COACHES — Named Daniel Mariana and David Danielson as basketball coaches and Leslie Williams and James Kovalik as wrestling coaches.

BOOSTERS — Received information that a Tomales High School Boosters Club had been formed on Oct. 22. The next meeting of the club, which is for men only, will be held at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the Marshall Hotel.

COMMITTEE — Heard a report from Matulich that he was invited to serve on the evaluation accreditation committee next March for the Mira Loma High School in Sacramento.

Teen Arraigned On Marijuana

George E. Wickham Jr., 19-year-old son of Mill Valley City Councilman George E. Wickham, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges of marijuana possession and possession of alcohol by a minor.

His case was referred to juvenile probation authorities for possible certification to Juvenile Court.

A co-defendant, Robert Peter Dittle, 19, of 153 Walnut Avenue, Mill Valley, was arraigned on the same charge and asked a week's continuance before he pleads. His case was continued until Thursday.

Judges Named

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Harold B. Hove, an Oakland attorney, and San Leandro Municipal Court Judge Gordon L. Minder were appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan today to the Alameda County Superior Court.

Thanksgiving Causes Cited By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today there were many events during 1968 for which he said Americans should give thanks, including "the beginning of talks with our adversaries that will, we pray, lead to peace in Vietnam."

Proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 28 as Thanksgiving Day, Johnson said:

"These events inspire not only the deepest gratitude, but confidence that our nation, the beneficiary of good fortune beyond that of any nation in history, will surmount its present trials and achieve a more just society for its people.

"In this season, let us offer more than words of Thanksgiving to God. Let us resolve to offer Him the best that is within us—tolerance, respect for life, faith in the destiny of all men to live in peace," Johnson said.

Other events he cited as deserving remembrance and thanksgiving included:

"The increasing prosperity of the people, including those who were denied any share in America's blessings in the past.

"The achievement of new breakthroughs in medical science and new victories over disease."

Two Turtles Circle Moon In Russ Ship

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scentists today revealed the first living creatures to fly around the moon and back to earth were a pair of turtles and a number of wine flies and meal worms.

They were all aboard the Soviet moon shot Zond 5 which landed in the Indian Ocean Sept. 21 after a week-long flight.

They arrived back in a Soviet laboratory in good condition, moving about in their containers and with good appetites, a report by four scientists in the Communist party newspaper Pravda said.

RETURN LIGHTER

They lost some weight, returning home 10 per cent lighter. Blood analysis showed no substantial difference from a group of stay-at-home turtles used as a test control.

The scientists reported a checkup 21 days after the turtles' return showed "an excessive content of glycogen and iron in their liver tissue (and) the complex of flight factors had also exerted a certain influence on the structure of the spleen."

The report did not explain the significance of these findings or whether they would have any effect on a decision to send a man to the moon. Soviet scientists have said they will make thorough tests with animals before sending a man on a moon trip.

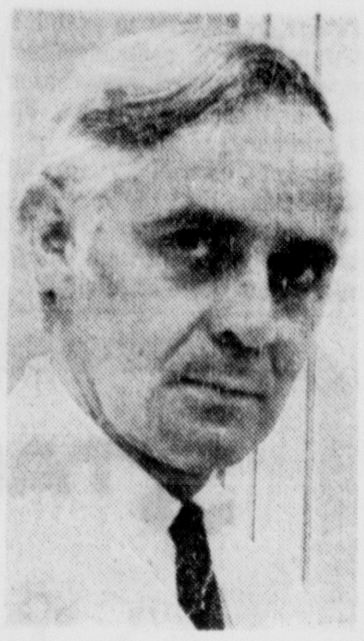
The report was the first mention of any living creatures aboard Zond 5. In addition to turtles Zond 5. carried plants, seeds, and bacterial cultures.

TEST PURPOSE

The purpose, the scientists said, was to test the effects of radiation and other conditions of a moon flight on living organisms. Their analysis is continuing.

The moonshot turtles were nameless in the report and identified only as No. 22 and No. 37.

The report made no mention of any biological test creatures that might be aboard Zond 6, which rounded the moon yesterday and is now presumably on its way back to earth.



DR. JOHN F. CATCHPOOL
To aid Biafrans

Marinite To Open Center For Biafrans

Dr. John F. Catchpool of 370 Summit Avenue, who was medical director of the Schweitzer Hospital from 1956 to 1959, was invited by Dr. Schweitzer's daughter, Dr. Rhena Ekert.

Dr. Catchpool is a research pharmacologist and epidemiologist at the university's San Francisco medical center. His special interest is the medical problems of developing countries, particularly the long term effects of malnutrition.

He said 1,500 to 2,000 Biafran orphans have already arrived in Gabon and are receiving emergency care at the military hospital in Libreville and the Schweitzer Hospital.

Dr. Catchpool planned to stop in other African countries where refugee Biafran children have accumulated. He will report what medical and food supplies are needed to the Afro-American African Relief Institute, a San Francisco-based organization established to help civilian victims of the Nigerian-Biafran War.

Brinkmanship Is Ruled Out

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Former Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania says brinkmanship is outdated and will not form a part of U.S. foreign policy in the administration of Republican President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Scranton, who said he would not accept appointment as secretary of state in the Nixon cabinet, told University of North Carolina students last night there will be less confrontation and more negotiating when Nixon is president.

Scranton said he felt Nixon would rely on the national Security Council and the ideas of its members as it was operated during the Eisenhower administration.

Soviet Spy Abel Narrates A Film

MOSCOW (AP) — Col. Rudolf Abel, imprisoned Soviet spy who was exchanged in 1962 for the downed U2 pilot Gary Powers, appears as the narrator in a new Russian movie called "The Dead Season," the news agency Tass reported yesterday.

The story deals with a manhunt for a former German Nazi scientist working on a "monstrous" chemical weapon in an unidentified Western country after World War II.

OILY NIGHTMARE — Mrs. Sally Weinsieder and sons Jules and Richard mournfully inspect the "oil well" which has made a mess of their backyard, and instead of making the family wealthy, has cost them thousands of dollars to combat.

(AP Wirephoto)

SHORT-LIVED JOY

Backyard Oil Well Headache To Family

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Imagine the delight of Bernard Weinsieder and his family when oil bubbled up through a crack in their backyard patio a few weeks ago.

Weinsider's son Jules, 22 said, "We thought we had it made."

But so far it has cost more than $3,000, wrecked their patio, driven some neighbors away, and landed the family in court.

The family followed the seepage to a storage cellar where they found a pool of crude oil. It turned out this came from a well drilled in 1911 and abandoned in 1924.

The first sign of disaster came when they called refineries to find out how much the oil was worth.

"They all said they were committed to certain companies, that we were independent operators and they couldn't buy from us," said Richard Weinsieder, a 17-year-old son.

A petroleum geologist checked the well and said he doubted whether it would ever pay for attempts to make productive again.

Weinsieder, the elder, a bread salesman, had to pay $2 a barrel to have the celler pumped out and 150 barrels of oil trucked away.

Then as the oil kept coming, the family paid $2,500 to a drilling company to dig a hole in the yard and find the well, a tenant moved out because of oil odors and gurgling sounds, a neighbor filed suit because her tenant also moved out, chunks of the patio broke loose because of underground pressures and the Weinsieders learned it would cost them $20,000 to cap the well properly .

The family also found out that the well was drilled and deserted by Associated Oil Co., which later became part of the Getty Oil Co. They hired an attorney who filed a $575,000 negligence suit against the company.

"The oil company reaped the benefits from the oil well years ago," said Jerome Beznik, the lawyer. "Why should the Weinsieder family, who purchased the home only two years ago, now have to suffer from the oil company's negligence?"

A Getty oil spokesman said: "We were the corporate predecessor involved in that portion of the old Salt Lake Oil Field, but we've no interest in the field for 44 years."

Schools To Withdraw From Library System

The Larkspur School District Board voted unanimously last night to withdraw from the county school library system starting in the 1970-71 school year.

Supt. Milton S Cohen said the district was pleased with the county's service, but felt the district is now able to buy its own supplementary texts directly and save paying county administrative costs.

The board also agreed to let the county schools office put two portable classrooms on the Larkspur-Corte Madera School grounds for classes for the educationally handicapped. The portables will be ready Dec. 1.

The Larkspur School District Board Also:

OLD BOOKS—Heard a report on the state law effective last Wednesday allowing school districts to donate old text books to children or others living in the district. Formerly, old books could neither be destroyed nor given away to the public, and were given to the county schools office for donation and distribution overseas.

CIVIL DEFENSE — Adopted a civil defense plan like last year's to meet the state requirement for an annual plan.

STAFF SCHOOL — Learned that four staff members are attending a course called "a systems approach to educational problem solving" given at the county schools office under a federal grant for Marin, Sonoma and Solano county educators. The program started yesterday and will be held from 1:30 to 8:30 p.m. for six Thursdays.

CONVENTION — Gave permission for up to four board members to attend the state convention for school board trustees Dec. 7 through 12 at Anaheim.

Robbery-Kidnap Empties Oakland Grocery's Safe

OAKLAND (UPI)—A robbery gang kidnaped the assistant manager of an Oakland food market early today and held his wife hostage while they forced him to open the store safe.

William De Vaughn, 30, told police he was on his way home Thursday night when his car was bumped from the rear by another vehicle containing three men.

The men produced a gun, ordered De Vaughn to accompany them to the Emby Food Market, and forced him to open the safe. De Vaughn said he was told he would be killed if he did not cooperate.

Almost simultaneously, police said, two men forced their way into De Vaughn's home and remained with his wife, Tsutae, 33, until the robbery was complete.

The amount of the robbery loss was not reported.

Student Air Fares Bring A Big Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airline industry split sharply today over the legality and wisdom of standby youth and young adult fares.

In statements filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board three trunk airlines—National, Northeast and United—said the fares they and rival airlines offer should be discontinued as discriminatory and uneconomic.

The National Trailways Bus System, Inc., and the American Society of Travel Agents concurred.

Four trunk airlines—American, Continental, Northwest and Trans World—and five local service lines—Allegheny, Frontier, Hawaiian, Trans-Texas and Air West—argued to continue the special fares.

Eastern Air Lines dropped last April 28 its space-available youth standby fare—50 per cent of the jet coach fare—and adopted the one-third discount reservations-basis young adult fares of Delta Air Lines. It said it has not determined whether the new fare is yielding a profit.

The CAB's Bureau of Economics, in its brief to examiner Arthur Present, contended such promotional fares are reasonable and are not unjustly discriminatory.

Bureau counsel Victor M. Mercogliano said the fares also contribute to highway safety by inducing young persons to fly rather than drive or hitchhike.

The bureau added the fares are working well, instances of "bumping" standby passengers off flights are few, and no airline has shown the fares are unprofitable.

It is now estimated the world has 49 million cubic miles of water.

Justice Warren Reported Still Planning To Retire

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren's decision to retire remains firm and his letter stating his intention to leave the Supreme Court will remain on the table for action by Richard M. Nixon when he becomes president, the New York Times reported today.

In a story from its Washington bureau the newspaper said Warren continues to decline comment but added "his position is thus understood by his friends and colleagues and can be authoritatively stated."

The account said sources close to Warren say that he deprecates talk of ill feeling between him and Nixon and that he expects, if asked, to swear in the new president on Jan. 20.

The Times said Warren is known to believe that, from the point of view of the Supreme Court, it is best that any justice time his retirement for the end of the term in June. A justice cannot participate in cases that have been argued but not yet decided if he leaves in the middle of the term.

In his retirement letter written to President Johnson last June 13 Warren wrote that he intended to retire as chief justice "effective at your pleasure." He does not intend to amend that letter, the Times said.

In an accompanying personal letter to President Johnson on June 13 Warren gave as the reason for wanting to retire his feeling that at the age of 77 he should step aside for a younger man. The Times said that feeling is known not to have changed.

Retired Actor To Get Alimony

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A judge awarded retired actor Charles Judels $500 a month in support yesterday from his estranged wife.

Judels testified he lives in a hotel in Oakland where "you win a prize if the water goes on."

Judels, 88, and his wife, Ethel, 65, were married in 1944 and separated last July. Each has filed for divorce, each charging mental cruelty.

Mrs. Judels is an heiress to a $1-million trust left by her father, Henry Windt, who was a property developer and financier.

Judels was a tenor at 12 for band leader Tony Pastor, later played stage roles and then appeared in such motion pictures as "One Night of Love" and "The Plainsman." He was noted mainly as a comedian.

Rights Panel Agrees To Poverty Dialogue

Marin County Human Rights commissioners decided last night they will meet with Economic Opportunity Council directors, but not to rehash the question of coordinating manpower services.

A request for a joint meeting came last night in a letter from Victor H. Cary, executive director of the Marin County EOC. Cary said a misunderstanding has arisen and suggested a meeting to discuss the respective responsibilities of both agencies.

The question of coordinating manpower services was thrashed out at last month's meeting, Commissioner Richard Harding pointed out.

"Didn't we have a resolution saying they (EOC) couldn't coordinate manpower alone so we asked the supervisors to take over?" asked Harding.

"It's not just manpower development," replied Commissioner Arthur L. Brown. "There are other areas where we can prevent duplication."

At the suggestion of Commissioner Troy Lewis, the commissioners asked Executive Director Austin J. Thompson to pin down the exact items to be discussed and report back at the next meeting on Dec. 12.

The Human Rights Commission Also:

NEW CAREERS — Heard from Charles B. Weers that the Marin Central Labor Council passed a resolution asking the county supervisors to place manpower coordination in the hands of the Human Rights Commission, and also to hire Dr. Arthur Pearl as a consultant to set up his proposed New Careers Program. This resolution will come before the county supervisors on Nov. 26.

HOUSING — Heard from Rev. Francis Geddes that church groups are interested in creating a non-profit corporation to build low and moderate income housing, with each church pledging $200 to launch the corporation.

CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT —Asked Chairman Bella Aaron to continue encouraging various contractors to hire minorities in the construction of public buildings.

VOLUNTEERS — Asked the county supervisors to pass a resolution thanking volunteers, both youths and adults, who are helping the Human Rights Department staff with typing and other routine office work.

BLACK BUSINESS—Heard a report from Troy E. Lewis that the employment committee is trying to encourage blacks to start their own businesses, with technical advice on financing and operations. One example, said Lewis, is a black contractor who is selling automobiles. His committee will meet with this contractor and any others and try to set them up in business.

Black Students Are Being Offered Secretarial Class

A secretarial class for black students who want to become secretaries has been set up at San Domenico High School in Sleepy Hollow, a youth worker for the Marin County Human Rights Commission reported last night to the commission.

Horace White, youth worker, said 15 to 20 girls, including high school, college age, and three adults, attend the classes.

He added that a grooming course will also begin at San Domenico School to teach girls how to dress and act when looking for employment.

He said a gorup known as Youth Power has opened up a coffee house at the Unitarian Church in Terra Linda and is trying to expand coffee houses to other areas in the county.

Referring to the Marin County Board of Supervisors approving only $375 of the $750 requested to start the coffee house program, White declared: "I think the supervisors are not aware of the importance of these coffee houses."

Commissioner Troy Lewis suggested that White contact churches to see if they can help provide funds for the coffee house program and secretarial classes at San Domenico.

Another Gold Disc In Hurry For Beatles

NEW YORK (AP) — The Record Industry Association of America has certified the Beatles' "Hey Jude" as a million-selling record in the United States. It is the 16th Beatles single to receive a gold record.

It was certified mid-way through its second week of sales.

Marin History Show On In San Francisco

An exhibit of more than 100 paintings, watercolors, maps and books of Marin County history is being shown through Jan. 11 at the California Historical Society, 2090 Jackson Street, San Francisco.

Society hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

EDUCATION VS. TRADES QUESTIONED

What is there about the educational system that turns out black students who cannot contend with whites of comparable education in passing qualifying examinations for trades and apprenticeships?

This question was posed last night by Charles B. Weers to fellow members of the Marin City Human Rights Commission.

Labor has made every effort to encourage minorities to enter trades, but the qualifying examinations have been the stumbling block, said Weers. "The number one project of the commission should be in the field of education."

The commissioners asked Weers to work with Executive Director Austin J. Thompson in setting up meetings with educators and school boards

The ladybug beetle can gobble up to 50 aphids or other pests a day.

Churches Launch Drive To Finance Housing Project

Representatives from about 30 churches in the county have decided that each church should pledge $200 as "seed money" to form an ecumenical nonprofit corporation to provide housing for low income groups.

Church representatives met Wednesday with the crisis committee of the Marin County Human Rights Commission and agreed that such a corporation could be formed by the churches to engage in housing construction, with aid from the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968.

The Rev. John J. O'Connor, chairman at the meeting, suggested the $200 commitment from each church to get the nonprofit corporation started. The group set the next meeting for 8 p.m., Dec. 11, at the Civic Center to bring back the $200 pledges from their churches. The committee also will decide on whether the ecumenical corporation should provide low cost or moderate cost housing.

Then we showed him our "works in the drawer".

In Quasar, you have two things going for you. All solid-state components, (except rectifier and picture tube) for years of dependable performance. And the fast, at-home service you can only get when the works are in a drawer.

Unlike tubes, our solid-state components are designed to work without burning themselves out. You get space-age dependability for sound, for picture, for color.

But we didn't stop with dependability. We made service a snap, too. We put most components (all 10 of our tubeless mini-circuits) in a drawer. And we designed them so that they snap in and snap out. In minutes.

A repairman comes into your home, pulls out the drawer, snaps in a replacement circuit, pushes the drawer back, and that's it. The most you may miss is a few commercials.

If you've been waiting for something better in Color TV, why wait any longer... Quasar's here!

"I'm glad I waited!"

Quasar prices start at $699.00

What to say after you give the I AM LOVED button

James L. Callan & Sons INCORPORATED Jewelers

Nothing. Absolutely nothing. There's no need for words. The "I AM LOVED" button is only a symbol (and free of charge, at that), yet it says something special about someone special.

It tells the world who belongs to whom. It lets you know there is someone there... someone who cares. Who could put in words the nice, warm feeling you get from such a shy little button?

But it is, after all, only a button. A reminder. A starter. A staller.

What true love, lasting love, needs is something more permanent. For this we suggest Wells "I AM LOVED" jewelry for both men and women, jewelry in real silver and gold.

Or there are Wells "I AM LOVED" fragrances for that particular person in your life. Gaily packaged in stripes for the men, polkadots for the girls, they give an air and a flair to your sentiments.

When you come in for your button you will have a chance to see the range of earrings, charms, pendants and pins for her... the key chains, idents, money clips, tie tacs, cufflinks for him.

Let your nose lead you to the "I AM LOVED" fragrances... cologne and after shave for men in both Bronze and Lime ... purse, spray and decanter sizes of perfume for an exceptional enchantress.

If you would put a price on love, you can find your particular degree of intensity anywhere between $4.50 and $15 in the fragrances, $5 to $25 for the jewelry.

What price love? It's up to you, starting with the "I AM LOVED" button which is not for sale. It's free.

Just remember the button says volumes. The jewelry and fragrances say it eloquently.

Discovery Is Announced Of Pulsating-Type Star

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Discovery of a strange new "ticking star" was reported today by an astronomer who said it virtually proves the existence of mysterious objects believed to sweep space like cosmic searchlights.

Dr. Frank Drake of Cornell University told a group of science writers the new star, catalogued as NP0532, pulsates every 33 thousandths of a second—the shortest ticking time of any of the 14 pulsars found since the first was announced in February.

He said the discovery, made yesterday, provides evidence "as conclusive as you can get in astronomy that pulsars are actually neutron stars."

Astronomers have calculated that neutron stars, extremely dense and very powerful sources of radio waves, might result from huge stellar explosions called supernova. The new pulsar was found near the Crab Nebula, a supernova that occurred in 1054 A.D.

The theory says that stars formed in this way would rotate very rapidly, sending out a powerful beam of radiation as they turn. This would account for the pulsation, or ticking, of the new pulsars.

Dr. Drake said the new star is probably only 10 miles in diameter and as dense as the earth would be if compressed into a sphere 300 feet across. This is the density of matter in the nucleaus of an atom.

Dr. Drake said pulsars cannot be the artifacts of any conceivable civilization because they are so powerful, generating a billion times more energy than the output of all the power plants on earth.

Drake made his report at a meeting of the Council for the Advancement of Science Writing.

White Pill Just A Salt Tablet

Little white tablets being peddled to Marin high school girls as birth control pills will do nothing for the girls but make them thirsty, San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said today.

Chiesa said that school authorities had obtained one of the pills, which they believe are being sold sub rosa to coeds, and turned it over to police for analysis.

The pill proved to be nothing more than a salt tablet, he said.

Nixon Names Ziegler As Chief Spokesman

Ziegler's title will be special assistant to the president.

In announcing Nixon's choice, H.R. Haldeman, an assistant to the president-elect, noted that there will be no White House press secretary in the traditional sense. But he said Ziegler will be the new administration's equivalent of that official.

Haldeman said Ziegler will be kept "completely on top of everything that is going on or being planned" in the White House.

But he said past press secretaries have been policymakers as well as spokesmen and have acted on their own in interpreting and defining administration's positions. He said that will not be Ziegler's role.

Ziegler, a Los Angeles advertising man, had been Nixon's traveling spokesman throughout the campaign.

Ziegler said he will be present at White House decision-making sessions so that he will have first hand information.

Haldeman said no role has yet been assigned to Herbert G. Klein Nixon's press secretary in the 1960 campaign and the director of communications this year.

Haldeman said Klein's assignment was still under discussion.

Haldeman also announced the appointment of Dwight Chapin, 28, as a special assistant. Chapin will manage Nixon's schedule and coordinate travel plans—duties that in past administrations have been those of the man designated appointments secretary.

Ziegler left the Los Angeles branch of the J. Walter Thompson advertising agency to take his role in the Nixon campaign. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California.

Bel Marin Board Awards Contract For Dredging

A $53,775 contract was awarded last night by the Bel Marin Key Community Services District board to Hydraulic Dredge of Oakland for dredging the Keys Lagoon and waterways, according to Mrs. James Zoeller, secretary to the board.

The original estimate on the dredging was $65,000, she said.

Work should start before Thanksgiving and be completed in 60 days, she said.

The board approved the purchase of a Christmas tree for the community center and candy canes for Santa Claus when he visits the area, she said.

The board voted a $50 bonus to Mrs. Zoeller for extra work she did on the dredging project.

Stanley Rakeman resigned as chairman of the parks and recreation committee and was replaced by Allen D. Brown of 145 Montego Key, according to Mrs. Zoeller.

Courtroom Fray Caught By Cameras

A 31-year-old houseboat dweller, brought to Marin Municipal Court yesterday afternoon, spat at court bailiffs, then engaged three of them in battle before television cameras.

Frank Iannone, of Gate Six, in custody on a charge of malicious mischief, was committed to Napa State Hospital when bailiffs subdued him after a scuffle which caused a broken window in the courtroom of Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

The fight was recorded by the cameras of television and newspaper representatives, waiting in the courtroom corridor to photograph bank president Byron W. Leydecker, appearing on a narcotics charge.

The flareup began when Iannone spat at bailiff Benjamin Pope as he was led into the courtroom. Dwight Johnson, another bailiff, led the prisoner to a seat in the courtroom's front row and ordered him to behave.

The prisoner resisted and the two spun to the floor, breaking a window as they fell. Pope and bailiff James Riddell joined the battle.

As the audience watched aghast, Iannone screamed while two bailiffs jerked his arms behind his back for handcuffing and the third knelt with his knee on Iannone's head.

The men with television cameras and kleig lights rushed into the courtroom, Iannone looked up, grinned and shouted:

"Look at this. Hey, look at this, baby."

LEADS POSSE — William Dreusike was elected captain of the Mounted Sheriff's Posse of Marin County at a meeting Tuesday night. Other new officers are: First lieutenant, Joe Brewster; second lieutenant, Stanley Swift; secretary, William Waldon, and treasurer, Oscar Montgomery.

Two Panels For Studies Are Named

The City-County Planning Council of Marin last night set up two subcommittees to work on transportation and countywide planning.

Named to the transportation subcommittee at the Civic Center meeting were George Banning of Belvedere ,Woodrow Capurro of San Anselmo, Alexander Imlay of Sausalito, Joseph Marshall of Tiburon, Leo T. Cronin of Fairfax, Harold B. Wagstaff of Corte Madera, Ann West of the Marin Citizens Transportation Committee, Bertram H. Hirsch of Tiburon and Supervisor John F. McInnis.

Appointed to the intergovernmental relations subcommittee were Douglas M. Merrill of Novato, Hugh Dougherty of the county planning commission, Rodric Robinson of Mill Valley, C. W. Thomas of Corte Madera, Arthur W. Smith of San Anselmo and Supervisor Peter H. Behr.

Merrill made the appointments from nominations by the 11 council members present.

The council discussed a suggestion from supervisors that housing code enforcement be made uniform throughout the county and decided that cities will retain general supervision and inspection of structures in enforcing the housing code, but could call in the county in specific cases.

Petaluman Faces Neglect Charge

A Petaluma mother of two was charged with child neglect last night and was being held at the city jail pending a hearing to be set this afternoon.

Police were called to the home of Mrs. Virginia Mainwaring, 37, of 837 B Street, yesterday at 4:04 p.m. when a neighbor complained that 6-year-old Donna Mainwaring could not get into her home.

When police arrived, they said they found Mrs. Mainwaring to be under the influence of alcohol. A son, Richard, 17, said his mother had been depressed lately. Police said they had investigated possible neglect at the home several times this year.

Peninsula Youths Ask 'A Place Of Our Own'

Tiburon Peninsula teen-agers, like other young people throughout Marin, last night asked for "someplace we can call our own," preferably a coffee house and recreation center, to house a permanent youth recreation program, Russell L. Melquist, assistant to the Tiburon city manager, reported.

Speaking to a joint meeting of the Belvedere and Tiburon parks and recreation commissions, a delegation of 10 youths said the coffee house-recreation center would provide some place for teen-agers to go other than grammar school playgrounds or their own homes, Melquist said.

"We see our parents all the time; we want some place of our own," one youth said, according to Melquist.

Commissioners took no action because neither commission had a quorum at the meeting.

However, those commissioners present asked the teen-agers to investigate possible locations for such a center and to come back to the commissions within the next few months with a more detailed proposal, Melquist said.

Tiburon commissioners absent included David H. Teather, Gerald B. Talbot and George McKegney. Donald K. Loomis arrived at 9:30 p.m. Absent from Belvedere were Rev. Lelwellyn A. White, Beatrice Mann and Kirk Bassett.

The Belvedere commission did not consider scheduled agenda items because of the lack of a quorum.

Agreement For Widening Las Gallinas Creek Signed

Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District directors last night signed an agreement with the county to proceed with widening Las Gallinas Creek and relocating a sewer line adjacent to Vendola Drive near Mabry Way in Santa Venetia.

The cost, about $30,000, will be borne by the Gallinas Creek Dredging Project Assessment District formed in 1965. Robert Pedroncelli, a county public works engineer, said the money is available in the budget.

"This would eliminate a constriction in the channel and improve navigation,'' said Pedroncelli.

The sanitary district directors also approved a change in the location of a sewer line to serve the Marin Valley Mobile Country Club. The mobile home development is planned on 33 acres of land just north of St. Vincent's School for Boys, within the City of Novato.

Youths Pick Up Campus Litter

Deputies said the seven young men littered the campus as a prank brought on by the approach of a football game between the two college's today.

Officers also found poster paint on some of the college buildings, but a night watchman reported the damage was done by a carload of girls who got away.

Cotati Council Eyes New Jobs For City

CALIFORNIA RECALLED

When RFK Was Sure Of Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Until Sen. Robert F. Kennedy won the California primary last June he never felt he was running on his own and feared people believed he was trading on the memory of his brother John, Kenneth P. O'Donnell says.

"But all that ended with that California primary," O'Donnell said in a speech yesterday. "For the first time he was Sen. Robert Kennedy on his own, and he was absolutely convinced he would be nominated and elected president of the United States."

O'Donnell, the late President John F. Kennedy's appointments secretary and Robert Kennedy's campaign manager, spoke to a bar association at the John F. Kennedy Federal Building.

He said he learned of Robert Kennedy's changed viewpoint in a talk with the New York senator five minutes before Kennedy walked into the Ambassador Hotel ballroom in Los Angeles to claim his California victory—and be assassinated.

O'Donnell said Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's surprising vote in the New Hampshire primary March 12 convinced Kennedy that dissatisfaction with the Johnson administration was more widespread than suspected.

Although advised he had no better than a 3-to-1 chance of winning the nomination, Kennedy decided to enter the race, O'Donnell said, and he (O'Donnell) was given the job of directing a "holding action"—to convince delegates not to commit themselves to anyone, not even Kennedy, until the primaries were over.

Then came President Johnson's bombshell announcement in a postscript to a television speech that he would not seek renomination.

"It was a brand new ball game," O'Donnell said. "I am a close friend of the gentleman who wrote the President's speech and he didn't know of the addition to it until watching on television that night."

Of the incoming Republican administration of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, O'Donnell made this prediction: "I think Nixon may turn out much more liberal than anticipated, because that is the way it has to be. Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. is going to say, 'You sold me out, Dick,' but he (Nixon) is going to have to."

W. W. Lyman of Meriden, Conn., in 1858 patented the first airtight fruit jar with a spring-fastened glass top.

Radioactive Beacon Next For Copters?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy says converting helicopters into a nuclear version of fireflies offers the best hope yet of avoiding collisions while flying in close formation in foul weather.

Previously, military researchers tried and discarded schemes for using radar, laser, infrared and ultrasonic systems so the whirlybird pilots can tell where their companions are.

George E. Wilcos of the Naval Air Development Center presented a report to the American Nuclear Society yesterday saying the nuclear device has proven feasible in preliminary tests.

He said the device, attached to the helicopter fuselage, registers signals on an oscilloscope in a craft as far as 1,000 feet away.

He said problems still confronting adoption of the "nucleonic station keeper" includes development of a safer but more intense radioactive source.

Students' Stand May Delay Coeds At Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale college has approved a proposal to admit women beginning in September 1969.

Student objections to housing arrangements proposed for the women, however, may postpone implementation of coeducation at the college, according to Yale University President Kingman Brewster Jr.

The Yale Corporation, the university's governing board of trustees, had approved the coeducation plan at a meeting Saturday.

Brewster's plan calls for 500 young women to be admitted next fall, half as freshmen and half as upperclass transfer students. Under the plan the freshmen girls were to be housed together in one of Yale's 12 residential colleges. The other 250 girls were to live off campus in nearby homes and apartments.

At a tumultuous meeting last night students said the plan would mean "segregation" for women at Yale. They demanded alternatives that would mix the coeds into the university community on a more "equitable" basis.

Brewster said a decision would have to be made by "the first of the week" if the college is to salvage its hopes of coeducation in 1969.

A university spokesman said Brewster will meet throughout the weekend with members of the Yale Corporation.

Prize To Poet Marianne Moore

NEW YORK (AP) — Marianne Moore, who is 81 today, has been named recipient of the 1968 National Medal for Literature which carries a $5,000 prize.

"I am mystified but delighted," declared the white-haired poet upon learning of the award.

The prize, instituted in 1965 by the National Book Committee, honors living American writers for the excellence of their total contribution to literature.

William I. Nichols, committee chairman, said in citing the award: "One of the few true inventors of poetry in our time, Marianne Moore, the first lady of poetry, gives us intimiations of exquisit perfection.

"In her lively art, peacocks, snails, steam rollers, unicorns, baseball, nectarines, mongooses, granite and steel—all evoke enchanged glimpses of eternity."

Premiere Of Movie 'Bullitt' Tonight

By BETTY FROST

Looking forward to the Bay Area premiere of the locally filmed movie, ''Bullitt,'' tonight with special interest is Mrs. H. R. Davis of Belvedere.

The Belvedere matron appears in the tea scene and the airport scene in "Bullitt." The showing, at Cinema 21 in San Francisco at 8:30 tonight, will be her first opportunity to see the film.

A background of fashion modeling and modeling for commercial photographs was the springboard for her acting career. The wife of a retired Army colonel, Alice has lived all over the country and in Europe. She is a native of Oakland.

When the colonel was retired they moved to Marin County 10 years ago. The former officer is now associated with an engineering firm in San Francisco. Once settled in their new home in Belvedere with its garden and pool, Alice found she had some free time. She decided to register with a casting agency and began her career in the world of greasepaint.

A member of both the Screen Actors Guild and the Screen Extras Guild, Alice never knows what kind of assignment she will get. Often the notice is very short. In preparation she maintains an extensive wardrobe and has an assortment of wigs.

"The more different ways you can look, the more work you can get," she explained.

Often typecast as a society matron, Mrs. Davis played the

Dancer, Marie Oare To Entertain In Tokyo

By MOLLY MARIN

Marie Oare, who was Miss Marin County in 1965, flew to Japan today in a group that will entertain at Caeser's Palace in Tokyo for three months.

The group of 40 entertainers is part of a former USO tour, who endeared themselves to the Japanese people, who urged the manager of the Tokyo nightclub to "bring those talented people back."

Marie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Oare of San Rafael. A native of Nottingham, England, she is a graduate of San Rafael High School.

She has been dancing professionally for a year and a half, according to her sister, Robin, a freshman at San Rafael High School, and hopes that this opportunity will be her big break into show business.

VISITING AT THE home of Col. and Mrs. Charles Praul in Novato are Col. Praul's foster father, the Rev. Roy Brinker of Harlan, Iowa and the Praul's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Keenan and 3-year-old son, Danny of Mt. Vernon, Wash.

Rev. Brinker will be staying with the Praul's until Col. Praul's retirement at Hamilton Air Force Base on Nov. 30.

Col. and Mrs. Donald H. Lynch will honor the Prauls at a cocktail party at their home at Hamilton on Nov. 23. They have invited military and civilian friends of the Prauls to the party. Col. Lynch is commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton.

Group Receives Award For Volunteer Work

The Volunteer Bureau's November Volunteer of the Month is unusual in several ways. The award goes to a group of women; for another, they are all senior citizens in a rest home, a group more often on the receiving end of volunteer services than the giving.

Mrs. Marion Kelley, executive director of the Volunteer Bureau, said that "the ladies of Hillcrest Rest Home in Santa Venetia have long deserved commendation for their work on mailings for numerous Marin County agencies. Mrs. Ann Schlotsan, administrator for the rest home, first asked about four years ago for some work that she and the elderly patients at Hillcrest could do. We gave them a mailing to handle and they did it so fast and efficiently that we've heen recommending them ever since."

In the last four years Hillcrest has averaged about a quarter million pieces of mail a year. They have done work for many organizations, including the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association, Muscular Distrophy Association, Cerebral Palsy, Easter Seal, the California State Department of Employment Youth Program, College of Marin, Multiple Sclerosis and the Shakespeare Festival.

The volunteers at Hillcrest are Mrs. Schlotsan, "Annie" as her friends call her, who has been in charge of the rest home for eight years and who instigates and supervises all volunteer work; Miss Mary Crafts of San Rafael; Miss Louise Givanovich of Sausalito; Mrs. Ruby Schneider of San Rafael; and Miss Lorry Ehrer of San Francisco. The residents of Hillcrest are all over 65 and most remain there several years.

Mrs Hans Hartmann of the Muscular Distrophy Association has been working with Hillcrest since last May on the 70,000 piece M.D. mailing. "I don't know how Annie does it", says Mrs. Hartmann. "The Hillcrest output often averages 1,000 envelopes a day and I never have to check anything they do over. Annie even asks me for more and pushes me to get the job done."

Annie herself puts it simply. "We do it to help the agencies, but more than that, to help the people that the agencies help. This is our way of doing something for others. The agencies report back to us on the success of their projects and this is our satisfaction."

Six Matrons Seek Adventure

By GRACE HENDERSON

How many times have Marinites wished they could swish houseguests into a sightseeing adventure that would take them to an unusual and interesting place, one they have not heard of before?

This has happened and will continue as long as local residents stay within their shells, only venturing forth when pressured by guests wishing to absorb the sights and sounds of the Bay Area.

Someone has done something about the situation and they recommend others follow suit. Getting their heads together were two Marin County, two San Francisco and two Piedmont matrons. Their goal was to know the Bay Area better; they are on their way to achieving that goal.

The six women, Mrs. Joanna Wood of Greenbrae, Mrs. B. R. Wilkie of San Anselmo, Mrs. Lawrence Graves and Mrs. Gregory Wood of San Francisco, Mrs. Harold Hoteling of Piedmont and Mrs. Geraldine Becker of Rossmore, formed the "Secret Adventure Club." It's only purpose is to know their region of the Golden State.

Once each month one of the group is responsible for an outing, keeping the destination a surprise for the others. The chief of each tour does as much research as possible, gathering information from Chambers of Commerce and wherever possible.

Once the group is settled in the hostess' car ready for their monthly exploration they learn of the destination. Then amidst literature supplied by their guide the women begin learning new facts about a certain area, place or part of the area known as "their own back door."

Thus far, "secret adventures" has taken the troupe to a picnic on Angel Island where the women hiked trails and topped it off with a boat ride from Sausalito to the San Rafael Canal; a journey to Point Reyes Peninsula, Bodega Bay and Inverness; Jack London Square and surrounding antique shops followed by a tour of the University of California campus; Stanford Campus and Sunset House and Garden display; the "secret" steps down Telegraph hill, lunch at the Japanese Cultural Center and attending the International Trade Exhibit in the Ferry Building in San Francisco where they were to discover only firms also having shops in Japan may be in business.

The six women involved in the local group have been friends for many years and have come to look upon the outings as the highlight of each month. Many places have been explored but there are more just waiting for the "secret adventuresses."

By the end of an exploring day the women have learned history and facts relative to each destination. "Weather will never interfere," said Lovita Wilkie, a third generation San Franciscan now living in San Anselmo and wishing to learn more about the Bay Area. She went on to explain how prior to assembling for the day's excursion the women are informed as to appropriate clothing. From there everything else is a surprise.

Indoor discoveries contemplated for the winter months include art exhibits, processing plants, industry tours and other points of interest not dependent on weather. This month and next there will be Christmas decorations at Sunset House which the women hope to see.

All tours are scheduled during off-hours on a weekday to avoid the pressure of crowds and traffic. A limit of one carload is best said Mrs. Wilkie adding that six women on an educational tour get plenty of attention from guards and tour escorts wherever they go. "We learn so much," she added.

Lovita Wilkie, instigator of the group, recommends other women try the "Secret Adventure" approach to learning more about their back yard. "It is not only educational but also an inexpensive outing which could appeal to anyone," she concluded.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

If Husband Grocery Shopped He Would Increase The Ante

DEAR HELEN:

My husband can't believe groceries cost as much as they do. He gives me $20 a week for all food bills and, as we have two children, I can't make it stretch.

When I run out of money by about Friday, I must humbly beg for more and he gets mad and throws it on the table. He says we'll never save money to buy a house if I'm so extravagant, and the fur flies.

He isn't terribly cheap on other matters. We have a nice car and a good vacation each year. Why can't he see it costs to eat too? — T.Y.

DEAR T:

Why don't you turn grocery shopping over to your husband for a month? Or at least invite him along as you buy. Unless he is partial to beans, hamburger and powdered milk, he'll soon up the ante —I hope! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I read how television is influencing our young people — how violence in large doses may be catching; how children become alienated because they are glued to the tube and not communicating with parents — and I wonder whose children they mean?

My kids don't have time for much television, and neither do any of their friends! They have one or two favorite programs a week — and these are the laugh shows, not violence. When younger, they watched Saturday morning cartoons, if nothing better came up.

As teen-agers, they are constantly reminding us old folks that we overdo television and it's "the opiate of the masses."

I'll bet a survey would show that adults watch television at least three times as much as do the kids. What do you think, Helen?

— DOTTY

DEAR DOT:

I've never seen a comprehensive survey on child vs. adult TV viewing habits, but I agree with you that busy young people aren't as addicted as their parents. They're more selective about programs and they often choose records over the tube. I doubt television has as much influence on our children as sociologists and psychologists sometimes think. — H.

DEAR READERS:

I've met via HHU, a woman you'd like to know, if you enjoy people who see the bright side. She writes, "As for my troubles, I really don't have any. While we complain and fault others, we miss many blessings, and the opportunities to help . . . "

This woman, Mrs. Irene Boone, Rt. 1, Box 41, Varnado, La., 70467, is paralyzed from her chest down as a result of an automobile accident 11 years ago. Why don't you write her a letter and tell her you're cheering for her? —H.

Teens Speak Out On Early Marriage Age

Will today's high school sweethearts be tomorrow's young newlyweds?

The odds are against it, reports the Institute of Life Insurance, which has recently conducted an attitude survey involving more than 1800 high school juniors and seniors.

When it comes to early marriage, there's a difference of opinion between boys and girls. A much higher percentage of girls than boys said it was likely that they would be married by the time they reach their twenty-first birthdays.

These statistics make the point. Forty-two percent of the girls in the survey said they would likely be married by age 21. Only 14 per cent of the boys expressed the same expectation. So, if this turns out to be true, a high percentage of tomorrow's fresh-out-of high-school brides will be marrying (as is traditional) boys who are older than themselves.

However, the idea of putting off marriage until after college, military service or a few carefree years of work is popular with high proportions of the youngsters in the survey. Forty-three per cent of the girls said they would be likely to wed between the ages of 21 and 25. Forty-eight per cent of the boys said the same thing. So if these classmates should marry — it won't be for a few years.

The survey which brought these figures to light was done by self administered questionaires in cooperation with teachers in high schools located throughout the United States. In general, the students questioned came from "middle income" homes with a third indicating a family income of $10,000 or more.

The answers to the "when are you likely to marry?" question divided themselves this way:

Girls: two percent already married; eight per cent likely to marry after high school; 32 per cent likely to marry between 18 and 21 years; 43 per cent likely to marry between 21 and 25 years; two per cent likely to marry after age 26; 13 per cent don't know.

Boys: one per cent already married; one per cent likely to marry after high school; 12 per cent likely to marry between 18 and 21 years; 48 per cent likely to marry between 21 and 25 years; 15 per cent likely to marry after age 26; 23 per cent don't know.

The students in the survey were asked if they agree with the following statement:

"A mother with young children can manage a career outside the home without her children being adversely affected by it, if she wants to work."

About half the girls in the survey agreed. Sixty-three per cent of the boys disagreed.

Weekend Buys— Pork Up

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers will find excellent supplies of pork and poultry, good supplies of beef and adequate supplies of some fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets.

Supplies of broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys should be more than adequate to meet the needs of all shoppers. Pork features include bacon, boston butts and roasts and chops. Smoked picnics may be features in some areas.

BEEF ROASTS and steaks appear to be in good supply along with ground beef in some areas.

Fish buys to watch for are fresh and frozen fish fillets and steaks, oysters and canned salmon, according to the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Fresh vegetables in adequate supply in all areas are cabbage, lettuce, onions and potatoes. The most ample fresh fruit in all areas is apples. Some areas may display good stocks of avocados and bananas.

Service League Head Does Charitable Work

The San Domenico Service League is being headed by Mrs. Gregory K. Solon of Ross, a member of the league since it was founded four years ago.

Anne-Marie Solon has previously served as chairman of the transportation and hospitality committees of the school service league. She describes the purpose of the organization as helping the nuns and serving San Domenico School.

MRS. GREGORY SOLON

Members staff the school office, work in the library, provide hospitality and driving services when needed and plan school dances. The organization, limited to 50 members, is currently planning a Christmas bazaar.

Mrs. Solon was educated in France. She and her husband have lived in Marin 18 years. They have five children: Alan, 19, Odette, 16, Denise, 12, Robert, 8, and Lawrence 6 years old.

The new president is a member of the board of Sunny Hills. She is also active in the Marin Charitable Foundation, the De Young Museum Auxiliary, Red Cross, Ross Brookwood Hat Guild and the Marin Music Chest. Her pastimes are golf, bridge and flower arranging of old-fashioned bouquets.

Anne-Marie enjoys going to the symphony, reading, traveling and, she says, "people in general." In keeping with her international background, she collects antique French furniture and is learning to speak Spanish.

Other officers of the San Domenico Service League are Mesdames John L. Richard, vice chairman; Vincent Sullivan, recording secretary; A. T. Bertolli, corresponding secretary; and Arthur W. Relfe, treasurer.

FAMILY

Inspector Clouseau — Detective of French Surete is assigned to Scotland Yard to trap a gang of bank robbers. Bumbling Frenchman becomes victim of every trap he sets . . . amusing.

King Kong Escapes — Japanese science fiction singularly lacking in the customary violence of monster battles. The campy tale derives much of its interest from ingeneously staged special effects.

Paper Lion — Sports writer joins football team as a rookie so he can write an authentic story. Exceptional for football fans.

ADULTS AND TEENS

Day the Fish Came Out — A provocative satiric comedy built around the serious subject of two lost radio active bombs. The search turns into a mad comedy.

For the Love of Ivy — A romantic comedy, shiny and unreal, exploit comic misconceptions on both sides of race question. Torrid bed scene and some language startingly frank.

Heart Is A Lonely Hunter — A rather sad story about a deaf-mute who in his loneliness touches the lives of many. Compassionate tale is tenderly told and played with rare perception.

Madigan — Exciting manhunt provides interesting views of New York Police Departmtnt.

"The Party"—Inane slapstick comedy. Bumbling actor crashes a lavish Hollywood party, disaster strikes from the minute he arrives. Bathroom vulgarity is crudely juvenile.

Wait Until Dark — Blind woman becomes captive of three criminals in search of heroin. Hair-raising thriller, very well acted. Film becomes a living experience, excruciating suspense.

BORDERLINE
(Some say Adults Only)

Cool Hand Luke — Brutal downbeat story about a non-conformist prisoner in a southern road construction prison camp. Tough unsparing drama.

ADULTS ONLY

Boston Strangler — Action centers around frustrating efforts of police to catch a sexual psycopath. Thirteen are strangled before he is caught.

If He Hollers Let Him Go — Plot is so filled with explicit sex and brutality that story of racial justice is lost.

I Love You, Alice B. Toklas — This satire makes free love and drugs seem the life of happiness.

A Lovely Way To Die — Interesting places in New York and good acting highlight this murder mystery. Plot confused and filled with sex and brutality.

Prudence and the Pill — Impudent British comedy tries to be funny about the pill. It discloses an interrelated chain of marital and extra marital problems.

Ulysses — Straight adaptation of James Joyce's controversial novel. More candid and explicit in its treatment of sex than any film to date.

A heated political campaign was underway in Milwaukee when the typewriter was perfected in that town. Chrisopher Sholes, one of the inventors, was the first man to pick out "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

Mill Valley Tryouts Set For 'The Miser'

Tryouts for roles in Moliere's "The Miser" will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse. Volunteers for technical work on the play will also be interviewed.

"The Miser," sponsored by the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts, the Tiburon Cove Players and the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department, will be directed by Dan Caldwell of Tamalpais High School. Technical direction will be by William Carter, president of the Cove Players.

Contest Winner Voices Surprise

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first Negro to be named Miss UCLA says she's surprised, because she wears her hair in what she calls natural African style.

"I'm natural and it is unusual, or at least I think it's unusual, for the average American beauty contest judge to accept me as beautiful in my own terms," said Carolyn Webb, a 20-year-old English major at the University of California at Los Angeles.

tions. Closing nights are now on Mondays and Tuesdays. Look for a possible increase of his 10-course dinner from $7.50 to $10 soon. Customers stay around for four hours to consume it.

If you belong to a group interested in improving its wine knowledge, you might take a cue from the San Anselmo Rotary Club which is having its regular meeting here while Fred gives his famous "10-minute course" in wine tasting.

More wines are being dsiplayed at the bar — many of them "discoveries." Sales are by the glass or by the bottle.

CHEF NOW at the Peacock in Novato is Lom Hin, who was at Lin Fa Gardens from the time of its opening.

Walt and Jae Soon Del Rose celebrated completion of their second year here this week — congratulations. The Peacock was successful right from the start and we wish it many more happy years. There is some talk by Walt of further expansion, but apparently there is only one direction to go at this location — and that is up.

NOW IN CHARGE of the culinary department at Lin Fa Gardens is Chinn — and that's the only name he uses. No matter — he's been there quite a while and is familiar with all the Lin Fa Chinese specialties. On Friday and Saturday nights he's also adept at turning out a juicy prime rib dinner at $3.75.

Organist Dick Sederman is on vacation this week, but a fine professional, Hal Schutz of South San Francisco, is taking over for him at the console tonight and tomorrow night. He is also an organ teacher and is highly regarded in organ circles.

Friends of Walter Choy, former bar manager at Lin Fa, will be pleased to know that he is now in Sacramento and doing well. He had thought to retire, but can't seem to get around to the inactive life.

ANOTHER SECOND ANNIVERSARY is being celebrated by Eugene Lackenbach. He's now had two years at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, San Rafael. Double congratulations — one for the anniversary and the other for securing Penny Decota for a breakfast and lunch chef. Don't be surprised if some of her prized "goop-goop" shows up on the menu.

Penny has been doing the cooking at Taberna, across the street.

TABERNA has discontinued lunches and now starts its day at 4 p.m.

There's a "Happy Hour" from 5 to 6 with hotand cold hors d'oeuvres and a potluck dinner at $1.75 including wine and prepared by Terry and Jeaneille, commencing at 6 p.m.

Next weekend it is planned to have a breakfast show on Friday and Saturday nights. George Campanelli and his group will play from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Another group will come in to carry on the musical program from 2:30 to 5 a.m. Group for the opening night may be The Womb, but this isn't definite. Food service during the breakfast club hours will be three eggs, bacon or ham and O'Brien potatoes.

AN OLD TRADITION gets its annual renewal tonight, as Franchini's Chateau restores crab cioppino to its Friday dinner menu for the season which will last until early summer.

On the same menu you'll find 14 other seafood dishes, including lobster, sole, oysters, scallops, prawns, salmon, abalone, mahi mahi and frog legs.

MARKET OWNER Frank Petrini has expanded into another branch of the food industry — the restarwurant, to be opened about Dec. 1 at 477 Ninth Avenue, near South Claremont, San Mateo.

It will feature two dining rooms, cocktail lounge and piano bar. Banquet and party facilities will be available for groups up to 200.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1968 25

HE'LL BE THERE — Arnold, the pig from television, will appear at the dedication tomorrow of the new humane education center of the Marin Humane Society in Ignacio.

New Humane Center's Dedication Tomorrow

The Marin County Humane Society's new humane education center in Ignacio will be dedicated at a 2 p.m. open house tomorrow.

The $450,000 center—to shelter animals and educate the community on their care—has been described by society directors as one of the most advanced in the country.

In addition to a clinic aviary, quarters for up to 200 dogs and cats, quarantine pens and a horse corral, the center will have an education room where animal interest groups may meet.

The center, at 171 Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, will be the first of two society buildings on a nine-acre site. A pavilion with an arena and bleachers to show dogs and horses and to conduct training classes will be constructed at a later date.

When completed, the society's new headquarters, replacing San Rafael offices, is expected to cost $750,000.

The education center was financed through loans from savings and loan associations at low interest rates, gifts from dog clubs and memorial donations. Other funds were raised through lease of the San Rafael quarters.

Society operations are financed entirely by private contributions and contracts for services to the county and cities of Marin.

Radio personality Carter B. Smith will be master of ceremonies at the dedication, and a feature of the ceremony will be the appearance of Arnold, the pig from the Green Acres television show and winner of Picture Animal Top Star of the Year Award.

Sculptor Benny Bufano will unveil his statue of a mother bear and cubs on the patio at the center, according to Mel Morse, executive director of the society. Morse has returned after a leave of absence as president of the Humane Society of the United States.

The Marin society, which is 61 years old, annually houses more than 15,000 stray and abandoned animals.

Operation Of Nursery School Is Cleared Up

Patrick O'Donnell, director of instruction for San Anselmo School District, said today that he will not operate the nursery school proposed at 39 Yolanda Drive, San Anselmo, if a use permit is granted for it.

"I would simply own the property," O'Donnell said. The school, he reported, would be operated by a group of women headed by Barbara Wander, who operated a successful school for small children in San Anselmo last summer. It would enroll children from 3 to 6 years old.

The proposal for the school is being opposed by some Yolanda subdivision residents. The application is to be considered by the San Anselmo Planning Commission at its meeting at 8 p.m. Monday.

Police Chief Orr Suffers Minor Injury

Fairfax Police Chief James R. Orr, 40, suffered a minor injury early this morning when his car skidded on wet pavement and hit a tree at the intersection of Cascade Drive and Hickory Road in Fairfax, according to police.

Chief Orr was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip at about 12:45 a.m.

Taped Messages Offered For GIs

Marin residents can send taped messages to servicemen overseas at no charge through a special Christmas project of the United Service Organization.

Taping booths are available at the Radio Shack, 1328 Fourth Street, San Rafael, where messages are recorded, boxed and mailed to the servicemen, the USO reported.

Vince Villano Jr., manager of the Radio Shack, said he would provide the service until a few days before Christmas.

Details Snag Marin City's Plans For Local Controls

By FRANK FARRARA

Marin City's three major homegrown organizations generally agreed on self-determination in planning and development last night, but ran into a snag on details.

The Marin City Council and the Development Corporation of Marin agreed on a proposed plan to put Marin City under local control, but the Marin City Community Services District board postponed its vote.

The stumbling block to unanimous agreement came when Doretha Mitchell, a service district director, said, "I'm not going to vote tonight," and Orpha Elmina Barnes, another director, said, can't make up my mind tonight."

Representatives of the three groups met at the Manzanita Center to act on a resolution specifying their roles in developing their community.

Ulysses J. Montgomery, urban planning consultant of San Francisco, explained the proposed program as follows:

1. That the Marin City Council be designated as the community's planning representative.

2. That the Development Corporation of Marin be designated as the community's development representative.

3. That all programs be subject to review, approval and implementation by the council, the corporation and the community services district.

4. That there be coordination with other organizations in Marin City.

5. That the council, corporation and district request other governmental agencies to recognize their functions.

At one point, the Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., council chairman, asked if there were any objections to the council having the planning function and none was voiced.

Douglas J. Quiett, chairman of the services district board, said he agreed with the concept, but wanted the district's function "clearly defined" and tighter definitions of the duties of the two other organizations.

At a district board meeting before the joint session, Quiett said, "there has to be a clear understanding of who plays what role. We have to cut down the confusion to avoid the mistakes of the past, and we have to involve the community. There shouldn't be overlapping."

Quiett said community support is needed, but the "inaccurate kind of reporting" given and "all kinds of rumors" lead to dissent.

Mrs. Barnes said the services district cannot afford to be led "into a trap." She pointed out that the community has the Marin County Redevelopment Agency to work in development and the Marin County Planning Commission to work on planning.

Montgomery urged the residents to "take control of what's happening in Marin City" by taking the jobs of planning and development.

The proposals were written in general terms deliberately, and the final details could be worked out in a series of meetings of the three organizations, Montgomery said.

"We're talking principles and suggesting that these three groups take control of everything done in Marin City," he said.

Quiett said there was some feeling that pressure was being generated "to going into this right away."

Daniel Hayden Sr., a member of the council and a director of the corporation, said there was urgency because possible federal grants were involved and the national administration is going to change in January.

The council has applied to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a planning grant and the corporation hopes to receive financing through the Small Business Administration.

Hayden explained the corporation's plan to develop a neighborhood commercial area, which would house existing businesses in Marin City, to be financed by the Small Business Administration and the sale of stocks to Marin City residents.

"For too many years profits have gone to people outside Marin City," he said. "There's nothing wrong with the people of Marin City making a buck."

Ronald Foster, a council member and corporation director, was rebuked when he pushed for action by the two reluctant woman directors of the service district.

Quiett noted that the district board will meet at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday at the Manzanita Center and resume its discussion on the program.

At the board meeting preceding the joint session, directors denied they had acted at a council-corporation session Nov. 4 to support the plan, as reported in the Independent-Journal Nov. 5.

"There are enough problems without misleading articles," said Quiett.

They also challenged the I-J claim that it was an illegal meeting. Frank Phillips Sr., a director, said the services district didn't call the meeting, and the three directors who attended were there as residents "which is their right" and didn't take any action.

Oak Knoll Tenants Receive Pledge To Study Rent Hikes

After hearing complaints from residentssof the Oak Knolls apartments about an impending rent raise, the Marin City Council last night called for a committee to seek ways to avoid a rent hike.

California Developers Inc. has been granted permission from the Federal Housing Authority to boost the rents by $23.50 to $126 a month in the lower bracker, and by $35 to $175 a month in the upper bracket, but hasn't yet acted.

Tenants contended that such increases would force many longtime Marin City residents out of the community, and challenged the firm's contention that maintenance costs were high.

There were about 35 persons in attendance from the 56 rental units asking the council to take a stand on the increases.

Council members suggested that residents might aid with maintenance to keep down costs to forestall the rent hike.

Douglas J. Quiett, chairman of the Marin City Community Services District board, said he didn't feel that calling a rent strike was the only choice for residents.

The council authorized its housing committee, headed by Ronald Foster, to form a committee with representatives of Oak Knolls, the developers and the Marin County Redevelopment Agency to seek a solution to the rent problem.

Council members also reviewed a preliminary $290,000 budget for a two-year demonstration program from Plan of Action for Challenging Times, San Francisco consultants to the council.

Council member Frank Phillips Sr. noted that the final budget will depend upon how much is allocated by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

PACT's plan is to apply for the full amount for the proposed two-year planning grant to cover the area of community development, law enforcement, beautification, transportation, health services and home improvements.

The two-year preliminary budget includes $100,000 for administrative services, $14,720 for accounting services, $85,000 for consultant services, and $90,000 for a community survey.

The Marin City Council also:

ACCESS ROAD — Approved in principle construction of a second access road to Marin City, as proposed by Marin County, but withheld comment on location.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 7:30 Nov. 27 at Manzanita Center, a day earlier than the regularly scheduled meeting because of Thanksgiving holiday.

Fair-Marin's Board Seeks More Power

Fair-Marin directors, who will operate the county fairgrounds site at the Civic Center, agreed last night that they need more autonomy in planning and scheduling than the county administrator recommends.

Chairman Harold Stockstad said the directors drafted a proposed contract with the county, which differs from a contract recommended by the county administrator.

ACREAGE ISSUE

For example, Fair-Marin directors want control over 80 acres of the 140-acre Civic Center site. The 80 acres would include the lagoon and areas to the east. The county administrator would limit Fair-Marin's control to a much smaller area centered around the Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

"In general, we differ in the degree of autonomy," said Stockstad.

"For example, we believe we should do the planning and maintenance of buildings and grounds." He said Fair-Marin should set the dates for the annual fair and the fee schedule for use of the memorial auditorium.

Under the county administrator's recommendation, planning, maintenance and setting of fee schedule would be subject to approval by the county board of supervisors.

WORKSHOP

Stockstad said a workshop with the county supervisors is set for 9 a.m. Nov. 26 to thrash out the differences.

A quarterly meeting of the Fair-Marin membership will be held in the Civic Center at 8 p.m. on Dec. 2.

Injuries Minor In Auto Mishap

Two San Francisco women received minor injuries last night when their car slid off Shoreline Highway into a drainage ditch in Tamalpais Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

The accident occurred at 10:40 p.m. on a curve opposite the Fountain Motel, the patrol reported.

The driver, Shang Mei Lee, 27, of San Francisco, required no hospital treatment for a cut cheek, but two passengers were treated at Marin General Hospital — Nancy Neun, 26, for multiple cuts and bruises, and Vera Cameron, 27, for cuts on the jaw.

MARIN CAMPUS RALLY

A Day For Blacks, Latins, Protests

By ROSS DAVIS

In a hodgepodge of live music, wandering dogs and speeches, about 350 College of Marin students yesterday rallied to the causes of black students, Latin-American revolutions, and draft resistance.

A draft card turn-in also occurred, but not until Jaime Raul Muniz, 20, a student co-sponsor of the college homecoming and spirit week rally, had declared the rally ended.

Muniz then said, "I'm turning my card in. Anybody want to join me?"

Eight other students did. Four of the group embraced Muniz at the microphone on the Olney Hall stage. Another even burned a card.

Muniz, who declined to give the names of the card donors, said however that the burned card was a draft classification card, not a draft registration card.

He said the nine cards will be mailed to Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, National Selective Service director.

(Cards turned in in the Bay Area were passed on to the Resistance in San Francisco, which reported 87 cards collected in addition to those from College of Marin: 26 from San Jose State, 23 from Stanford, 18 from University of California, 13 from San Mateo and 7 from University of San Francisco.)

Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students who earlier had ruled that a proposed card turn-in would be illegal at a college fuction and would not be permitted, told newsmen the turn-in occurred after close of the rally, and therefore wass not a responsibility of the college.

The rally, originally scheduled outside Harlan Hall but moved inside because of rain, also saw two black students demand that schools hire more black teachers for instruction in Afro-American courses.

Walter Turner, now a student at shut down San Francisco State College and formerly of College of Marin, said the Black Student Union there is seeking to have the Afro-American studies taught by Negro teachers, and to have black students participate in the hiring of these teachers.

Turner also called for more programs to offer financial assistance to black students.

Michael Pardia, a member of the College of Marin black student group, said the demands for black teachers, screening rights by students in hiring black teachers, financial assistance to black students, and a full-time liaison official for better understanding between the college administration and black students will be requested of the College of Marin administration in the near future.

He also said his group will seek more black counselors, and the launching of a drive to enroll more black students for a better black-white ratio at College of Marin students.

Another black student, who refused to identify himself, declared if the requests are denied, they should be insisted upon. "If it means closing down school, we're going to close down this school, if you dig it," he said.

Charles Sizemore, student counselor at the college, said the problem of white teachers teaching black courses is pointed up in the absurdity of a white San Francisco teacher who attempted to teach small Negro students that "black is beautiful."

He said only black teachers can adequately relate to black students in many topics.

Sizemore, a Negro, told newsmen he and others are seeking to count experimental black courses as credits toward a student's major pursuits.

He said such courses are Afro-American music, art, literature, and history. College of Marin now has two black teachers and three white teachers for these courses, Sizemore said.

Alex Georgiadis, a history teacher at Dominican College in San Rafael, said his topic was Latin-American revolutions, but the plight of the Latin-American is closely related to that of the black. He said the lives of people increasingly are being molded and affected by others.

"When you deny decisions by the blacks in this country, it is racism," he said.

Henry D. Gregory IV, a student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo and member of the anti-draft group, Resistance, declared that as long as someone keeps a draft card, he is saying "yes" to military conscription and to murder.

First half of the two-hour rally was music by the rock and roll group, the Transatlantic Railroad.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Many Crimes, Though Small, Are Committed At The Table

"More crimes are committed at the bridge table than in the streets," Sherlock Holmes commented mournfully as he got up from his kibitzing chair at the Baker Street Bridge Club. Dr. Watson followed him out, wondering what the great detective was complaining about. The good doctor had seen nothing wrong.

WITH ACE

East took the first trick with the ace of hearts and continued with the queen. West ruffed declarer's king of hearts and shifted to the nine of diamonds. East played the 10, and South won with the king of diamonds.

South drew trumps and led a club, but the defenders had no trouble getting a club and two diamonds to defeat the contract. It was immediately after this hand that Sherlock Holmes left the club. See if you can spot the crime and the criminal before you read on.

CASE OF REGICIDE

South was the criminal, and his crime was regicide. By giving up the king of hearts to slaughter, South lost his contract. When East led the queen of hearts at the second trick South should have played a low heart instead of the king.

If East continues with the jack of hearts (the best defense) South plays his other low heart, ruffing in the dummy. South draws two rounds of trumps and can then safely cash the king of hearts to discard a diamond from dummy. The defenders get two hearts, one diamond and one club, but South makes his contract.

COULD LOSE

The actual declarer hoped that West had started with two hearts instead of only one, but there was no need to wish for an absurdity. South could well afford to lose two hearts and only one diamond instead of hoping to lose one heart and two diamonds.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

There is no need to respond to partner's opening bid when you have only four points in high cards and no fit. A response of two clubs is no solution to your problem since your partner is forced to bid again. Moreover, you cannot be sure that you will be better off at clubs than he would be at hearts.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Nov. 15, the 320th day of 1968 with 46 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1492 Christopher Columbus noted in his journal the use of tobacco among the indians of the new world, the first recorded reference to tobacco.

In 1806 explorer Zebulon Pike sighted the mountain peak that later was to bear his name.

In 1920 the first assembly of the league of nations was gaveled to order in Geneva, Switzerland.

In 1948 William Lyon Mackenzie retired as prime minister of Canada after serving 21 years, 5 months and 5 days—a record for the British Commonwealth.

A thought for the day: Ethel Barrymore coined a line in 1904 after receiving enthusiastic applause for her role in a play. It became her trademark: "That's all there is; there isn't any more."

Here's the cleanest, like new 1967 car in the county. Local couple who have always been a Buick owner tried a Chev in '67 and traded on another new Buick.

There isn't a thing wrong with this clean car. It's so new you can't tell it from a new one on our floor. Fully equipped including 327 V-8 engine, GM air conditioning, power steering, custom interior and vinyl landau top.

Unusually low mileage — just broken in.

U.S. Bishops Drafting Pill Ban Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops approved today a compromise on birth control that would keep married couples who practice contraception from being cut off from the church.

The bishops also reportedly called for a reassessment of the war in Vietnam and urged draft exemptions for youths with a conscientious objection to a specific war.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops took its vote in a secret session with no immediate announcement of the text of its controversial pastoral letter. But a member of the conference confirmed the approval and said there was no significant change in the proposal when it was brought up for final debate.

The American bishops backed Pope Paul VI's ban on birth control, but said married couples who find it impossible to follow will not be excluded from communion and other church sacraments.

"Conscientious Catholic couples, when overwhelmed by . . . pressures, will not be discouraged if they have resorted to artificial contraception or otherwise fallen into sin; nor should they fail to take full advantage of the strength that comes from the sacraments . . . " said a key sentence in one version of the proposed pastoral letters.

Another version said that married couples "should never be complacent" if they resorted to artificial birth control but would still be open to the church's sacraments.

In another controversial section the bishops were asked to take an increasingly critical stance on the war in Vietnam and the draft.

It called for selective conscientious objection for youths unable to fight in a specific war.

The proposed statement asked whether the Vietnam war had reached the point of human cost where it was no longer worthwhile.

The bishops were also asked to back nuclear disarmament and challenge both the arms race and the U.S. decision to build a thin-line antiballistic missile system.

"We seriously question whether the present policy of maintaining nuclear superiority is meaningful for security," the proposed version said.

Supremes Singer Mother Of Twins

Michele Denise weighed 4 pounds 5 ounces; Nicole Rene weighed 3 pounds 7 ounces.

Smugglers Doing Well Inside India

Deputy Prime Minister Morarji Desai indicated to Parliament that a special breed of smuggler has been observed and caught — members of the capital's considerable diplomatic community.

Twelve cases of "unauthorized importation of foreign goods" allegedly involving foreign diplomats were uncovered in the last two years, Desai said.

Among intercepted smuggled goods were $10,000 worth of nylon saris, highly prized by Indian women.

Charles B. Darrow, a salesman jobless in the depression, invented the game "Monopoly" in 1929 and died a millionaire in 1967.

Draft Foe's Father On Federal Side

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A retired Army lieutenant colonel's son charged with failing to register for the draft heard his father testify against him as the sole witness for the prosecution.

He testified that his son left the family home in April 1967 and had been working to promote a boycott against California table grapes.

A main defense witness was Cesar Chavez, boycott organizer and leader of the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee which has been striking Central Valley vineyards since 1965.

Chavez testified that Bryan told him he had refused to register because he was opposed to war.

"I believe he is sincere and conscientious and that's why I'm here," Chavez said.

Chavez, troubled with a back ailment, testified from a chair on the courtroom floor, a nurse at his side.

Government attorney Paul Sloan submitted a letter Patrick had addressed to the U.S. Attorney's office on his 18th birthday, saying he found compliance with selective service to be "immoral."

Young Bryan faces a possible maximum penalty, if convicted, of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The first Democratic Convention was held in 1832 in Baltimore, where Andrew Jackson was nominated for a second term. The Republican Party, as it is known today, convened for the first time in 1856 at Philadelphia to nominate John C. Fremont for President. He opposed Democrat James Buchanan.

Balance Of Payments Shows A Turnaround

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first quarterly surplus in the U.S. balance of payments in more than three years was reported today by the Johnson administration.

The surplus was small, $35 million, but officials interpreted it as evidence the crash program President Johnson announced in January to rescue the balance of payments from a rapidly worsening trend is paying off.

The surplus follows a second-quarter deficit of $160 million and a first-quarter deficit of $680 million.

These descending figues came in the wake of a serious deterioration in 1967 when the total balance was in deficit by $3.6 billion.

The balance of payments is in effect an income-and-outgo statement that compares what Americans and their government spend or lend in dealings with individuals and governments of other nations and what those nations spend or invest in the United States in return.

Since the differences ultimately are settled in gold, the United States with a balance-of-payments deficit every year but one since 1950, has seen its gold reserves dwindle correspondingly over those years.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, attending North Atlantic Treaty Organization meetings in Brussels, released a statement here saying the third-quarter figures, while welcome, are in some respects unbalanced and dependent on transitory elements.

"Therefore, we cannot let up in our efforts to implement all of the balance-of-payments measures contained in President Johnson's action program," Fowler said. "We must continue with this program in the months ahead and must assure that all segments of the economy share proportionately in this effort until equilibrium is established on an enduring basis."

Fowler noted that for the first nine months of 1968 the payments deficit totaled $805 million, compared with a deficit of more than twice as much, 1.8 billion, at the three-quarter point last year.

The major soft spots in the campaign to strengthen the balance-of-payments stance, he said, are trade and tourism.

Trade was until recently the perennially reliable factor in the over-all balance-of-payments picture but a serious reversal has set in. The public is buying imported goods at a greatly accelerated rate this year, to the extend that even though U.S. exports are moving up at a record rate they are hard put to keep ahead of goods flowing into the country.

Family Is Really Close To Military

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (UPI)—The Charles N. Clark family is used to saluting. Son John Clark, 19, is the latest to be inducted into the army.

Young Clark's father is a retired army major. Clark's two other sons, Charles L. Clark, 27, and Richard J. Clark, 21, are serving in Vietnam. A fourth son, Paul T. Clark, was in the service until 1964. Clark's daughter, Penny, 26, is a former member of the Women's Army Corps.

Disney Braille Figures Designed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—There is a kind of special room at the Jules Stein Eye Institute on the UCLA campus. It was designed by the late Walt Disney to enable blind and near-blind children below the age of 10 to "see" the famed characters he produced.

The walls are covered with blocked mosaic figures of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Pluto and the rest of the Disney gang. The children "see" the characters by running their fingers over them.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Talk Heals Through Skilled Ministrations Of Psychiatrist

VAN DELLEN

Our mental image of a psychiatrist is a physician sitting next to a patient who is reclining on a couch. The doctor is listening, because the man or woman is doing most of the talking. If the patient is being psychoanalyzed, it will be a long, tedious process.

Ordinary psychotherapy takes less time because the psychiatrist does not delve too deeply into the subconscious.

Talk heals. Through it the individual brings up and re-lives his experiences, usually those of childhood. In other words, the patient gets a chance to return to the past.

At $25 or more an hour it is not idle chatter, but the session is free from the restraints of daily living. It is uninhibited, with a free association of thoughts and ideas.

MEANWHILE, the physician uses skill and understanding to interpret what is being said. The conversation usually reveals underlying emotional drives that cause psychic conflicts. Painful experiences that have been unpleasant often are deeply buried in the subconscious. Only through self-confrontation is relief obtained. Success depends upon the intelligence and cooperation of the patient.

Psychoanalysis is of no value in treating psychotics. They have lost touch with reality and suffer from delusions or hallucinations. They are too confused to cooperate with a therapist.

In the past, psychotics were institutionalized for years and given shock therapy.

TRANQUILIZERS brought about a remarkable change in the care of these individuals. Today many are being released from mental hospitals and are able to return to family and job. The newer drugs help considerably to calm the agitated, perk up the depressed, and lessen disabling fears and phobias.

TWIN RECORD

A reader writes: What is the birth weight of the largest set of twins recorded? I recently had twin boys. Their total weight was 18 pounds 2 ounces, and at the hospital I was told we broke the weight record for twins.

REPLY

DeLee gives 35.5 pounds as the largest combined weight ever recorded. You may hold the local record but you will have to try again if you are going for the world championship.

TYPES OF LEG ULCER

A reader writes: How many types of leg ulcers are there?

REPLY

Too many to mention. The commonest types are those due to varicose veins, phlebitis (inflamation of a vein), poor circulation such as hardening of the arteries, pernio, and lesions due to specific infections such as tuberculosis or syphilis.

JOINTS PAINFUL AT 5

Mrs. P. writes: Once in a while my 5-year-old son has pain in his knees and ankles. Would X-rays determine whether he has arthritis or rheumatic fever?

REPLY

Blood tests are more reliable and should be done when distress is severe and persistent. There is a possibility that neither disease exists, since children his age roughhouse and injuries are common.

OZENA

A reader writes: Is there a condition of the nose that cannot be noticed by the victim but is obvious to others?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge, except for ozena. In this disease, an odor is given off that the victim cannot smell. But the sufferer can hardly be unaware of the disorder because the lining of the nose is covered with large green crusts.

Disney Brother Changes Posts

BURBANK (AP)—Roy O. Disney resigned as president of Walt Disney Productions yesterdey, saying he wants to concentrate on plans for the company's Walt Disney World project near Orlando, Fla.

Disney and his late brother, Walt, co-founded the firm in 1923. Roy Disney's resignation came at the annual board meeting, where the company's gross business last year — including Disneyland—was listed at $137 million.

Disney continues as chairman of the board. Donn B. Tatum becomes president.

43.649 paid circulation makes an impact you can hear all over your cash register!

I-J circulation gives your store advertising dominance in two ways: First, in the NUMBER of homes reached – now 43,649. Second, in the QUALITY of readership.

No other medium in Marin gives you this DOUBLE IMPACT which pulls traffic, makes sales, puts your store ahead. Compare this with direct mail or throw-away neighborhood "newspapers." Since no one PAYS to read them, how can you expect your message to be thoroughly read? Publications like these hit the doorstep – but do they hit the buyer? Look in the wastebasket for the answer!

In contrast, with the I-J your message comes in a newspaper that 72% of all Marin families subscribe to . . . read for the news and advertised values "cover to cover." The ONLY medium which gets home, county-wide.

What a difference that makes to your advertising – and your advertising dollar! No waste. No unwanted throw-away circulation. Instead, solid, cumulative readership which leads to sales and leadership.

Ask Chapman's Shoes, Macy's, Ames Ford, Marin Fabrics. Ask Payless, Wards, Campbell-Bishop or United Markets. Ask the most successful merchants in Marin.

Better, yet, ask yourself: Can your business afford anything less than the I-J, the one advertising medium which produces more?

I-J offers new record coverage

72.0%

of all Marin County homes

Based on Publisher's Statement of 6 months' average paid circulation ending Sept. 30, 1968 as filed with Audit Bureau of Circulations. Subject to audit.

$4,500 Award To A Young Negro

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A $4,500 settlement has been given by the city to a 17-year-old Negro dangled by his heels from a bridge by two city policemen.

The white policemen since have been fired and pleaded guilty in federal court to violating the civil rights of Robert Q. Owens. Both officers were placed on probation.

City Attorney Alan Rothstein said the officers took Owens into custody at a pool hall last spring and drove him to the unfinished expressway bridge 75 feet above the Miami River.

After dangling him from the bridge they forced Owens to undress and one officer punched him several times in the stomach and chest, Rothstein said. Then the police officers drove away.

Prince Calls GIs' Upkeep Too Expensive

SIHANOUKVILLE, Cambodia (AP) — Eleven U.S. soldiers held in Cambodia are giving Prince Norodom Sihanouk a slight pain in the pocketbook.

"Their stay is too expensive," the Cambodian chief of state told visiting foreign newsmen, his eyes twinkling. "I have to pay for many good lunches for them."

The Americans were captured in July when their landing craft strayed into Cambodian waters. During the celebration of the country's 15th anniversary of independence this week, the prisoners have twice been personal guests of the prince in local French gourmet restaurants.

All it would take to release them, Sihanouk said, is a message from President Johnson pledging to avoid border violations and the killing of Cambodians.

"Words from Dean Rusk are not enough," the prince said.

"It should be a message from equal to equal and only Johnson is the equal to me. When I have this message the Americans will be free."

Agnew's Golfing Halted By Rain

DORADO BEACH, P.R. (AP) —Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew was forced today to cancel a golfing trip to St. Croix in the U.S. Virgin Islands because of a driving rainstorm in the area.

Plans to meet on the golf course with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine also were canceled.

Agnew, who is vacationing at Dorado Beach, had invited Humphrey and Muskie to meet him for a round of golf at the Fountain Valley golf course on St. Croix. Humphrey and Muskie are vacationing with their families in St. Johns, in the Virgin Islands.

But it was learned that Humphrey called Agnew last night to advise him that "something had come up" and he could not play.

Terra Linda Preps Go For Unbeaten Season

Tomorrow afternoon's Marin County Athletic League football clash between Redwood High School of Larkspur and Terra Linda High School at College of Marin at 1:30 p.m. may very well be the game that will have more meaning rolled into its four quarters than any other game of a long season.

For Terra Linda it is the one last hurdle with perfection just around the corner.

For Redwood, it is a way to salvage pride, vindicate preseason hopes and perhaps make up for all those wispy victories that slipped away in the final quarter, the second-too-late.

Terra Linda, 7-0-1 on the season and 4-0 in league play, shoots for its first mine-alone title after sharing the crown with Drake for the past two years. The Trojans will also try for their first unbeaten season and the first unbeaten season by an MCAL team since Drake did it four years ago.

Redwood, 3-4-1 on the season and 1-3 in league play with three either-way losses, is primed to derail the Trojan steamroller.

And watching from the sidelines not too disinterestedly will be Novato High School and Drake of San Anselmo players, who either play for second or a piece of the title that night on the same field.

If the Trojans lose, they will share the title with either Drake or Novato, both of which are 6-2 on the season and 3-1 in league play, and both of which have already lost to Terra Linda.

Redwood is in prime shape for an upset. The Giants are healthy, rejuvenated after a 25-6 blasting of San Rafael last week, and offensively loaded.

They will throw a three-pronged attack against the Trojans moving behind a big, beefy line.

They can go to the air with better-every-game quarterback Jim Peters. The running attack can be quick and wide with Carroll and Rob Dorinson or big and tough with amazing fullback Pete Richter, one of the best in the league.

The defense can be good, but hasn't been until last week.

More important, the Giants are hungry. It's like the old battler facing the new force on the horizon. Redwood, in a won-lost decline of late, once was the kingpin of the MCAL, a position that Terra Linda, with two title ties and a 23-3-1 record over the past three seasons, has taken over.

The Trojans are not in all that good shape for this one. Two key members injured in a 26-23 win over Lincoln last week may be out or at least doubtful and hobbled.

One is Steve McClain, a hard-running halfback who suffered a mild concussion in that game. He's the leading Trojan groundgainer and forms a talented one-two duo along with halfback Dan McInnis.

The other is John Dohn, a courage-plus ballplayer who doubles at linebacker and fullback. He suffered knee injuries and is the most serious loss in the lineup.

"Those injuries will hurt us, no doubt about it," Terra Linda coach Don Lucas said. "But our boys know what they need to do. There's no letdown. They're a remarkable group of kids. We respect Redwood, but we don't fear them. We're confident."

The Trojan defense, traditionally tough, should be so again behind the leadership of linebacker John Cullen and defensive halfback Bob Daniele.

It should be a grueling match with everything riding on it.

JIM GILMARTIN

A Vote To Start New Sport In Prep League

SOCCER TO ME — Al Thomson, the former San Rafael High School principal now teaching at Terra Linda High, thinks the Marin County Athletic League should add soccer to its interscholastic menu.

"That's the greatest game going and it gave me the happiest days of my life," he said the other day during a jaw session. Thomson, a former San Francisco State football standout, starred for the S. F. Olympic Club soccer team for 12 years, climaxing his career as a member of the state championship team in 1946.

"I wish our league would get a soccer program going," he said. "They have one in San Francisco, but there doesn't seem to be the interest here. The main drawbacks seem to be th lack of coaches—I'd certainly be willing to help—and stiff competition from football. Maybe," he concluded, "the recreation departments throughout the county can get the soccer ball rolling on a junior level comparable to Pop Warner football and Little League baseball. It's really a great game—the greatest going."

'Kids Would Really Love It'

Thomson, who coached San Rafael High's football team in the late 1940s and early '50s, is convinced only leadership is required to get boys interested in soccer. "Just throw a ball out onto the field and kids will start playing and really love it," he said.

SCOOP-BE-DOO-BE-DOO — They don't call me "Scoop" for nothing. I cover all beats and nothing escapes my attention. Shucks, I even wear a trenchcoat and display my press card in my pork-pie topper, just like in the movies. Cub reporters flock to me for advice. The wire services scan my every potential Pulitzer Prize poop anticipating another in a long line of hot flashes that appear in this corner.

Did It Just The Other Day

Why, just the other day I did it again. (Stop the presses!) I came up with the startling news that Marin Catholic High School football star Jim O'Brien is a little squirt. I listed his physical stature as 165 pounds in a 5-foot, 10-inch tall frame, commenting that his diminutiveness (by football standards) could curtail his collegiate career.

This, I blushingly admit, was a genuine scoop because even O'Brien didn't realize he was small. His first reaction upon reading my latest masterpiece was, "Hey, I AM kinda small, aren't I?"

Mrs. Martin H. O'Brien of 575 Thyme Place, San Rafael says her son Jim " . . . was what we call 'the runt of the litter' because he was the smallest of our six children. He just turned 17 last month, so maybe he'll catch up with the rest of the family. We're very proud of him."

There Will Be Homecomings

When Shamus O'Brien catches up with the rest of the family you'll probably read it here first. They don't call me "Scoop" for nothing, you know.

REUNIONS — There'll be a homecoming of sorts in two games tonight at Kentfield and San Rafael.

And at San Rafael, where the local Bulldogs will be meeting perennial powerhouse St. Ignatius High of San Francisco, head coach for the visiting Wildcats is Vince Tringali, former College of Marin star. Also, S.I.'s star quarterback is Dan Fouts, a transfer from Marin Catholic.

Washington State Against San Jose In Losers Game

SAN JOSE (AP) — A couple of losers who had hoped for better things play football here tomorrow when Washington State abandons the Pacific-8 Conference for a week to play independent San Jose State.

The visitors are 1-6-1, but have lost some close ones while the Spartans, 2-5, have never quite been able to get untracked this season.

The Cougars boast the Pac-8's leading passer, quarterback Jerry Henderson, but he will not start, according to Coach Jim Sweeney.

Rich Olson, rated a better runner, will get the call to balance the attack. Olson can throw too, however.

The Spartans, who expect a homecoming crowd of close to 15,000, depend on the passing of quarterbacks Don Perkins and Russ Munson and the running of halfbacks Frank Slaton and Frank Weirath.

In other games tomorrow, Oregon State is at USC in the game of the day, Oregon is at California, UCLA is at Washington, and Stanford renews an old rivalry in a nonconference game at Stockton with University of Pacific.

Elections Tonight

Elections of officers of the Marin Rod and Gun Club will be held tonight at the clubhouse at Point San Quentin, starting at 8 o'clock.

Title At Stake For Tars

By KIMO CAMPBELL

College of Marin's hopeful football squad will end its regular season against ancient rival Santa Rosa Junior College tonight at 8 o'clock in Kentfield in their annual "Little Big Game" with the first Camino Norte Conference championship at stake.

The Tars have come a long way since their opening game with San Jose City College, through budget hassles, injuries, broken plays, flat afternoons, and finally ineligibility problems (two starters are still unknown quantities), to arrive at the final game with a 6-2 record (3-1 in league). The fact that they have come so far is due, in large part to the development of two inexperienced, often maligned quarterbacks who lack the pure ability of recent Tar signal callers but have grown in the last few games, and by the nature of their responsibility have helped the team grow as well.

TRUISM

It is a truism of football that T-formation quarterbacks get too much credit when they win and too much criticism when they lose. The Tars, however, have had most of the other ingredients of success all along — good receivers, plenty of running backs, an improved offensive line — which means a good deal, since four men off last year's offensive line were All-Conference — and a strong defense. The catalyst has been the quarterbacking, from the San Jose opener right up to tonight's finale.

The two athletes who have had the responsibility for running the Mariner offense this year are both distinctly un-athletic looking at first glance. Val Sabuco, tonight's probable starter, is a soft-spoken business major who wears Clark Kent spectacles and plays excellent golf, while Kevin Wilson is a cocky, tough little (5-foot-7) guy who looks more like Huckleberry Finn than Johnny Unitas. Both have had little experience at the most difficult position to master, Sabuco playing the line until his senior year at Oceana High School on the Peninsula, then sharing the position; Wilson sitting out his senior season at Redwood and his first year at Marin.

PROBLEM

"Quarterback has been a problem all year," says Coach Dick Read, "mostly due to inexperience. Both boys are good athletes — Val a golfer, Kevin a pitcher — but they haven't played much. Since the West Valley kame (the last Marin loss) I've taken some of the pressure off them by calling the plays myself. I don't like to do that — it's the first time in 12 years I've done it, because I feel that's part of the quarterback's job — but now Pete Limm, Ed Grimm, John Panagakis and I, working on the phones, try to pick the weaknesses in the defense simply because the quarterbacks have enough to think about as far as execution goes and haven't played enough to recognize weaknesses."

Wilson's size works against him, as he cannot see his receivers easily over the rushers. He has the nerve of a cat burglar, however.

RESERVE

Since Val was a reserve last season and Kevin had not played since his junior year in high school, the two have come along slowly, maturing most in the last three games according the Read. "The team has come on real well in the last few weeks," he said "partly because the boys have confidence in the quarterbacks now, and thus more confidence in themselves. We've had good leaders — Doug Guillon and Bill Hickerson have been outstanding captains for us — but some of the example has to come from the quarterbacks. Both boys have come along well recently, Kevin especially, and the team has responded."

With two usual starters not listed in the opening lineup — star halfback Tim Garvin and safety Rod Powell — Read will go with Sabuco at quarter (though Wilson is also expected to play a lot) Gary Dinkel and Keith Stirling at the halves and Jim Finnegan at full. Len Pieri and Sam Crowell will be at ends, steady Ron Heidinger and Chris Klyse will man the tackles, offensive captain Doug Guillon and Charley Keppel at guards,

GAME ON TELEVISION

USC, Oregon State Play In Showdown For Roses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The run for the Rose Bowl in the Pacific-8 conference—barring a tie—reaches the end of the road here tomorrow when the unbeaten Trojans of Southern California collide with formidable Oregon State.

All-American halfback O. J. Simpson and the Trojans are favored by a touchdown or less as the top ranked team in the nation. Oregon State was rated No. 13 in the latest Associated Press poll, a position which can be attributed to two measly points.

Those came in Oregon State's nonconference losses to Iowa, 21-20, and Kentucky, 35-34.

A crowd of around 70,000 is expected for the 1:30 p.m. The game will be televised locally and regionally (Channel 7). Otherwise it figured to be a near sellout.

Both Southern Cal and Oregon State have 4-0-0 conference records. No one else in the conference can catch them. But if the thing ends in a tie, the conference brass will decide when the regular season ends Nov. 23 who goes to the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

Coach John McKay's Trojans have won 16 of their last 17 games. The lone loss was a year ago to Oregon State in the mud at Corvallis, 3-0.

PREECE

Oregon State Coach Dee Andros, known as "The Great Pumpkin," has much the same talent back, including a versatile offense built around quarterback Steve Preece and fullback Bill "Earthquake" Enyart.

McKay's attack is something more than just O. J. Simpson, although the All-American halfback carries most of the load.

Sometimes overlooked in the "ole O.J." din is quarterback Steve Sogge, the young senior who has directed the team in its 16-1 win record.

Last week Sogge threw three touchdown passes as the team whipped out a defensively powerful California team, 35-17.

"We all know," says Sogge, "that if we have any chance of beating Oregon State, we'll have to play as well or better than we did against California."

"We've got to play our geatest game of the year because we're not going into the Rose Bowl through the back door," Andros declared.

McKay, with similar sentiments, observed, "They have in Steve Preece the best running quarterback in America and a great fullback in Enyart."

Barry Leads Oaks Past Dallas Quint

DALLAS (AP)—Oakland continued its torrid pace in the American Basketball Association by downing Dallas 122-106 last night as Rick Barry pumped in 43 points.

Barry, the league's leading scorer, collected 19 points in the first period to give the Oaks a lead they never gave up.

Dallas managed to close the gap to 79-75 and 84-80 in the third quarter but that was the closest they came.

Dallas was paced by Ron Boone with 26 points.

U.S. TEAM TAKES LEAD IN WORLD CUP

ROME, Italy (AP) — The American team of veteran Julius Boros and young Lee Trevino combined for a three-under-par 141 today and tied the Nationalist Chinese tandem for the lead in the 42-nation World Cup Golf Championship. (Earlier story and picture on page 42.)

Both teams had scores of 283 after 36 holes, the halfway mark of the tournament formerly known as the Canada Cup.

Boros shot a two-under-par 70 and Trevino a 71. Boros, who had trouble putting during yesterday's opening round, regained his touch on the greens for a 34-36 that included a 15-footer for an eagle on the 507-yard fifth hole. He also had two birdies while Trevino shot three birdies in his 35-36 round.

Texan Has Big Plans

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Besides offering football star O. J. Simpson a $1 million contract, San Antonio radio station executive Sam Morris Jr. says he has his sights set on three professional grid teams.

Morris told the San Antonio Express-News he also plans to buy the undefeated Toros of the Texas Professional Football League, the Boston Patriots of the American Football League and the Washington Senators of baseball's American League.

He told the newspaper he plans to get someone to build a domed stadium to house these attractions here.

Simpson of the University of Southern California was offered the $1 million contract Wednesday.

HALF INTEREST

Morris already has approached the Toros with his plans. He offered the football team's ownerso ne-half interest in radio station KDRY of San Antonio, in which he has part ownership. He is asking for "one whole interest" in the team in return.

Morris' father, veteran prohibition leader Sam Morris Sr. of San Antonio, said yesterday he owns 51 per cent of National Enterprises, Inc., which owns KDRY.

"Sam didn't discuss the matter with me," the elder Morris said, adding that if his son does carry through with his offers and plans, he will have to study all aspects of the situation before deciding what steps he will take.

49er Rookie Hardy Gets His Chance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rookie Kevin Hardy from Notre Dame is ready for his first big test with the San Francisco 49ers.

He has been installed at right defensive end for injured Clark Miller.

Coach Dick Nolan can activate one man to fill the vacancy caused by Miller's serious knee injury and he is expected to make his selection known before Sunday's Kezar Stadium contest against the Los Angeles Rams.

Nolan also has promised some lineup changes.

"I'll keep a closer watch on all positions Sunday," he said yesterday. "And I may make substitutions quicker than usual."

Cal Bears To Host Oregon

Kickoff for the Berkeley game is 1:30 p.m.

The Golden Bears were torn apart by Southern Cal last week and their record fell to 5-2-1. The Ducks are 4-4 but two of those losses were close ones to Southern Cal and Ohio State, the top two teams in the country.

The Ducks have won four of their last five games and have come to depend on senior quarterback Eric Olson who is making a habit of coming off the bench to lead the club to victory.

In addition, Oregon is expecting the return of Claxton Welch, the team's leading rusher with 453 yards despite missing last week's game and being hampered the previous two weeks with a charley horse.

Cal will once again depend on its sturdy defense to turn back Oregon and to make the scoring breaks since the offense has been unable to put long drives together with any consistency.

The Oregon defense is nothing to be sneered at either. It limited the mighty O. J. Simpson to 67 yards rushing—peanuts for him—in its heartbreaking defeat by Southern Cal.

Quarterback Randy Humphries will do the throwing for Cal, with school record holder Wayne Stewart his primary target. Gary Fowler, Bob Darby and John McGaffie are expected to do the bulk of the running again.

TEEOFF IN ROME — Julius Boros tees off in the opening round in the 16th World Cup Golf Tournament in Rome yesterday. Boros had an opening 73 as the U.S. had to share fourth place with Canada. Lee Trevino had a 69 for a U.S. total of 142. (UPI Cablephoto)

No Language Barrier For Boros And Caddie

ROME (AP) — An irksome language barrier separated most of the contestants at the World Cup Golf Championship from their caddies today.

Questions like "What did you think of that four-wood shot?" are answered by blank silence or the Italian equivalent of "Sorry, sir, I don't understand."

However, U.S. PGA Champion Julius Boros of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who with Texan Lee Trevino settled into fourth place after the Cup's opening round yesterday seems to have landed one of the few bag-packers who speaks the same language.

The caddy is Air Force Tech. Sgt. Robert S. Stewart, 38, of Petersburg, Va., secretary to Air Force Lt. Gen. Fred M. Dean at the NATO base in Naples, and the father of four boys.

Communications, however, still couldn't get Boros' game under par. He missed several putts inside six feet for a one-over-par 73.

Even Trevino, of Dallas, blew hot and cold for his three-under 69. "It could have been better," the Texan said of his round in general and of his four bogeys in particular.

The Americans trailed a pair of pinpoint golf pros from the Nationalist Chinese isalnd of Taiwan—Hsieh Yong-Yo, 34, a slight 130-pounder, and his bamboo-weight partner, Lu Liang-Huan, 32 and 136 pounds, who took the lead at 139.

Close behind the Chinese were the British entry of Bernard Hunt and Neil Coles, who clubbed matching 70s for a 140 total. Italy was third at 141.

Tied with Boros and Trevino for fourth at 142 were Canadians Al Balding and George Knudson. Balding's 68 was low individual score for the day, two off the record of 66 for the 6,850-yard par 72 Olgiata Golf Club course.

Oddly enough Trevino, a compulsive talker in both Spanish and English, had to keep his remarks simple for his Italian caddy. But Boros, an easygoing pro of truly few words, was able to chat with his caddy—and no ordinary caddy.

Back in August Boros received a letter from Stewart, who said simply: "I'm planning to attend the World Cup in Rome in November. Could I caddy for you?"

Boros wrote back, "Yes—if international rules allow it."

The rules did and Boros is now one of the few golfers in the tournament whose caddy can understand more than "putter, six-iron, flag, sand trap" and other such basic terms in any language except Italian.

Stewart, a stringbean Virginian with a close-cropped crew-cut, said his Air Force buddies ribbed him about his proposal to Boros, who with Trevino is expected to give the United States the Cup this year.

"They all said I was crazy," Stewart recalled. "They said Boros would never do it. But you never know unless you ask."

Although Stewart unslings clubs, follows errant golf balls with a practiced eye and knows how to conduct himself on the green, he has only caddied once before.

That was back in October 1961 for Bob McCallister of Yorba Linda, Calif., in the Resperia (California) Open.

That tourney was won not by McCallister but by the late Tony Lema. But this time Stewart may be carrying a winner's clubs and then his Air Force mates may have second thoughts about calling him crazy.

Pistons Invade The Cow Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dave Bing and the Detroit Pistons come to the Cow Palace tonight at 8 o'clock for a National Basketball Association game with the San Francisco Warriors.

It is the first appearance here this season for the Pistons who downed the Warriors 122-118 in an overtime contest when the team met recently in Detroit.

Bing was the NBA's Rookie of the Year in 1966-67 and won the league's scoring title last year with a 27.1 point-per-game average.

Thunderbird Is Latest Golf Casualty

NEW YORK (AP) — The $150,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic, one of the richest on the tour circuit, is the latest casualty in the war between the Professional Golfers Association and the new American Professional Golfers organization.

Sponsor of the tournament, played last year a the Upper Montclair, N.J., Country Club, announced cancellation of the 1969 tournament yesterday because of the dispute that has taken most of the tour's top players from the PGA and put them in the APG.

COSTS

Robert J. Murphy, president of the Newark District for Dealers Advertising Association, which has sponsored the meet, also cited increased costs as a reason for the temporary abandonment.

"We are 140 individual dealers who have been carrying the cost of running the tournament. Our cost has been escalating rapidly each year. We put up the purse of $150,000. We absored many other expenses to assure the charities involved of a maximum return for their fine causes," he said.

"We also find that the cost of televising our tournament has escalated so much that it has become too expensive for us as sole sponsor."

The 7-year-old tournament, first to provide purses totaling $100,000 for the pros in 1962, was televised nationally during its first five years, but was not nationally televised in 1967 or 1968.

Meanwhile, at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., where the PGA is holding its 52nd annual meeting, Leo Fraser of the Atlantic City, N.J., Country Club was named to succeed retiring Max Elbin as president of the organization.

NEW OFFICERS

Fraser, who has been PGA secretary, will be succeeded by Warren Orlick of the Tam O'Shanter Country Club in Orchard Lake, Mich.

William Clarke of Phoenix, Md., was elected treasurer to succeed Orlick.

Four new vice presidents elected were John Boda of Andover, Mass.; James Warga of Jamesburg, N.J.; Dugan Aycock of Lexington, N.C., and Howard Mortte of Kent, Ohio.

Royals Keep On Winning

NEW YORK (AP) — That discounted flock known as the Cincinnati Royals, shepherded by Oscar Robertson, is proving that togetherness goes a long way in ruling the National Basketball Association pasture.

"We've had everybody in the fold since the very beginning," says veteran center Connie Dierking. "We had a good camp. We got the winning feeling and it has carried over."

It has carried the Royals to a fast start and first place in the NBA's Eastern Division, which they maintained last night with a 110-101 victory over the New York Knickerbockers for a 10-3 record.

DETROIT WINS

In the only other NBA game yesterday, Detroit edged Phoenix 111-109 at Tucson, Ariz.

Los Angeles beat the New York Mets 113-104, Oakland topped Dallas 112-106 and Denver trounced Houston 105-89 in the American Basketball Association.

"I think Tom Van Arsdale, John Tresvant, Connie Dierking and more team unity is the big reason for our fast start," says Oscar Robertson, the Royals' perennial All-Star.

Van Arsdale and Tresvant, obtained in a trade with Detroit late last season, scored 12 and 19 points, respectively, last night and Dierking added 17. Tresvant and Dierking also grabbed 10 rebounds each.

NO HOLDOUTS

"Being together in camp"—there were no holdouts or injuries to delay the Royals from reporting this season—"is a big thing," says Coach Ed Jucker. "And, of course, a healthy Oscar.

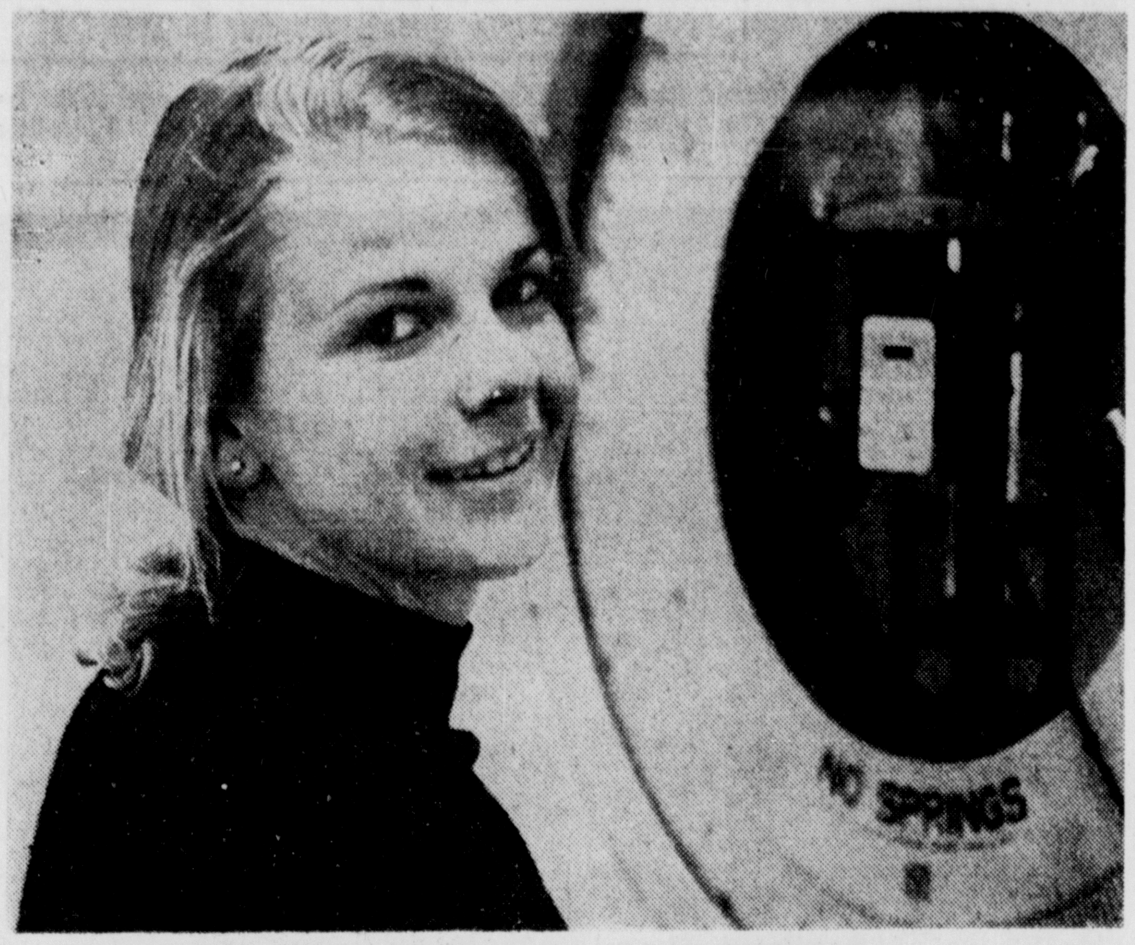
Robertson, who missed all or part of 30 games, last season, scored 29 points, handed out six assists, and returned to action late in the game to break a Knick rally by scoring five straight points.

It was another typical Big O performance as was that of another Cincinnati veteran, Jerry Lucas, who scored 21 points and snared 20 rebounds.

COSTLY

The Knicks, picked at a serious contender in the East but off to a 5-11 start, were so far apart—and off the target—in the second quarter against the Royals that it cost them the game.

New York had numerous turnovers, hit on just six of 26 field goal attempts and went almost 7½ minutes without making a basket as they scored just 17 points in the second quarter and fell behind 54-41 at halftime.



BEAUTY AND THE BEAST

The beauty is pretty blonde Penny Ann Early, 25, of Chicago who was granted a temporary jockey's license to race the beasts (horses). The license was granted yesterday by the Kentucky State Racing Commission. Penny, a divorcee, is the second woman to be granted a license and she hopes to become the first to actually ride in a major race. (UPI Telephoto)

Coach Marv Mays of Santa Rosa feels that his team, loser of four straight, will have to "play real well just to stay with Marin," while Read says a 7-6 win would be plenty good enough for him. Both may be playing it cozy, but they agree that the rain factor could be a great equalizer and that breaks will make the difference on a muddy field.

Beware The Greeks Bearing Gifts . . .

"Timeo Danaos et dona ferentes."

No, I haven't flipped. It so happens that is one of the great locker rooms quotes of all times, written by the Grantland Rice of ancient Rome, Publius Virgilius Maro, better known as the poet Virgil, who wrote the post-game story on the famous hidden-ball trick the Greeks played on the Romans back there in antiquity. In its own way, it ranks with "Outlined against the blue-gray October sky, the Four Horsemen, etc."

IT MEANS, in case your Latin is rusty, "I fear the Greeks bearing gifts," or even "Beware the Greeks bearing gifts," and I bring this up because there's going to be another Greek-Trojan war in the Coliseum this Saturday, and it would behoove the Trojans to kick the sides of the Oregon State bus, and examine all packages carefully. Otherwise, by the third quarter, they're apt to think it's raining Beavers.

THE HEAD Greek in this case is not Menelaus or Achilles, but Demosthenes Konstandines Andrepopoulos, who is known along the Willamette Valley as "Mr. Football," not because he excels at it but because he resembles it. He's bringing an Oregon State team which is only two points away from an unbeaten season to L.A. this weekend, and the Trojans haven't been in this tough since Achilles came out of his tent.

IT'S BEEN a bull year for Greeks anyway, and, the way things are going, Demosthenes (who reduced his name to "Dee Andros" but had less luck with his figure) may never have to go back to cooking grape leaves in the family restaurant in Oklahoma. He just may be one of the five best football coaches in the business when you stop to think that to get to Corvallis in the first place you have to change stage coaches at Salem or rent a dog at Tillamook.

IF YOU put a candle in Dee Andros, you could scare little kids with him on Halloween. When he's all dressed up in orange, which he always is, he's a human Jack-O-Lantern. A woman tried to buy him for her Thanksgiving dinner in a supermarket once when he had his back turned. "The Pumpkin," writer Harry Missildine dubbed him one day as he came out on the field in such a glare of golden orange that you could read by him at night.

Dee learned his football under the late Jim Tatum at Oklahoma. Pop was a Greek immigrant who got off the ship and kept on going clear through Oklahoma before he could find a restaurant site that wasn't taken. Legend has it Oklahoma recruited him one night when they saw him dancing around with a handkerchief in his mouth and the other guy was dangling.

HE DOESN'T scare easily. He figures that after all the shots the Japanese Imperial Marines had at him the first four days of Iwo Jima ("I wasn't exactly an inconspicuous target"), a mere football game won't make him hide under the bed. He got the Bronze Star on Iwo — he was shaking bullets out of his coat and hair for weeks, and it took him two days to clean his bayonet.

USC would like to put the frost on The Pumpkin who beat them last year, 3-0, despite O. J. Simpson's 150 yards in the first half.

("OH, THE strategy was to let him get tired," grinned The Pumpkin.) But up in Oregon, they say Andros goes up in logging country looking for football players and, if they need an ax to knock down the trees, he passes them up. He's got a fullback who runs so hard seismologists on the East Coast can keep track of his game statistics. The team isn't fancy. The only thing they throw in the air is the coach. They could play with a stale loaf of bread just as effectively.

Virgil would approve of Demosthenes' game plan. He's bearing gifts. "O. J. Simpson is undoubltedly the finest back I've ever seen," says he. "You need a horse to catch him. He can whip any 1-on-1 situation. When he's got the football, we got to be there with seven or eight people or that scoreboard's gonna get tired."

NOW, IF I were in the walls of Troy, I would take that, hold it up to the light, shake it, put an ear alongside to see if it's ticking or has people whispering inside. I would check the eyes to see if they move, but under no circumstances would I open it around women and children. And, repeat after me, "Timeo Danaos . . . " — I fear the Greeks bearing football teams.

Early Start For Centennial Year At East-West Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—College football's centennial year of 1969 will get an early kickoff at the Shrine East-West game Dec. 28 with crowning of the national queen chosen from queens of 14 NCAA conferences.

Halftime entertainment will be provided by the Rutgers One Hundred band of Rutgers University. Rutgers won the first intercollegiate game from Princeton in 1869.

The announcements were made yesterday by Theodore H. Balliet, general manager of the annual Shrine charity game, in San Francisco.

Duffy Daugherty of Michigan jstate will be the East head coach for the fourth time since 1950, assisted by Tom Cahill of Army and John Pont of Indiana.

Bob Devaney of Nebraska will be West head coach, aided by Dee Andros of Oregon State and another coach to be selected.

Balliet said it is too early to discuss player selections, but that if Southern California does not go to the Rose Bowl, "O.J. Simpson is a cinch for a West running back."

San Rafael Hosts Rugged St. Ignatius

San Rafael High School's football team has lost seven straight games so things shouldn't get too much worse. But the worst could come tonight when the Bulldogs face West Catholic Athletic League powerhouse St. Ignatius of San Francisco at San Rafael, 8 o'clock.

St. Ignatius, the defending WCAL champion, has an unimposing 5-4 won-lost season mark, but is 5-1 in a league that may be the toughest in Northern California. And if you don't think so, just look at what it's done to Marin County Athletic League competition.

Riordan of San Francisco decimated Redwood of Larkspur, 47-13; Bellarmine of Santa Clara smashed previously unbeaten Novato, 27-0; and Serra of San Mateo wiped out North Bay power house Vallejo, 41-7.

Dan Fouts, a former Marin Catholic gridder until transferring to Wildcat territory, has the St. Ignatius quarterback job.

Lowell Widmer will start at quarterback for the Bulldogs, now 1-7 on the season.

Boat And Sports Show On Today At Oakland Arena

With an unequaled display of sports and outdoor equipment, ranging from aerobatic planes to sea-going houseboats, the Northern California Boat and Sports Show open today at Oakland Coliseum and continues daily through Nov. 24.

Greatly expanded over last year, the show has added a pavilion alongside the arena to house the 1969 lines of campers, trailers, mobile homes, motorbikes, and recreational vehicles.

In the arena will be te big sailing craft with their towering masts, large sea-going powerboats, and the latest in houseboats.

Smaller craft and related exhibits, as well as areas devoted to hunting, fishing and winter sports — even taxidermy and lapidary booths — will be on Concourse, or upper Arena, level.

Sdmission is $2 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Doors open at 4 p.m. on Friday, November 25. Closing will be at 10:30 nightly, except for Nov. 24, when the show shuts down at 8 p.m. Other opening hours will be 11 a.m. Saturdays and Sundays (except November 17, when the opening is delayed until 3:30, due to the Raiders-New York Pro football game). Monday through Friday, openings are at 4 p.m.

CAIN'S TIRE

THE PLACE TO BUY TIRES

People: Every day I get phone calls from people who are sincerely afraid to buy a tire. They ask many questions that to us are foolish, but to them are not. What these people are trying to do is guarantee themselves some quality for the dollar they're spending. We don't blame them. Cain's always tries to run ads that clearly state the quality and level of the tires it's advertising. In my future ads I will answer some of the points we find the customers are most misinformed and misled on.

Answer: Absolutely NO. Nylon was introduced and heavily promoted around 1954. Since then it has been successful for truck tires, but not so on passenger tires, due to the rough ride. Now the tire companies produce 100% of their cheaper tires with nylon and most of the major companies use Tryex—or Polyester for their top grade tires.

So you see how you can be fooled even when you think you're asking for quality.

NAMATH VERSUS THE RAIDERS

Bad-Mouthing Bout Looms

By HERB MICHELSON

OAKLAND — Willie Joe Namath, who has money and long hair, comes here Sunday for his annual bad-mouthing bout with the Raiders.

The Raiders need the win more than Willie Joe's New York Jets, who are coasting to the Eastern Division title in the American Football League. This means Oakland will win, if you bear in mind the latest pro football cliche: The team that must win in an evenly matched game usually will. This theorem is supposed to explain why Baltimore beat Los Angeles last month and the Raiders defeated the Kansas City Chiefs a fortnight ago.

So much for dogma. But not so much for Namath.

There are a couple of fellows on the Raiders who really, truly, fervently don't like Willie Joe. They resent him for the usual reasons — Willie Joe is young, handsome, swinging, very rich. You and I would feel similarly.

But Oakland defensive ends Ben (Big Tree) Davidson and Isaac (Ike) Lassiter have further cause for their distaste of the New York quarterback. A year ago, after the Raiders met the Jets in Shea Stadium, Willie Joe accused Ben and Isaac of that worst of all possible gridiron cliches — the cheap shot.

Loosely translated, the cheap shot is a thud unleased when the officials ain't peeking. Also, it hurts.

But what hurt the gigantic Davidson more than that accusation was another Willie Joe charge.

"Ben talks to me all the time," said Mr. Namath.

The truth is, fans, that Ben talks to everybody and nobody in particular during the course of a game.

By the time the Jets came to Oakland for a return match (the Raiders' loss in Shea was their sole defeat, until the Super Bowl, last season), Davidson and Lassiter were ready for Willie Joe.

Although Ben was accused of ministering some mean pops at Namath in the Coliseum, it was untrue. Willie Joe was indeed hurt in the game here, but it was Lassiter who managed — cleanly, mind you — to bruise the Jet fellow and render him useless for a time.

A man who knows tells me that Ben and Ike don't necessarily hate Namath — "but they certainly have a stronger feeling against him than, say, Pete Beathard or John Hadl or Len Dawson."

Here are selected reasons for said antipathy:

1—Namath's mouth. He likes to talk, not particularly caring whose feelings might be bruised in the conversation.

2—Namath's image. Willie Joe has been painted as such a super dooper star that all the other AFLers wonder why they're asked to come on the field when he plays.

3—The long-standing resentment of a lineman for a quarterback. This is the financial aspect of the animosity. The best lineman will make maybe 20 grand. Namath has moved in the world of 400 thou.

"Despite all of this," says the man who knows, "both Lassiter and Davidson have tremendous respect for Namath."

And why not? HE could buy and sell them. Does not the taxpayer respect the Internal Revenue Service? Or at least worry about them?

In bowling, as in everything else, there are good days and there are bad.

Dick White was having one of those good days at Country Club Bowl, rolling games of 245, 247 and 257 for a smart 749 series in the 905 Classic League. That score from the San Rafael lanes was high for the week in Marin County.

Then on the other side of the picture is Emil Renati, a member of the Novato Sportsmen's League at Nave Lanes. Emil rolled eight splits and finally marked in the 10th frame. On his extra ball, yep, another split, making nine splits in one game. Now that just about has to a record of sorts.

THIS AND THAT — Big scores in the Nite Owl League at Country Club Bowl, Ed Brice with a 686 and Al Hoffmann, 645 (Brice's series was topped by a 279 game . . . Chuck Luby was kingpin of the Week-Enders League with a 257-669, while Jan Curry picked up the 6-8-10 . . . It was triplicate time for Pat Nakamura, 155, in the Ladies 615 Classic, and Beverly McNear, 134, in the Morning Glories, both at Country Club Bowl . . . Jean Baker had an all spare game in the 615 Classic, a 180 . . . In the Merry Mixers League at Country Club, Alice Robbiano almost had an all-spare line but missed it in the 10th — because of a strike — but she'll take that 185, thank you; and Al Preston made good on that pesky 6-7 split . . . Kathy Sloan of the Daffodils has a 120 average but rolled a 208-530 score last time out . . . Mary Ann Ralsten picked up the 4-7-10 split in the Gutter Belles League at Greenbrae Lanes.

STRILES TO SPARE — Penny Conti had quite a week of bowling at Country Club Bowl, a 593 series in the Ladies 615 Classic and a 582 in the Classy Lassies . . . Larry Asay was top man in the Mixed Travel League, 245-615 . . . Jim Sageser (156 avg.) rolled 614 in the Elks League at Country Club . . . Chris Baseheart had high game of the week at Nave Lanes, his 225 beating Ron Baccei by only a pin . . . Sharon Wroten had a nice 600 series to lead the women at Greenbrae lanes, a 606 topped by a 246 game in the Ladies 622 Classic . . . Harold Keaton paced the action in the Mystery League at Nave Lanes, while Em Smith was quite happy with that pickup of the 4-7-9-10 split.

DOWN THE LANES — Walt Filippi is till smarting by the closeness of that near triplicate in the Monday Men's Handicap at Greenbrae Lanes, 157-157-158 . . . The 13 bowlers of the Junior 600 Club have challenged 13 of the members of the Women's 600 Club to a match and it has been answered — 3 p.m. Sunday at Greenbrae Lanes . . . Steve Evans' name was accidentally left off the Nave Lanes Honor Roll last week, but his 603 should have been there, I am told by Ball and Chain League secretary Harvey Perryman . . . Lou Heibel picked up the 4-7-10 in the Friday Nite Leftovers League at Nave Lanes . . . - Bobbie Hoover converted the 4-10 in the Bowlerettes League at Country Club . . . Rita Pickerell rolled her first 500 plus game, in the Blue Chips League, a 515.

Six-year-old Mike Piver rolled a 118 game and Jeff Hoffmann, also 6, picked up the 6-7 split in Pee Wee action . . . Sandee Billips converted the 6-7-8-10 in the North Bay Junior Traveling League.

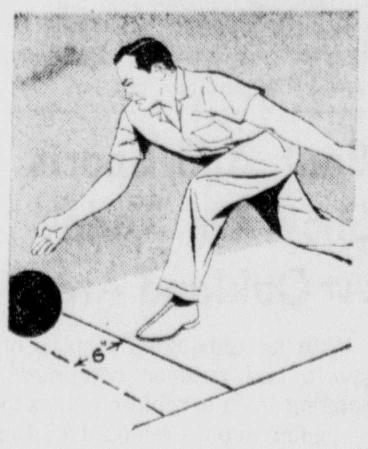
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Maybe you really think you're getting the ball out over the foul line, but are actually letting it drop well behind the line. Have a teammate check you on this, not only once, but for several successive frames. The ball should touch the lane about six inches byond the line for best results.

Intrepid Named To Defend Title She Won In '67

NEW YORK (AP) — Intrepid, the successful 1967 defender of the America's Cup, will be back as a candidate for the 1970 match, it was revealed last night at the annual awards dinner at the New York Yacht Club.

Intrepid will be manned by a crew made up substantially of the same men who worked her during her four straight victories over Australia's Dame Pattie off Newport, R.I., in September, 1967, according to F. Briggs Dalzell, New York Yacht Club fleet captain, who has been named a co-manager of the yacht's operations.

The yacht will be under the management of the group that built her, and Emil "Bus" Mosbacher Jr. of White Plains, N.Y., again will be the skipper, Dalzell said.

It's Plus Territory After Irregularities

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market closed higher today after working its way out of irregularity.

Both the averages and the advance-decline ratio were in plus territory as the market finished its pre-weekend session.

Currency jitters in Europe pushed gold-mining stocks in Wall Street and also attracted foreign funds to other U.S. equities.

The market wallowed in conflicting cross currents in early trading but gradually worked its way onto a slightly higher plane.

Gold-mining stocks were strong on news of curreny jitters in Europe and an increased speculative demand for gold. Homestake and Campbell Red Lake rose more than a point each, and Dome Mines gained more than 2. McIntyre Porcupine and Benguet tacked on fractions.

Xerox slipped a couple of points on profit taking, following its upsurge on news merger talks with C.I.T. Financial were terminated. C.I.T., untraded all of Thursday, opened on a block of 108,000 shares, losing 79 at 48 and stretched its loss to a full 8 points in later dealings.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Wide Variations In Mutual Funds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Is United Accumulative Fund a good investment? I've held it for some years during which it has doubled in value. Should I sell part? Do you advise holding several funds? — G.M., H.H.

A. Your own temperament is your best guide in utilizing mutual funds for retirement needs.

You now hold one of the 11 largest — a "billionaire" in total assets. Growth has come from sound, conservative investment policies, but among 100 leading funds United Accumulative ranks in the lower half of the list for performance during nine months ended Sept. 30 and similarly for 5 years through 1967.

It demonstrates the widely publicized cleavage between traditional and contemporary concepts in fund management.

Enterprise Fund holds the top record of 357 per cent increase in net asset value over the past 5 years — more than fivefold the 63 per cent increase reported by your fund.

Four no-load funds — Energy, Johnston Mutual, Penn Square and T. Rowe Price Growth Fund — report better than 100 per cent increase for the same period while top performers among the less speculative funds —with sales charges — show increases from 129 to 159 per cent.

If you accept some of your capital gains for reinvestment, you should examine the records of the funds you mention, using the foregoing examples as guidelines for your choice.

New Chairman For Alliance

In September this year, the city issued 221 building permits with a total valuation of $1,504,401.

Nixon Election May Keep Warren On Court

A side result of the election of Richard M. Nixon as President may be that another former California officeholder, Earl Warren, will remain considerably longer as chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

When Chief Justice Warren submitted his resignation — with no date specified — to President Johnson, there were immediate cries of "political deal." The President had announced he would not seek another term, the Democratic Party appeared in shambles, and the obvious conclusion was that the chief justice was clearing the way for Johnson to replace him with another liberal, before a change of administration.

When the President named Abe Fortas as his nominee for chief justice, and proposed to fill the court vacancy created by Fortas's elevation with an old political crony, Homer Thornberry, the conclusion appeared justified.

This played a large part in Senate resistance to Fortas's nomination, which at last resulted in its withdrawal. And so Earl Warren still heads the court — and may continue to do so as long as he wishes.

HE MAY WISH to do so for some time, despite the fact that he is 77 years old and certainly entitled to the pleasures of retirement.

Several considerations make this appear likely.

The U. S. Supreme Court has taken a new direction during the Warren years. It has adopted what its majority and their supporters choose to call a liberal interpretation of the Constitution — and what its detractors claim is a rewriting of the Constitution to include within its meanings whatever the justices happen to like.

No doubt Earl Warren believes sincerely in this approach. Although the Supreme Court's deliberations are behind closed doors, it has been reported — and not denied — that he has often told his fellow justices, "Never mind that. What is right?" And what is right, in the opinion of the court majority, can generally be found constitutional by that same majority.

This approach would not have been changed by the elevation of Abe Fortas to chief justice.

BUT RICHARD NIXON, elected in a campaign in which he emphasized "law and order," could scarcely be expected to name a man of such cast of mind to head the high court — for this very "liberal" approach is widely blamed with undermining law and order.

Moreover, although many senators — perhaps a majority — were against confirming Fortas for a variety of reasons, the senator who led the attack and was most viciously critical of Fortas was Strom Thurmond of North Carolina. And it was Thurmond who held southern support for Nixon to assure his nomination, and who reportedly got to pick Spiro T. Agnew for vice president as reward.

It is at the very least politically conceivable that Senator Thurmond would also have some say about a choice for chief justice, if Warren were to re-submit his resignation to the new President after Jan. 20.

Which is good reason to believe that Warren will not do so, and that President Nixon will have to wait for some other justice to retire before he can make any change in the court.

Personality Of Wild Birds

It must seem strange to those who just think of birds as birds to have us state that each bird is an unique personality. Yet, those most intimate with wildlife will tell them it is so.

We do not mean that each species of bird has its own personality traits, though it is quite true. We mean that no two birds of the same species act and react in exactly the same manner. And, further, we believe that anyone studying intensely a small group of birds in the wild gets to know the individual personalities.

We are exaggerating only a little when we say that the personalities of birds are almost as distinct as those of men.

Commission On Tax Reform Sure To Set Off Fireworks

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Little realization of the magnitude of the problem facing the Advisory Commission on Tax Reform, appointed some time ago by Gov. Ronald Reagan, has filtered through to the public.

The commission is headed by Houston I. Flournoy, state controller, probably one of the most informed and knowledgable tax authorities in California.

Flournoy's commission has held meetings and hearings, but despite the fact a report is due by January 1, it has not as yet resolved the mass of tax information and recommendations into any final recommendation to submit to the 1969 Legislature.

THE PROBLEM, according to the controller, is primarily the equalization of the tax burden as it applies to cities, counties, and the state itself. It definitely is not, he explained, concerned with "tax relief," a subject of which much has been heard during the current year; neither is it a matter of finding ways of reducing the over-all tax income of the state and local governments.

The contorller points out that the job of the commission is to make recommendations which will assure the continuation of a supply of tax revenue to guarantee functioning of government, even though the source may be somewhat different from that at present.

Asked whether the passage of Proposition 1A would help or hamper the commission in its work, Flournoy said this new constitutional amendment is more on the order of a stepping stone to tax reform.

THE PROPERTY tax, he pointed out, is only one source of revenue, and even though it is a primary source for cities and counties, it cannot be considered singly in the over-all studies.

There is strong possibility that in the effort to achieve more equality in taxation, the benefits and exemptions accruing to charities, non-profit organizations and their donors may come in for a re-shuffling.

The commission has recommendations before it which point out the fact that there has been no re-valuation in recent times of these tax exemptions, and that the revenue losses therefrom "are substantial and growing steadily."

The question is raised whether exemptions, for example, of social and country clubs should take precedence over support of school activities. Or whether tax support of lodges and veteran organizations should take precedence over the need for more medical schools.

THE COMMISSION is considering a recommendation that statutory and constitutional changes be initiated to remove all private non-profit property tax exemptions over a 10-year period.

These are only a few of the many matters being considered by the commission. It seems obvious that no matter what recommendations are made to the Legislature, a veritable storm will be blown up as a result. No tax shift can be made without someone getting hurt.

Tax Exemptions Hurt Bond Issues

Your editorial of Nov. 11 calls attention to the general failure of school bond issues and speculates on taxpayer motivation.

One overall feature unmentioned is that about some 30 years ago, the tax exempt portion in our structure was about 12 per cent. By 1965 this climbed to 30 per cent and is still going upward. Thus you have an ever narrowing circle of productive taxpayers asked to carry a growing load of services required by a growing population.

Prime beneficiaries of unfair tax subsidies are the religious institutions. When they operate a business for profit, the Revenue Code properly labels this "unrelated business income" but improperly frees these enterprises from corporation and other taxes."

Storer's Election Loss Deplored

The loss of Tom Storer to Marin County is tragic. He was apparently defeated by those who wish the county to be chopped up into unplanned subdivisions, who neither understand nor care about the future of Marin as regards education, transportation, racial tensions, or the preservation of open spaces. These people are like those who fought the late Clem Miller when he worked to preserve the Point Reyes peninsula as a source of beauty and pleasure and recreation, for the people of the United States, instead of for a handful of persons hoping to get wealthy from their holdings.

Self-preserving people are always around, always fighting hard for their self-serving interests — but Clem Miller, with the help of other wonderful people, finally made the dream of a Seashore park a reality. Let's hope that Storer, too, will return to the political world for the good of those of us who care for the future for all of us, not a select few. Meantime, it behooves us all to keep a close eye on the new board of supervisors, which is made up half of those who care about beautiful Marin, half of those who care most about profit, and one swing vote than can go either way.

Is It Any Wonder School Bonds Fail?

As your Nov. 11 editorial states:

Failure of the state school bonds and the Tam bonds is one more sign that the public is angry.

We are angry with administrators who invite Cleavers and Rubins on campus to obscenely urge revolution.

We are angry with state university professors who press to have their teaching loads reduced from 12 to 9 hours per week . . . at the same salary.

We are angry with high school teachers who play Synanon-Esalen games in class— and who demand more classrooms to do it in.

We are tired of educationists saying arrogantly to parents, "Double your taxes and hand over your kids—but don't ask questions about what we're doing with them."

Is it any wonder why bonds fail?

Storer To Continue Fight For Ferries

I wish to congratulate Mr. Baar and his supporters upon their successful campaign.

I stand ready to assist them in any way that I might.

I intend to remain active in public life, particularly in helping to return public water transportation to San Francisco Bay.

I wish to thank all of those who gave so generously of their time in working for me during the recent campaign, and I am especially grateful to those who also contributed financially to the campaign.

Street Committee Not Giving Up

I would like to thank all Novatans who supported the street bond issue (Measure C), particularly the hard working committee members of Citizens For Better Streets.

We needed 66.66 per cent to pass the bonds and the vote was 64.5 per cent; we lost by only 212 votes. In a year in which no bond issues were successful, we feel we did very well. Much of this was due to your excellent editorial and the publicity pages arranged by your reporter, Terry Newell.

The committee will still continue to function and serve the people of Novato until the streets are fixed.

Johnson-Nixon Compact Assures No Lapse In Crucial Decisions

WASHINGTON — The Nixon-Johnson compact is more far-reaching and more significant than appears on the surface of their quiet announcement.

The fact is — and it couldn't be more welcome, more helpful and more needed — that it brings the President and the President-elect together in joint conduct of the crucial areas of foreign policy for the next nine weeks — Vietnam, U.S.-Soviet relations and the Middle East.

This is without precedent in American history and is unprecedentedly valuable.

It reflects the President and the President-elect at their best. It means that LBJ will be ending his administration with a superb act of statesmanship and that Nixon will be beginning his administration under the best of possible circumstances.

THIS IS NO one-sided compact. Each has given something of immense value to the other and to the nation.

Nixon did not merely assure the President that he was not going to interfere with the Paris talks during the transition. He gave the President explicit assurance that any commitments Mr. Johnson made during the negotiations would be fully honored by the next administration.

For his part, the President assured Nixon that he would be continuously consulted on any new proposals the United States might make at Paris so that Nixon would not be in the position of having to carry out later commitments he disapproved.

OBVIOUSLY, until Jan. 20 President Johnson has the final word. But he does not expect to have to exercise it because the substance of the Johnson-Nixon compact is that, in effect, they will be jointly supervising the American side of the Paris talks and will be jointly deciding what should be said and done at all crucial points.

That is the central significance of the compact. There has been nothing like it before. It could hardly be better. It means that what most fear is not coming upon us, namely, the immobility of U.S. foreign policy because of the uneasy transition between outgoing and incoming presidents.

Apart from their own sense of patriotism and responsibility — which would no doubt have been compelling enough — Johnson and Nixon have strong incentives for doing exactly what they have done.

LBJ has every reason to make Nixon his chief consultant on the Vietnam talks and to enable him to share in shaping U.S. negotiating positions which Nixon would have to implement. Without this arrangement, nothing could be accomplished in the next 60 days and much could be lost. With this arrangement, the President has some prospect that he will be able to get the talks moving forward and sufficiently near agreement that it will be clear that Mr. Johnson did more than anyone else to end the war in Vietnam successfully.

Nixon5s incentive is equally great. The sooner an honorable peace can be achieved, the better it will be for the Nixon administration and the sooner he can get to other pressing problems which can hardly be done until the Vietnamese war is over. It won't hurt Nixon one bit to share the credit with Johnson for ending the war — and possibly share the blame for some compromises which will have to be made.

ONE NEED LOOK into history only briefly to see what a radiant improvement in transition Johnson and Nixon are achieving.

After the 1932 election President-elect Roosevelt, through the four long months during which the economy was deteriorating disastrously, refused to join with President Hoover in any restorative measure.

In 1952 President-elect Eisenhower and President Truman were not even on speaking terms. They never met even once during the transition.

Johnson and Nixon have set an invaluable precedent. It will mean much to the country and to the world.

Congress To Help Nixon Increase Arms Outlay

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Richard M. Nixon may have his troubles with the Democratic 91st Congress, but there should be no real difficulties for Nixon's plans to boost defense speanding.

There will be plenty of adverse talk, of course. Senate doves will be able to see to that.

Advance indications are, however, that the House and Senate, while they will be organized and controlled by the Democrats, will look favorably on the new Republican President's plans for beefing up the defense budget.

IN THE SENATE which convenes in January, a new chairman will head the appropriations committee, which passes on budget requests. The new chairman will be Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga. He succeeds Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., who has retired.

Russell, who moves over by virtue of seniority from the chairmanship of the Armed Services Committee, favors increased defense spending. He believes Congress is going to have to invest in some expensive new weapons programs.

When Congress trimmed more than $5 billion from President Johnson's final defense budget last summer, Russell cautioned that it was the last time such economies could be made. Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., who will head the House Appropriations Committee again, gave a similar warning to the House before Congress adjourned.

JUST BEFORE the election, top aides disclosed the general outlines of Nixon's plans for increasing defense spending. Their estimates indicated that Nixon will propose massive boosts in outlays, over a period of years, for defense programs not connected with Vietnam or Southeast Asia.

Nixon, according to these semi-official estimates, plans to boost defense budget to a level of $87 billion annually by the 1973 fiscal year — the final budget year of his four-year term. Only $10 to $15 billion of that total would be for Southeast Asia — less than half of the present Vietnam outlay.

One expensive feature of Nixon's plans is abolition of the military draft and the start of all-volunteer armed services. That plan, which presumes an end to the fighting in Vietnam, is estimated to cost $5 billion to $7 billion in the Nixon projections.

Aides said the Nixon budget estimates also plan for new strategic weapons systems. In his campaign against Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Nixon mentioned strategic bombers, missile systems and nuclear submarines among weapons which, he said, have been advanced by the Communists to our comparative disadvantage.

The increased defense outlays, with certain non-defense increases, would push the overall Nixon budget to some $220 billion in the 1973 budget year. The Nixon estimates project a $15 billion a year growth in annual revenues, however — without any tax increase — and the estimates thus presuppose a balanced budget.

Sausalito Police Chief Swamped With Psychiatry Program Queries

"A model for the nation," CBS radio kept calling the Sausalito Police Department's in-service psychiatric training program last weekend, and from the response Chief Edward S. Kreins has been getting, the nation is doing its utmost to model itself.

The program, begun two years ago, involves free-wheeling sessions which probe the policemen's attitude toward lawbreakers, minority groups, police work and each other, guided by probing questions by psychiatrist Edward E. Shev.

Time magazine wrote about the program last month. CBS and NBC television carried news specials on it.

As a result, Chief Kreins has received about 50 letters from Connecticut to San Diego.

POLICE departments in Windsor, Ont.; Denver, Colo; Atlanta, Ga.; Redondo Beach, Torrance, Mountain View and Oakland have asked for more information and help on implementing a similar program.

Representatives of the New York and San Francisco police departments and the State of Virginia have expressed interest.

Letters requesting more detalis, with the possibility of using the material in courses, have been received from San Diego State College, Marquette University in Wisconsin, Dickinson College at Carlisle, Pa.; Roosevelt University in Michigan, Marshall University in West Virginia.

A representative of University of California at Santa Barbara was interested in developing a police-community relation program there.

The Lincoln Foundation in Lincoln, Neb., and a psychiatrist in Los Angeles wrote for more information on the program.

Letters of commendation have come from individuals all over the United States and local citizens have added their proud comments.

CHIEF KREINS is up to his ear answering the letters, sending a copy of an Independent-Journal story and an article in a police magazine to add more details.

And the calls and letters can only be expected to increase.

The Associated Press is planning to run a nationwide story this week, Parade magazine is interested in doing an article, KGO-TV wants to film the session, and Westinghouse has asked to make a police training film on the program.

But Chief Kreins has the solution to future queries all worked out. He and Dr. Shev plan to write a book on the program. From the looks of it, it's a sell-out right now.

THROUGH AN ERROR, a recent column indicated the Sausalito City Council majority voted to have a library shown on the Sandspit property on the central waterfront plan. What they had in mind was to have it shown on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property.

'Sgt. Sunshine' Found Guilty Of Drug Possession

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The former policeman known to hippies as "Sgt. Sunshine" has been found guilty of possessing marijuana.

Richard Bergess, who said he was shocked at the Superior Court jury verdict, faces a possible prison term of one to 10 years.

Bergess was arrested last Easter when he smoked a marijuana cigarette on the steps of the Hall of Justice to protest what he called hypocritical marijuana laws.

"I plan to appeal my conviction and to continue my fight against the law on which it was based," he said.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Refrain Runs Through Agenda Of Board: 'Admin. Recommends'

Fusselman

As I said three weeks ago, the grand jury's recommendation that beginning with 1971 the supervisors pay be raised $400 a month from $800 to $1,200, or a total yearly shell-out of $54,000, would not be out of line, if the board really worked at the job and didn't abdicate and allow the administrator and his costly crew to run county government. Here are some examples of what appears on the weekly agenda of the board to show who makes policy and who rubber stamps.

Item 12 on Tuesday's: "Admin. reporting delays by architect on landscape plans for Hall of Justice and Veterans' Memorial Auditorium, and architect's willingness to prepare correction plans for Admin. Bldg. landscaping — submitting draft letter of direction to architect w/time schedule, boundary map, and instructions."

ITEM 35: "'Proposed Ordinance Regulating Floating Homes and Marinas. (a) Director of Public Works letter of submittal —(b) Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District urging 'on-shore' sewering requirements. (Admin. recom. adoption of both ordinances on an urgency basis, to be effective immediately)."

Item 41: "Proposal for furnishings for courtrooms and related areas; Architect and Admin. recom. approval after correcting one arithmetic error and adding sales tax for a new total of $30,595.05."

NEVER DO we see such a statement as, "Admin. submitting for your consideration." or "submitting for such action as you may deem proper." However, immediately after he had been called in on the carpet last year, he carefully reduced "Admin. recom." to "a/r" in a place or two. Then step by step he grew bolder and the board became sort of brainwashed as it were. (It was so much easier that way and it did permit them to have more time for personal acrimonious debates on abstracts.)

IN A MONTH and a half the board will be reconstituted, with three new members. Then there will be the opportunity for the supervisors to demonstrate that they are really willing to earn $14,400 per year each.

Referring back to item 35 — proposed ordinance on houseboats — the administrator must have been deeply saddened on Tuesday when the board chickened out on him and held up the ordinance, instead of passing it "effective immediately."

The speculation that the new board will be divided 2-2, with Supervisor Bill Gnoss the swing man or deciding vote, I hope will not come to pass. There shouldn't be a tug of war between conservationists and developers. The vast majority of the folks don't belong to either group. They simply want downright good government. After all, many, many of the conservationists would not be here if it weren't for the developers, who provided something more than just summer-type cabins or cottages for them to live in and enjoy this fine county.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Our business as rational beings is not to argue for what is going to be but to strive for what ought to be, in the consciousness that it will never be all we would like it to be. — Herbert J. Muller.

People could do with a great deal more of historical understanding than they have. Just a little more understanding of history would prevent them making quite such fools of themselves, or bringing down upon their heads — upon the intelligent as well as the unintelligent — the catastrophes, the disasters, the suffering that they do. — A. L. Rowse.

Arques To Get Plans For Waldo Point Land

Donlan J. Arques, accused of allowing "nautical slums" on his property at Waldo point, has notified the county he has hired a planning consultant to make land use plans for all his property in Richardson Bay.

Sausalito attorney Hugh G. Lawrence notified the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday by letter than Arques has hired Western Planning and Research of Auburn to prepare a preliminary report and sketch plan by Dec. 31.

Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning for the county, said the letter from Lawrence is encouraging becase this is the first time that Arques has given any sign of cooperation in planning.

"So far he's been absolutely quiet and uncommunicative," said Von Gundell. "This letter is at least an indication that he is willing to do something."

Arques faces a Marin Superior Court suit, which seeks to have him clear all houseboats, piers and other structures from underwater public streets at his yacht harbor.

The suit, filed by Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest, asks Arques to move all structures off public property and pay the county $30,000 for rentals he has collected in the past five years for houseboats located on county streets.

Arques was served with the complaint and a court summons at Marinship Wednesday, and will appear in court at 2 p.m. on Dec. 2 to answer the county's charges.

Forest said Arques's hiring of a planning consultant has nothing to do with the court suit. When Forest filed the suit on Oct. 16, he charged that "nautical slums" were permitted on his property, and Arques had shown total unwillingness to cooperate with the county in complying with county codes.

Mistrial Is Declared In Slaying Case

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Circuit Judge Stanton Hall has declared a mistrial in the murder trial of James F. Lyons, 35, of Luarel, charged in the firebomb death of a Negro leader.

The judge acted last night after the jury reported itself hopelessly deadlocked after more than four hours deliberation. The jury's vote was reported at 6-6.

Lyons was accused in the January 1966 slaying of Vernon Dahmer, a businessman whose home and store near Hattiesburg were firebombed in what the state called a plot by the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The state's chief witness in the Lyons trial — as in six previous trials in the case — was Billy Roy Pitts, a former Klansman.

Pitts testified that Lyons took part in planning the raid on Dahmer's home, that Lyons was one of four Klansmen assigned to destroy Dahmer's grocery store, and that he attended a meeting after the attack to discuss the results.

Pitts has been sentenced to life in prison for his part in the raid. He pleaded guilty to both murder and arson.

The Whisky Rebellion of 1791 was caused by distillers who resented an excise tax on spirits levied by Congress.

Minority Jobs Lack Brings Blast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Angry comments have been made by members and staff workers of the Human Rights Commission in connection with efforts to obtain jobs for minority groups.

"The people in this community better take human relation courses," said commissioner Victor Honig.

He made the declaration yesterday after hearing a report on Christmas jobs for youths. The 10 major stores which are members of the San Francisco Retailers Community Relations Group have come up with only 200 jobs, said staff member William Dacus.

In addition, a canvass of 60 medium-sized and small downtown stores yielded offers of only three jobs for the holidays, staff member Frank Anderson reported.

"I think we'd better be ready to shift our role," said commissioner Ross Hidy.

"Are we going to be a quiet little commission or are we going to aggressively pursue our goal of fair opportunity for all?"

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

In a time when many newly-constructed houses are severely criticized as look-alike "little boxes," Mr. and Mrs. Gus Rohmann of West Marin have a home that is distinctively their own. The fact that they built it themselves, and used an unusual construction material—pounded earth—are not its only distinguishing features. Read C. B. Gearhart's story about this "fairytale" cottage in the Silver Hills in tomorrow's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine.

Of al the various artists tools, the pencil is perhaps the least appreciated. This is probably because even the least skilled or creative among us have done some pencil drawings in the past. But it can be a most effective medium in the hands of a gifted artist, as Willard Roswell Cox of Tiburon demonstrates with his sketches of Marin scenes. Gil Pearson writes about Cox and his work in tomorrow's I-J supplement.
